Dear Malcolm,

Just a short note to let you know that I am trying to find a high level Administration official to speak to the President's Conference on Iceland. Also, let me remind you that I believe that a meeting with Herb Stein would be very informative and useful. I also think your people would appreciate hearing from Dennis Ross. I know that you can't give the appearance of being a forum for the Administration's point of view, but I do hope we can schedule those meetings as soon as possible.

I'll be in touch.

Dear ~~Mr. Ellenoff~~,

The President appreciates your support for his efforts on behalf of Soviet Jewry. As you know, The issue was raised again in Iceland. Although no tangible program was made, there were indications that the Soviets may be prepared to discuss the question with us in the future. In the meantime the President continues to believe, as he said on his return from Iceland, that until we can trust the Soviets to live up to their human rights obligations, we cannot expect them to abide by arms control agreements. That should be a powerful incentive for the Soviets to become more forthright on human rights issues.

Sincerely,

Max

Dear Gary,

Thank you for agreeing to pick up my expenses to New York. They included air fare of $75.00, plus $26.00 cab fares, for a total of $101.00. I need to be reimbursed by a 501(c)3 organization.

I really did appreciate the opportunity of meeting with the Committee's senior staff and lay leaders, and am very pleased that the meeting was worthwhile from your point of view as well.

President Ronald Reagan

Dear President Reagan:

We were all glad to hear that you are going to meet with Mr. Gorbachev in Iceland in a few days. It is very important that the two most important leaders in the world understand each other. We do not want any miscalculations to occur which could threaten global peace.

We hope, though that you will also bring up the matter of Soviet Jewry to Mr. Gorbachev. There are at least 400,000 Jews in the Soviet Union who want to leave. These are the Jews who have officially applied to leave. There are probably two million more who would leave if given the opportunity.

The Russians discriminate against Jews. There is no future for Jews in Russia. We urge you to please use your influence with Mr. Gorbachev to have the Jews released. Israel would gladly take them all.

I hope that you can put this item on the agenda and press Mr. Gorbachev on this matter. There is no reason he should not let the Jews go.

Sincerely,

Rabbi Joseph Radinsky

Dear President Reagan,

I am writing to urge you to place as an important item on your Summit Agenda "The Plight of the 400,000 Soviet Jews", who want nothing more then to leave the country so that they may practice their religion without persecution.

Many of these prisoners of conscience have been waiting for years to leave the Soviet Union, and as you know, the number of Jews allowed to immigrate has dropped to a trickle. If Mr. Gorbachov understands that he cannot move towards normalized relations with the United States, or to develop the level of mutual trust necessary for meaningful arms reduction, unless he releases his countries Jews from bondage, I believe progress will be made on all fronts.

Our prayers and those of everyone who prays for peace, are with you.

Dear Mr. Apea,

Your letter of September 19, 1986, to President Reagan has been referred to me for reply. I would like to thank you, on behalf of the President, for sharing your views on the human rights situation in Ghana.

The United States is anxious to foster respect for human rights throughout the world, and we have frequently expressed our concerns about human rights issues to the Ghanaian government through our Ambassador in Accra and in discussions with Ghanaian officials here in Washington. We have also informed the Government of Ghana, through these same channels, of our view that a return to representative forms of government would be most desirable.

We believe that the United State can best further respect for human rights in Ghana through maintaining business-like relations with the Ghanaian government. The United States also provides a modest amount of food aid and development assistance to Ghana in order to help the Ghanaian people to improve their standard of living.

Let me assure you that your interest in human rights issues in Ghana is understood and appreciated.

I appreciated the opportunity of delivering the greetings for President Reagan at Sunday night's event. My expenses were minimal: 1) $150.00 round-trip air fare; 2) $30.00 taxi fares in New York and D.C.; and 3) $14.00 for room service (I had no idea that a single drink woudl cost $7.00 and I also did not notice until I checked out in the morning that the hotel had given me a card entitling me to a free drink).

Thanks for your kind note. We did some effective work against sanctions, but obviously not effective enough.

As you probably know, most of the Jewish organizations caved in to sanctions pressure near the very end. The ADL held out, though. I had arranged for Mervyn Smith to meet with Nathan Perlmutter and a couple of top ADL staffers. That meeting went so well that ADL will be having him speak to its Executive Committee this coming week.

I am very happy that you were able to attend last Friday's meeting. I am particularly grateful that you brought up the question of Presidental appointments. Max and I discussed the issue this morning. As I told you, I think that we have gotten over all the major hurdles. I plan to follow up and see that we get rid of any remaining impediments to building a strong relationship between this Administration and the Jewish community.

Thanks again for your advice.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Rothstein,

I have been asked to respond to your letter and the petitions you sent to the President. Of course, he appreciated your support, and he wants you and others to know that this Administration believes that human rights must continue to play a very major role in relations between the United States and the Soviet Union. As the President said on his return from Iceland, if we can't trust the Soviets to live up to their human rights obligations, then we have no good reason for expecting them to abide by arms control agreements.

Thank you again for your support.

Sincerely,

Max Green
