Sixth Replenishment of the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB)

After fifteen months of negotiations of which the last six have been particularly difficult, the member countries of the IDB, in a replenishment meeting held Dec. 16-17, reached agreement in principle on the major issues of the Sixth Replenishment covering the 1983-86 lending program.

We have informed the other members that before we can formally agree to the replenishment proposal we will need SIG-IEP approval of this agreement.

We believe that we have been successful in achieving our primary budgetary and policy goals. For the most part, this proposal falls within previously approved limits. We are still under the limit on paid-in capital and on Fund for Special Operations (FSO) contributions (budget authority and outlays). However, we will exceed our approved authority on callable capital (program limitations).

Description of Replenishment Proposal

In order to provide a clearer view of how we fared in the replenishment negotiations it is important to consider that the Latin Americans originally proposed a Sixth Replenishment that would require a capital increase of over $22 billion, concessional lending program of $2.3 billion and paid-in capital of 7.5 percent. This would have required a total U.S. capital subscription of $7,783 million, of which $584 million would be paid-in capital ($146 million annually), $7,199 million in callable capital ($1,800 million annually) and total U.S. concessional contributions of $326 million ($82 million annually). The original Latin proposal translates into an overall lending program of $14.5 billion.

The following table, compares our negotiating authority with the parameters of the tentative agreement which will be funded over a 4 year period beginning in U.S. FY 1984.

Comparison of Approved Negotiating Authority with Sixth Replenishment Proposal

	Authority	Tentative Agreement
Total Lending Size	$12.2 billion	$13.0 billion
Percent of Paid-in	5 percent	4.5 percent
Amount of U.S. Paid-in Capital (per year)	$59.9 million	$58.0 million
Amount of U.S. Callable Capital (per year)	$1,139.0 million	$1,231.0 million
Total Fund for Special Operations (FSO)	$800.0 million	$725.0 million
U.S. Contribution to FSO (per year)	$80.0 million	$72.5 million
Total Size of Capital Replenishment	$13.9 billion	$14.85 billion
Total U.S. Subscription of Capital Replenishment	$4,795.5 million	$5,155.85 million

In terms of budgetary outlays we are $37.6 million below our limit. To put this figure in a broader perspective it is important to note that the FSO of the Sixth Replenishment would be about $1 billion less than that of the Fifth Replenishment. Because of the sharp reduction in the size of the FSO, United States total budgetary outlay for the Sixth Replenishment would be $384 million less than the current Fifth Replenishment.

In addition to these substantial budgetary savings we made significant progress in the maturation/graduation process of the IDB. As part of the Sixth Replenishment the borrowing member countries will provide all of their paid-in capital subscriptions and FSO contributions in convertible currencies. During the previous replenishment 66 percent of paid-in capital (of all borrowing members) and 75 percent of FSO contributions of the wealthier borrowing members was provided in convertible currencies. The IDB is the only multilateral development bank (MDB) to achieve this degree of burdensharing. The IDB is also the only MDB to require its borrowing members to provide contributions to the soft fund. In addition, the economically more advanced countries will be borrowing on harder terms than before.

One of our policy goals has been to make the MDBs more financially self-sufficient. In the IDB we made significant progress in achieving this goal by reducing the level of paid-in capital from its previous level of 7.5 percent to our proposal of 4.5 percent. We believe the 4.5 percent is consistent with our desire to maintain the financial integrity of the Bank while at the same time weaning it from public support.

The other member countries believed, however, that a $12 billion lending program, as proposed by the United States was inadequate. The consensus of these countries was that an additional $1 billion was required, bringing the total lending program up to $13 billion. The United States was able to obtain Bank Management agreement to provide $500 million in additional lending authority by borrowing against its ordinary capital general reserves. It should be noted that Management had earlier agreed to provide $2 billion in additional lending authority by redefining its lending limitations. Both of these changes in the Bank's financial operations were suggested by the IDB's Underwriters and supported by the members of the Bank. However, in order to help reach the $13 billion figure the United States will exceed its limitation on callable capital by $368 million ($92 per year for four years).

Recommendation

Given the success we have had in (1) sharply reducing budgetary outlays from the previous replenishment, (2) coming in below the previously approved figures on budgetary outlays, and (3) in making significant progress in the maturation process of the institution, we recommend that the SIG-IEP authorize the use of the additional $368 million in callable capital.
