THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

June 11, 1984

MEETING WITH SENATE MAJORITY LEADER HOWARD BAKER AND HOUSE REPUBLICAN LEADER ROBERT MICHEL

DATE: Tuesday, June 12, 1984 LOCATION: The Oval Office TIME: 9:15 a.m. (15 minutes) FROM: M.B. Oglesby, Jr.

I. PURPOSE

To receive a briefing from Senator Baker and Congressman Michel concerning the status of and prospects for the Senate/House conference on the deficit reduction measures.

II. BACKGROUND

The Senate and House have passed their own individual deficit reduction packages. The House package totals $182.4 billion from Fiscal Year 1984 through Fiscal Year 1987. The Senate package, for the same time period, totals $140.1 billion. Although both packages included roughly the same amounts of tax increases ($49.8 billion for the House; $47.7 billion for the Senate), major differences appear in the spending cut recommendations. The House, for example, passed a $95.6 billion cut in defense programs over the three year period whereas the Senate recommended a $47.7 billion defense cut. The Senate also adopted, pursuant to the Rose Garden agreement, statutory caps on appropriation bills over the three year period. The House has indicated strong opposition to this concept.

The Senate Finance Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee have been meeting to work out the differences between the two tax bills. Some progress has been made but much work remains to be done. They also will address this week the spending cut provisions under their jurisdiction. The Administration has worked closely with Senator Baker and other Senate Republicans on the appropriations cap language. Despite Senator Baker's concerted efforts on behalf of the Administration's position on this issue, no final agreement has been reached with the Senate Republicans on this aspect of the package so that they may proceed to conference with their House counterparts.

III. PARTICIPANTS

The President
The Vice President

OMB Director David Stockman

Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker (R-Tennessee)
House Republican Leader Robert Michel (R-Illinois)

Staff

Ed Meese James Baker Richard Darman M. B. Oglesby, Jr.

IV. PRESS PLAN

V. SEQUENCE OF EVENTS

Senator Baker and Congressman Michel to arrive through the Northwest Gate to the West Lobby and be escorted to the Oval Office for a 15-minute meeting with the President.

SUGGESTED TALKING POINTS FOR MEETING WITH SENATE MAJORITY LEADER HOWARD BAKER AND HOUSE REPUBLICAN LEADER ROBERT MICHEL

- -- Howard and Bob, I am pleased we could meet briefly before the Republican Leadership meeting.
- -- I wanted to have this opportunity to hear your thoughts on where the deficit reduction package conference stands.

(discussion to follow)

- -- Apparently, a great deal of work remains to be done. We must all work together to achieve passage of a meaningful and balanced deficit reduction package.
- -- Howard, I saw the reports of your Dartmouth commencement speech in which you suggest an annual meeting between the U.S. and the Soviet Union. I simply want to reiterate, as I tried to do in Europe, that we are ready to meet with the Soviets as soon as they are willing to return to the negotiating table.
- -- I realize your suggestion is a broader one, but the most important matter we can discuss with the Soviets at the present time is arms control.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

MEETING WITH HOUSE AND SENATE REPUBLICAN LEADERSHIP

DATE: Tuesday, June 12, 1984

LOCATION: The Cabinet Room

TIME: 9:30 a.m. (60 minutes)

FROM: M. B. Oglesby, Jr.

I. PURPOSE

To report on your European trip, to review the status of our Central America program, to stress the importance of the MX missile, and to discuss the Congressional agenda for the remainder of June -- including the prospects for the deficit reduction package.

II. BACKGROUND

This is the first GOP leadership meeting in more than two months. With only three weeks remaining before the July 4 recess, there are several major legislative items to be resolved. Arms control, deficits, and mutual commitment to a strong defense and economic growth were themes from your trip that relate directly to pending legislative business.

The Senate is currently considering the Defense Authorization bill. Several important defense programs are under attack (i.e., ASAT, SDI, and MX). Senate Republicans need a united effort if we are going to be able to sustain these programs. The Senate bill, as reported from Committee, provides for 21 MX missiles with no restrictions -- it will be very difficult to hold that position on the Senate Floor.

We have made minimal progress in our efforts to develop support for funding of the covert program in Nicaragua. At our request, the Senate held up action on the emergency supplemental (which contains $62 million for El Salvador, but no additional money for Nicaragua) to give us time to explore possible compromises. The House Select Committee on Intelligence is getting a rule this week for Floor consideration of the 1985 Intelligence Authorization bill. This bill contains totally unsatisfactory provisions for the Nicaragua operations.

Senator Percy has asked Senator Baker for Floor time this month to consider the Foreign Assistance bill. Senator Mathias is prepared to offer an amendment which would implement the Kissinger Commission recommendations. This is our best opportunity to get the Central America package enacted this year.

Due to the outstanding efforts of Senator Baker and the Senate GOP leadership -- the Rose Garden deficit reduction package has gone to conference intact. However, there is substantial concern that the House-Senate conference and the Appropriations Committees may make modifications on the spending side that are unacceptable. Senator Baker has made it clear to Senate conferees that he expects them to support the two-cap (defense and non-defense) spending levels. He is also working with us to make sure that the subcommittees of the Senate Appropriations Committee adhere to the agreed to spending levels. Chairmen Dole and Rostenkowski are making progress in the conference on the tax bill -- but they are having difficulty reaching agreement on the spending items in their bills.

The principal focus for the remainder of the session will be on appropriation bills -- with the election campaign dominating most activity. The Republican leadership will want to work closely with us to develop a priority list of legislation for the remainder of the year.

TALKING POINTS

Trip

- -- My trip to Ireland, London and the Normandy beaches went extremely well. The Summit demonstrated once again that our relations are in very good shape with our major allies.
- -- On strategic issues, we had complete agreement on the basics, and even on the particulars of specific policies there is much greater unity than the press would have us believe.
- -- Several of the other countries are not coming out of the recession as rapidly as we have, and this naturally presents problems for them. But we were all agreed that we must resist protectionist pressures, since protectionism could work to the long-term disadvantage of all of us. My visits to Ireland and to the Normandy beaches had a special meaning for me.
- -- While in Ireland, I made a point of speaking out against terrorist violence, and also described my desire to get moving on an improvement of relations with the Soviets.

 Unfortunately, they don't seem ready, but I'm going to keep trying.
- I hope you have all had a chance to see the D-Day beaches in Normandy. If you haven't, make a point to go there. Nothing is a better reminder of the sacrifices so many Americans have made to preserve our way of life.

- -- When you see those cliffs, and those beaches with lines of pillboxes behind them, you can appreciate the bravery and heroism our men showed that fateful day. And you'll come back all the more determined to see that we keep this country free and strong, and make it unnecessary for our boys ever to have to go through such an ordeal again.
- -- George and Don, could you fill us in on some of the details of our discussions?

(Secretaries Shultz and Regan remark on trip)

Central America

- -- Central America is one of the most important items on our national security agenda, and I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for all the support and hard work that you have mustered to get our Central America legislation through. I know I can count on your continued efforts as the bills go through the legislative process.
- -- As you know, our policy for Central America is both balanced and prudent and is based on important national security interests. Democracy, development, dialogue and defense are the cornerstones of our policy.
- -- We have a tough fight ahead on the Nicaragua program. I consider this program to be of essential importance for us and for the region. Our policy towards Nicaragua has always been consistent:

- that the Sandinistas fulfill their 1979 promises to the OAS and implement a genuine democracy;
- that they end their subversive efforts against Nicaragua's neighbors;
- that they end their ties to the Cubans and the Soviets; and,
- that they reduce their military buildup to parity with the other Central American countries.
- -- These are all consistent with the Contadora objectives, which we support. Continuation of the Nicaragua program is vital to securing peace in Central America.
- -- As you know, Secretary Shultz went to Managua June 1 to convey to the Sandinistas our commitment to these policy goals. I'll turn to him now to brief you on his trip.

(Secretary Shultz remarks on Central America)

Defense Authorization Bill

-- I know that the Senate is considering the Defense Authorization bill -- and I want to thank the House leadership for the hard work that they did during the House consideration of the defense bill. Over the past three years we have worked together to restore our leadership in the world and rebuild our defenses. The United States, thanks to your support, is safer, stronger, and more secure today.

- -- If we fail to maintain the momentum of our defense program by slowing down in mid-course, we will only increase the cost of what we need and invite speculation by friends, allies, and adversaries alike that America can sustain neither its will nor leadership.
- -- Our Strategic Modernization Program is now strengthening all three legs of the strategic triad. The MX missile is a vital part of that triad. We cannot reward the Russians for walking away from the arms control talks. We must continue the production of the MX.
- -- There are other areas where we must not provide unilateral concessions to the Soviets. Our ASAT effort is proceeding in a prudent manner. We are also embarking on a bold new research effort to examine and assess many different options to give us a reliable and effective defense against incoming Soviet ballistic missiles.
- I know you are confronted with difficult budgetary decisions and increased pressure for more Federal budget reductions, but we must not sacrifice our gains and movement toward a stronger and more secure America.

Budget Conference

-- Howard and Bob, before turning this open for discussion,

I know that the conference has started on the budget reduction package. I'm counting on our Republicans to hold the line on the spending side.

(Senator Baker and Congressman Michel to open for discussion)
