MEMORANDUM FOR THE FILE

FROM: MICHAEL K. DEEVER M. Deever

SUBJECT: GAO Review of Selected Presidential Expenditures for FY 1982 - Wine Handling and Inventory

I have been advised by John Rogers, Assistant to the President for Management and Administration, that, in connection with the General Accounting Office's ongoing review of selected Presidential expenditures for FY 1982, they have raised certain questions regarding handling practices for, and the inventory of, wine purchased by the White House for use at official functions.

Throughout this Administration, I have participated in the selection of wines to be served at official White House functions. As a result, I often place the orders for wines, and, early in the Administration, the wines frequently were delivered to my office, for examination and tasting, before being forwarded to the Office of the Chief Usher. Additionally, on several occasions I removed and maintained in my office one or more bottles for consumption at the occasional small official luncheons the President and/or other senior staff members host in the West Wing of the White House. Thus, occasionally cases of wine would be lacking one or more bottles when they arrived at the Office of the Chief Usher.

More recently, for approximately the past year, wine shipments have been delivered directly to the Chief Usher without coming through this office. When I am interested in selecting a wine for an official function or obtaining one or more bottles for a small official luncheon in the West Wing, I request same through the Office of the Chief Usher. The requested wines are delivered to my office and I understand that a notation is then made in the storeroom records. This procedure has proved to be more convenient for both my office and that of the Chief Usher, and has the advantage of permitting improved recordkeeping. It is my intention to continue handling wines in this fashion.
