Dear Ted:

Thanks for bringing me up to date with respect to the private sector initiative activities at Education. I am glad to hear you are taking such a personal interest in the PSI effort. You know the President will be quite pleased to hear about your progress.

I understand, in addition to the issues you raised in your letter, you recently showcased the Dun & Bradstreet Corporation for their 4-1 contributions matching program for academic institutions. Recognition is certainly one way the government can play a role in this partnership effort. 5 stars!

I will pass your comments on to the President as well as the White House PSI Office. Keep doing a great job and keep us up to date.

Sincerely,

Dear Mike:

Since we met with you and Craig Fuller on the private sector volunteers initiative, I have been holding a series of discussions here in the Department of Education. We want to utilize the unique opportunities that exist in education to involve volunteers in assisting in the teaching and learning mission of schools and colleges.

We plan to concentrate our efforts on the adult illiteracy problem since there are reliable estimates that from four-to-six million of the unemployed are functionally incompetent because of lack of basic reading and mathematics skills. We hope to enlist the help of businesses, college students, civic clubs, and others to help us begin to reach the 26 million adult functional incompetents who must be motivated to learn. We want to use the resources that are available such as community colleges and high schools, and existing budgets such as the college work-study and adult basic education programs as a means of bringing volunteers and educators together to help in a major campaign against illiteracy and functional incompetency.

The above is simply intended to tell you that we have not forgotten your advice that this is a high priority interest of the President. We will keep you posted on our progress.

Sincerely,

Ted

Dear John:

Thanks for your nice letter to Mike Deaver. As usual he's up to his eyeballs in work, and has taken on the additional responsibility of the Queen's impending visit. He did want me to tell you, though, that there are no plans for visiting Australia. Prime Minister Fraser will join us in San Francisco and possibly ride back to Washington, D.C. on Air Force One with the President.

You better get in shape before your next visit. Mike Deaver looks marvelous since he went on his fitness kick.

Dear Mike,

Since Shirley's very kind note to me of November 11 last, there has been quite an amount of informal speculation in Australia as to whether the President is likely to visit "down under". Last night's Melbourne "Herald" carried the attached story.

If there is any possibility, I would very much like to have the opportunity to say hello again and if he thinks of coming to Melbourne, well I would like to get into the act somehow.

Very best wishes to you and all the family - I have been reading about your new diet and fitness campaign so it looks as if I will have to go into training before we next meet.

All the very best to everyone,

I appreciate your taking the time to tell me of your appreciation for the White House Secret Service and our advance staff. I, too, feel that they are doing an excellent job and a real credit to the Administration. It is always nice, though, for them to hear it from someone who has worked with them on the outside.

I have taken the liberty of forwarding a copy of your good letter to both the Advance Office and the Secret Service.

Dear Mr. Deaver:

I want to thank you very much for your assistance in arranging for President Reagan to address the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation in Dallas, Texas, on January 11. The President did an excellent job, and our people really appreciated his appearing before them.

In connection with the President's appearance, I want to particularly compliment the White House Secret Service staff. We worked both here and in Dallas with Bill Henkel, and in Dallas our staff worked with Dave Morris and Mark Hatfield, Jr. All three of these men were outstanding in their willingness to cooperate with the Farm Bureau.

This was my fourth occasion since being with Farm Bureau to be involved in a Presidential appearance, and it was by far the best in terms of cooperation with the Secret Service and the Presidential Advance staff and all the folks that are involved in that part of any appearance that the President makes.

I simply want to say thanks to you and to the group of men for the excellent job and cooperation they provided the Farm Bureau.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Deaver,

Thank you for your letter of December 20 regarding the 3-D slides of the USSR I sent you. It sounded like you were touched by them and since that was my hope, your letter was very gratifying and encouraging.

Two of the slides I sent appear to be missing, so if you could check for them, briefly I'd appreciate it. If you can't locate them easily though, no big deal.

A phrase you used in your letter ("just plain people") suggests to me a better title for the slide show than the one I'm now using, so I may re-title it. Thanks!

I've gotten many heartening responses, from the White House and elsewhere. The State Dept. is using the slides to brief their personnel involved in Soviet affairs.

Enclosed are some letters of response to the slide show, from schools. Please let me know if you'd like to see the entire slide show.

Thanks again for your encouragement.

Best Wishes--

Dear Mr. Deaver,

Thank you for your letter of April 20 letting me know that you received my record album ("J. Ben-Isaac"). I hope you have enjoyed it.

I wanted to let you and your family see these copies of some 3-D slides I took in the Soviet Union this summer. I travelled alone as a tourist and do not represent any group.

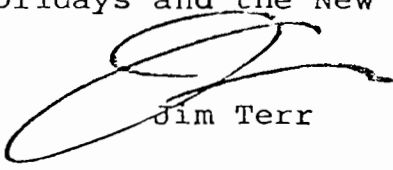

The pictures are almost all of people I met on the streets. I think they convey a dimension that's crucial to remember in dealing with the Soviet Union, and I thought you might find them useful in this regard.

I'm also sending copies to the people on the attached list, and since I'm sending a slightly different assortment to everyone, you could see other slides by contacting them if you wish, or by contacting me.

I also have a 3-D slide show of the complete set (about 30 minutes, using 3-D glasses) that I'm showing to schools, congregations, etc., so if you'd be interested in having me come and do a show for you and the staff, please let me know.

I hope these are useful to you. You may keep them as long as you wish.

My very best wishes to you and your family for the holidays and the New Year--

Dear Barbara:

Thank you for your letter regarding Lee Brewer and the termination of his Social Security disability benefits. The facts of Mr. Brewer's case highlight a serious inequity in the disability payment system.

I am happy to report, Barbara, the problem has been rectified. On January 12, 1983 President Reagan signed into law a measure to prevent future occurrences of the needless trauma endured by Mr. Brewer and his family. Public Law 97-455 provides for a continuation of disability benefits during the first and second stages of appealing a decision of ineligibility for Social Security disability payments.

As you know, President Reagan has a firm, unshakable commitment to a sound, fair Social Security system. While continuing review of recipient eligibility is crucial to a fair system, termination of benefits prior to proper review is not acceptable.

The President is working to fulfill his promise to defend and improve our Social Security system. Public Law 97-455 is but one example of how we are making government more responsive, regulations less oppressive to our citizens.

Thank you again for bringing this case to my attention. It is always nice to hear from you.

MEMORANDUM FOR MIKE DEEVER

FROM: CRAIG L. FULLER
SUBJECT: DRAFT RESPONSE TO BARBARA HOWELL LETTER

Attached is a draft response to the letter Barbara Howell wrote to you.

We have drafted a response that discusses the problem in generic terms rather than specific terms. In order to deal with Brewer's specific problem, we would have to obtain his Social Security number and felt that contact at this time might re-open a case that seems to be closed.

As you will note, however, the problem that affected Brewer's benefits has been rectified by a piece of legislation which passed during the lame duck and has been signed by the President.

The Administration offered a slightly weaker version of Public Law 97-455 mentioned in the attached response. I have been assured by OMB that we did not fight the final version and, since the President signed the measure, we can safely take full credit for the legislation.

The attached draft for Mr. Deaver does just that.

Dear Mike,

I saw this in our local paper and I have always heard of bureaucrats playing politics against Reagan. Well — here it is as definite proof. Be sure to look on the opposite side of the article.

I know you can put this in the hands of the right person. Of course, it is so petty that these bureaucrats will do this to people such as this. Evidently he looks like he supports what Reagan is trying to do.

Mike, if there is anything that any of us

Dear John:

Sorry to take so long to get an answer about the proposed light rail system in Sacramento.

I understand your concern over the potential impact which the proposed route may have on Lumberjack Stores. Under applicable Federal regulations, a final Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) must be prepared before the project can proceed, and the social and economic impact of the proposed alignment must be carefully considered by local authorities during this process. It is my understanding that the EIS is not yet final and that local authorities are still collecting information relative to potential adverse impacts of the proposed project, and measures which might be taken to minimize those adverse impacts. This process should, of course, include a full consideration of the effect which the project would have on Lumberjack's Arden Way property. The final decision on the alignment of the proposed rail system will not be made until this process has been completed.

As you know, the final decision in this case is the responsibility of the Governing Board of the Sacramento Transit Development Agency. Ann Rudin is the Chairman of the Board.

If you feel it would be helpful to speak directly with someone in the Department of Transportation on these issues, the appropriate person to contact is the Regional Administrator in the San Francisco Region of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA). Her address is:

Dear Sirley Moore:

Thanks for your interest in trying to get a personal autograph of President for me.

Inclosure you will find the picture I was asked to return.

It is sign by the President but what I asked for was a personal one in other words, sign on the picture not below. that is the way I recived past picture of our president.

I think our president is doing all he can to get our country on their feet again. (Edw.)

I worked for about 65 years before
I retired,

While I was working I never regretted pay income tax or ~~paid~~ <sup>paid</sup>
more as I earned.

I am 72 years old, ex service man served in the S. W. Pacific with the Marines.

I think that after anyone worked for 25- or 30 years should be compelled to retire, and give the younger people
a chance to have jobs.

Also may I state this, when the work jobs are started, I think the railroads should be inclined, one firm depends on freight work, it help steel mills out, and so forth with fast freight.

God Bless
and Thank you

Dear Mrs Moore!

I received the picture of President Regan and was disappointed as it was like the one I sent in as requested or a reproduce one.

You stated there was no place on the picture for him to sign but on the bottom of the picture.

There still was room if he wanted to add a personal note as I requested.

I want to take this time to thank you for your effort, maybe you could get me a pen when he signs the budget? after all I am 72 years old and been a good republican.

God Bless

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Deaver:

I am embarking on a most interesting and positive book project which will be published by a prestigious New York publisher, Facts on File (a subsidiary of Commerce Clearing House).

The book will focus on that neglected minority, the happily married and I would like you to consider being a part of this book.

I will be doing about 100 interviews on all types of marriages that work -- from a commune to the White House -- couples of all ages, from all parts of the country, various races, religions, economic levels and lifestyles. The common denominator is a very good marriage -- each in their own particular, unique and individual way.

We believe that the relationship you two share would be an important part of the book and I really hope you will be interested in becoming a part of it. Can we discuss it?

I can be reached in New York at 212-972-1445 or in Los Angeles at 213-874-2854 after 10:00 A.M. (California time).

I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Marilyn Funt
