Biography

Peter Warren Rodman was an American attorney, government official, author, and national security adviser.

Born in Boston on November 24, 1943, Rodman was educated at The Roxbury Latin School. He earned an A.B from Harvard College in 1964, a B.A. and M.A. from Worcester College, Oxford in 1967, and a Juris Doctor from Harvard Law School in 1969.

Rodman began his career in government as a staff member on the Nixon and Ford Administrations' National Security Council (NSC), working from 1969 to 1977 and serving as an assistant to National Security Advisor Henry Kissinger. From 1977 to 1983, he was a Fellow at the Center for Strategic and International Studies at Georgetown University.

In 1984 Rodman joined the State Department as a member of the Policy Planning Council with responsibility for the Middle East region. In April 1984, he was promoted to Director of the Office of Policy Planning Staff in the State Department.

Rodman was then detailed to the Reagan White House and served as Reagan's Deputy National Security Advisor from 1986 to 1987. From 1987 to 1990, staying on through the George H.W. Bush administration, he served as Special Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs and National Security Council Counselor. Rodman wrote a book, More Precious Than Peace, in praise of the Reagan Administration's Cold War efforts to ward off communism in places like Afghanistan, Angola and Cambodia.

From 1991 to 1999, Rodman was a senior editor at National Review, a conservative magazine. He also served as the Director of National Security Programs at the Center for the National Interest, a conservative think-tank founded by Richard Nixon

He was one of the signers of the January 26, 1998 Project for the New Century sent to President Bill Clinton. He worked extensively with Henry Kissinger, helping him write his memoirs. He was a member of the Board of Trustees of Freedom House, Vice President and member of the Board of Directors of the World Affairs Council and a Fellow of the Foreign Policy Institute of the School of Advanced International Studies at Johns Hopkins University.

Rodman returned to government service in July 2001 as Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Security Affairs in the George W. Bush Administration. Rodman was a principal advisor to the Secretary of Defense on the formulation and coordination of international security strategy and policy, with responsibility for East Asia, South Asia, the Middle East and Persian Gulf, Africa, and Latin America.

In March 2007, he left his Defense Department position to become a Senior Fellow at the Brookings Institution.

Rodman and his wife, Veronique, had two children. Veronique was named a member of the Broadcasting Board of Governors by President George W. Bush, serving from 2003 to 2004.

Rodman died in Baltimore, Maryland on August 2, 2008 from leukemia. He was 64.

Scope Note

The Peter Rodman collection consists of four series: SERIES I: NSC Subject File; SERIES II: NSC Chronological File; SERIES III: Department of State Subject File; and SERIES IV: Department of State Chronological File.
