Governor Ronald Reagan today expanded efforts by the Department of Human Resources Development to find jobs for out-of-work aerospace workers in Northern California.

Under the expanded program, office space and telephones will be made available in HRD offices in San Mateo, Palo Alto and San Jose, utilizing out-of-work aerospace specialists.

The program drew national attention under the direction of Gilbert L. Sheffield, director of the Department of Human Resources Development. Sheffield said, "No one knows as much about aerospace skills than former aerospace workers. They are applying their knowledge and we are providing office space, telephones and the necessary services to make this enlarged program a success. We are doing whatever is necessary to assist aerospace specialists to help them in their search for new employment. The governor of this state has put top priority on this program."

Sheffield added that the project shouldn't be misinterpreted as an offer of job openings for aerospace engineers and those in allied fields, but is a joint government and volunteer effort concentration.

The project "Experience Unlimited" concentrates on the job placement of unemployed professionals and technicians who have been laid off in aerospace cutbacks in recent months.

The volunteer program, operating in conjunction with HRD offices, is already under way in Southern California.

Offices now participating in "Experience Unlimited" are: Fullerton, Norwalk, San Fernando, Los Angeles, San Diego, West Covina, Van Nuys and Santa Ana.

Sheffield called the aerospace industry a major supporter of California economy and of critical concern to the governor.

Governor Ronald Reagan today issued the following statement upon the signing of AB-73, authored by Assemblyman Victor Veysey:

"The bill I am about to sign can be the key that will open the doors to a better education for all California young people from kindergarten through college and the university.

"It will give the public a stronger voice in determining what our educational goals should be and how we can make them more responsive to the needs of society in a changing world.

"It will insure closer cooperation between lower and higher educational institutions and between our state and community colleges, private colleges and the university.

"It will provide the means for cooperation at every level to make certain that our elementary and secondary school children will be properly prepared as they move on to the next phase of their education.

"It will give the elementary and secondary schools a stronger voice in determining and developing goals and programs for higher education.

"And it will give the Coordinating Council for Higher Education the tools it needs to initiate the much needed reforms in our entire educational system that we must have to send our children out into the world, equipped in every way, to meet the challenges that await them.

"But before I sign, I want to express my personal thanks to the bill's author, Assemblyman Vic Veysey for guiding this milestone measure through the legislature."

State Human Relations Secretary Lucian Vandegrift said today that California will appeal the ruling of a federal court judge that California is out of conformity with federal welfare requirements.

He said the basis of the appeal will be that California is in compliance with federal law.

"I am both amazed and dismayed that the judge rendered his decision without hearing the Attorney General's arguments which show that California is in compliance with federal law.

"I am confident that when the Appellate Court hears the state's arguments, and examines the procedural irregularities which preceded the ruling that California's position will prevail, Vandegrift said.

"I am particularly disappointed that the court refused to allow the state to exhaust its administrative remedies before issuing its ruling," he said.

The decision to appeal has been communicated to Attorney General Thomas C. Lynch so that proceedings can be instituted immediately.

Vandegrift said:

"California has already been assured by the U. S. Department of Health Education and Welfare (HEW), that the state need not increase the size of its welfare grants.

"In fact, California already leads the nation in the amount of social services provided by the taxpayers for welfare recipients and leads 35 other states in average payments to AFDC (Aid to Families with Dependent Children) recipients. California is also a national leader in Aid to the Blind, Old Age Assistanct, and Aid to the Disabled.

"Only a vast welfare bureaucracy intent on perpetuating itself and its own interests--without regard to the legitimate interests of the taxpayers--could allow itself to somehow accept the notion that a state so generous to the truly needy could be out of conformity.

"The fact is, the whole conformity issue boils down to a matter of technical and procedural differences--semantics--which have little if any relationship to the real issues--of helping those who truly need public assistance.

"We have already told the federal government--in a brief which, coincidentally, was filed today with Federal Hearing Examiner J. Andrew Brooks--that the continued insistence by HEW on complicated arithmetical computations, in the name of conformity, is nothing more than bureaucratic mumbo-jumbo--indeed, a wasteful exercise in administrative paper work.

"California is not in violation of federal law, even though the self-serving welfare bureaucracy would seek to make it appear that way. Statements to the contrary serve not only to confuse needy welfare recipients, but also the taxpayers of California who make welfare possible in the first place, and who find it hopelessly difficult to understand how their ever increasing tax burden could result in such alledged inadequacy."

Governor Ronald Reagan today signed into law AB-551, Wakefield, the so-called anti-bussing bill, at a special ceremony in his office.

In a statement at the signing, the governor said:

"Over the past four years, I have had the opportunity to talk with countless thousands of Californians about the major issues which face us as a society.

"And, no single issue has produced a greater overall expression of deep concern---from every ethnic segment of our citizenry---than that of forced bussing of school children.

"Judicial rulings intended to force compulsory bussing on parents and families---against their wishes and without their consent---have distressed the vast majority of our citizens who strongly oppose racial discrimination, but who understandably view mandatory bussing as a ridiculous waste of time and public money, which could seriously undermine all efforts to improve the quality of our public schools.

"Besides hampering the quality of education our children need and deserve---by siphoning off millions of dollars in school funds which could otherwise be used for books, new classrooms, teachers and maintenance---forced bussing would also deprive them of the natural environment of the neighborhood school.

"Indeed, compulsory bussing shatters the very concept of the neighborhood school as the cornerstone of our educational system.

"Last February, I pledged to the people of California that this administration would vigorously oppose the forced bussing of school children by every legal means.

"In line with this policy, I am today signing into law Assembly Bill 551 by Assemblyman Floyd Wakefield of South Gate which prohibits the governing board of any school district in California from requiring that any student or pupil be transported for any purpose, or for any reason, without the permission of the parent or guardian.

"I am aware, of course, that this new law will be immediately challenged in the courts. In this connection, I do not believe that in the separation of powers, the judiciary was intended to legislate or run our public schools. Moreover, the 1964 Civil Rights Act is very explicit in its denial of compulsory bussing to achieve social balance.

"Now, I know that there are those who charge that opposing compulsory bussing is somehow equivalent to encouraging discrimination. But those who make this charge lack understanding of the real needs of our children, whatever their race or ethnic background.

"This was best explained to me by a mother who told me that what she really wanted was a better education for her child in the neighborhood school he was attending. She said, 'We want teachers to keep our children in a grade until they learn what they are supposed to learn in that grade. We want an end to passing them simply because they've come to the end of the year.'

"Forced bussing is not a promise of improved education. On the contrary, it can only promise to jeopardize educational quality by diverting public funds which would otherwise be used for true educational purposes.

"Moreover, mandatory bussing could imperil some of the most innovative and worthwhile projects for minority children ever instituted in our public schools---vital bilingual teaching programs in neighborhood schools located in Spanish-speaking areas where, for example, youngsters of Mexican descent are getting special help in resolving language problems.

"As I said earlier this year, forcing children to be herded onto buses and carted across town each day---away from their familiar home environments---represents a vast and dehumanizing manipulation of school populations.

"The legislation I am about to sign will go a long way towards helping to assure that this does not happen."

Governor Ronald Reagan today issued the following statement:

"The importance of agriculture to the economy of California is unquestioned. The nearly $4.5 billion a year it produces in new wealth has an impact on the entire state, not just the rural communities.

"As a consequence, it is of deep concern to me when labor disturbances interrupt the orderly production and marketing procedures of this basic industry.

"The current disputes in the produce industry of our coastal counties has resulted in the loss of millions of dollars worth of food. It also has meant the loss of wages for workers, many of whom are innocent victims of the situation.

"And it has meant the loss of business to merchants and others in the local communities and it has resulted in increased cost for consumers.

"I have long endorsed the need for adequate national legislation to protect the rights of workers, of growers and the general public. I have not changed my position in this regard. I still believe that this is necessary, and I am now working with President Nixon seeking his support for such legislation.

"I believe we in California should look, also, to our own legislature for proper laws to restore orderly procedures to our agriculture-labor relations and to give us the needed rules to prevent situations such as the one that currently exists in our produce industry.

"In the meantime I repeat the offer of the State Conciliation Service to oversee fair elections so that the farm workers can choose (by secret ballot) whether they want union representation and if so by what union.

"Their decision should be made without threat or coercion and with full protection for their inalienable right to such a choice."

Governor Ronald Reagan today issued the following statement:

"In January I asked the legislature and the citizens of California to join me in an all-out war against drug abuse. I submitted a battle plan for that war which would give us the arsenal we need to drive the drug and narcotics pushers from this state and help get their victims back on the road to healthy, productive lives.

"Today I am signing six bills which will give us the weapons we need to reach these objectives. These measures can serve as models for the entire nation because this is a campaign that must have the cooperation of every concerned citizen.

"The first bill (AB 219) which was carried by Assemblymen Pete Wilson, Bill Campbell and others, is the most comprehensive plan in history to provide intrastate controls on the inventory, shipment and sale of restricted dangerous drugs.

"It will allow responsible state agencies to follow every shipment of dangerous drugs from the time it leaves the manufacturer through various distribution routes to the physician, the pharmacy or the hospital. And, it will make it possible to pinpoint any individual or group of individuals who divert the drugs into the illicit market to be sold to our young people.

"The second bill, (AB 1782) which was carried by Assemblyman Newt Russell, will go a long way toward helping victims of drug abuse, particularly young people, back on the path to healthy productive lives.

"This measure requires that in cases where probation is granted to those convicted of drug possession, the victim will be referred to a community agency for education or treatment.

"In the case of a minor, if it is deemed necessary by the court, the parents will also be required to participate in the education and treatment program. Our State Office of Narcotics and Drug Abuse will assist local communities in establishing these treatment and education centers.

"The third bill, (AB 1951) carried by Assemblyman Campbell, will offer protection to our law enforcement officers and their families. It will make it illegal to disclose the addresses and phone numbers of peace officers when the disclosure is intended to harm the officer or his family or to obstruct justice.

"It serves notice to disreputable underground newspapers and other partisans of the so-called "drug culture" that their harassment of, and obscene threatening phone calls to, the wives and children of peace officers will cease.

"The fourth bill (AB 2279) by Assemblyman John Stull, will make it illegal to use California license plates on cars sold in a foreign country. It will enable customs and narcotics officials to make an immediate check by computer at the border to make certain that pirated license plates are not used in smuggling.

"The fifth bill (SB 1396) by Senator Bob Stevens will tighten up the requirements for oral prescriptions and the possession and purchase of hypodermic needles.

"The sixth bill (SB 946) by Senator Bob Lagomarsino, will increase the penalties against those who make a business of pushing narcotics, dangerous drugs and marijuana if they have been previously convicted of these crimes.

"Today the people of California are making it absolutely clear to the pusher, the illegal pill peddler and the drug culture apologist that--as of now--we are putting you out of business."

Governor Ronald Reagan today signed into law four key provisions of the tough Omnibus Clean Air Law he proposed to the legislature last January.

At a special signing ceremony at the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles, the Governor said:

"When I became governor I pledged that we would do all we could to make our skies bluer and our air cleaner.

"I am pleased to say that we are keeping that promise.

"The fact that California's motor vehicle emission standards are the strictest in the world---and becoming increasingly tougher each year---bears witness to the tremendous progress we are making.

"Last January, I proposed to the legislature the most comprehensive and far-reaching Omnibus Clean Air Law ever proposed by any state or nation---a law to further strengthen California's stringent controls on smog, and to provide the teeth necessary to enforce them.

"In the next several minutes I will be signing four new sections of the Omnibus law we sponsored---bills which are stricter, by far, than any ever imposed by any other state or nation to battle smog.

"Assembly Bills 80 and 81---carried by Assemblyman Pete Schabarum of Covina---give the California Air Resources Board the power to significantly alter the chemical makeup of gasoline and reduce the smog-causing pollutants it spews into the atmosphere from automobile engines.

"AB-80 will enable the state to regulate what are known as unsaturated hydrocarbons in gasoline. These fumes are heavy contributors to eye-irritation in smog. The legislation applies to the entire Los Angeles-South Coast air basin.

"AB-81, which applies throughout California, will permit the state to regulate the volatility of gasoline. In effect, it will insure that evaporative smog control systems---which are now required on all new cars sold in California---are operating at full efficiency to prevent the escape of hydrocarbon fumes into the atmosphere.

"The third bill in our Omnibus Clean Air Law---AB-1 by Assemblyman Craig Biddle of Riverside---will, for the first time, require the assembly-line testing of every new car sold in California to assure that it fully measures up to California's vehicle emission standards.

"Let me emphasize that this means every new car---not just typical samples picked at random along the assembly-line.

"This testing must begin no later than January 1, 1972. And, starting with the 1973 model year, any manufacturer which sells or tries to sell a new car which does not meet the state's standards will be subject to a $5,000 fine for each violation.

"Furthermore, the new law empowers the California Highway Patrol to conduct random roadside tests of smog control systems to help insure that they are kept in good operating condition after the cars are sold.

"This marks the first time that any state has enacted such stringent laws for the specific purpose of reducing smog caused by automobiles.

"The last bill---AB-16 by Assemblyman Bill Ketchum of Paso Robles---bans open burning of both solid and liquid waste materials at such places as garbage and oil dumps, and wrecking yards.

"The legislation also restricts the use of orchard heaters to low-pollution types and sets up a program for the control of agricultural waste burning.

"In sum, this bill will not only eliminate a major source of smoke and unpleasant odors, but will also help to improve air quality in many areas of the state where open burning has not been regulated in the past.

"Before signing these four bills, let me hasten to emphasize that they represent only part of our Clean Air Law.

"A few weeks ago, I signed legislation (AB-88) to impose $6,000-a-day fines on anyone violating cease-and-desist orders issued by air pollution control agencies; and a measure (SB-505) which requires that smog control systems on all new cars sold in the state are properly adjusted and certified for optimum performance prior to the time of sale.

"Time does not permit listing a number of other provisions in our Clean Air Law which have only recently been enacted. But, it should be clear to all that we are keeping our pledge to the people of California--to make our air cleaner and our skies bluer.

"We are well down the road to victory in the battle against smog."

Governor Ronald Reagan today signed legislation which makes it a misdemeanor to mutilate, burn or defile the flags of the United States and the State of California.

The measure (AB1260) by Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes, R-San Diego, brings state law into conformity with federal law on the defilement or mutilation of the flag.

"Our flags are the symbols of everything we believe in and honor as Californians and Americans. To defile them is to defile the ideals and beliefs of every citizen who believes in freedom and those who have given their lives so that we can live in freedom," the governor said.

Governor Ronald Reagan today signed into law a bill which further strengthens the state's hand in the war against drug abuse by making it a felony to drive while knowingly under the influence of a dangerous drug

The bill (AB-1963)---authored by Assemblyman Tom Hom (R-San Diego)-- was a part of the Reagan administration's legislative program.

Felony driving under the influence of drugs calls for mandatory suspension of a person's driving privilege.

Governor Reagan expressed appreciation to Assemblyman Hom for successfully guiding the tough new measure through the legislature.

"This new law further strengthens the state's hand in our continuing war against the use of dangerous drugs," the governor said.

#454

Governor Ronald Reagan today signed into law a bill which bans the dumping of liquid waste such as poisonous chemicals into community sewer systems.

The measure (AB-718)---a part of the Reagan administration's legislative program to fight pollution---was authored by Assemblyman Clare L. Berryhill (R-Modesto).

The new law also requires that any person who is engaged in the hauling of liquid waste must hold an unrevoked registration issued by the State Water Resources Control Board. It further specifies that the hauler must dispose of such waste only at those sites designated by the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

The legislation requires the State Attorney General to bring action in court against violators, and provides for criminal penalties against those who break the law.

Governor Reagan thanked Assemblyman Berryhill for carrying the bill which he said "further escalates California's fight against water pollution by making our laws in this field---already the strictest in the world---even tougher."

Governor Ronald Reagan today signed into law three major bills in his 1970 consumer protection legislative program.

At a signing ceremony in his office, the governor said:

"Last March, in my consumer protection message to the legislature, I reaffirmed a long-standing policy of this administration---that government does have a proper and vital role to play in looking out for the consumer interests of all our citizens, so long as this role does not interfere with, or impair, the legitimate balanced workings of our competitive free enterprise system.

"The fact is, free enterprise has prospered in our society---indeed, it has brought this nation the highest standard of living ever known to man---because, on the whole, the system has served our people honestly and fairly.

"Nevertheless, there are always some persons who try to misuse and exploit the system through dishonest and unethical operating methods.

"The laws I have proposed to the legislature have been directed at these unrepresentative few---to either bring them into line or put them out of business.

"At the same time, I have cautioned that we must always be scrupulously careful not to penalize the vast multitude of hard-working, honest and legitimate businessmen for the sins of the few.

"Today, I am pleased to tell you that every law we proposed in our consumer protection program this year was passed by the legislature. In a few moments, I will be signing the final three bills of this package into law.

"However, before mentioning them specifically, I would like to recall for you just a few of the many consumer protection laws we have sponsored and signed during the course of this administration---laws to protect against unsolicited merchandise in the mail; against unscrupulous merchants who try to force citizens to pay for things they haven't ordered and don't want; against being charged for unrequested goods and services from unsolicited credit cards; against unethical land promoters; and against fly-by-night swimming pool contractors.

"During this year alone---as part of our current consumer program---I have signed bills:

--To strengthen our ability to protect the insurance-buying public by preventing the summary cancellation of homeowner policies without good cause.

--To assure that information from clients used in the preparation of income tax returns is maintained in the strictest confidence.

--To permit the adoption of high safety standards for all tires used on motor vehicles in the state.

--And to establish, for the first time, uniform sanitation and health requirements for all retail food outlets and grocery stores in the state.

"The remaining three bills in our program will strengthen even further the state's ability to protect legitimate businessmen and consumers from the unscrupulous entrepreneur.

"Assembly Bill 1192---carried by Assemblyman Jim Hayes (R-Long Beach will, for the first time, give the state boards of Medical and Dental examiners the power they need to crack down on those few in the healing arts professions who gouge their patients by imposing unnecessary or excessive treatment and drugs.

"The bill will allow our boards to investigate such abuses and, if necessary, suspend or revoke the licenses of persons found guilty of these practices.

"The next bill---SB-647 by Senator Clark Bradley (R-San Jose)---is the first federal or state law of its kind ever enacted to protect franchise buyers from the misleading and deceptive practices of an increasing number of unscrupulous franchise peddlers who have entered this fast growing field.

"The International Franchise Association strongly supports this legislation which will help prevent shady operators and confidence men from duping innocent people---and reflecting unfairly on the rest of the industry.

"From now on, franchise sellers will have to fully disclose the financial capabilities of the firms they represent, and clearly spell out the obligations of the franchise buyer.

"Finally, SB-1290---by Senator Lew Sherman (R-Berkeley)---will, for the first time, guarantee that the accounts of small investors in financially troubled industrial loan companies are protected from loss---by up to $10,000. Unlike banks and savings-and-loans, the deposits of thrift holders in industrial loan firms have not been insured in the past.

"The consumer confusion and hardship which results when a company fails have made it imperative that there be a law to protect against such losses.

"In sum, the fact that every bill in our program this year is being written into law, is a testimonial for all to see, of our continuing commitment to effective and responsible consumer protection for the people of California."

Governor Ronald Reagan today signed legislation that will permit a trial to continue in a felony case if the defendant is removed from the court because of disorderly and disruptive behavior.

The bill (SB 857) by Senator George Deukmejian of Long Beach, the governor said, "will prevent the accused from deliberately thwarting the system of justice by actions that disrupt the court and demonstrate contempt for our judicial process.

"In the past too often defendants in felony cases have conducted themselves in a manner that made it necessary for them to be removed from the courtroom and under the existing law, the court had no alternative but to declare a mistrial," he said.

Governor Ronald Reagan today signed two bills that will serve to tackle the problem of noise pollution.

One of the bills--SB 1108 by Senators Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando, and Bob Lagomarsino, R.-Ventura--requires that environmental factors be considered by the Department of Aeronautics in approving airport sites.

The bill would also require that public hearings be held before military airports are released for civilian use.

The second bill, AB 1512, by Assemblyman Hank Arklin, R-Mission Hills, prohibits freeway construction that would create a noise problem in adjacent public schools and authorizes the use of highway funds to alleviate noise.

In signing the bills, the governor pointed out that California is the first state in the nation to attack the problem of noise pollution.

Governor Ronald Reagan today issued the following statement following a decision by the Marine Corps to offer a portion of the Southern California coastline for development of a state park:

"I am delighted with the decision of the Marine Corps that will allow the development of 3½ miles of Southern California coastline as a state park.

"This is a graphic example of how the state and federal governments can and are cooperating in the best interests of the citizens of California.

"This decision by the Marine Corps will open a vitally needed recreation area to the citizens of California. It also establishes a precedent for continued cooperation that will make it possible for all citizens to make use of federally-controlled lands that have been previously closed for recreational purposes.

"I particularly want to thank Senator George Murphy who worked quietly and very effectively to bring about this major breakthrough. Senator Murphy and the State Parks and Recreation Department spent months negotiating for this prime beach property that can now be used and enjoyed by millions of Californians. Their effectiveness in making this beach land available to the taxpaying public should be remembered as an outstanding example of our determination to make our parks and beaches open to this and future generations."

Governor Ronald Reagan announced today he has signed into law a bill which makes significant reforms in the system of appointing inheritance tax appraisers.

The legislation (SB-361, Cologne) requires potential appraisers to pass a qualifying examination. It also prohibits campaign contributions to the state controller by inheritance tax appraisers, limits contributions to other candidates, and establishes four-year terms for these potentially lucrative positions.

The law changes the title "Inheritance Tax Appraiser" to "Inheritance Tax Referee" and eliminates a fee for appraising cash.

Governor Reagan called the measure---which was backed by the California Bar Association---"one of the most important bills of the 1970 legislative session."

The new law enacts many reforms which have already been adopted through administrative order by State Controller Houston Flournoy.

"Hugh Flournoy's persistent efforts over the past four years to eliminate the spoils from this system have paid off with a solid step forward---by putting these reforms into law," the governor said.

Governor Ronald Reagan, in cooperation with State Attorney General Thomas C. Lynch, today arranged for the continuation of law enforcement services in Santa Barbara County.

The action was taken at the request of Sheriff James Webster and the Santa Barbara County Board of Supervisors, after members of the County Sheriff's Department went out on strike.

The governor said:

"In the interests of public safety, I have directed the California Highway Patrol and the State Department of Corrections to immediately provide whatever law enforcement personnel may be necessary to assist Santa Barbara County in guaranteeing the protection of life and property within the county.

"The county will reimburse the State of California for the cost of the services provided by these departments.

"The Attorney General is making available sufficient Department of Justice personnel until a settlement of the strike is reached.

"I have already directed the State Conciliation Service to make available its services to all parties concerned, in the firm hope that the issues in this dispute may be resolved at the earliest possible date.

"The protection of life and property must be guaranteed. As governor, I will not permit any citizen of California, at any time, to be denied vital law enforcement protection services.

"I want to assure the citizens of Santa Barbara County that their right to law enforcement protection will be met. This assurance has been communicated to local officials. That same assurance also is given to every citizen of California."

A bill to develop a comprehensive program for the prevention and treatment of alcoholism and the rehabilitation of its victims was signed today by Governor Ronald Reagan.

The measure (AB 1889) by Assemblyman Frank Lanterman (R-La Canada) creates a State Office of Alcohol Program Management in the Human Relations Agency to coordinate the many programs now conducted.

"This act enables us for the first time to focus all our resources into a concerted attack on alcoholism," Governor Reagan said. "Our number one priority in this field is the drunken driver.

"Drinking drivers are involved in about one-third of the state's fatal traffic accidents," the governor said. "Every five hours, on the average, a Californian is killed on the highway in an accident in which someone had been drinking.

"We have provided law enforcement with better tools to arrest and convict drunken drivers," Governor Reagan said. "This law will help us get at the basic causes and keep the drunken driver off the highway through prevention and rehabilitation."

The need for coordination is illustrated, the governor said, by the fact that there are 11 clinics in cities and counties operated in association with the Department of Rehabilitation and 14 other specific programs operated by communities in association with the Department of Mental Hygiene. In addition, the Department of Mental Hygiene conducts treatment and research in its hospitals. The Departments of Public Health, Highway Patrol, Alcoholic Beverage Control, Corrections, and Youth Authority are also concerned.

The bill requires that the Office of Alcohol Program Management develop and implement a comprehensive, uniform plan for the prevention, treatment, and control of alcoholism throughout the state. The plan is to include objectives, goals, and means of determining when the objectives and goals have been achieved. Based on the plan, the office will submit to the Department of Finance and to the legislature for the first time, a program budget for the state's alcoholism programs.

The legislation authorizes the Office of Alcohol Program Management to coordinate all alcoholism programs conducted by state agencies with the federal government and ensure that there is no duplication.
