DECLARATION ON DEMOCRATIC VALUES

(Draft of 8 June 1984)

We, the Heads of State or Government of seven major industrial democracies with the President of the Commission of the European Communities, assembled in London for the Tenth Economic Summit meeting, affirm our commitment to the values which sustain and bring together our societies.

2. We believe in a rule of law which respects and protects without fear or favour the rights and liberties of every citizen, and provides the setting in which the human spirit can develop in freedom and diversity.

3. We believe in a system of democracy which ensures genuine choice in elections freely held, free expression of opinion and the capacity to respond and adapt to change in all its aspects.

THE LONDON ECONOMIC DECLARATION

(Draft of 0215 hrs on 9 June 1984)

We, the Heads of State or Government of seven major industrialised countries and the President of the Commission of the European Communities, have gathered in London from 7 to 9 June 1984 at the invitation of the Rt Hon Margaret Thatcher FRS MP, the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom, for the tenth annual Economic Summit.

2. The primary purpose of these meetings is to enable Heads of State or Government to come together to discuss economic problems, prospects and opportunities for our countries and for the world. We have been able to achieve not only closer understanding of each other's positions and views but also a large measure of agreement on the basic objectives of our respective policies.

3. At our last meeting, in Williamsburg in 1983, we were already able to detect clear signs of recovery from world recession. That recovery can now be seen to be established in ~~many of the industrialised~~ ^{our} countries. It is more soundly based than previous recoveries in that it is a reward for the firm efforts made in the Summit countries and elsewhere over recent years to reduce inflation.

4. But its continuation requires unremitting efforts. We have to make the most of the opportunities with which we are now presented to reinforce the basis for enduring growth and the creation of new jobs. We need to spread the benefits of recovery widely, both within the industrialised countries and also to the developing countries, especially the poorer countries who stand to gain more than any from a sustainable growth of the world economy. High interest rates, and failure to reduce inflation further and damp down inflationary expectations, could put recovery at risk. Prudent monetary and budgetary policies of the kind that have brought us so far will have to be sustained and where necessary strengthened. We reaffirm the commitment of our Governments to those objectives and policies.

5. Not the least of our concerns is the growing strain on public expenditure in ~~all our~~ ^{many} countries, ~~especially in some~~

~~countries from an increasing burden of social insurance.~~

Public expenditure has to be kept within the limits of what our national economies can afford. We welcome the increasing attention being given to these problems by national governments and in such international bodies as the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD).

6. As unemployment in our countries remains high, we emphasise the need for sustained growth and creation of new jobs. We must make sure that the industrial economies adapt and develop in response to demand and to technological change. We must encourage active job training policies and removal of rigidities in the labour market, and bring about the conditions in which more new jobs will be created on a lasting basis, especially for the young. We need to foster and expand the international trading system and liberalise capital markets.

7. We are mindful of the concerns expressed by the developing countries, and of the political and economic difficulties which many of them face. In our discussion of each of the issues before us we have recognised the economic interdependence of the industrialised and developing countries. We reaffirm our willingness to conduct our relations with them in a spirit of goodwill and co-operation. # [To this end we ^{have asked our M's, of finance to consider} ~~would favour intensified~~ discussion of international financial issues of particular concern to developing countries in the IMF/IBRD Development Committee, an appropriate and broadly representative forum for this purpose.]

8. In our strategy for dealing with the debt burdens of many developing countries, a key role has been played by the International Monetary Fund (IMF), whose resources have been strengthened for the purpose. Debtor countries have been increasingly ready to accept the need to adjust their economic policies, despite the painful and courageous efforts it requires. In a climate of world recovery and growing world trade, this strategy should continue to enable the international financial system to manage the problems that may still arise. But continuously high or even further growing levels of international interest rates could both exacerbate the problems of the debtor countries and make it more difficult to sustain the strategy. This underlines the importance of policies which will be conducive to lower interest rates and which take account of the impact of our policies upon other countries.

9. We have therefore agreed:-

(1) to continue with and where necessary strengthen policies to reduce inflation and interest rates, to control monetary growth and where necessary reduce budgetary deficits;

(2) to seek to reduce obstacles to the creation of new jobs:

- by encouraging the development of industries and services in response to demand and technological change, including in innovative small and medium-sized businesses;
- by encouraging the efficient working of the labour market;
- by encouraging the improvement and extension of job training;
- by encouraging flexibility in the patterns of working time;

(3) to support and strengthen work in the appropriate international organisations, notably the OECD, on increasing understanding of the sources and patterns of economic change, and on improving economic efficiency and promoting growth, in particular by encouraging innovation and working for a more widespread acceptance of technological change, harmonising standards and facilitating the mobility of labour and capital;

(4) to maintain and wherever possible increase flows of resources, including official development assistance ~~#[and assistance through the International Development Association and through the International Agricultural Development Fund]~~, to the developing countries and particularly to the poorest countries ~~*[To activate the Common Fund for Commodities;]~~ to work with the developing countries to encourage more openness towards

(5) in a spirit of co-operation with the countries concerned, to confirm the strategy on debt and continue to implement and develop it flexibly case by case; we have reviewed progress and attach particular importance to:

- helping debtor countries to make necessary economic and financial policy changes, taking due account of political and social difficulties;
- encouraging the IMF in its central role in this process, which it has been carrying out skilfully;
- encouraging closer co-operation between the IMF and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development (IBRD), and strengthening the role of the IBRD in fostering development over the medium and long term;
- in cases where debtor countries are themselves making successful efforts to improve their position, encouraging more extended multi-year rescheduling of commercial debts and standing ready where appropriate to negotiate similarly in respect of debts to governments and government agencies;

- encouraging the flow of long-term direct investment; just as there is need for industrial countries to make their markets more open for the exports of developing countries, so these countries can help themselves by encouraging investment from the industrial countries;

(6) to invite Finance Ministers to carry forward, in an urgent and thorough manner, their current work on ways to improve the operation of the international monetary system, including exchange rates, surveillance, the creation, control and distribution of international liquidity # ~~[(including the possibility of a further allocation of Special Drawing Rights)]~~ and the role of the IMF; and to complete the present phase of their work in the first half of 1985 with a view to discussion at an early meeting of the IMF Interim Committee;

(7) to carry forward the procedures agreed at Versailles and at Williamsburg for multilateral monitoring and surveillance of convergence of economic performance toward lower inflation and higher growth;

(8) to seek to improve the operation and stability of the international financial system, by means of prudent policies among the major countries, by providing an adequate flow of funding to the international financial institutions, and by improving international access to capital markets in industrialised countries;

(9) to urge all trading countries, industrialised and developing alike, to resist continuing protectionist pressures, to reduce barriers to trade and to make renewed efforts to liberalise and expand international trade in manufactures, commodities and services;

(10) to accelerate the completion of current trade liberalisation programmes, particularly the 1982 GATT work

10. We note with great concern the deterioration of the economic situation in many countries of the world, particularly in Africa. We attach major importance to the special action programme for Africa, which is being prepared by the World Bank and should provide renewed impetus to the joint efforts of the international community to help.

12. We note with approval the continuing consensus on the security and other implications of economic relations with Eastern countries, and on the need to continue work on this subject in the appropriate organisations.

DRAFT DECLARATION ON INTERNATIONAL TERRORISM

1. The Heads of State and Government discussed the problem of international terrorism.
2. They noted that hijacking and kidnapping had declined since the Declarations of Bonn (1978), Venice (1980) and Ottawa (1981) as a result of improved security measures, but that terrorism had developed other techniques, sometimes in association with traffic in drugs.
3. They expressed their resolve to combat this threat by every possible means, strengthening existing measures and developing effective new ones.
4. They were disturbed to note the ease with which terrorists move across international boundaries, and gain access to weapons, explosives, training and finance.
5. They viewed with serious concern the increasing involvement of states and governments in acts of terrorism, including the abuse of diplomatic immunity. They acknowledged the inviolability of diplomatic missions and other requirements of international law: but they emphasised the obligations which that law also entails.
6. Proposals which found support in the discussion included the following:
 - closer co-operation and co-ordination between police and security organisations and other relevant authorities, especially in the exchange of information, intelligence and technical knowledge;
 - scrutiny of national legislation with a view to closing gaps which might be exploited by terrorists;

- use of the powers of the receiving state under the Vienna Convention in such matters as the size of diplomatic missions, and the number of buildings enjoying diplomatic immunity;
- reviewing the sale of weapons to states supporting terrorism;
- a common approach to the expulsion or exclusion from their countries of known terrorists, including persons of diplomatic status involved in terrorism.

7. The Heads of State and Government recognised that this is a problem which affects all civilised states. They resolved to promote action through competent international organisations and among the international community as a whole to prevent and punish terrorist acts, ~~[and to identify and condemn those states which sponsor them.*]~~

Dear Mr President -

29 May 1984

Mr. President, you will get your second election to that highest office and a second chance to show mankind where America and the world will go. Your impact on world history is assured. The world will be a different place by 1988.

You know, better than any of us, the size of the task.

In Hanoi, as part of senior leadership, I had some experience "rebuilding a civilization," as Vice Admiral Jim Stockdale puts it. Let me size the problem, the challenge, you face as the leader of nations whose options more and more resemble those of captives.

We, the producing people of the world, are being nibbled to death.

All nations have always had bright people whose vision was short. We have our share of those who are very strong, very effective, very impressive but, in one respect, very wrong; they fail to understand that freedom to be all those good things is more important than any deal with an extortionist. It is difficult for free people to think in terms of the possibility that the roof can fall in.

America today thinks by the day, and acts by the hour, even minute. The bad guys build for the long term by destroying right now. We risk destruction of our ability to strike a deal five years from today because of the shakey bridges we build today.

The Soviet SS-18 ICBM, for example, has destroyed Russian citizen opportunities for 10 years or more; through Cuba and in Afghanistan, the Kremlin destroys someone noble, something good, every minute.

There are Americans, many of them, whose days are not spoiled by this fact. They are in business, banking, press, church, education, labor, government and political parties of all persuasions.

These sophisticates exist in all countries. They are not new. They use freedom without dedication to its growth. At best, they hope for its survival. Or, they use power and control only to insure survival of their piece of the action.

And, Mr. President, in the America you lead, it appears that you have few philosophical allies among those with whom you share leadership; in the world, as seen through the filters of Press, you may have none. I believe you know this. But I believe you sense that there is far more support for your vision and instincts than for those of the establishments of all nations. You are correct.

So what's the message? If I were President, I'd...

1. Make the Republican party different from the Democratic party. Dole, Weicker and Mathias are Republicans as is Jim Baker, we think. The Stockmans and Feldsteins are too, and they are all there to keep you honest. But what is missing from the Party is the flat statement that the games are over. You will not be captured by any collection of ideologues. We are the party of divergent views, but united by the theme that we are men and women of America dedicated to freedom of opportunity above all else.

2. This has commercial and international implications. At the coming economic summit, and before, domestically, the big movers have to get the word. The "interdependent world" is not the same as the United Nations. We need to take our hits right now. We can no longer be played off, one country, one company, one bank, against another by a bully. We will exercise choice. Linking free economies and markets to non-producing economies is over where public monies or credit support private ventures. Other nations have to understand that policy. Foreign aid and trade can no longer be virtually the same. And military alliances without economic consensus are pointless in today's world.

3. What to do about Soviet military expansion and Western military budgets? Again our allies must get the picture. A proposal: Free nations should agree on levying a uniform surcharge onto all sales to the Soviet Union or any nation whose arming or actions presents a threat to orderly commerce. In the case of Russia, all suppliers to the Kremlin would jack up prices by the amount of budget defense costs to respond to Soviet military allocations. Free market pricing would return when Russian discontinues developing and fielding offensive missile systems.

All the above require a meeting of minds. You are stuck with the most important and momentous historical responsibility ever faced by any leader in any era.

Totalitarian rule is growing despite the absence of any successful socialist model. Terror, especially in the nuclear age, is the only legacy of failed Marxism. It worked in Teheran and is working in the Persian Gulf, just as it works in El Salvador and Warsaw.

Meanwhile, trade and banking with non-productive modern "authors and finishers" of terrorism continues. Commerce must be linked with ideology, the concept of man's purpose and capability.

After you, there isn't anyone. You have to start the process leading to a world of hope and eagerness to live.

Without getting tough with your Party and the establishment there will be no success in shaping the contemporary bi-party, no-party, historically myopic leaders on whom all of us, in every nation depend for a future of peace, opportunity and joy.

Some of us are only passengers on space ship earth, a bountiful, beautiful creation none of us shaped. Others are captains. You are a captain with right visions and true instincts. But you need to clear the bridge and the wardrooms of officers who don't have the foggiest notion that all of us have only temporary passage whether passenger, engineer or captain.

I wish I could help, more. But you have much prayer working for you, and act under God's authority. I believe you can expect the unexpected with results rewarding to our country and to your family.

God bless you, Mr. President. *

Dear Lady Olga:

I am writing this on Air Force One somewhere over the Atlantic as we leave England and the Summit meeting.

Thank you very much for your letter and your generous words. I am most grateful and I share your strong feeling about the responsibility of our two peoples to maintain our close ties. Regardless of what the press might say, the Summit served to strengthen these ties.

I share your view, also, about those misguided, possibly well-intentioned people who let themselves be used by those who would destroy our freedom. They are free to demonstrate as an expression of their views, but if they succeed in their cause they will have destroyed the very freedom that granted them the right to protest.

Thank you again for your letter, and please convey my thanks to your associates.

The President,
The White House,
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. President:

We would like to salute the United States of America for its leadership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation. In expressing this, we feel we are echoing the views which are held by the vast majority of British men and women.

We are fully aware that the freedom and democracy which we value so highly are largely maintained by the unstinting backup in armed forces, equipment and technology provided by the United States.

The North Atlantic Alliance is composed of 16 nations, all of which have an indispensable role to play, but it is the United States which has given its partners the strong foundation upon which they depend for their security.

It is disappointing that our mutual endeavours to work together as a team, which have successfully kept the peace for 35 years, have been bitterly criticised.

There are those who do not put the same value on maintaining our freedoms as we do. Indeed, a vocal minority have sought to gain support for their call for one-sided disarmament. They delude the naive into the belief that despite NATO's very great achievements in maintaining the peace, we are brought closer every day to a nuclear war.

It is they who endanger our peace and security by giving Moscow the impression that we might not be prepared to defend ourselves. We recognise also that in your country there are those who are perturbed when they view through the media our so-called 'peace movements' and fear they signify a lack of national will and resolve.

We know that the anti-nuclear demonstrators in this country do not represent the majority. Indeed, British support for NATO and its policy of deterrence, combined with dialogue, was fully endorsed in the General Election last year.

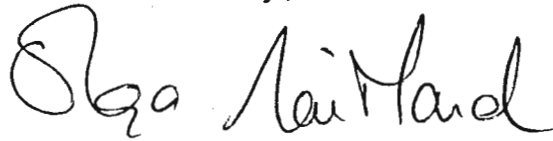

WOMEN & FAMILIES FOR DEFENCE

1 Lincoln's Inn Fields London WC2 01-831-0180

We believe that we must work all the more urgently to proclaim to our peoples on both sides of the Atlantic that we face a common threat and must meet it as one.

We know that the British will not renege on our responsibilities. Our will is steadfast to uphold our well-tried partnership in the cause of peace, security and freedom.

Yours sincerely,

Lady Olga Maitland

Dear Mr President,

May I offer my sincere thanks for your inspiring speech which you made on the occasion of your visit to Normandy yesterday.

We too, in Britain had our days of prayer and nights of vigil before the invasion. It is a pity that we so soon forget that the Lord was on our side because we fought for the cause of righteousness.

My husband went over three days later and is now a retired Anglican clergyman and president of the above Federation. Don't ever retire you'll be busier than you are now!

May God bless you and I pray that you will be given the opportunity to lead your great people for many years to come.

Dear Francis Albert:

I'm replying to your good letter of May 24 on Air Force One, out over the Atlantic, home-ward bound. Thanks for sending the article. I found it interesting, but also found myself in disagreement on some points raised.

You were right about the physical. Overall, they said I was healthy as h--l which set me up for the trip we've just completed.

Nancy sends her love, and we both hope our paths will cross again -- the sooner the better.

Sincerely,

Ron

Dear General Winn:

Thank you very much for your insightful letter and wise words. I am writing this as I return from the Summit in London.

In spite of the usual slanting and inaccuracies of the media, who consider such meetings failures unless there is friction or a feud to write about, the meeting on the whole was good and worthwhile. There was consensus on some of the issues you raised in your letter with regard to the anti-freedom forces in the world and more realism than in some past Summits.

Indeed, it was easier to achieve consensus there than in Washington with some of the factions in Congress. General Winn, I believe that again the media has exaggerated supposed differences within our Administration. It is true I encourage presentation of all facets but there is no compromise with principle on my part, nor has such been urged upon me.

I'm most grateful for your letter and strengthened by the points you made with such eloquence and logic. Thank you and God bless you.

Sincerely,

Dear Lady Maitland

I am writing this on A.F. 1 somewhere over the Atlantic as we leave England & the Summit meeting.

Thank you very much for your letter & your generous words. I am most grateful and I share your strong feeling about the responsibility of our two peoples to maintain our close ties. Regardless of what the press might say the Summit served to strengthen those ties.

I share your view also about those misguided possibly well intentioned people who let them selves be used by those who would destroy our freedom.

They are free to demonstrate as an expression of their views but if they succeed in their cause they will have destroyed the very freedom that granted them the right to protest.

I thank you again for your letter & please

Dear Mr. Brooks-Baker:

We're back in Washington after a trip we'll long remember, particularly because of your part in it. The beautiful painting of the Crest is already hanging in my study.

I'm beginning to know so much about my family tree, perhaps I should call you cousin. On my mother's side, her maternal grandmother was a Mary Baker married to Robert Elsey in Epsom, Surrey, England. She was the daughter of John and Sarah Baker, born October 19, 1819.

I conveyed your greetings to Don Regan and told him I was writing to you. He sends his best regards as does Nancy.

My dear Mr. President,

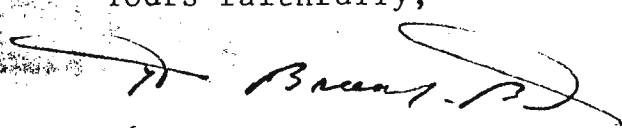

We were delighted to be presented to you and Mrs. Reagan in Ballyporeen on Sunday, and are delighted with your enthusiasm of the Reagan Research.

You may remember, Sir, that I pointed out that many of the coats of arms that are attributed to your distinguished family are incorrect in heraldry. Therefore it is with even greater pleasure that we know that the full accomplishment (coat of arms) which appears in the book we presented to you and the one in the frame which was executed by the well-known artist Jane Thomson are scholastically perfect in every detail.

We hope that your trip to London is as enjoyable as your Irish visit. The research I promised Mrs. Reagan on the maternal side is well under way and we hope to have a preliminary report for you on Saturday 9th June.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: JOHN A. SVAHN JAS
ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT FOR POLICY DEVELOPMENT

SUBJECT: Grove City Legislation

In Grove City, the Supreme Court held that Title IX (anti-sex discrimination in educational institutions) applies only to the specific program of the college receiving federal assistance, rather than to the college as a whole. Although the Court did not consider the statutes which ban discrimination based on age, handicap or race, the same language that prompted the court to hold as it did for Title IX also appears in the other anti-discrimination laws.

In response to Grove City, bills have been introduced in the Congress to amend the laws prohibiting discrimination based on sex, age, handicap and race. The stated intent of the bills is to restore the coverage of these laws to entire institutions rather than to specific programs within them. However, as you know, the bill pending in the Senate (S. 2568, introduced by Senator Kennedy with 61 co-sponsors) goes far beyond restoring the status quo. For example, price support loans and subsidies to farmers could subject them to the requirements of the anti-discrimination laws, and USDA to their enforcement. Grocery stores receiving food stamps could, among other things, be required to re-model their shelves so they would all be accessible to people in wheel chairs.

In discussions with Senate staff and Senators Baker, Quayle Hatch and Helms, it has become obvious that many Republican Senators were unaware of the far-reaching effects of their bill. These discussions, coupled with opposition from groups such as the Farm Bureau and the Chamber of Commerce, have raised concern with several Senators. Jim Baker and I are meeting today with Senators Baker, Dole, Hatch and Packwood. Our goal is to reach agreement on the principles and instruct staff to draft technical amendments to S. 2568 that will carry out those principles.

We hope that, at least in the Senate, we will achieve legislation that will restore the scope and enforcement of civil rights legislation to its pre-Grove City status.

Dear Brute:

Thanks for your letter and the postscript. As usual, your Camp report resulted in a little homesickness.

Your column is right on. In London at the Summit I think I convinced our friends and allies that our deficit had nothing to do with high interest rates. For one thing, four of them have higher deficits as a percentage of G.N.P. than we do, one is tied with us, and one has lower. Our interest rates now are due to just plain fear that inflation will come back.

You are absolutely right that the problems are caused by government spending too much. I've asked several times what the difference is between borrowing or taxing. We're still taking the money from the people either way.

Thanks for your kind words about El Salvador. We'll keep slugging.

Best regards,

Dear Campmates:

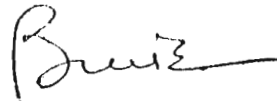

The Work Weekend was a success -- fine weather, ten members present, a lot of hard work -- cleaning, repairing, painting and organizing our fine new kitchen. The Camp will be in good shape for the Spring Jinks and the Encampment. We worked, but did have time for some good food (Chef Ralph was there) and a domino game or two.

We discussed the matter of new members. -- We agreed to propose that the Camp reaffirm its previous invitation to our old friends Harry Gray, Jack Sparks and Michael Beaumont, as they are now members of the Bohemian Club. Dick Krasno, Lou's son, who was a guest last year, is also now a Club member. It was our belief that Dick should be invited to join us. If there is no contrary response from the rest of the members by June 10th, I will send each of the four a letter. Jim Wiesler, a fine San Francisco prospect with whom some members had previously discussed Owl's Nest membership, will be the Camp's guest on the first weekend. It was agreed, if there is no contrary reaction by the end of that weekend, we will invite him formally at that time.

The opportunity for these new members coupled with the large number of guests invited for this year resurfaced the matter of an additional cabin, financed from the new members' fees. We are exploring the feasibility of the proposition with the Grove staff.

Although the figures change as time passes, we could have as many as 25 on the first weekend, 31 on the second and 28 on the third weekend. A load, but we will make it work.

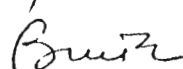

Cheers,

Dear Mr. President: We missed you. The Grove was beautiful - replete with rhododendrons.

Enclosed is a column on economics that may give you some help. I'm proud of the way you are handling your El Salvador opposition.

Sincerely,

Thanks so much for sending your essay on the private sector volunteers, but thank you even more for writing and broadcasting it.

I've been astounded at the way our private sector proposals or suggestions took off when the Commission of Volunteers made their recommendations. What you described in Chicago is happening all over America. Maybe what we need now is an inventory to see if we can't wipe out or at least reduce some government programs because the people are doing the job. Of course someone other than the bureaucrats would have to do the inventory.

Thanks again for all that you are doing.

Dear Mr. President -

We wept along with you as you spoke those difficult words at the beautiful ceremonies in Arlington Cemetery. They were a moving and heartfelt tribute. We were proud of our Commander-in-Chief.

I visited the cemetery here and placed flags on the graves of dear ones, with a prayer of love for their spirits in Eternity.

While discussing your tribute with a neighbor who sacrificed a leg to the war, he said it troubled him on Memorial Day that so many saw it only as a holiday for a trip, to go swimming, fishing etc., giving no thought to what so many had given to keep this country free. He said in spite of what it had cost him, he would be willing to go again, if his country needed him. Patriotism lives!

On the hill, about 15 feet above my very dear one's grave, there is a monument, on top of which is perched a magnificent eagle; below which are inscribed the words:

"Let our object be our country . . . and, by the blessing of God, may that country itself become a vast and splendid monument, not of oppression and terror, but of wisdom, of peace, and of liberty upon which the world may gaze with admiration forever."
Daniel Webster

This, too, I know, is your vision for our beloved country - Thank you, Mr. President!

MEMORANDUM TO THE PRESIDENT

FROM: KATHY OSBORNE
SUBJECT: OLYMPIC GAMES

Media Relations had an inquiry from Runner's World magazine -- they are doing a special article next month on "What The Olympics Means To Me." They are asking this of several prominent people.

Would you like to respond to this for print in the magazine?

I don't know whether every one who participates in sports has day dreams of the Olympics but I did. I was a high school quarter miler and member of our 880 relay team. Then in college I came to the moment when a choice had to be made between running and swimming & the latter was my choice. My day dreams were just that and never taken so seriously that I felt any pain.

I would feel pain - great pain if ever the games were discontinued. They were born in a time & place where war was constant. They were designed to help bring peace. They are needed as much now as they ever were. They are an inspiration to millions of people in all the world.

Dear President Reagan:

On behalf of the men and women of the San Diego County Sheriff's Department I am pleased to present to you a commemorative album which chronicles the history, accomplishments, and personalities that have made this organization one of the finest in the country. The album was produced and published by the San Diego County Deputy Sheriff's Association and I think you will agree that it is extremely well done and is a worthwhile service to our citizens as well as our own personnel, both past and present.

The Board of Directors of the Deputy Sheriff's Association holds you in high personal regard and they have had a copy of the Commemorative Album personally published for you. They have asked me to present the album to you and I do so with great pleasure. After you have reviewed it, you may wish to keep it available in your office or in your public waiting area so that from time to time visitors might know not only the accomplishments of a great professional law enforcement organization but also the high esteem which the members of that organization holds you.

On behalf of our department please accept this commemorative album as a token of that esteem and our appreciation of your support for law enforcement efforts in making our country a safer place to live.

Dear Tom:

I'm answering your two letters May 23 and 29. Let me say first how sorry I am about missing you on the June 11 letter. We didn't get home until June 10th and I didn't see your letters until a couple of days later.

Now about bumperstickers, pins etc., I'm handing that over to the campaign people. There are so d--n many rules and regulations regarding what I can and can't do as a candidate that I'm almost afraid to vote for myself.

I'm enclosing a note you can give to Antonio on the presentation of the painting. For the reasons I've given above, but mainly because you deserve the bows, I'm giving you the credit for this -- which you deserve.

By the way, we did see "The Natural" -- ran it up at Camp David and we loved it.

Again thanks and best regards.

Mr. President:

The red arrows and question marks on these letters are mine.

I can have the campaign office send him buttons and bumper stickers but I'm sure they would question having some special ones made up with Aguilar's name included with yours.

Because we returned to the White House on the 10th and didn't know of his request to do a message to the radio host, Raul Velasco on the 11th, nothing was done in this regard.

Mr. O'Brien doesn't indicate when Antonio Aguilar will be presented with the painting of the two of you together, however, since Mr. O'Brien supposedly paid $25,000 to have it made up, I think it might be inappropriate to send a note to Mr. Aguilar indicating you were a part of it. If Mr. O'Brien calls me about this and indicates that Mr. Aguilar will be presented with the painting at a specific function, we could have a brief message sent if you want.

President Ronald Reagan
Attention: 16991
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear Ron:

From my vantage point on the 50 it appears that my (only mine??) conviction that there are termites in the White House still holds true. Mr. Baker points at Casey, is that a team player? Not in my book he isn't. So the trouble lies within. Casey and Clark would go through the gates of hell for you. Would Bush and Baker?? I think not. It's the old story, "Don't tell me you love me, show me."

I assume that the Party (I'm new to this, I have always been a cash and carry man) will get me a few sacks of Reagan's team buttons and bumper stickers for the Hispanics. Something like, "Double A's Amigos for Double R." The Hispanics love toys, pins and patriotism. The U.S. flag and your team on pins or bumper stickers.

The nickname I've given the House of Representatives appears to be catching on out here. Perhaps I shouldn't have thought of it. Some of your loyal people will no doubt be maligned. The conservative ones, however, won't be too upset. I once said in Washington, D.C. there are now two houses, the President is in the White House and Tip is in the Red House.

Volker is doing just what I thought he would do. (His pal has gone back to Harvard...at least that's a blessing and thank God for that blessing.) Paul is still on David's payroll and after Volker leaves he will still be on the self same payroll. Will Casey or Clark? I think not. Will Bush and Baker?? I rest my case.

The Russians have been defused or thwarted by you time and again. So I expect trouble for you to come in Dallas (massive amounts of Iranian students at SMU). Also the Philippines, Nicaragua-Honduras border, from Libya and Syria and the Gulf of Oman (Strait of Hormuz). More than likely all of the above. Anything and I mean anything to get rid of you. Nice letter to start your week with...truly an upbeat.

Good question to ask Mr. Mondale, "What would you have done differently regarding the 007 massacre, sir?" Then give him an umbrella from Neville Chamberlain Collection!

May 29, 1984

All the women I know love you and respect you. The Hispanics are changing to us too. The Jewish friends (and they are numerous) are in your corner now.

I wonder now what J.J. will do if all promises to him are not kept. You don't see him dropping out do you? Wonder why? Lord, I wonder how I got so far being as naive as I once was?

If there is anything else you need done, want to know, news from the street, or people to be taken under my wing before the tour with Antonio Anguilar begins, let me know and it's done.

All of our love and best to Nancy.

Dear Ron:

Great new movie "The Natural." It is natural...like the old movies- no big message, just nice. I don't like Redford's politics but his acting here was not at all liberal. See it, you'll enjoy it.

Good article in "Town & Country" about all of our pals in Santa Yenez. Naturally it talks about your ranch and your being there too.

I'm now beginning to wonder how you do one third of what you end up doing. Just getting the Antonio Aguilar Show moving is a humongous task. Dates are done. Sponsor - Coors dropped out. I'll get him in with Pepsi or Miller now, but Coors, Lord I thought they were for us. Just goes to show you.

Then there is the presentation of our painting to Antonio in June at the Los Angeles Mexican Consulate. I'll get Bill Wilson to be there if he's in town and Brooks Firestone and perhaps Lew Lehrman, plus whoever else you would like. Perhaps a short note from you to Antonio when the painting is presented. Something like, "I hope you like the painting O'Brien and I had done for you, and thanks for remembering me to all your Hispanic and Anglo friends in the U.S." I'm not too good at this stuff, but I do know everyone likes to be appreciated.

Also, Antonio will be on a two hour show on the SIN Network on June 11, 1984, called "Simpres en Domingo" (Always on Sunday). This show has been on air for fifteen years. Raul Velasco is the host. The show will be seen by some 150 million people in Central America, South America, Puerto Rico, Mexico, U.S. and Spain. Velasco will be interviewing Antonio regarding his tour to the U.S., flags from Reagan, meeting in the White House, his feelings regarding our involvement in Central America (pro), the uniting of our countries, and the friendship with a most wonderful and strong President--you.

He would love to present, as a surprise, to Raul Velasco a message similar to those you did in December. Naturally, stating something about your dear friend, Antonio. I must admit these people do go in for pomp and niceties. My personal feeling is that it can do no harm and possibly help to cut further depth into the Democratic vote.

Like I said, doing this small job is an unreal experience. Goodbye hunting, riding, fishing, golfing, racing at Del Mar, vacation and leisure. Hello political world. Meet someone who is winging it and trying to run it like an ordinary business. I now have adjusted. I've got it down to a combination of a lottery, a football game, an old Western where the hero kisses the horse, and a business. Am I on the right track?

Dear Sheriff Duffly

It was good to see you when you were here and I'm more grateful than I can say for the Commemorative Album. All who had a hand in putting it together are to be congratulated. It is not only a handsome volume, it is a most interesting and informative book and one I'm proud to have.

Please convey my thanks & my compliments to all who were involved. And again a heartfelt thanks to you.

Sincerely RR

Dear Tom

I'm answering your 2 letters May 23 & 29. Let me say first how sorry I am about missing you on the June 11 letter. We didn't get home until June 10th & I didn't see your letter until a couple of days later.

How about bumper stickers, pins etc. I'm handing that over to the campaign people. There are so many rules & regulations regarding what I can & can't do as a candidate that I'm almost afraid to vote for myself.

I'm enclosing a note you can give to Antonio on the presentation of the painting. For the reasons I've given above but mainly because you deserve the honor I'm giving you the credit for this - which you deserve.

By the way we did see "The Natural" - ran it up at Camp David & we loved it.

Again thanks & Best Regards

Sincerely Ron

(over)

This will be the note to Antonio Aguilar enclose it with the one to Tom.

Then about his request for bumper stickers pins etc. Maybe you could call our campaign people & have them put our Hispanic group in touch with Tom or then in touch with them.

To Antonio Aguilar.

Dear Amigo

I wish I could be there in person to see you receive the painting but please know how honored I am to ~~have the~~ appear in the painting with you. I've expressed my thanks already to our mutual friend Tom for bringing this about.

Now let me thank you for years expressions of support & friendship. You make me very proud indeed. I am more grateful than words can express.

~~Again~~ Again my thanks & God Bless

You

Sammy RR

Dear Miss Smeltzer:

A friend at ABC let me see your letter of June 6th about the D-Day ceremonies. I just had to write and tell you how moved I was by your beautiful letter. Being there as I was I can tell you that I, too, shed tears when Taps was played.

One day some American children are going to be very fortunate if they have Tracey Smeltzer as a teacher. God bless you.

Sincerely,

Dear ABC News,

I am sitting in my living room drinking my morning coffee watching the D-Day broadcast from Pointe du Hoc, France. Peter Jennings has just commented that he hopes the younger generations are watching.

Well, I am 20 years old and unfortunately am not a History buff. I never liked History in school so I never paid attention.

However, today I cannot help feeling a great sense of emotions over the occurrence June 6, 1944. The broadcast has helped me understand what happened that day 40 years ago. The broadcast this morning has given me feelings of sadness, fear, and loss of man.

lives just so I may lead a freer and happier life. The strongest emotion I feel, though, is pride. I feel so proud to be an American! It gives me chills to think that 225 Rangers risked their lives so that future generations of Americans could live in liberty.

As the moment of silence approached during the broadcast, I felt a growing lump in my throat. As taps played, I prayed for those who risked and lost their lives that day 40 years ago ... and I also cried....

As a future elementary school teacher, I feel I have learned a great deal this morning to pass on to the future of America. Thank you for opening a place in my heart for those 225 US Rangers who scaled those that cliff 40 years ago.

Dear Jo:

How nice to hear from you. Your name has been forwarded to the Attorney General by me. This Commission is not one by Presidential appointment. It is within the Justice Department but, believe me, you got a Presidential recommendation.

Thanks for volunteering, and I hope everything works out. Give my regards to Phil, and God bless you both.

Sincerely,

Ron

Mr. President:

This letter has been delayed in getting to you because I took the liberty of checking with John Herrington's office to see if there were any openings on the Commission.

Evidently the charter for this commission has just been completed and the Attorney General is now going over the list of names for possible members for this Select Committee on Pornography. John Herrington sent Jo Regan's name to the Attorney General to be considered.

Mr. President,
Your strong Presidential stand as National T.V. against pornography was highly commendable. I am sure it was welcomed by millions of confused parents, who will aid you in this battle.

Your decision to appoint our Attorney General as head of this Commission was equally commendable.

You may recall (with your computerized memory) that I served on the L.A. Commission Against Pornography and Obscenity, for three years, during which time, I reached 50 of our Governors to partake in a
"I For Decency Week". Simultaneously - with full media coverage. Thirty five answered favorably. You had hoped to present it at the Governors Conference in Colorado Springs, 1969.

The enclosed article was sent (by me)

PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 90th CONGRESS, SECOND SESSION

Vol. 114

WASHINGTON, WEDNESDAY, MAY 1, 1968

No. 73

LET'S GET RID OF THE SMUT PEDDLERS

HON. VANCE HARTKE

OF INDIANA

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

Wednesday, May 1, 1968

Mr. HARTKE. Mr. President, Mrs. Phil Regan, of California, whose husband is the well-known entertainer, is a member of the Los Angeles County Commission Against Indecent Literature, an official organization within the county's governmental structure. The Regans are among the politically active Californians and count a great number of elected public servants—including, I am sure, many of my colleagues as well as myself—among their friends.

Some time ago Mrs. Regan sent me a statement which she prepared as an appeal against the spread of pornography among our youth. I ask unanimous consent that this statement, entitled "Let's Get Rid of the Smut Peddlers," appear in the Extensions of Remarks.

There being no objection, the statement was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

LET'S GET RID OF THE SMUT PEDDLERS
(By Mrs. Phil Regan)

Edwin Markham said, "In vain we build the city if we do not first build the man."

What kind of men and women can we build from a muddy reservoir of filthy literature?

Walter and Lao Russell clearly foretold the outcome in The World Crisis: "Culture, character and morality drop swiftly. Teenage degradation begins. Beauty and inspiration die. Art becomes as ugly as the decadent minds of its creators. Sensuality increases." And from here they go to other excesses.

One-third of our population in the United States is under sixteen years of age. If the American people, and especially the parents, continue to tolerate smutty literature poured out of the pens of depraved minds, then generations to come will be victimized.

Obscenity exerts an influence upon the minds of many young people resulting in heinous sexual offenses. And what are we doing to stop the publication of this satanic literature and hard-core pornography?

These depraved pornographic publishers know that "one picture is worth a thousand words," and then as Shakespeare so aptly put it: "Ill deeds are doubled with evil words." If we continue to let pornography, and foul language pollute the minds of this generation through indecent literature and do not put a stop to making depravity a lucrative business, we shall live to regret it.

A statement by the New York Academy of Medicine (August 1963) voices concern about the appalling impact on the young of salacious books, magazines, photographs and records sold in shops and circulated through the mails. The Academy said, "This material ranged from erotic through libidinous to outright lascivious and lecherous. All the publications were copiously illustrated with nearly totally nude male or female figures. Although marked for adults, it is believed that the greater proportion of the subject matter is purposely directed toward teenagers. Such reading (the report continued) encourages a marked preoccupation with sex and interferes with the development of a healthy attitude and respect for the opposite sex. It is said to contribute to perversion."

"It is undeniable that there has been a resurgence of venereal disease, particularly among teenage youth, and that the rate of illegitimacy is climbing. The perusal of erotic literature has the potentiality of inciting some young persons to enter into illicit sex relations and thus of leading them into promiscuity, illegitimacy and venereal disease."

What will become of these misguided souls? We frankly do not know. We must stop the sale of pornographic publications and malefic literature slanted for young people. We can do so through strong and immediate legislation.

The widespread publication and sale of corrupt literature and pornography is an assault on fundamental decency. "What we gaze upon we become." Then it is time to give our teenagers something beautiful to gaze upon, something inspirational that will fire their imagination and spur them on to be decent men and women. We should protect their immature minds from this depravity. This foul literature is self-destructive.

Let us emancipate our young people from the claws of unclean and obsessive literature and demand that publishers give them something clean and stimulating. Much wickedness is masquerading these days as Freedom of the Press. There is no freedom without morality! Would you call a man free who is enslaved by disgusting literature or sex urges that follow as a result of pornographic indulgence? Is his or her mind clear to make right decisions, or will they be chained to unrestricted love-ins, sit-ins or fall-downs? The greatest individual crimes are incited and multiplied by writers and publishers of pornography and vile literature.

With continued obscenity, a very marked decline in sexual morals has become noticeable, thus encouraging young people to turn sexual passions into a species of hobby.

Obscenity is more insidious than you think and cannot be overcome by what you may call a head-on collision. As in any conflict, we must study our enemy and expose their purpose so that we may use the right strategy to defeat them. The real triumph will be if without compromising with error we can outlaw this contagious cancer that is deteriorating many young minds. A mere negative to obscenity is not enough. You will need something good to take its place. How can it be counteracted and overcome? Be against obscenity and continue by being for the law to banish it. There has been a great deal of publicity and scientific investigation about smog. What are we going to do about smut and the irreparable damage it is doing to young minds? The situation is bad. It is serious but it can be changed. We the people can change this picture permanently by getting legislation passed outlawing indecent literature and pornography. There is an urgent need for parents and the voters to act quickly. Let us not forget that the people are the power in this great land and we can reverse this dangerous trend by backing legislation to outlaw smut and make it a criminal offense to sell it to teenagers.

If the men representing us in Sacramento fall us in getting this legislation passed, let us replace them. Let them know that we the people want decent literature for our children and we intend to get it. We need immediate legislation to outlaw indecent literature. This has been proven.

Now is the time to show righteous indignation against rotten literature. Let us keep the minds of our young people clean and there will be many vacancies in our mental institutions.

Duality of thinking in our legislators entails a natural resistance to our progress for good. So let us make sure that our lawmakers call into instant action laws which will drastically right this situation. If you are against pornographic and indecent literature, let us be guided by the late Walter Russell in accomplishing this. "Live it in your dealings and talk it in your conversations. If you are employed in a shoe store, an office, a television studio, if you are a housewife, an author, preacher or actor—live it, talk it constantly—talk against indecent literature in your club or in the train, bus, restaurant, to the man next to you and you may find that he is as eager to stop it as you are. Gather groups into your home and develop means to stop it. Teach those who do not understand that man's world is falling apart through wrong concepts and actions of man brought about by deteriorating thoughts."

Write your Congressmen, your Senators, your Assemblymen, your Mayors, your Governors. Urge them to act or else you will replace them on Election Day. "If 500 of you in a town of 10,000," continued Walter Russell, "live it and talk it to your neighbors who may find it difficult to comprehend or to realize the danger to our nation—if we build our young through clean literature and uplifting ideas, it will not be long before a neighborhood and a town will become one in decency."

If enough thousands of you concentrate in getting rid of obscenity in our literature, we can outlaw it in the next election.

Let there be no escape from the transgression of our moral laws. It begins with you and you and you!

And let us remember—In vain we build the Nation if we do not first build our young people to be morally strong!

Dear Mr. Rosborough:

My brother forwarded your sad word about Dan. I had not heard of his death and was truly saddened as I know you were.

J. Dan was responsible for my becoming a Teke and, indeed, was most helpful in my getting work at Eureka which was necessary if I was to go to college. I knew your father also. Those Tekes of that class were frequent visitors back to the old brick house on Walnut Avenue.

You were kind and thoughtful to send me the word and I'm most grateful.

Mr. Reagan:

Please forward the enclosed note to the President. As you well know, Dan and the President are old friends.

Dan served as my surrogate father for many years while my parents were overseas in the oil business. My father, by the way, James M. Rosborough, was in Dan's class at Eureka College and also a TKE!

Sincerely,

Dieh Rosbor
