Mr. President,

I do hope you will enjoy these letters from my class. They were so very excited about writing to you! (I have 28 students.)

We all watched your inauguration on television, and the class clapped and cheered as if they were there with you.

We're glad you are now our President!

Dear Ms. Rosner:

On behalf of Mrs. Reagan, I wish to thank you for your kind invitation to attend the Lovett-Rich's Fashion Show on February 24 or 25, 1988. She appreciates your thoughtfulness.

Unfortunately, the date of your request is too far ahead to consider at this time. As a rule, we can only project the First Lady's schedule approximately two months in advance. If you would like to renew your request then, please feel free to do so.

Again, thank you for your invitation. The First Lady is deeply grateful for all you are doing to combat drug abuse and has asked that I express to you her warmest best wishes.

Sincerely,

James F. Manning

Washington, D. C. 20500

Dear Mrs. Reagan:

During the past 3 years, The Lovett School, in association with Rich's Department Store, has celebrated the spring season by presenting the most publicized and well-attended fashion preview in the metropolitan Atlanta area. Some 3500 persons were in attendance during the two days the show was presented in 1987. Through ticket sales and corporate sponsorships, this fund-raising event has helped the school continue its tradition of giving the students every opportunity possible to further their educational, personal and spiritual goals. The school serves 1450 young people, ages 4 to 18 years old, and one important element in the educational program is drug education. Your leadership in this field prompts us to ask you to consider visiting Lovett on the occasion of the Lovett-Rich's Fashion Show.

As we have progressed through the years, we have had various personalities visit our show. This year we have decided we would search for a special guest who most exemplifies a positive role model for our children. It is your visible influence in the battle against drug abuse as well as your sincere interest in our youth and the importance of their self-esteem which have brought us to the conclusion that you are the person who stands at the top of this list. Although we know you have a very busy and important schedule to maintain, I am warmly extending to you our invitation to come and join us for this special event on February 24th or 25th, 1988. Your presence would mean a great deal not only to the students, faculty, and parents of The Lovett School, but to the many guests who will come and meet our First Lady. We would of course be happy to make arrangements for you to address the 400 students in the Middle School (grades 6 through 8) and/or the 600 Upper School (grades 9 through 12) students.

The fashion show begins at 10:30 a.m. and usually lasts an hour and a half. I am available at any time to discuss any questions you may

General Information

General Information

The Lovett School is an independent, college preparatory day school for boys and girls in kindergarten through grade 12. The school was founded in 1926 by Eva Edwards Lovett as an elementary school whose purpose was to educate the whole child. Growth and expansion have changed the physical aspect of the school, but its mission remains that of Mrs. Lovett, the education of the whole child, intellectually, emotionally, and spiritually.

Campus

Located on 100 acres in northwest Atlanta, The Lovett School is bordered by the Chattahoochee River, Paces Ferry Road, and Northside Parkway. The Preschool is housed in the Martha Woolman Hall, a short distance from the main campus. Classrooms are located in the Lower School building, the Middle School building, and the Upper School building, each of which is connected to the Alston Memorial Chapel and the Humanities Center. The Humanities Center houses the 36,000 volume Vasser-Woolley Library for Middle School and Upper School students; music, drama, and art suites; the Galleria exhibition area; the lecture hall; the bookstore; the student commons; the student lounge; two computer centers; and the Study Lab. The Lower School Library is a unique facility with its carpeted story-telling area for younger children and two glass window bays with seats for reading. The main gymnasium is located in the Student Activities Center and another gymnasium is available for the Lower and Middle School students. Other athletic facilities include a natatorium, multipurpose classrooms, and training and weight rooms; the Martin E. Kilpatrick Memorial Stadium and track; eleven tennis courts; a collegiate-size soccer field; three practice fields and a baseball field.

Faculty

D. Alvin Cash was appointed headmaster in 1983. A graduate of The University of Virginia (B.A.), he also holds an M. Div. degree from The Fuller Theological Seminary, and an M. Ed. degree from The College of William and Mary. Before coming to The Lovett School, he served as Director of the Lower School at Norfolk Academy (1969-77) and as Headmaster of Athens Academy (1977-83).

The faculty and administrators hold 149 baccalaureate and 83 graduate degrees from such colleges and universities as Agnes Scott, Davidson, Duke, Emory, Georgia Institute of Technology, Northwestern, Princeton, Trinity, Vanderbilt, William and Mary, and the Universities of Chicago, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, Notre Dame, and Tennessee.

A nurse supervises the infirmary, and emergency facilities are available at a nearby hospital.

Student Body

The Lovett School enrolls 1445 students (723 boys, 722 girls), 4 to 18 years of age, in Kindergarten through Grade 12. There are 132 students in Preschool (Kindergarten and Prefirst); 376 in the Lower School (Grades 1-5); 362 in the Middle School (Grades 6-8); and 575 in the Upper School (Grades 9-12). Students come from the Atlanta area and surrounding counties.

Student Life

Essential to the life of the Lovett community is the spiritual development of the individual. Under the leadership of the school chaplains, each school participates in its own weekly chapel service, with the students being an integral part of the planning and the service itself. We encourage participation in the chapel services, which are held in the Christian tradition, while we respect and observe the personal beliefs and traditions of others.

The Honor System has been established in each of the schools in order to instill the meaning of the Honor Code. In the Preschool, Lower School, and Middle School, the principals are charged with implementing the code. In the Upper School, the student-elected Honor Council, under the direction of a faculty advisor, handles infractions of the Honor Code.

Preschool

Academic Program and Student Activities

Academics

Since early learning experiences are so important to later academic success, the Lovett Preschool curriculum addresses the development of basic cognitive, conceptual and motor skills.

At Lovett, academic readiness involves pre-reading skills at the kindergarten level and the acquisition of reading skills in the prefirst grade. The language arts program is designed to expand the student's speaking and thinking vocabulary and help develop an appreciation of literature and poetry.

Problem-solving ability is strengthened so that each student can progress from the stage of manipulative and concrete experience to a higher level of abstract thinking in science and mathematics.

Each child's major motor development is advanced by physical education, while small motor skills are refined by a variety of tactile games and a specialized writing program.

To develop an appreciation for music, daily instruction is given in rhyming, pitch, rhythm, and traditional singing.

Development of the student involves daily recognition by the faculty of each child's self-worth and individual progress. Instruction in Bible courses and weekly chapel services strengthen each child's values. Creative and fine arts programs and the "Children Around the World" study extend appreciation of each young person's heritage and his or her importance in the contemporary world.

The multi-faceted curriculum, combined with the freedom to plan and learn independently, meets the specific needs of the individual child while insuring an opportunity for each student to contribute positively to the group.

Student Activities

During the course of the school year many special activities are enjoyed by the children. These may include a Circus Day, Father's Day, the Spring Fling which features the art work of the children, and a magic show. Two very special events of the year are the Thanksgiving chapel service, when the students bring canned goods to share with those less fortunate, and the traditional Christmas chapel service.

Lower School

Academic Program and Student Activities

Academics

The curriculum design of the Lower School (Grades 1-5) follows a traditional emphasis on the basics.

Language instruction in reading blends phonetics, sight reading, and language experiences to assist the child with this crucial skill.

The teaching of writing utilizes a process approach which stresses idea development. Only after the idea is fully developed are the mechanics of grammar and usage applied. A study of literature and vocabulary round out language instruction.

Mathematics is a basic skill emphasized in the Lower School. Concepts and computation are equally stressed and computers are used to help make learning mathematics fun.

Science and social studies are key skill areas taught by daily instruction. These disciplines encourage rational thought and further the process-oriented technique. To provide the "doing" rather than just the "reading", the experimental philosophy of the SCIIS science program is used.

All Lower School youngsters receive weekly instruction in art, music, physical education, Bible, computer skills, and outdoor education. Such subjects broaden children's horizons as well as make learning interesting. The School has resource teachers on staff to teach these special subject areas.

The instructional day is complete with an after-school program of enrichment in visual arts, choral and instrumental music, intramural sports and environmental education. Most Lower School students participate in one or more of these activities.

Student Activities

The Lower School offers various educational and service-oriented activities. Under the supervision of experienced faculty, the students may take field trips to such places as Sope Creek and Jekyll Island.

The student council sponsors cookouts and movie nights for all Lower School students, Christmas caroling at nearby hospitals, and an aluminum can drive. Father's Day is a very special event in the Lower School, as well as Grandparent's Day, and the Christmas Lessons and Carols Service is a valued Lower School tradition.

Academics

Middle School instruction focuses on helping the student make the transition from elementary to secondary school as the youngster emerges from childhood to adolescence.

After they have mastered the introductory skills of the primary years, students are ready to pursue a variety of academic interests and are able to develop more disciplined methods of organizing their time and studies. As their capacity for abstract thinking grows, the shaping of their personalities accelerates.

The Middle School curriculum offers a carefully selected blend of training in fundamental skills while reinforcing individual interests.

Courses in English and reading in the sixth and seventh grades emphasize comprehension, while the study of literature, composition, grammar, and vocabulary expand the student's intellectual horizon. Mathematics courses emphasize computational skills and concepts.

Students in the seventh and eighth grades may be placed in either enriched or honors level courses in English, mathematics, and science to allow for the expression of individual abilities and interests.

Middle School students study world history, geography and American history, as well as earth science, life science and physical science, emphasizing in each, concept formation and hands-on laboratory experiences.

The fine arts are a part of every student's schedule with opportunities for individual selections among various electives, including choral music, instrumental music, and strings.

Mini-courses are taught in Bible, art, drama, and computers, while foreign language study begins in the eighth grade.

In addition to daily physical education, students are encouraged to participate in a variety of team and individual sports.

The Middle School is designed to meet the needs of the individual student who is developing at his or her own pace, while preparing the student for the accelerated college-preparatory secondary curriculum.

During these years, students move from a partially self-contained classroom experience to departmentalized instruction where increased academic concentration is required.

Student Activities

The Middle School students may participate in a variety of extracurricular activities ranging from service-oriented projects to field trips. The Vestry and Student Council are two of the service organizations, and field trips are planned to a nearby monastery, Washington, D.C., and Redstone arsenal in Huntsville, Alabama. The Lion's Eye is the Middle School student newspaper reporting on school, community, and national issues. Additionally, activities are planned by the homeroom teachers to coincide with seasonal events during the year.

Academics

The Lovett Upper School's curriculum rests solidly on careful teaching of the traditional academic disciplines: English, math, science, history, and foreign language. Each academic department has come to be known for fundamental strengths within its discipline; the English department for its strong teaching of composition skills applied to literary studies; the math department for its guidance of students in the transition from simple computation to the more cerebral algebra, analysis, calculus, and computer languages; science for the sophistication of its lab facilities; history, for its emphasis on primary sources of historical research; and foreign languages, for the special touch native speakers give to the classroom experience.

Just as important to the Upper School experience, however, are the unique opportunities students have to learn from teachers who themselves continue to learn enthusiastically. A teacher of American history brings to the classroom slides and narrative from his summer trip to the major Indian battlegrounds of the West. A German teacher lectures to the Goethe Institute in Tennessee and brings back to the classroom ideas shared with teachers throughout the Southeast. A Biology teacher spends part of his summer setting up a student hiking trip to the Appalachian Trail for the next summer. An art teacher knowing the excitement of having his own works exhibited, applauds the appearance of his students' work at the Piedmont Arts festival. A geometry teacher's experience at the Wilson Institute of Princeton University finds immediate application in elementary through secondary grades. An English teacher shares the work of rehearsal and the satisfaction of performing choral works which set to music the poems of Walt Whitman and George Herbert, whom he has taught in the classroom. These shared learning experiences enhance the classroom curriculum. Yet even more, they represent true teaching by modeling what true learning is.

No Upper School teacher is far from a sporting event, as a coach or cheering spectator. The day often ends not with the tutorial period from 2:50-3:30 p.m. but with teachers taking the court, the ballfield, or the cross-country route with the students. Mutual admiration found on the sporting field carries over into a more trusting, supportive atmosphere in the classroom. In addition, Upper School teachers and students take pride in the traditions of service and enrichment which clubs like the Vestry, Interact, Ecology Club, and Foreign Language Club offer. Monthly publication of the Lion-o-Type, our school newspaper, and the appearance of the Signature, our creative writing and arts magazine, are eagerly awaited.

The Lovett Upper School is a place of challenge and excitement to all on its campus. As it regularly sends well-prepared students off to fine colleges and universities throughout the nation, the school eagerly greets their return visits, formally and informally letting the school know of the importance of their Lovett years to their developing careers.

Student Activities

The Upper School student has many activities from which to choose, including the school newspaper, foreign language clubs, the Ecology Club, the Photography Club, or Vestry, to name a few. Student representatives are elected to the Upper School Council, a group which sponsors special events and coordinates student activities. Among the traditional school events are Homecoming, the Christmas Dance, the Spring Concert, and the Spring Dance.

Varsity sports teams compete interscholastically in baseball, basketball, cross-country, diving, football, golf, gymnastics, soccer, softball, swimming, tennis, and wrestling. The Lovett athletic program has produced 16 state championships over the past seven years.

The status of legacy accorded to students whose parents or grandparents have attended The Lovett School and/or whose siblings have been or are currently enrolled at The Lovett School is one of the factors considered in a student's application.

Although all members of the Class of 1987 are ranked, class rank is not a strong indicator for predicting college performance since usually all graduates go on to college. Small differences in grade point averages can make significant differences in rank. As The Lovett School enters its seventh decade, our alumni and faculty can look back on 60 years of growth and look ahead to a future bright with the promise that in years to come certain fundamental beliefs that have guided us will never change.

Mrs. Eva Edwards Lovett, a woman of Christian principle, who founded the school in her home in 1920, left the legacy of a select few principles.

She sought to create an environment where academic excellence would flourish, a place of challenge where young people could attain their best.

She sought, within an atmosphere of trust and cooperation, to help families foster strong traits of character in their children.

She sought to stress the importance and value of each individual in a complex, changing world.

Today, The Lovett School, a co-educational, college preparatory day school, opens its doors to all who share Mrs. Lovett's commitment to pursue excellence.

THE LOVETT SCHOOL

Exceptionally well-qualified teachers, more than two-thirds holding advanced degrees, are the heart and lifeblood of a good education. From them students learn lifetime lessons in the classroom and during important after-hours.

The education plan at Lovett is devised to provide every student with a broad liberal arts education. With a focus on the core subjects - English, history, mathematics, languages, the sciences - the school also offers a variety of elective offerings, permitting students to undertake accelerated or advanced placement work in every academic discipline.

The Lovett School uniform, an important feature of our school life, not only eliminates competition in clothing, but it also results in a distinctive student body.

Challenge is a word we use often at Lovett. To students it means an opportunity to pursue special courses and achieve high honors while studying a carefully monitored, rigorous curriculum. To the teachers it means sharing one's special talents and interests, stretching the limits of every mind, and expanding the imagination of every young person.

To both it means constant discovery - sharing the rich experience of learning in an environment of mutual care and support.

The Study Lab offers academic support to students in grades one through twelve. Its aim is to address the needs of the student by providing tutoring and study skills workshops.

The visual arts at Lovett include sculpture and ceramics, painting, print-making, photography, architectural design, and The Upper School offers a class on the History of Film.

Art courses are available for the beginner and the more experienced student. Unique study programs in portfolio development for the art career-minded young person strengthen the already strong fine arts curriculum.

Visiting artists address classes while monthly exhibitions in the school's Galleria area showcase worthy artwork of all media and of professional as well as student artists.

The music program at Lovett is exceptional. The curriculum ranges from music theory to orchestra, chamber music, chorale, singing, and instrumental instruction. Those studying music receive tutelage from accomplished instructors in musicianship while many opportunities are provided for students to perform throughout the year.

Students study and practice in two separate instrumental rooms, a fully equipped choral rehearsal room, or in one of the soundproof modules available on campus.

The school's facilities are so highly regarded that southeast tryouts for the Metropolitan Opera are conducted annually at Lovett and the Georgia Music Educators Association uses our music rooms for auditions.

The Lovett School offers the beginner the encouragement and opportunity to flex undeveloped creative wings. At the same time, the serious art student will find nourishment and challenge. The Fine Arts Guild and "Evening at the Arts" are two of many programs supported by the special efforts of parent groups.

Fine arts at Lovett occupies a special place. This drawing by a Lovett student was chosen for display in the Galleria as a good example of the quality and technical proficiency of Lovett's young artists.

Boys and girls in each school enjoy the fellowship of the Lovett community.

Our weekly chapel services held in the Christian tradition inspire students to take their own faith seriously and to respect deeply the faith of others.

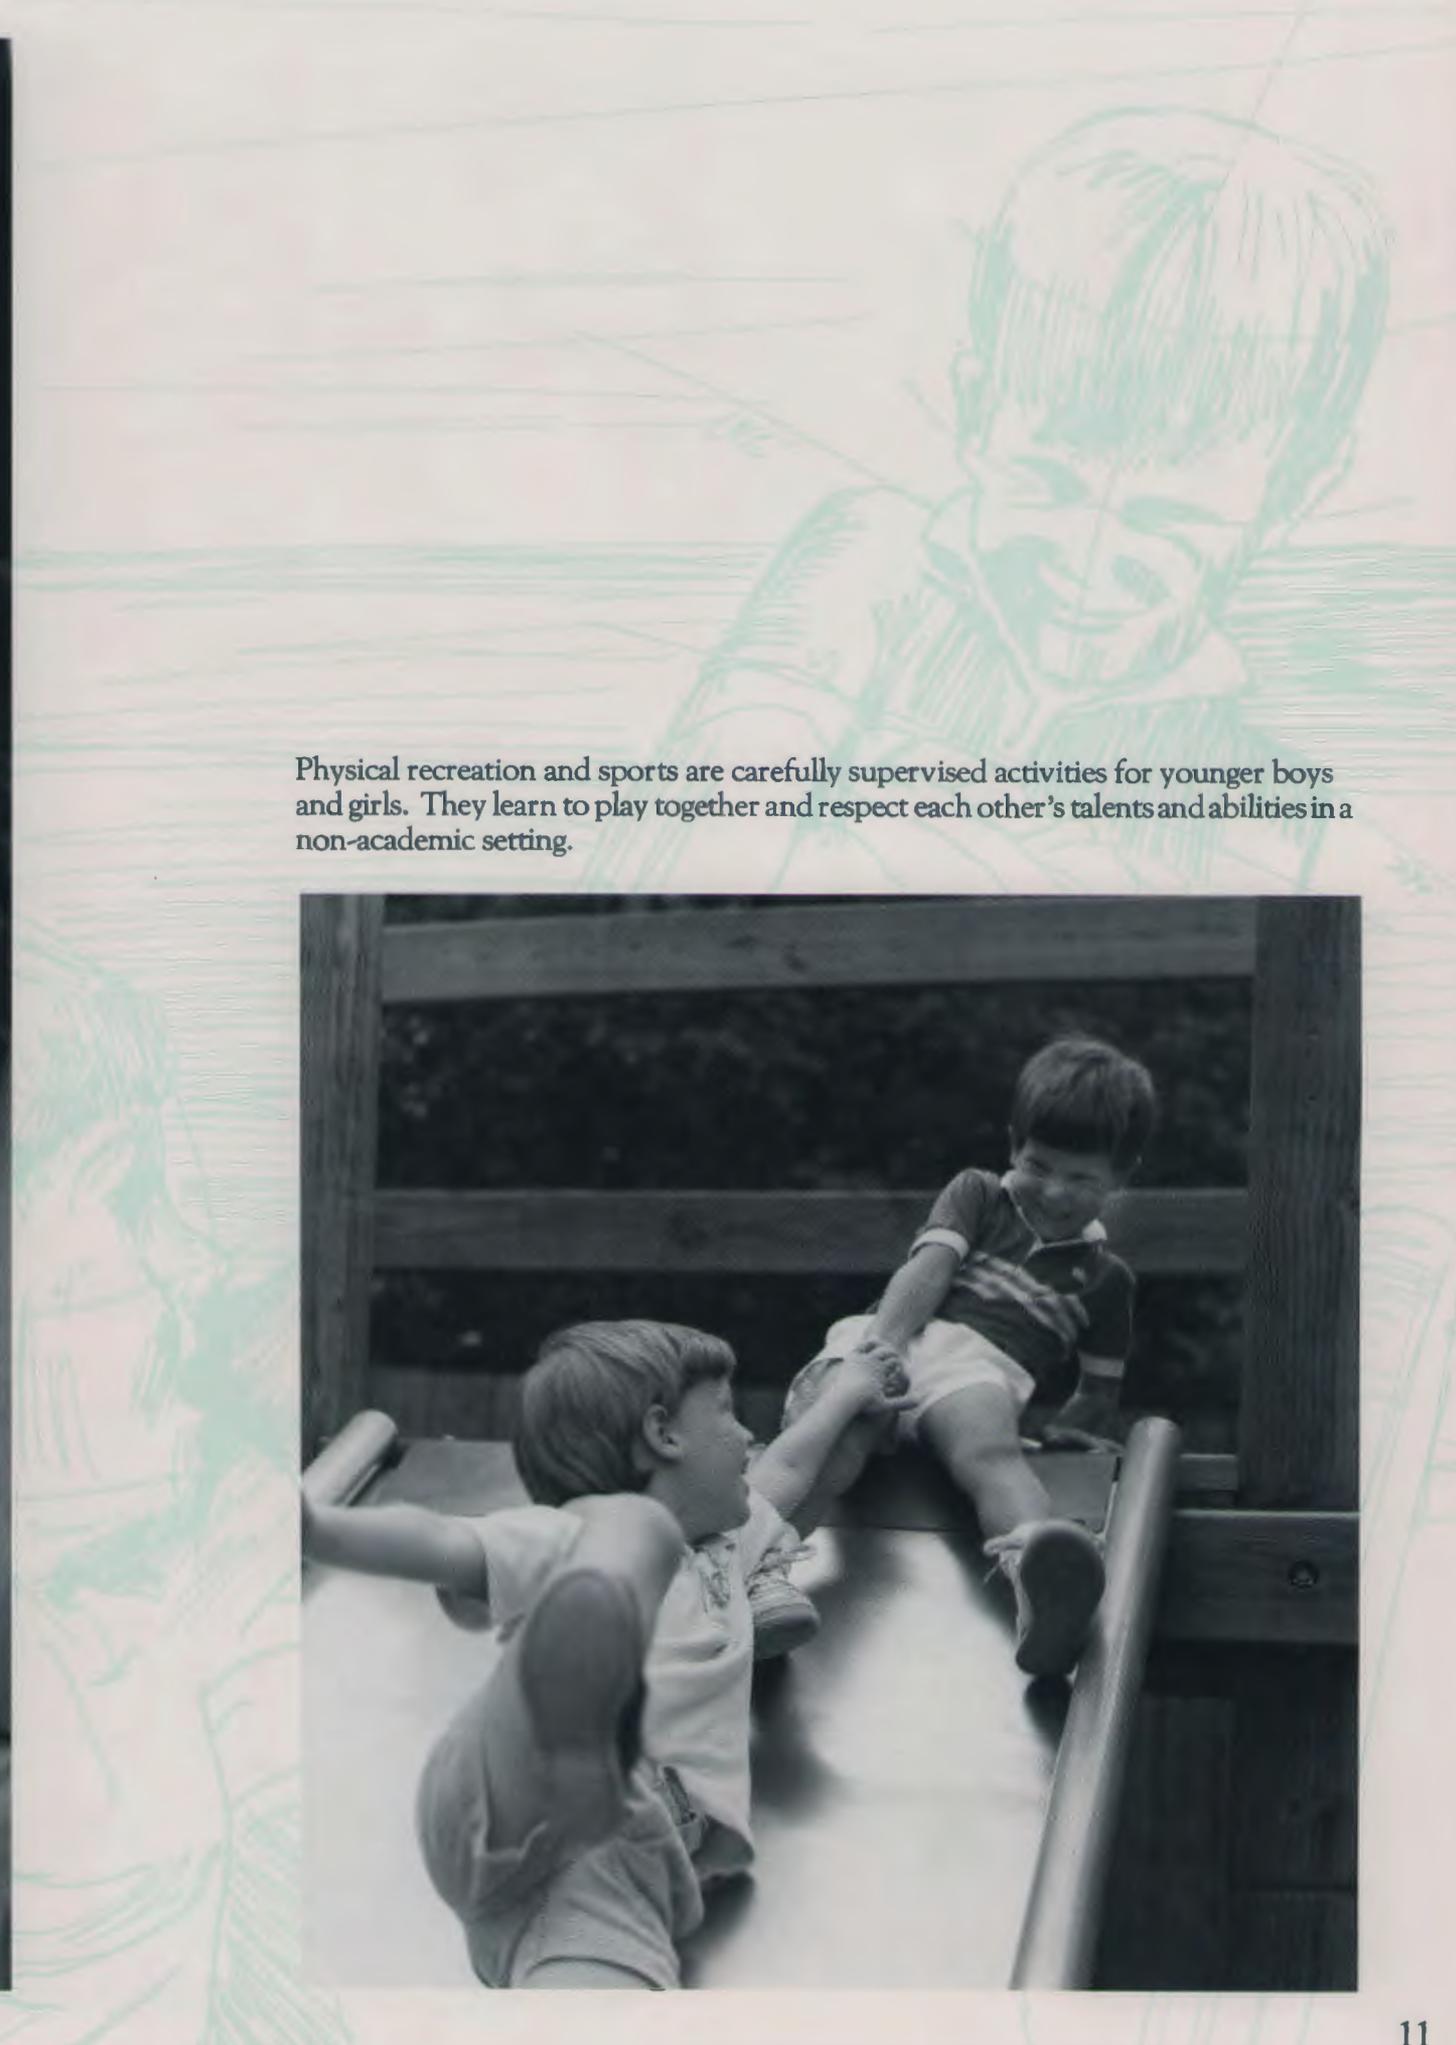

Competition builds strong bodies, sharpens coordination, and teaches the valuable principles of team play. Lovett is committed to providing exceptional facilities such as a 25-meter pool in the natatorium, a regulation soccer field, and a latex-base track which is used regularly by the Atlanta Track Club.

Sports are an integral part of school life. Championship teams compete in swimming, football, track, softball, volleyball, baseball, soccer, tennis, cross-country, gymnastics, basketball, and wrestling.

The Lovett Lions roar! School spirit is contagious during the big Friday night game!

Physical recreation and sports are carefully supervised activities for younger boys and girls. They learn to play together and respect each other's talents and abilities in a non-academic setting.

Strong guidance programs provide support for students and reassurance for parents. At college selection time, a full-time counselor advises each rising senior on all options and choices.

Lovett teachers enjoy time with students in many activities which permit shared experiences outside the classroom.

Special field trips teach youngsters to face obstacles and experience learning in the world beyond the classroom. Led by dedicated teachers, supervised visits are taken to places like the Caribbean Islands, Colorado, Hawaii, Cumberland, and Sapelo Islands.

Language students have opportunities for foreign travel and student exchange programs.

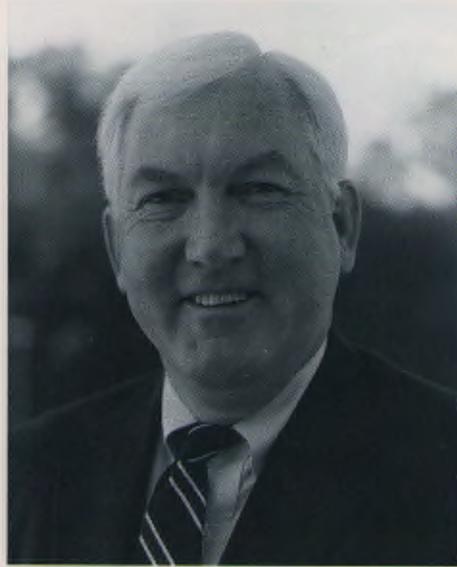

It's not unusual to find Lovett classroom teachers, in addition to team coaches, on the courts or the playing field, encouraging, helping, and guiding eager young athletes.

Lovett nurtures a strong school-home relationship through parent support organizations and frequent contact. Believing that the family is the key to healthy child development, we seek always to strengthen family life.

Lovett alumni are a source of inspiration and support for students in all grade levels. Alumni participate in Homecoming activities, sponsor a student art exhibit, and sell uniforms through the Alumni Campus Shop.

Dear Friends,

Mrs. Eva Edwards Lovett had a vision of a school that would develop the full potential of each student in an atmosphere of care and support. That vision has guided The Lovett School for over six decades. Today, Lovett is more than an educational institution; it is a way of life which challenges character as well as intellect, a school of the heart as well as of the mind.

In a culture which questions absolutes, we hold unashamedly to the ancient principles of honor, love, unselfishness, and hard work. We believe the real point of life is to be found in the quiet world of each person's ultimate commitment to God.

Our academic standards are high; our spiritual goals timeless. Our student body represents a balanced excellence and our graduates are well-rounded people who make significant contributions to society.

Many students and alumni, as well as their parents, vividly recall their experience of coming onto the campus and immediately deciding that Lovett was the school for them because the faculty, staff, and other students greeted them with such genuine warmth and interest. It is this kind of environment that enables students to discover their real talents and develop their skills.

To those of you considering The Lovett School, we extend a sincere invitation to visit us. We invite you to talk with our staff and teachers. This includes a special invitation to make time during your visit to talk with me.

All of us look forward to seeing you.

D. Alvin Cash
Headmaster

Admissions

The Lovett School considers students for admission to grades Kindergarten (4 year-old program) through Grade Eleven each year. The expansion grades are Kindergarten, and grades 5, 6, 7, and 9. Lovett seeks to enroll students of good character who give evidence of being able to benefit from a challenging college preparatory experience.

Admission is competitive. Students are admitted on the basis of school records, academic testing, interviews, and teacher recommendations without regard to race, color, creed, sex, and national origin.

All applications and admissions procedures are coordinated through the Office of Admissions. Applications should be made during the fall prior to the year of desired entry. Notification of admission decisions are mailed the following spring, generally in early April.

Financial Aid

The Lovett School subscribes to the School Scholarship Service and grants financial aid on the basis of family need. The aid is available for any age student; however, priority is given to those students enrolled in grades 6-12.

All financial aid procedures are handled through the Admissions Office.

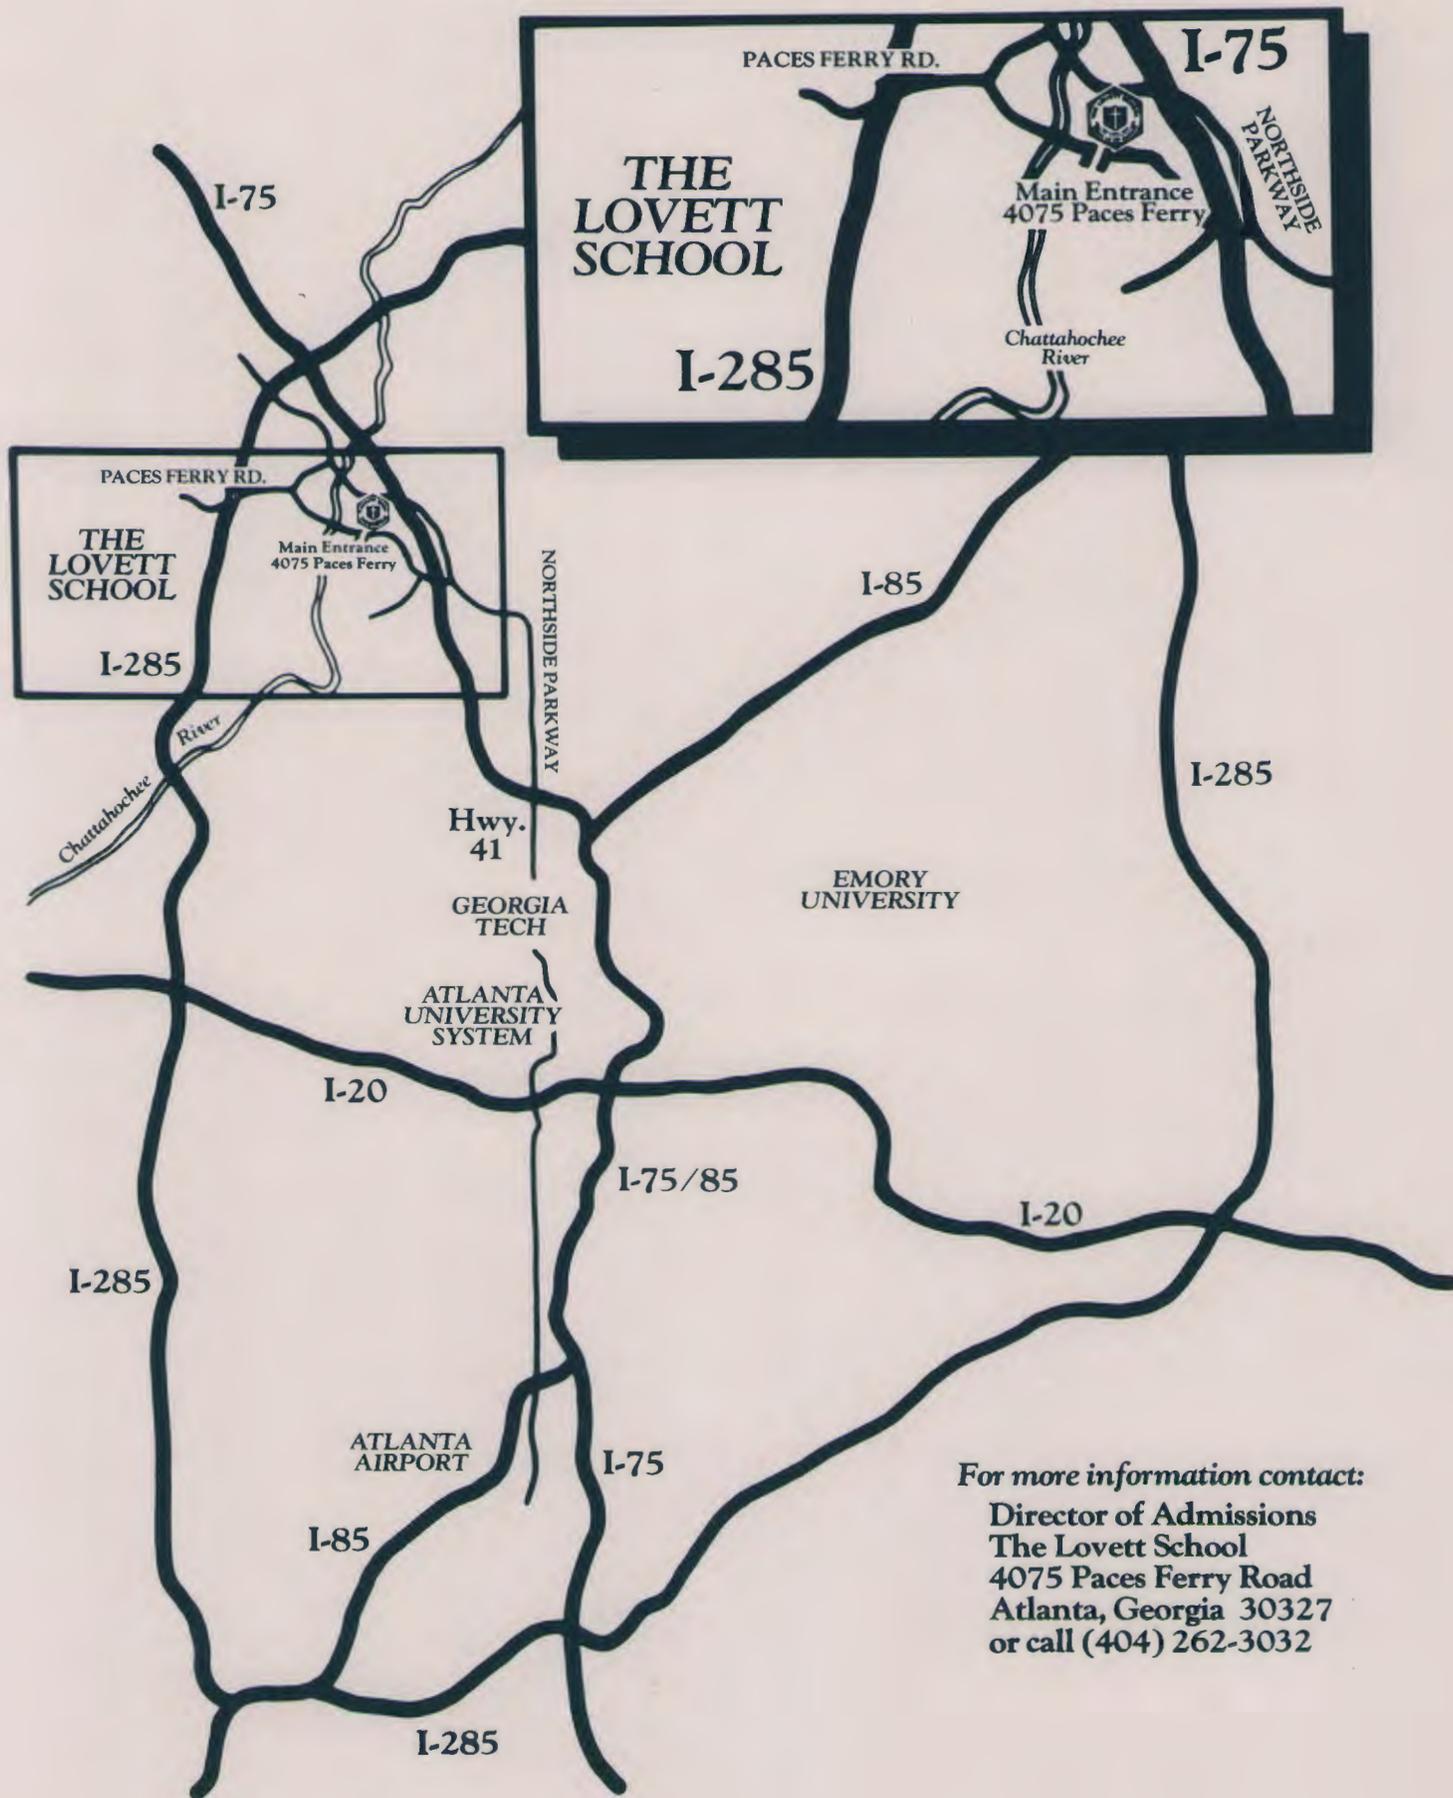

There are parent loan programs available and specific information on these programs may be obtained from the Business Office at The Lovett School.

Notice of Nondiscriminatory Policy

The Lovett School admits students of any race, color, creed, sex, and national origin to all rights, privileges, programs, and activities generally accorded or made available to students at the school. It does not discriminate in the administration of its educational policies, admissions policies, scholarship and loan programs, and other school-administered programs.

Mrs. Nancy Reagan

Dear Mrs. Reagan:

During the past 31 years, The Lovett School, in association with Rich's Department Store, has celebrated the spring season by presenting the most publicized and well-attended fashion preview in the metropolitan Atlanta area. Some 3500 persons were in attendance during the two days the show was presented in 1987. Through ticket sales and corporate sponsorships, this fund-raising event has helped the school continue its tradition of giving the students every opportunity possible to further their educational, personal and spiritual goals. The school serves 1450 young people, ages 4 to 18 years old, and one important element in the educational program is drug education. Your leadership in this field prompts us to ask you to consider visiting Lovett on the occasion of the Lovett-Rich's Fashion Show.

As we have progressed through the years, we have had various personalities visit our show. This year we have decided we would search for a special guest who most exemplifies a positive role model for our children. It is your visible influence in the battle against drug abuse as well as your sincere interest in our youth and the importance of their self-esteem which have brought us to the conclusion that you are the person who stands at the top of this list. Although we know you have a very busy and important schedule to maintain, I am warmly extending to you our invitation to come and join us for this special event on February 24th or 25th, 1988. Your presence would mean a great deal not only to the students, faculty, and parents of The Lovett School, but to the many guests who will come and meet our First Lady. We would of course be happy to make arrangements for you to address the 400 students in the Middle School (grades 6 through 8) and/or the 600 Upper School (grades 9 through 12) students.

The fashion show begins at 10:30 a.m. and usually lasts an hour and a half. I am available at any time to discuss any questions you may have regarding the show. Please contact me or Carolyn Boyd Hatcher, Director of Community Relations at The Lovett School (404-262-3032), if we can assist you regarding any aspect of this occasion. I am enclosing some background information about The School which may be of interest to you.

We are most hopeful that your schedule will permit you to be with us.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Charlotte:

It was good to talk to you last week, and I appreciate your allowing me to ramble on about the Lovett/Rich's Fashion Show. I'm sure you know there are many people working to make the show as successful as possible.

Here is some information that may be helpful in writing your letter to Nancy Reagan. First, the show will run Feb. 24th and 25th at 10:30 a.m. Each show lasts approximately 1 1/2 hours. There are three corporate sponsorships, each contributing $5,000. They are Merrill Lynch Realty, Fidelity National Bank, and Ed Voyles Chrysler-Plymouth. There will be between 3700-4000 people in attendance during the two-day show. Revenues resulting from the show are used for facilities and materials which go directly to the children, i.e., school buses, computers, a greenhouse, and playground equipment.

Rich's Department Store and The Lovett School both have strong anti-drug programs. In fact Rich's is in the process of selling calendars, T-Shirts, buttons and bumper stickers all related to their promotion "Life ... No Drug Can Take You Higher." There are 1500 students at The Lovett School with 1000 of them in the Middle and Upper Schools.

Needless to say any help in bringing the show to Mrs. Reagan's attention would be greatly appreciated. We would certainly do everything in our power to make her visit a pleasant and productive one.

Thank you so much for your help. I will look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

Karen

Dear Mrs. Reagan:

In September, the students, faculty and parents of The Lovett School together with Rich's Department Store, extended to you an invitation to attend the 32nd annual Rich's-Lovett Fashion Show to be held February 24th and 25th in Atlanta. In our correspondence with your office, we were asked to contact you regarding our invitation closer to the date of the show.

We gladly renew our request as it is still our most sincere desire that you will be able to attend this fund raising event and if possible spend a few moments with our students. Your personal support of drug education would be a special gift to these young people. We are most hopeful that your schedule will permit you to be with us at this time. The excitement your visit would generate would truly be a highlight for the Lovett School family.

The president of the Lovett Mothers Club, Julie Allison, has reported to us that her good friend Charlotte Ramage is hoping that you will be able to schedule a visit to Atlanta. Again, we will do all in our power to make your time with us a warm, pleasant and productive experience.

Dear Mrs. Reagan:

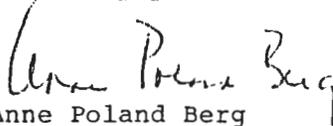

We at Rich's hope that you will accept the Lovett School Mothers Club invitation for February 25 or 26, 1988. For the past 31 years Rich's, the largest department store and an institution in Atlanta, has staged a fashion show for the benefit of The Lovett School.

Your superb leadership and devotion to the drug abuse programs has been very much admired by all of us. This issue is an interest in which we share. We have just launched a Back-to-School promotion with our Teen Board, using as a focus the enclosed school calendar sold to benefit Families in Action, a national drug referral and information center. LIFE...NO DRUG CAN TAKE YOU HIGHER buttons, t-shirts, and automobile bumper strippers are being widely distributed to the young people.

It would strength your campaign to have you talk with the students at the Lovett School and to say a brief word to the mothers who will be at the morning fashion show. Last year's attendance at the show exceeded 4,000 people. Atlanta's most prominent social and community leaders are either on the fashion show committee or have served in the past years on the committee.

Everything possible will be done to make your visit to Atlanta a pleasant and productive one should you give us the opportunity.

Sincerely yours,
