TALKING POINTS FOR THE MEETING WITH THE 1984 CHERRY BLOSSOM PRINCESSES

- Well, I'm delighted to welcome all of you to the White House.
- We're glad to see all of you here today, because it's a sure sign of spring when the Cherry Blossom Princesses arrive.
- The Festival symbolizes the beginning of spring, and the warm spirit of friendship between the United States and Japan. It gives me particular pleasure to welcome the 1983 Cherry Blossom Queen from Japan, Etsuko Kobayashi [It'su-ko Ko-bay-shi].
- I hope each of you has a wonderful time participating in the events this week.
- I have been told to keep this short because you have to rush off to a parade, so, reluctantly, I say good-bye.

TALKING POINTS

- On behalf of the United States and our people, I would like to welcome you all. I sincerely hope that your Eisenhower Fellowship in America increases the understanding between us on the vital issues of our day.
- Thirty years ago, President Eisenhower, and the wise men connected with him, realized that there was a real need for a fellowship program to bring business and professional people to America to increase communication on a person-to-person basis.
- Mr. Barnes and Mr. Leisenring, I have to state that the wisdom of a program such as yours has never been clearer than it is today. In today's troubled world, communication between us is of crucial importance.
- (OPTIONAL) You may want to take one or two questions from the Fellows.
