OPL MEETING REPORT

2/23/82.

TIME:

5 PM

PLACE:

Room 191

PROJECT OFFICER:

Blackwell

NUMBER OF GUESTS:

(Attach list)

Orin Briggs and Dr. Bob Jones

ADMINISTRATION PARTICIPANTS:

Blackwell

SUMMARY:

Dr. Jones came from a meeting Senator Thurmond had arranged for him with Senator Baker and Dole. During the 1980 primary campaign the President spoke to a huge, enthusiastic rally at Bob Jones University.

Jones is aghast that what he feels to be promises made in the campaign as well as in the January 8th decision of the President with respect to tax-exempt status for Bob Jones University has not been implemented. He speculated on the effect of a possible call by many conservative religious leaders who support the President in 1980 for their followers to sit out the 1982 elections or to work against candidates supported by the Administration.

I responded that conservative leaders (religious and secular) have two important goals in 1982:

1. They want to maximize the conservative influence on the Reagan administration.
2. They want to maximize the efforts of grass-roots conservatives in behalf of friendly candidates in 1982 elections.

(see page # 2)

FOLLOW-UP

PRESIDENTIAL:

STAFF:

Dr. Bob Jones (page # 2)

Since conservative strength is, as it has always been, at the grass-roots, the principle influence that conservative organization leaders can have is through generation of grass-roots pressure. If they focus conservative grass-roots displeasure on failures of those whom they helped elect in 1980, they would convince grass-roots activists that political activity was unavailable.

Without a full effort from conservative grass-roots activists in 1982, the elections would surely go badly and every policy position they favor would be in a weaker position in 1983 and 1984.

This is not necessarily an either-or situation, I said. Conservative leaders now have a heavy responsibility to focus grass-roots attention on the Administration making process in such a way as to avoid destroying absolutely vital activism in the elections this year.

"This puts a heavy responsibility on you," I said.

"I agree," he said soberly.

We then ended the meeting with a prayer.

SUMMARY:

These leaders of the Pueblo Indians are anxious to receive a requested reply from the Solicitor of the Interior Department regarding the legality of a proposed transfer of 59 acres in downtown Albuquerque from the former Albuquerque Indian school campus to the Pueblo Tribes. This tract of land is BIA land.

I agreed to contact the Interior Department to expedite a decision on this matter, with out myself coming down on the legal side of the question.

Their second request was regarding the BIA decision to close the Southwest Indian Polytechnic Institute located in Albuquerque. Because they are in full communication with the BIA on this, there was no need for OPL mediation in this matter.

These Indian leaders also stressed the need for President Reagan to issue a national Indian policy statement, analogous to one issued by President Nixon. I informed them that there is much action underway on this and that I had just the previous evening personally discussed this with Secretary Watt. The Secretary is working to expedite this policy statement.

ADMINISTRATION PARTICIPANTS:

Blackwell

SUMMARY:

This meeting was with the Chief and Deputy Chief of the Cherokee Nation in Oklahoma and officials of the Kettering Foundation.

They came in to brief me on a program, "Negotiated Investment Strategy," which Kettering has used successfully in Gary, Indiana, Columbus, Ohio, and St. Paul, Minnesota. It is an interesting concept in which federal, state, and local officials meet with private sector leaders to reach agreement on elimination of "duplicative programs" to get a better return on investment of social programs.

They found, for instance, that one area had 36 often overlapping drug abuse programs. By getting all of the sources of assistance together with a skilled mediator, they claim some substantial success in making better use of the aggregate funds available from all sources.

The Cherokees, who have no reservation in Oklahoma, are thoroughly integrated into city and county governments. They convinced Kettering that this program of Negotiated Investment Strategy should be attempted in their local rural area. They felt that this concept would be particularly useful in light of the President's "federalism" proposals.

Since this full concept would be appropriate to all rural areas, not just those with Indian populations, I suggested that the appropriate White House official to consider their ideas is Rich Williamson.

I agreed to urge Rich Williamson to meet with them and consider their concept.

THE WHITE HOUSE

MEMORANDUM FOR:

SUBJECT:

Weekly Summary Report ending February 19, 1982
Veterans; Religious Groups; Fraternal Groups;
Portfolio American Indians; Limited Government/
Conservative Organizations
Manager MORTON C. BLACKWELL

SIGNIFICANT ACTIVITIES

Staffed Oval Office meeting for the President with Reserve Officers Association National Officers.

Staffed Oval Office meeting for the President with American Legion National Officers.

White House representative at Reserve Officers Association annual mid-winter conference banquet. Addressed the gathering, expressing appreciation for the ROA's outstanding support in 1981 of the President's economic program and the AWACS sale.

Interview with Walter Shapiro of the Washington Post Sunday Magazine on pro-life activists in the Reagan Administration.

RED FLAGS

Conservative grapevine aflame with outraged rumors that Dave Stockman is about to be replaced by Dave Carlucci who was opposed by the Kitchen Cabinet for his current job and who is perceived by movement conservatives as a mortal enemy.

Also circulating is story that Ambassador Malone will be replaced at the increasingly controversial Law of the Sea Conference by a former Cy Vance underling named Ridgeway who would, with Chief Counsel Leigh Ratner, take us to the cleaners.

Continued lack of action and failure to give even enthusiastic lip service to the President's prevailing expressed positions on the social issues is weakening grass-roots effort available for 1982 elections.

MISCELLANEOUS

Major effort afoot by conservatives in behalf of Sam Hart's nomination. They accuse Hart's opponents of fierce prejudice against conservative blacks.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

February 20, 1982

MEMORANDUM FOR EDWIN MEESE III
JAMES A. BAKER, III
MICHAEL K. DEEVER

FROM: ELIZABETH H. DOLE

SUBJECT: OPL Activity Report (February 1-15)

I. ISSUE UPDATES

Voting Rights Act: Hispanic organizations urging the Administration to either support the House bill or take a walk. Little support will be forthcoming on an Administration alternative.

NAACP Legislative Mobilization: Scheduled for March 9, in an effort to lobby Congress on the Voting Rights Act, budget cuts, federal court limitations, tax exempt status, affirmative action, jobs and tuition tax credits.

New Federalism: Early reaction from business is cautious but supportive. Early opposition from big oil and gas royalty owners has been successfully turned around.

Budget Cuts: The business community will be well organized and as enthusiastic for budget cutting as in 1981; still very upset over large deficit.

Small Business: Good progress made on Presidential message to Congress on small business proposals. Plans for major Presidential event in late February. Hispanic flare-up over Mike Cardenas firing has subsided.

Clean Air Act: Business continuing full-court press to pass Clean Air Act. Working with co-sponsors on H.R. 5252. Passage prospects looking better.

Federal Advisory Committee Act (FACA): Broad interpretation of this law may cripple OPL and damage Administration relations with the entire private sector. Tom Boggs, Bill Timmons, ASAE, and business government relations departments are prepared to assist the Administration in changing FACA.

Tax Policy: Business community is divided on Reagan revenue enhancement. Primary concern is that minimum corporate tax will undo virtually all ACRS gains.

Education: Serious concern among educators regarding sudden withdrawal of Pell grants. Conservatives irked that the President is abandoning his pledge to abolish Department of Education. They consider the "foundation" bill a sure loser, assuming ultimate continuation of the status quo.

IRS: IRS movement to tax corporation PACs has conservative PAC community disturbed.

Israel: Many favorable responses to United States veto against Jordanian resolution calling for sanctions against Israel for its actions on Golan Heights. Growing concern regarding Weinberger trip and "tilt" toward Arabs.

Agriculture: Overall agriculture situation is worsening; correspondence indicates farmers are beginning to look to the Administration for some type of relief. Growing fears of possible grain embargo and our policy on marketing orders.

Housing Industry: Continuing bad economic news causing strains with National Forest Products Association, National Association of Realtors, and National Association of Home Builders. These groups may propose subsidized mortgage programs; charges that this Administration is "anti-housing".

Viet Nam Memorial: Kudos to H. Ross Perot, who engineered a meeting between opposing factions which resulted in changes in the design of the memorial and diffusion of controversy.

HHS Regulations on Birth Control: Most pro-family groups are pleased at proposed HHS regulations requiring parental notification when contraceptive devices are dispensed by prescription. Opposition is led by Henry Waxman and Pat Schroeder, with assistance from AMA and other medical organizations.
