and Consul General of Nicaragua

During the reception RR will be introduced by Mr. Mendez for a few informal remarks. (See next page for some background material on the Consular Corps.)

RR, NR depart at 8:00 pm.

PLEASE NOTE:

The Dean of the Consular Corps, Carl Henrik Petersen from Sweden, was involved in an automobile accident several months ago and was very seriously injured. He is recovering now. You might wish to enquire of his wife how he is doing.

Also invited are your former protocol people: Tom McGuire, Sam Husbands, and Jack Hume. Dan London is now your Northern California Chief of Protocol.

Memorandum

: RR

Date : December 9, 1971

Subject : Background material on the Consular Corps

From : Pat Gayman

The San Francisco Consular Corps is the second largest in the world and California has more consulates than any other state. The presence of these consulates in California serves to expedite the flow of international trade and commerce, a large factor in California's prosperity. The jurisdiction of most consulates covers the entire western United States. Exporters in most other states do not enjoy the advantage of having a consulate immediately available. It might be appropriate to emphasize the importance of international trade in California's total economy and therefore the function of foreign consuls in facilitating the flow of such trade.

Many of the consuls stationed in California have been ambassadors in other countries, and many of those who leave San Francisco go to embassies in other parts of the world. As a matter of fact, some of the consulates in this area have larger staffs than many embassies in other parts of the world.
