NSC 8608533

Draft Statement by Principal Deputy Press Secretary

Today, in Geneva, senior US and Soviet negotiators in the Nuclear and Space Talks began a ^{special} series of informal meetings designed to move the negotiations forward before the next round begins in January. The United States intends to make use of these sessions, which will continue through December 6, to try to build upon the progress made in the just-completed Sixth Round of the negotiations.

In the Sixth Round, both the U.S. and the Soviet Union made new proposals which reflect the results achieved in Reykjavik by President Reagan and General Secretary Gorbachev in narrowing substantially the differences between our two countries on nuclear arms control issues. At Reykjavik, the U.S. succeeded in obtaining Soviet agreement in several major areas, including:

- the concept of 50% reductions in US and Soviet strategic offensive arms over the next five years, to be implemented by reductions to 1,600 strategic nuclear delivery vehicles and 6,000 warheads on those delivery vehicles;
- the need for significant cuts in Soviet heavy ICBMs;
- a global limit of 100 warheads on longer range INF missiles, with no such missiles in Europe; and
- the need for effective verification of agreements implementing such reductions.

time?

In addition, in response to the Soviet demand that we provide a ten-year commitment not to withdraw from the ABM Treaty, the United States proposed to accept such a commitment for the ten year period through 1996, during which research, development and testing, which is permitted by the ABM Treaty, would continue, coupled with:

- A fifty percent reduction in strategic offensive forces of the United States and Soviet Union during the first five years,
- Elimination of all U.S. and Soviet offensive ballistic missiles of whatever range or armament during the second five years, and
- Agreement that either side could deploy advanced strategic defenses after the ten-year period, unless both agreed not to do so.

Following the Reykjavik meeting, the U.S. moved promptly to table in Geneva concrete new reductions proposals reflecting these areas of agreement, as well as other details necessary to achieve our longstanding goal of deep, equitable and verifiable nuclear arms reductions. We also tabled in Geneva the new U.S. proposal in the Defense and Space area, which had been presented to the Soviets in Reykjavik.

On November 7, the Soviet Union, for its part, made new proposals in Geneva that partially reflect the achievements reached at Reykjavik. It is our intention now to build upon this new progress in Geneva by seeking a clear understanding with the Soviet Union concerning where we now have common ground on NST negotiating issues and where we continue to differ, as well as by ascertaining how the two sides might be able to broaden the areas of common ground.

The President hopes that the Soviets now share our commitment to achieving real arms reductions, while ensuring a stable military balance. If they do, these informal discussions will be able to set the stage for concrete new results when the Seventh NST Round begins in Geneva on January 15.

Ms. Anne Emerman
Co-Chair

New York, NY 10003

Dear Ms. Emerman:

President Reagan received your letter regarding housing for the homeless and asked this Department to respond.

HUD's appropriation for fiscal year 1987 established the Homeless Housing Act of 1986. This Act authorized two new programs for the Homeless, the Emergency Shelter Grant Program and the Transitional Housing Demonstration Program.

Funds for the Emergency Shelter Grant Program were distributed by formula to States and cities in December 1986. These funds may be used for the rehabilitation of buildings used for shelters, for conversion of buildings to shelter use, for the costs of operating shelters, and, to a limited extent, to provide services to residents of shelters. Formal guidelines for use of the emergency shelter grant funds were issued in the Federal Register on December 17, 1986.

The Transitional Housing Demonstration Program is a discretionary program to be administered by this Department. Under this program HUD will provide funding for housing and supportive services for homeless persons who are capable of making the transition to independent living. The enclosed Notice of Proposed Guidelines was published in the Federal Register on February 25, 1987 for a 30-day comment period. We have added your name to our mailing list to receive a copy of the final guidelines when they are available.

If you have any questions regarding the Emergency Shelter Grants Program, contact Don Patch at 202-755-6587. Questions regarding the Transitional Housing Demonstration Program can be referred to Linda Flister at 202-755-5720.

Thank you for your interest in programs for the homeless.

Very sincerely yours,

R. Hunter Cushing

Dear Ms. Emerman:

Your letter to the President expressing concern for the homeless and hungry in America has been referred to me for response. We share your concern.

The Federal Task Force on the Homeless has coordinated efforts to make Federal resources available to local public and private groups requesting assistance in helping the homeless. For example, surplus military commissary food now is being given to foodbanks; surplus military and General services Administration buildings may be used to shelter the homeless; surplus medical equipment, appliances, and and clothing are available for the homeless; and HUD-held, single-family homes are being made available to shelter homeless families temporarily.

The Task Force has identified over 70 federal programs that can be used to help the homeless. However, real progress in feeding and sheltering the homeless must come from State and local governments and the private sector, since they are closer to the situation. Also, the causes and effects of homelessness and thus its solutions vary greatly depending on the size of the city and the area of the country.

As noted in your letter, the Emergency Assistance component of the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program can be used by States to pay for families with temporary housing needs. Eligibility for this is limited to low-income families for assistance during short term crisis situations only. The program was created as an optional component to the AFDC program because it was realized that traditional programs could not always respond quickly to a family's emergency needs.

Allowing this program to be used for permanent housing would put this Department into the housing construction and acquisition business--a function it was never intended to serve and which is clearly inappropriate as well as duplicative of efforts of the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The Emergency Assistance program was designed, and should remain, for children and their families who are experiencing a temporary crisis situation. It is currently able to meet the needs of these families expeditiously, but if the program's major focus becomes that of housing construction and renovation, program operations would be severely altered in meeting these short-term emergency needs.

Although the availability of housing and shelter for homeless families is indeed a serious problem, we believe that it can be addressed without expanding the focus of the AFDC Emergency Assistance program. Through the combined resources of many Federal agencies, working together with State and local governments and with concerned citizens and groups, we can address the needs of the homeless.

If I can be of further assistance, please do not hesitate to let me know.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. President:

The members of this housing coalition agree with your November 19th statement made at a Press Conference. Yes, do build low cost housing with the $37,000 a year instead of sinking dollars into a temporary, vermin infested, unsafe hotel room or barrack-style congregate shelter.

Over half of the homeless population in NYC are children. Many others are aged and persons with physical and mental disabilities. We trust your statement last Wednesday is a commitment of support for the Schumer-Weiss bill which permits federal emergency funds for the homeless to be used to provide permanent housing. Mr. President can we look to you for support for the Homeless Persons' Survival Act of 1986 - a comprehensive aid package designed also to prevent homelessness?

It appears to us that our country's policies have strayed from the traditional American values of help for the poor and disadvantaged. We look forward to you and your staff to get us back on track. We look forward to the White House staff giving the same kind of attention to finding funds for programs that eliminate poverty, eradicating hunger, providing low cost housing, vocational training and jobs paying living wages, as the staff gives to finding funds for illegal military operations.

Can the over one thousand aged and disabled men at the Bellevue Hospital Shelter we visit regularly hope for permanent housing and jobs? Can the over twenty-five thousand homeless persons in the city's shelter/hotel system and the thirty-four thousand street homeless hope for permanent housing, schooling and jobs? We hope the answer from the White House is a resounding, "Yes"!

This civilized society must once again begin to provide for its neediest and most vulnerable citizens.

Yours truly,
Anne Emerman

Ms. Emerman:

President Reagan has asked the Department to respond to your recent letter concerning the need for assistance for the homeless.

The Administration shares your concern for homeless people, and is continuing and expanding Federal efforts to provide assistance for them. In the last four years, $365 million in Federal funds have been made available directly to the homeless through the Federal Emergency Management Agency's Emergency Food and Shelter Grant Program. This includes $115 million which Congress appropriated for FY 1987. An additional $5 million is being spent for similar purposes by the Veterans Administration.

The Administration has also established the Federal Task Force for the Homeless to coordinate efforts of Federal agencies to make Federal resources available to local organizations assisting the homeless. Through the efforts of the Task Force, surplus commissary food is being made available to food banks, unused buildings owned by the Federal Government are being made available for shelter use, and surplus medical equipment, appliances and clothing are being provided to the homeless. The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) participates actively in the work of the Task Force.

HUD itself has actively encouraged cities to use Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds to meet the needs of their homeless populations. Over $100 million in CDBG funds have been spent on activities to benefit the homeless. The activities include the provision of shelter, counselling, transportation to meals programs, and placement services.

HUD is also working with Public Housing Agencies to make housing for which they are responsible available to homeless persons or families, when appropriate. We have provided over 300 Section 8 rental assistance certificates to Public Housing Agencies for use in providing housing for homeless families.

Last October, Congress appropriated $15 million for FY 1987 for two new HUD programs to help the homeless. The Emergency Shelter Grants Program will provide funds to States, units of local government and private nonprofit organizations to be used for shelter, operating and social service expenses for homeless people. The Transitional Housing Demonstration Program will try to develop innovative approaches for providing transitional housing and support services for homeless persons, especially those who are capable of living independently again.

I hope this information will reassure you that the Administration and the Department will continue their efforts on behalf of the homeless. Thank you for writing to express your concern.

Sincerely,

Susan K. Zagame

Dear Mr. President:

The members of this housing coalition agree with your November 19th statement made at a Press Conference. Yes, do build low cost housing with the $37,000 a year instead of sinking dollars into a temporary, vermin infested, unsafe hotel room or barrack-style congregate shelter.

Over half of the homeless population in NYC are children. Many others are aged and persons with physical and mental disabilities. Dear Sir:

I am a professional author and lecturer presently writing the second volume of a five volume series entitled THE EXTRATERRESTRIAL HYPOTHESIS for a major New York publisher. As part of the material and research which has been planned for this second volume I would very much like to include commentaries by yourself and ex-Presidents Carter, Ford, and Nixon.

Knowing of your sincerity and interest with the subject of the extraterrestrial hypothesis and UFOs, your commentary would be of great interest and quite important to the peoples of this country. We would be most honored to receive a one or two paragraph statement as to your personal opinion on the subject of the extraterrestrial hypothesis and its potential connection to the mysterious phenomenon of UFOs.

It is vitally important that the public at large be aware of all facets of this rara avis and our publisher was quick to approve of our contacting our four living Presidents to seek their personal views on this subject.

Thank you very much for your time and consideration.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Reagan

We wish peaceful friendship between your country and Korea. Asian Time is an over-all English monthly magazine founded to promote harmony and prosperity among Asian countries and think highly of the traditional culture regardless of people and countries.

Asian Time will be published on the first day every month in size of 21 cm x 27.5 cm and will be widely distributed in and out of Korea by 50,000 copies or so.

Asian Time covers economy, society, culture, tour and sports in Asia, especially heading for the cultural exchanges among Asian countries.

We'll put the prefaces of each Ambassador to Korea on the first edition as a way to unify Asian prosperity.

We'll appreciate if you write the brief comment of our first edition. It'll also be attributable to Asian peace and development.

We wish to keep friendly relations between your country and Korea.

Details

1. Brief comment in English; to congratulate on the first edition of Asian Time.
2. Your signature and photo film at desk.
3. We are looking forward to hearing from your reply soon.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
MOSCOW TALKS WITH SECRETARY SHULTZ

I HAVE JUST RECEIVED A FULL REPORT
FROM SECRETARY SHULTZ ON HIS TALKS IN MOSCOW
AND HIS CONSULTATIONS WITH OUR ALLIES.
GEORGE, AS USUAL, PUT FORWARD OUR POSITIONS IN MOSCOW WITH FIRMNESS AND GREAT SKILL.

IT IS CLEAR TO ME THAT THE VISIT WAS VERY USEFUL IN ADVANCING THE DIALOGUE
BETWEEN OUR COUNTRIES IN A NUMBER OF AREAS -- HUMAN RIGHTS, BILATERAL RELATIONS,
REGIONAL ISSUES, AND ARMS REDUCTIONS.
THE CONTACTS THE SECRETARY HAD WITH DIVIDED FAMILIES, CHURCH GROUPS, AND PRIVATE INDIVIDUALS PAID PUBLIC TRIBUTE TO
THE COURAGE OF THOSE IN THE SOVIET UNION
STRUGGLING FOR HUMAN RIGHTS.

HE MADE CLEAR TO THE SOVIET LEADERS THAT SELF-DETERMINATION FOR AFGHANISTAN, AND SOVIET TROOP WITHDRAWAL, WERE ESSENTIAL TO PEACE.

IMPORTANT PROGRESS WAS MADE IN ARMS
REDUCTIONS:

- ON INTERMEDIATE-RANGE NUCLEAR MISSILES,
WE'VE NARROWED THE GAPS A LITTLE MORE.
AFTER WE CONSULT FURTHER WITH OUR ALLIES, WE MAY HAVE NEW IDEAS TO OFFER.
I REMAIN OPTIMISTIC ABOUT AN AGREEMENT
THIS YEAR.
- THERE WAS MOVEMENT ON NUCLEAR TESTING
TALKS AND ON A BAN ON CHEMICAL WEAPONS.
- ON STRATEGIC OFFENSIVE REDUCTIONS, AND DEFENSE AND SPACE, THE TALKS WERE DETAILED AND USEFUL, AND WILL INTENSIFY.

WHEN I RETURN TO WASHINGTON, I WILL MEET WITH THE BIPARTISAN CONGRESSIONAL LEADERSHIP TO REVIEW THIS WEEK'S PROGRESS.

IT IS MY HOPE THAT THE PROCESS NOW UNDERWAY CONTINUES TO MOVE FORWARD AND THAT MR. GORBACHEV AND I CAN COMPLETE AN HISTORIC AGREEMENT ON EAST-WEST RELATIONS AT A SUMMIT MEETING.

AND IN THAT CONNECTION, I WILL CONSULT PERSONALLY WITH OUR NATO ALLIES ON FURTHER NEGOTIATIONS AND PLANS.

Important progress was made in arms reductions:

- On intermediate-range nuclear missiles, we've narrowed the gaps a little more. After we consult further with our allies, we may have new ideas to offer. I remain optimistic about an agreement this year.
- There was movement on nuclear testing talks and on a ban on chemical weapons.
- On strategic offensive reductions, and defense and space, the talks were detailed and useful, and will intensify.

Let me compliment the Secretary and his team for an outstanding performance. They made solid gains on which we can build. If conditions warrant, we may be able to look forward to a summit later this year.

It is my ~~forth~~ fervent hope that this process ^{continue to successful} can ^{be} ~~continue~~ ^{conclude}

I'm ready for rapid progress in all these areas. If the Soviets face up to some necessary decisions, historic breakthroughs are within reach. If the conditions warrant, I'd like nothing better than to have Mr. Gorbachev here in this country to celebrate these breakthroughs with me.

So, let's get on with the job.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT

I have just received a full report from Secretary Shultz on his talks in Moscow and his consultations with our allies. George, as usual, put forward our positions in Moscow with firmness and great skill.

It is clear to me that the visit was very useful in advancing the dialogue between our countries in a number of areas -- human rights, bilateral relations, regional issues and arms reductions. The contacts the Secretary had with divided families, church groups and private individuals paid public tribute to the courage of those in the Soviet Union struggling for human rights. He made clear to the Soviet leaders that self-determination for Afghanistan, and ^{immediate} Soviet troop withdrawal, were essential to peace.

~~More~~ Important progress was made: ^{in the} arms reductions ~~area~~

- On intermediate-range nuclear missiles, we've narrowed the gaps a little more. After we consult further with our allies, we may have ^{additional} new ideas to offer. I remain optimistic about an agreement this year.
- There was movement on nuclear testing talks and on a ban on chemical weapons.
- On strategic offensive reductions, and ^{in the} defense and space, ^{area} the talks were detailed and useful, and will intensify.

Let me ^{commend} compliment the Secretary and his team for an outstanding ^{effort} (performance.) They made solid gains on which we can ^{continue} build. If conditions warrant, we may be able to look forward to a summit later this year.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT

I have just received a full report from Secretary Shultz on his trip to Moscow.

At the outset, let me express my appreciation to General Secretary Gorbachev and his colleagues for the cordial reception they gave to the Secretary and his delegation. This reception set a positive tone for the many discussions that took place during the two and a half-day period.

② It is clear to me that the visit was very useful in advancing the dialogue between our countries in a number of areas -- human rights, bilateral relations, regional issues and arms reductions. Particularly rewarding were the contacts the Secretary had with divided families, church groups and private individuals ~~active in the artistic and literary world.~~ paid public tribute to the courage of those in the Soviet Union struggling for human rights.

On arms reductions, I am pleased with the progress made toward an INF agreement, although more work remains to be done particularly on the so-called short-range systems. Both sides were able also to explore in depth their positions in the START and the Defense and Space areas. While there was less agreement in these areas, we laid the groundwork for a more intensified dialogue.

④ Let me compliment the Secretary and his team for an outstanding performance. They made solid gains on which we can build. If conditions warrant so, we may be able to look forward to a summit later this year.

It is my fervent hope that the process ^{underway} ~~now~~ begun continues to a successful conclusion ~~eliminating~~
~~it~~ and Mr. Gorbachev and I will ~~finalize~~ ^{complete the work on historic} at a Summit Agreement meeting in the United States this century.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. NICHOLAS PLATT
Executive Secretary

NSC 8608252

Q: How can you explain the basic contradiction in your policy -- e.g., on the one hand, urging and pressuring others not to supply arms to the Iranians and at the same time doing so yourself?

A: There are two points here: first, the aim of our arms embargo has been to end the war. We have chosen to make a limited exception to that arms embargo to serve the very same objective: the objective of finding an honorable end of the war. By developing the dialogue, we have been working to position ourselves as a credible arbiter who could deal with both sides and bring about an end to war. Such an artiber has been lacking. To further the dialogue and establish ourselves as an arbiter, we decided to provide a limited quantity of defensive arms. In short, the President's decision to make a limited, special exception to our arms embargo -- which will and is continuing -- for the same policy reasons as the general embargo: to bring about an end to the war through a negotiated settlement; preserving territorial integrity; with no winners or losers.

That raises the second point. We provided a minimal amount of defensive material and spare parts that could not have even marginally altered the balance or improved the Iranian military position. Very simply, we provided a small token of our seriousness in pursuing the dialogue.

Q: Why did you have to use arms to prove your seriousness with your Iranian interlocuters?

A: The decision on arms was a tough one. In the end, we felt it necessary because the Iranians we were dealing with -- who were, by the way, under considerable risk -- felt this was the currency that would most demonstrate that the American officials genuinely represented the President and were serious about proceeding. We chose to go ahead given the stakes involved, but we calibrated very carefully what we provided both in type and amount.

Q: What can you say to the allies on whom you've leaned so hard to stop the arms flow to Iran?

A: We can say that the embargo still holds and is necessary to make it more difficult for the Iranians to pursue the war. We did nothing to alter this policy or this objective. We served it. Both our effort to staunch the arms flow and our limited sale of defensive arms and spares were designed to build leverage that would increase the prospect for an honorable end to the war. Additionally, the miniscule amount of arms we provided cannot be compared to the flood of arms that have come from elsewhere and that have been central to the Iranian war effort.

Q: What do you say to the moderate Arabs who feel betrayed by your policy?

A: We say that our policy has not changed. We have always recognized the strategic significance of Iran and understood, along with our regional friends, that we have a strong stake in moderating Iranian behavior so that it doesn't export revolution, support terror, and threaten its neighbors. That has guided our efforts. What has also guided our efforts is, of course, our objective of ending the war. The moderate Arabs have consistently come to us and asked us to do all we could to end the war. In taking steps to try to become a credible arbiter, we have been doing precisely that.

Q: What do you have to show for your efforts with the Iranians?

A: First, one cannot underestimate the intrinsic value of the initiation of a dialogue between the U.S. and Iran. Second, we felt that we were making progress on positioning ourselves to become a real arbiter before these efforts became known. Third, we'll have to see what happens now, but we can tell you that in the area of getting Iran to stop its support of terror and hostage taking, we think that progress has been made. For example, since the dialogue began, the Iranian government has publicly adopted a position of opposition to terrorism; the Iranians helped gain the release of the hostages on TWA Flight 842 last summer in Beirut; no terror has been directed against us or additional hostages taken by groups associated with the Iranians; the arrest of Mehdi Hashemi signals that those in Iran who favor the use of terror and the export of revolution are being controlled; and, finally, hostages have been returned with the assistance of the Iranians.

Q: Are the Iranians still on the terrorism list?

A: Yes, we've seen some progress and we regard that as encouraging. But we aren't ready to take them off the list.

Q: Did the Israelis play a role in this dialogue?

A: There have been many different countries from different regions that have served or tried to serve as intermediaries. Beyond that, we won't go into specifics on who did or didn't play such a role.

Q: Have you been winking at Israeli arms deliveries or other deliveries during this period of dialogue?

A: Absolutely not. To the contrary, our policy of opposing arms shipments has remained firm and been applied with vigor during this period. All of the shipments associated with our dialogue that we have authorized in any way were miniscule and could have been carried on one transport aircraft.

Q: Have you ended your policy of neutrality in the war?

A: No. Our policy was and is that we want an honorable end to the war. No victors, no vanquished. We have attempted to bring to advance this objective through our contacts with Iran, just as we have through our official diplomatic channels with Iraq.
