MR. PRESIDENT:

CHANCELLOR

The attached is forwarded for your consideration by Messrs. Meese and Baker. It concerns the joint statement on the Schmidt visit -- and a difference of view between Secretary Weinberger and Secretary Haig. (See bottom of page 1 and top of page 2 of Secretary Haig's memo.)

Jim Baker and Ed Meese feel that unless you have some strong objection, you should approve the language recommended by Secretary Haig on the grounds that he has been negotiating the language, and he feels strongly that Schmidt needs it.

MEMORANDUM FOR: THE PRESIDENT

FROM: Alexander M. Haig, Jr.

SUBJECT: Joint Statement on Chancellor Schmidt's Visit

I am attaching for your approval the draft joint statement which we have developed with the German delegation. The Chancellor has read this statement and his advisers have informed me that he is very pleased with it. As you know from our previous discussions, he needs a strong positive statement of this kind to defend his support for a close US-FRG relationship and his government's position on the NATO theater nuclear forces (TNF) program against his domestic opponents.

The language in the draft joint statement is fully consistent with what was agreed during the recent NATO Ministerial meetings in Rome and Brussels. It is also fully in line with your discussion this morning with Schmidt and the welcoming remarks which you made at the White House ceremony.

On the crucial issue of TNF arms control, the draft joint statement moves marginally beyond the Rome language in noting the preliminary discussion which I had with Ambassador Dobrynin last week. This point is extremely useful to Schmidt in his domestic situation.

The joint statement also contains some extremely useful language putting the Federal Republic in strong opposition to Soviet activities in the developing countries and in support of NATO defense programs. We believe that this language, in particular the point which commits the Federal Republic and the United States "in concert with their Allies and the countries affected to oppose any attempts, direct or indirect, by the Soviet Union to undermine the independence and stability" of states in the developing world will be extremely useful to us should we run into future El Salvador-type situations in which we need FRG support.

In the development of the joint statement, the Germans, with the Chancellor's approval, backed off proposed language which we found difficult. Secretary Weinberger has expressed some reservations regarding the text and submitted alternative language for the points on the role of arms control and

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

GDS 5/21/87

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~-2-~~

disarmament in Alliance security policy and TNF. He also suggested additional language for the section on the Middle East. As regards Secretary Weinberger's proposal on the arms control section, the Germans pointed out that the existing language comes directly from the Rome NATO communique and declined this proposal. Secretary Weinberger's proposal on TNF was partially accepted. The Germans argued that the proposed addition on the Middle East would have the effect of involving NATO in activities outside the Treaty area, which is domestically impossible for Schmidt. They made clear that they were reflecting the Chancellor's position on these points, and it is clear that, should we insist on making the other changes which Secretary Weinberger has proposed, the entire document would begin to unravel and we would face the real prospect of a serious disagreement rather than an outstanding success at the conclusion of the Chancellor's visit. Consequently, I recommend that you approve the attached text and so inform Chancellor Schmidt at your meeting with him tomorrow morning.

AD REFERENDUM DRAFT JOINT STATEMENT
1600, MAY 21, 1981

VISIT TO THE UNITED STATES OF
HELMUT SCHMIDT
CHANCELLOR OF THE FEDERAL REPUBLIC OF GERMANY

May 20-23, 1981

During the official visit of Chancellor Helmut Schmidt of the Federal Republic of Germany to the United States from May 20-23, 1981, President Reagan and the Federal Chancellor held detailed talks on a wide range of political and economic questions. They noted with satisfaction that they share a common assessment of the international situation and its implications for the Western Alliance. They agreed that their two countries have a common destiny founded on joint security interests and firmly rooted in their shared values of liberty, a democratic way of life, self-determination and belief in the inalienable rights of man.

They regard the reliable and proven US-German partnership as an essential factor in international stability and Western security based on the North Atlantic Alliance. They agreed that substantive and effective consultations are a mainstay of the relations between Western Europe and the United States.

The President and the Federal Chancellor welcomed and reaffirmed the results of the recent NATO Ministerial meetings in Rome and Brussels as renewed proof of the political strength of the Alliance and the continuity of Alliance policy. They stressed the determination of Alliance members to take the necessary steps to work with their NATO partners to strengthen the Western defense posture and to address adverse trends due to the Soviet military buildup. Together with deterrence and defense, arms control and disarmament are integral parts of Alliance security policy.

The President and the Federal Chancellor affirmed in this connection their resolve to implement both elements of the NATO decision of December 1979 and to give equal weight to both elements. The Federal Chancellor welcomed the US decision to begin negotiations with the Soviet Union on the limitation of theater nuclear weapons within the SALT framework by the end of this year. He also welcomed the fact that the U.S. Secretary of State has initiated preparatory discussions on TNF with the Soviet Union, looking toward an agreement to begin formal negotiations. The President and the Federal Chancellor agreed that TNF modernization is essential for Alliance security and as a basis for parallel negotiations leading to concrete results on limitations of theater nuclear forces. They further agreed that the preparatory studies called for in the Rome Communique should be undertaken as matters of immediate priority ^{by} with the relevant NATO bodies.

The President and the Federal Chancellor assessed very favorably the close cooperation between the Federal Republic of

CONFIDENTIAL

Germany and the Three Powers in matters relating to Berlin and Germany as a whole. The Federal Chancellor thanked the President for his reaffirmation of the pledge that the United States will continue to guarantee the security and viability of Berlin. They agreed that the maintenance of the calm situation in and around Berlin is of crucial significance for European security and stability.

The European Community plays an important part in maintaining international political and economic stability. The U.S. will continue to support the process of European unification.

Both sides noted that a serious international situation has been created by Soviet expansionism and armaments efforts. To meet this challenge and to secure peace, they are determined to respond with firmness and to maintain a dialogue with the Soviet Union.

The President and the Federal Chancellor agreed that it is important for the stabilization of East-West relations that the current CSCE Review Conference in Madrid agree on a balanced substantive concluding document which includes enhanced respect for human rights, increased human contacts, a freer flow of information, and cooperation among and security for all of the participants. In this regard, and as part of such a balanced result, the President and the Chancellor favor agreement on a precise mandate for a conference on disarmament in Europe, providing for the application of militarily significant, binding and verifiable confidence-building measures covering all of the continent of Europe from the Atlantic to the Urals.

Poland must be allowed to solve its problems peacefully and without external interference. The President and the Federal Chancellor reaffirmed unequivocally their view that any external intervention would have the gravest consequences for international relations and would fundamentally change the entire international situation.

Genuine nonalignment of the states of the developing world is an important stabilizing factor in international relations. The Chancellor and the President support the independence and the right of self-determination of the states of the developing world. They will, in concert with their Allies and the countries affected, oppose any attempts, direct or indirect, by the Soviet Union to undermine the independence and stability of these states. They confirmed their willingness to continue their cooperation with these states on the basis of equal partnership and to continue their support of their economic development.

The President and the Federal Chancellor reaffirmed their view that the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan is unacceptable. They demanded the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Afghanistan and respect for that country's right to return to independence and non-alignment. The destabilizing effects which the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan has on the entire region must be countered.

Both sides stressed the importance of broad-based cooperation with the states of the Gulf Region.

The President and the Federal Chancellor agreed that the United States and the Federal Republic of Germany, the latter within the framework of European political cooperation, should continue the search for a comprehensive, just and lasting peace in the Middle East. Their efforts should continue to be complementary and build upon what has been achieved so far.

Both sides reaffirmed the determination to strengthen further the open system of world trade and to oppose pressure for protectionist measures.

They stressed the vital importance for political and economic stability of further energy conservation and diversification measures to reduce the high degree of dependence on oil. The pressing energy problems can only be mastered on the basis of world-wide cooperative efforts that strengthen Western energy security and reduce the vulnerability of the West to potential supply cutoffs from any source. The supply problems of the developing countries require particular attention.

The President and the Federal Chancellor agreed on the need in framing their economic policies to give high priority to the fight against inflation and to the creation of improved conditions for renewed economic growth and increased productivity. Both sides stressed the need for close coordination of economic policies among the industrial countries.

Both sides stressed the need for close and comprehensive exchange of views on the UN Conference on the Law of the Sea while the US government reviews its position.

The President and the Federal Chancellor noted that their talks once more demonstrated the friendly and trusting relationship that has linked their two countries for over 30 years. They welcomed all efforts which serve to broaden mutual contacts and underlined the responsibility of the coming generation for maintaining and developing German-American friendship.

we write to You in a very strange concern. We are a class at a German secondary school, leaving school in June 1984 for studies at university and for other jobs. Because of this we want to bit You to send us a short greeting or some friendly words. It would be very nice of You. You are a part of our school career, Your election, Your policy, and the reactions of the opposition were a main part of our lessons. Some of Your decisions were not understandable, others were supported by us. But however, it would be very kind of You to give us the feeling that such an important person as You are is thinking fo us, when we are going to start our careers. Please don't mind us to be imprudent, but only some pupils, who are trying to get into contact with a nation and a person, who were very important for us in the past and who will be very important for us in the future.

Yours sincerely

Sehr geehrter Herr Präsident!

Ich komme mit einer etwas ausgefallenen Bitte auf Sie zu.

Bitte gratulieren Sie meiner Oma zum 85-jährigem Geburtstag.

am 14. März 1984

Sie ist so ein lieber Mensch - eben eine wichtige Oma!
Bitte erfüllen Sie mir diesen Wunsch, Sie würde sich riesig darüber freuen.

Ihre Anschrift lautet:

Wanda Krämer
Hauptstraße 21

D 2161 Fredenbeck
W. Germany.

Mit freundlichen Grüßen
H. Maibach

P.S. Viel Glück bei der Präsidentschaftswahl.

LS Bonn Nürnberg, 7.2.1984

Sehr geehrter Herr Präsident

Ich Harald Pracht bin Mitglied im 1. Westclub Nürnberg ev.
aus diesem Grunde schreibe ich Ihnen,
um Ihnen mitzuteilen, daß wir
im Club alle mit Ihrer Politik sehr zufrieden und 100%ig einverstanden sind. Sie sind der starke und Richtige Mann für America, und im tiefsten Sinne auch für uns West-Deutsche.
Dies alleine ist nicht der einzige

Grund weshalb ich schreiben.
Vielmehr würde der A. Westendub
Sie zu uns nach Nürnberg-Birnkhan einladen. Ein Besuch bei Ihnen ist uns aus finanziellen Gründen
momentan nicht möglich,
da wir bis Ende 1989 eine neue Rauch erstellen müssen, was uns natürlich sehr viele Opfer abverlangt. Außerdem, sollten Sie diesen Brief beantworten gäbe wir Ihnen die Ehrenmitgliedschaft an.

Unser Vereinsabzeichen ist
die Flagge vom State Wyoming.
(Außerdem gefassen wir uns mit
der Geschichte der U.S. Cavalry, speziell der 2nd US Cavalry, welche 1836 als 2nd US Dragoons gegründet, und 1855 umbenannt wurde.
Über Sendet ich Ihnen einige
Bilder von uns und hoffe auf eine Antwort Ihrerseits.

Hochachtungsvoll
Wickl Herald
