Re Reply RR

WS

Dear Ron,

While we will be meeting soon in Toronto, I wanted to congratulate you quickly and personally on the results of your meetings with General Secretary Gorbachev in Moscow.

C0165

Prime Minister Brian Mulroney

The arms control agenda facing you there was imposing and important. Although it was not possible to achieve a START agreement, I am encouraged by your evident determination to press forward on this issue and look forward to further positive results. I also congratulate you on ensuring that the INF treaty could be signed into force in Moscow.

At the same time I was pleased that you conveyed the general Western perception that, although the USSR has taken some positive steps on the question of human rights, much still remains to be done, particularly in the context of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe Follow-up Meeting in Vienna.

Your discussions on regional questions helped to advance the day when we can expect resolution of some of the thornier questions, although no one expects miracles in the immediate future.

Finally, one of the most important features of the summit was the positive mood which the signature of so many bilateral agreements demonstrated. Greater cooperation between the USA and the USSR in so many fields can only serve to advance the prospects of resolving the more intractable problems between East and West.

The President of the United States of America
The White House

Re upcoming meeting in Toronto and Congratulations on meetings with Gorbachev.

The four summits you have had with General Secretary Gorbachev have contributed enormously to better East-West relations. I congratulate you on the leadership you have shown in moving the world further towards stability, confidence and reduced tensions. I know we can count on you to continue working to that end. I look forward to a fuller review of these topics in Toronto.

Yours sincerely,

(original signed by Prime Minister Brian Mulroney)
