THE SECRETARY OF STATE
WASHINGTON

December 26, 1985

Dear Commissioner Young:

I very much appreciate the outstanding job you have done in bringing to a successful conclusion our work within the OECD on recombinant DNA (rDNA) safety considerations. Your leadership was the critical factor in developing a sound and constructive U.S. position on the basis of which we were able to make a major contribution to the timely completion of the OECD exercise.

In particular, I congratulate you on the excellent work done at the OECD Experts Group meeting in Paris, December 2-6, 1985, at which you headed the U.S. delegation. Ambassador Streater has informed me that you accomplished a tour de force in assuring the completion of the report at that meeting. Your expertise in biotechnology and effectiveness in working with other delegations were the key to fashioning the compromises that fully accommodated the interests of all the member countries.

Again, thank you for the commitment and skill you showed in managing this important and complex issue. The completion of a balanced and scientifically credible OECD report is an historic landmark in this field. It provides the foundation for a reasonable and positive approach to dealing with rDNA technology that will be invaluable in the OECD countries and beyond.

Sincerely yours,

George P. Shultz

The Honorable
Frank E. Young, M.D., Ph.D.,
Commissioner,
U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE
WASHINGTON

December 26, 1985

Dear Commissioner Young:

I very much appreciate the outstanding job you have done in bringing to a successful conclusion our work within the OECD on recombinant DNA (rDNA) safety considerations. Your leadership was the critical factor in developing a sound and constructive U.S. position on the basis of which we were able to make a major contribution to the timely completion of the OECD exercise.

In particular, I congratulate you on the excellent work done at the OECD Experts Group meeting in Paris, December 2-6, 1985, at which you headed the U.S. delegation. Ambassador Streator has informed me that you accomplished a tour de force in assuring the completion of the report at that meeting. Your expertise in biotechnology and effectiveness in working with other delegations were the key to fashioning the compromises that fully accommodated the interests of all the member countries.

Again, thank you for the commitment and skill you showed in managing this important and complex issue. The completion of a balanced and scientifically credible OECD report is an historic landmark in this field. It provides the foundation for a reasonable and positive approach to dealing with rDNA technology that will be invaluable in the OECD countries and beyond.

Sincerely yours,

George P. Shultz

The Honorable
Frank E. Young, M.D., Ph.D.,
Commissioner,
U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

FROM: Ronald I. Spier

SUBJECT: United States Delegation to the Thirty-ninth
World Health Assembly of the World Health
Organization (WHO), Geneva, May 5 - 16, 1986

BACKGROUND

This assembly will be the 39th annual session of the World Health Organization, open to all UN member states, at which the WHO program is reviewed and the budget is approved. Public Law 80-643 requires that the Chief Delegate, two Delegates and any Alternate Delegates to the Assembly be appointed by the President. Senate confirmation of these appointments is not required.

Traditionally the Delegates and Alternates appointed by the President are senior government officials primarily from the health field. The Department of Health and Human Services, in consultation with the State Department, has recommended Secretary Bowen for appointment as Chief Delegate, with C. Everett Koop, Surgeon General of the United States, as Deputy Chief Delegate. The third Delegate would be Ambassador Gerald Carmen of the U.S. Mission in Geneva. Proposed for Alternate Delegates are Dr. Frank Young, Commissioner of Food and Drugs, Thomas Malone, Deputy Director of the National Institutes of Health, Neil Boyer of the State Department, and Nyle Brady of the Agency for International Development.

These Delegates and Alternate Delegates would be assisted by a small number of Government experts from the Department of Health and Human Services and by members of the staff of the U.S. Mission in Geneva.

If the proposed designations are approved, the Department will proceed with appropriate arrangements.

THE SECRETARY OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES
WASHINGTON, D. C. 20201

JUN 8 1987

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: The Secretary of Health and Human Services
SUBJECT: 40th World Health Assembly

Under Secretary Don Newman recently led the U.S. delegation to the 40th World Health Assembly. His report to me on this annual meeting of the member states of the World Health Organization (WHO) has reinforced my belief that WHO is one U.N. agency in which membership is clearly in the U.S. interest. Moreover, WHO is providing an excellent example not only of continuing sound management, but also of efforts to reform the U.N. budgeting processes along lines advocated by the United States.

In his address to the Assembly, Mr. Newman emphasized the need for budget reduction and reform, and stressed the importance of including the private sector in financing health care at the country level. He also emphasized the role that both the United States and WHO are playing in international efforts to combat disease, especially the serious problem of AIDS.

The results of the two-week Assembly were, for the most part, very positive.

While WHO's 1988-1989 budget, as originally proposed, contained no program growth, it did have a significant nominal increase due primarily to inflation and the decline in the value of the dollar. However, the efforts of the U.S. delegation were largely responsible for a commitment by the Director-General to re-open the biennial budget in 1988 to reduce it further by $25 million and to use the reformed budgeting process to seek at least $25 million in additional cuts in the 1990-1991 budget.

On other matters, there was very thoughtful and constructive discussion of the priority programs of WHO. These include the world-wide effort to combat diseases that kill millions of children every year, the international battle against drug abuse and, importantly, WHO's efforts to coordinate the global fight against AIDS.

Unfortunately, as at other U.N.-related meetings, there were efforts by certain member states to interject extraneous political issues. However, our delegation was impressed by the extent to which the WHO leadership and many member states worked to eliminate or minimize these divisive issues.

Finally, I want to note the great importance of U.S. contributions to WHO, measured in terms of technical input, program leadership and policy guidance. Mr. Newman noted, as I did when I headed the delegation last year, that there is a recognition on the part of both the WHO secretariat and many member states that these non-monetary U.S. contributions to WHO are at least as important as our budgetary assessment in making WHO one of the most successful and highly regarded intergovernmental agencies.

Otis R. Bowen, M.D.
