Dear Mike:

Over the years, after days in the Fiji house here, I exchanged letters with your father-in-law, urging greater moderation in his political views. Now that Frank is gone (alas), you are inheriting his mantle.

I am moved to write by concern over the lack of a science advisor in the White House who can put some relative rankings on the importance of projects whacked by the Stockman meat-axe. In particular, it seems senseless to me to cut education in science and engineering at a time when we suffer technologically in comparison with Japan in the market place and Russia militarily. (This is not being picked up locally. For every dollar cut by Reagan, our Republican State legislature is cutting two dollars.)

Also, I dismally recall the saying: Those who don't study history are condemned to repeat the mistakes of the past. I'm remembering that the low taxes and freedom from regulations in the Coolidge era led into the worst economic period in the country's history. Is our new President following this path? (And the nomination of Harris as a strip-mining czar has an unfortunate resemblance to the scenario of Teapot Dome!)

We wish you satisfaction with ultimate accomplishment after the current painful period.

Yours sincerely,

Malcolm Renfrew

Dear Carlos:

I was saddened to hear of Frank's murder.

Believe me, we are trying to help and I can assure you that the President is committed to end terrorism in El Salvador or wherever in this hemisphere. He is keenly aware of the Guatemalan situation and knows where the help to the terrorists comes from.

I would appreciate your first-hand information anytime you feel comfortable in passing it along.

I have taken the liberty of forwarding your recent letter to the Secretary of State and the head of the National Security Council.

Don't hesitate also to let me know whenever I can be of help to you personally or your families.

My home address and phone number is: 4521 Dexter Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20007 - Telephone: 202-333-1548 and you can reach me directly at the White House at 202-456-6475.

Mr. Michael Deaver
THE WHITE HOUSE
Washington
U.S.A.

Dear Mike:

Last week, my brother Frank was (uselessly and innocently) murdered by Communist Guerrillas, who are more active than ever in Guatemala in their terrorist activities.

Over the last year the intense activity of these guerrillas has claimed the lives of hundreds of farmers, workers, and businessmen, ranging from the President of the Chamber of Industry, to owners of small family-operated farming operations. The larger Agro-Industries cotton, coffee, sugar and cattle operations, are systematically harassed, robbed, terrorized, threatened and persons in these industries are being murdered. Kidnappings are constant, either for ransom or to exert pressure on policymakers of the more important companies.

There are various guerrilla groups in action, ORPA, FAR, EGP, PGT, etc., but these have recently merged to present a united front. It is a united front of policy and source of financing and weaponry. Many individual attack groups ranging from a dozen to hundreds of men, are dispersed throughout the country, in an attempt to bring about the economic destabilization of Guatemala. They have been partially successful. The flight of capital is reflected in the monetary reserves of The Central Bank. These reserves have declined from over 800 million in 1979 to slightly over 300 million in early 1981, despite exchange controls. The projected growth rate of the economy is estimated at a negative figure. Foreign investment and tourism have declined sharply to less than 56% of the 1979 figure, new construction to less than 40% of 1979. The present philosophy of private enterprise is one of deep concern and utmost restraint in the commitment of funds for capital improvement and investment.

The system which the terrorists are employing is similar to that used first in Cuba, then in Nicaragua, (despite its peculiarities) and now in El Salvador. I know perfectly well that you are very keenly aware of the origins of this "subversion." I also know that you are fully aware of the implications and dangers this presents not only to us, but ultimately to the national security of the United States itself. We also know of the preoccupation of President Reagan over the situation in El Salvador, and his help and efforts to control it. We know you have evidence of the Kremlin's support and supply of weapons and personnel to El Salvador through Cuba and Nicaragua, and have strongly warned against it.

February 28, 1981

I would like to point out that this communist aggression has reached Guatemala, not only from the aforementioned sources, but also through and with the support of Mexico and Panama. We understand that the Guatemalan Government and Military Forces are not exactly in good graces with the D.O.S. (past and present), partially due to Amnesty International's much publicized "bad human rights record" in Guatemala. One contends, nevertheless, that you can only fight "fire with fire". But what other alternative is there to fight terrorism? Improved social-economic conditions in Guatemala? These have been improved substantially and are continuously being improved, i.e., more schools and hospitals, 186% wage increase over the last year compared to an 11% inflation rate, etc. In any event, this does not change the policy of the terrorists, guerrillas, their Marxist "intellectuals" and their hidden leaders who may well be part of the Socialist International's in Europe.

U.S. and World attention are focused on El Salvador. With U.S. support to that country, aided by the Salvadorean peoples' exasperation over the hardships there, we are hopeful this situation will be controlled. Particularly because it is such a small country and strategically (small hills, flat and rolling terrains) controllable. Guatemala, on the other hand, with its huge chain of mountains, highland terrain, jungles, sparsely populated areas and high Indian population is dangerously vulnerable to guerrilla warfare. If El Salvador will not be another "Viet Nam", Guatemala may very well be. The communists know this, and are slipping out of the "El Salvador Lime Light" and into Guatemalan hideways, which are difficult to reach by an army which is improperly aided and reinforced to begin with. This is clearly evidenced by the sharply increasing guerrilla activities here. They must be stopped.

In my personal exasperation and pain over my brother's useless death, I can only think of writing you in hope that if any of these facts can be channelled to the right place by you, it will be one of the good services I can render to my country.

Your friend,

Carlos.

Dear Arnaud:

In line with our talks this past weekend and separate of those dealing with our "Profiles" series, a one-hour Presidential portrait Special for Metromedia TV is one of such immediate importance I am sure you will want to pursue it in the days ahead.

From what has already been done on a national and network level I think there are two different formats that will assure all concerned of a meaningful and informative program.

The first option would be to do the documentary of the First Family 'on-the-move' -- i.e.: from helicopter lift-off at the White House through a flight and tour of Air Force One to coverage on location, be it the ranch, a speech in Chicago or a State visit overseas.

An equally viable choice would be for you to tour the White House with the First Lady for the first half followed by your interview with the President.

I will be glad to join you in Washington to present further details when and if needed.

Looking forward to the possibility of working with you on this very exciting project.

Mrs. Ronald Reagan,
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mrs. Reagan:

I have been watching you and The President from afar on television and wish to express my admiration for this auspicious new beginning.

Perhaps you will remember how we discussed in mid-December the need to build up a "fourth" network that would be less negative and more supportive of The President's policies. The organization with that kind of potential is Metromedia and its growing network of independent stations that avail themselves of its syndicated productions.

My own show, "Profiles in Power," whose brochure I gave you and The President, is one very effective way of giving this "fourth" network its original impulse. It has been my experience over the years that there is no way of "co-opting" adversaries in the media, as Henry Kissinger once believed could be done.

I hope you will be kind enough to take this matter up with The President.

I look forward to the privilege and honor of seeing you again at your earliest convenience. Betsy always knows how to reach me. I am also attaching a letter from my TV producer, Richard Arlett.

With respectful admiration.

Sincerely yours,

Arnaud de Borchgrave

Dear Mike,

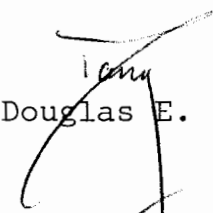

Tried to reach you just before departing for Africa, but understand the demands upon your schedule. I only wanted to mention two things.

One, I believe we are now set to have the little group if and when you feel it is the right time. Dick Schweicker and Jim Watt, as you know, are very interested. Jim has spoken with Mr. Edwards in this regard. Also, from time to time, if it seems appropriate, 1 or 2 of the men from the small group in the Senate and the House, such as Senator Domenici, Senator Nunn, Senator Hatfield and Congressman Tom Evans, would appreciate joining us. They all think it is important, and would fit it in as early in the morning as was necessary.

The second thing is to thank you very much on behalf of all who worked on the National Prayer Breakfast for your help and care for the friends from other nations. Your secretary, Shirley, was very kind in relaying the messages.

As you know, you are very much in our thoughts.

Most sincerely,

Dear Mike:

We would like to bring to your attention an exciting new idea -- The Foundation for the Poor. In addition, we want to lend our endorsement to a creative, innovative proposal: a national commission for the poor.

The Foundation for the Poor was formed by an enterprising group of concerned and committed Christians led by Dr. E. V. Hill, Harv Oostdyk, Robert Pittinger, Arch Decker, Clint Murchison, and Holly Coors, among others. They are endeavoring to reach out to the truly poor and needy, assisting them in becoming self-sufficient whenever possible, and restoring their self-esteem. The vehicle they are using are the churches of America, with technical and financial assistance coming from individuals and businesses in the private sector. This "at home" mission field has not received adequate attention from the local churches in recent years. This group challenges and assists them in becoming involved.

Significantly, this group is urging the creation of a national commission for the poor to further the movement of new and private resources into the inner cities, without the investment of any government funds. The formation of such a group by President Reagan would do much to inspire and encourage Americans to reach out to their less fortunate brothers and sisters within their own communities. As we are all aware, due to the mobility of today's society, the breakdown of the family unit, and the loss of a "sense of community," there is an insensitivity to the needs of our fellow man.

By adopting this proposal, we believe that the Administration could take the leadership in offsetting the actual, as well as psychological, effects of the unavoidable belt-tightening which the government must do in relationship to certain social programs. It would, in addition, foster a spiritual and moral renewal of the compassionate spirit which is the heritage of the American people.

We therefore suggest the following:

1. A meeting with the leadership of The Foundation for the Poor, to outline the concept and its feasibility, with Elizabeth Dole and her staff (who have been receptive of this proposal), Secretary Schweiker, a representative of President Reagan, and interested members of Congress.
2. Consideration of a proposed list of Commission members with Dr. E. V. Hill as Chairman.
3. An office in the Executive Office Building for liaison with the Administration upon the appointment of the Commission.

Dear Mr. Serfaty:

Thank you for your letter and your request for an interview for the President with French television Channel I.

Unfortunately, we are having a difficult time honoring the requests we have received from the American media. Some time in the future, we will attempt to fill your request.

In the meantime, I am taking the liberty of forwarding your letter to Mr. Jim Brady, the President's Press Secretary, for action.

Thanks again.

Sincerely,

MICHAEL K. DEEVER
Assistant to the President
Deputy Chief of Staff
