RECOMMENDATIONS REGARDING A COMPREHENSIVE MULTIDISCIPLINARY OUTLINE OF FUTURE ACTIVITIES RELEVANT TO THE PROBLEM OF DRUG ABUSE AND ILLICIT TRAFFICKING

Report of the Main Committee

Rapporteur: Mr. Dalbir SINGH (India)

Draft Declaration

We, the States participating in the International Conference on Drug Abuse and Illicit Trafficking, believing in human dignity and the legitimate aspiration of human-kind for a decent life with moral, humanitarian and spiritual values in a healthy, safe environment, concerned at the human suffering, loss of life, social disruption, especially the effect on youth who are the wealth of nations, brought about by drug abuse worldwide, aware of its effects on States' economic, social, political and cultural structures, and its threat to their sovereignty and security

- commit ourselves to vigorous international actions against drug abuse and illicit trafficking as an important goal of our policies,
- express our determination to strengthen action and co-operation at the national, regional and international levels towards the goal of an international society free of drug abuse,

V.87-86540

- strive for the universal accession to the 1961 Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs or this Convention as amended by the 1972 Protocol and to the 1971 Convention on Psychotropic Substances and their strict implementation as well as the completion and adoption of the draft Convention against Illicit Trafficking in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances at the earliest possible date, agree on the following:

1. We express our determination to pursue the goals we have set for ourselves at various levels of government towards combatting this scourge and to adopt urgent measures to strengthen international co-operation through a balanced, comprehensive and multidisciplinary approach. In this regard, we emphasize the pivotal role of governments in developing appropriate national strategies within which such measures could be implemented.
2. In evolving effective action against drug abuse, illicit production and trafficking, we emphasize the need for the international community to adopt measures to treat all aspects and causes of the problem. To be effective, these measures must take into consideration the relevant social, economic and cultural factors and should be conducted in the context of states' policies in this regard. We recognize the collective responsibility of the states to provide appropriate resources for the elimination of illicit production, trafficking and drug abuse.
3. We affirm the importance of and the need for wider adherence to the 1961 Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs or this Convention as amended by the 1972 Protocol and to the 1971 Convention on Psychotropic Substances. We call for the urgent but careful preparation and finalization, taking into account the various aspects of illicit trafficking, of the draft Convention Against Illicit Trafficking in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances to ensure its entry into force at the earliest possible date and to complement existing international instruments.
4. We recognize the important role of the United Nations system in the efforts to combat drug abuse and illicit trafficking, and in particular the role of the United Nations Secretary-General in facilitating co-ordination and interaction among Member States and within the United Nations system. We attach importance to the role of the United Nations Commission on Narcotic Drugs as the policy making body of the United Nations on drug control matters. We commend the positive action carried out by the Division of Narcotic Drugs, the International Narcotics Control Board and the United Nations Fund for Drug Abuse Control, and we urge strong national and international support for the Fund so as to enable it to fulfill its mandate.

5. We recognize the constant, determined efforts of Governments at the national, regional and international levels to counter the escalating incidence of drug abuse and illicit trafficking and the growing link between drug trafficking and other forms of international organized criminal activities.

6. We also recognize and welcome the significant role played by non-governmental organizations in the drive against drug abuse, and urge that further initiatives be encouraged to strengthen the efforts made at the national as well as international levels.

7. We welcome the compilation of the Comprehensive Multidisciplinary Outline of Future Activities in Drug Abuse Control (CMO) as a compendium of possibilities for future action by all concerned.

8. Recognizing the magnitude and extent of the world-wide drug problem, we agree to intensify efforts against drug abuse and illicit trafficking. As an expression of our commitment, we also agree to promote inter-regional and international co-operation in:

- (a) prevention and reduction of demand;
- (b) control of supply;
- (c) suppression of illicit trafficking; and
- (d) treatment and rehabilitation.

For this purpose, we consider that the following, inter alia, should guide the development of our actions:

- (a) Prevention and reduction of demand
 - (i) develop methodologies and institute systems for assessing prevalence and trends of drug abuse on a comparable basis;
 - (ii) develop and implement the necessary measures to reduce drastically illicit demand through adequate techniques and programmes.
- (b) Control of supply
 - (i) Encourage contributions from international financial institutions and governments, where possible, for the implementation of programmes and projects for integrated rural development activities including crop eradication/substitution schemes, and continue scientific research in related areas.
 - (ii) Develop and implement the necessary procedures to eliminate the illicit supply of specific precursors and other materials necessary for the manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, and to prevent the diversion of pharmaceuticals to the illicit drug market.

(c) Suppression of illicit trafficking

- (i) Develop bilateral and other instruments or arrangements for mutual legal assistance which might include among other things, if appropriate, extradition and tracing, freezing and forfeiture of assets, and for enhancing international legal or law enforcement cooperation in this field.
- (ii) Improve dissemination of information to national and international law enforcement bodies, especially concerning profiles and methods of operation of drug trafficking organizations and further develop international, financial, technical and operational cooperation in investigation and training for officers and prosecutors.

(d) Treatment and rehabilitation

- (i) Develop, promote and evaluate effective treatment and rehabilitation techniques; ✓
- (ii) Provide health professionals and primary health care workers with information and training concerning appropriate medical use of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances. ✓

9. We affirm our determination to continue our efforts and request the Secretary-General of the United Nations to keep under constant review the activities referred to in this Declaration and in the Comprehensive Multidisciplinary Outline. We request the Secretary-General of the United Nations to propose in the context of the United Nations programme and budget and within available resources how the priority attached to the field of drug abuse control can best be carried out. The Commission on Narcotic Drugs should examine the most suitable modalities for following up these activities as appropriate at the international level.

Enc -

The United Nations' International Conference on Drug Abuse and Illicit Trafficking was conducted in a harmonious and productive atmosphere, and made significant progress in renewing and broadening the commitment of member States to work, both nationally and internationally, together and through the U.N., to attack the drug abuse problem in all areas -- demand, supply, trafficking, and treatment. Countries, while recognizing that sustained follow-up activities are needed to translate commitment to vigorous action, nonetheless saw the Conference itself as a most productive and promising step. The primary goal, to demonstrate that drug abuse is a world-wide phenomenon affecting all countries, was certainly achieved. Some 138 governments were represented, many at the ministerial level, and the Conference was remarkably short on politics and regionalism and long on substance.

Specific outcomes included approval of

(1) a 73 page Comprehensive Multidisciplinary Outline (CMO) of recommended steps for governments and non-governmental organizations (NGOs) to take at the national, regional, and international levels to combat drug abuse and illicit trafficking;

(2) a Declaration of Political Will expressing determination to strengthen action and cooperation, and committing nations to vigorous international activities against drug abuse and illicit trafficking.

There was, in addition, agreement on an annual observance of a day to rededicate global efforts against drug abuse and illicit trafficking. The U.N. General Assembly, to whom a resolution to this effort will be proposed, will decide on an appropriate date (probably some date like June 26 that coincides with the Conference).

Immediately upon conclusion of the Conference, negotiations were to begin on drafting an International Convention Against Drug Trafficking which, unlike the CMO and Declaration, will be binding on nations.

Other short term follow-up activities are not as well thought out, but certainly include analysis of the CMO and development of proposals for the UN General Assembly. The possibility of regional meeting for Governments and/or NGOs has been raised.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. FRANK C. CARLUCCI
THE WHITE HOUSE

SUBJECT: Request for a White House Reception with the U.S. Delegation to the International Conference on Drug Abuse and Illicit Trafficking

The State Department, with the Attorney General's concurrence, requests that the President host an event to meet with the U.S. Delegation to the International Conference on Drug Abuse and Illicit Trafficking (ICDAIT). During this meeting, which would occur after the Conference on June 30 or July 1, the President could re-emphasize his commitment to the international fight against the drug problem and express satisfaction with the Delegation's efforts. A brief reception would be an appropriate media opportunity to focus on the high level of the U.S. Delegation and underscore the priority the President accords this issue. The First Lady and other concerned individuals also might attend.

The U.S. Delegation will be led by the Attorney General. The U.S. Permanent Representative to the United Nations and the Deputy Secretary of State will be Alternate Heads of Delegation. The Assistant Secretary of State for International Narcotics Matters will be Ranking Delegate. Seventeen other high-level Government leaders, four Members of Congress and six representatives of the private sector also will serve as U.S. Delegates.

This high-priority United Nations Conference will be held in Vienna, Austria, June 17-26, 1987. Representatives of all UN member states and observers from UN agencies and interested nongovernmental organizations are invited. The agenda will address all aspects of the drug problem. The primary goal of the Conference is to promote concerted efforts to combat drug abuse and trafficking. A universal declaration of political will to take action is the likely result.

The President and the First Lady hosted a successful luncheon for the U.S. Delegation to the last UN World Conference, the International Conference on the Status of Women, in June 1985.

NOTE FOR DR. MACDONALD

FROM: SHARYN LUMPKIN
SUBJ: UN CONFERENCE DELEGATION SEND-OFF

Issue: Does Mrs. Reagan wish to participate with the President in an East Room event to "send off" the UN delegation during the period May 18-21, 1987?

Background:

NSC is in the process of coordinating an event for the UN Conference delegation before they depart for Vienna. Basically, the idea was for an East Room ceremony with remarks by the President and Mrs. Reagan and a reception following. The event would include a viewing of (or clip from) Mrs. Reagan's video for the Conference.

The problem is scheduling. Neither the President nor Mrs. Reagan will be available after May 21st and the schedule before that time is very tight.

The alternative would be an event with the Vice President during the week of June 8-12, 1987; however, this would be quite a different event than originally planned. It would be preferable to have the event earlier with the President and Mrs. Reagan, if Mrs. Reagan wants to participate and it can be worked into the schedule.

Since you are the WHS contact with the First Lady's Office, we are asking that you discuss this matter with Jack Courtemanche. I will relay the result to NSC so that they can submit an appropriate scheduling proposal.

(NB: For your information, State is required to go through NSC for its scheduling requests, etc. Therefore, NSC has the lead for this event, but NSC looks to us for advice, assistance and contact, if required, with the First Lady's Office. NSC will set up a working group for the event, with State and Justice participation. I will be a member of that group in an advisory role -- as your representative. This is the same mechanism which was used to set up the Ambassadors' Conference in November 1986, and it works very well.)

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. FRANK C. CARLUCCI
THE WHITE HOUSE

SUBJECT: Request for a White House Meeting with the U.S. Delegation to the International Conference on Drug Abuse and Illicit Trafficking

The State Department requests that the President (or the Vice President) host an event to meet with the U.S. Delegation to the International Conference on Drug Abuse and Illicit Trafficking (ICDAIT). During this meeting, the President could re-emphasize his commitment to the international fight against the drug problem. A luncheon meeting would be an appropriate media opportunity to focus on the high level of the U.S. Delegation as an expression of the priority the President accords to this issue. The First Lady and other concerned individuals also might attend.

As proposed, the U.S. Delegation will be led by the Attorney General. The U.S. Permanent Representative to the United Nations and the Deputy Secretary of State will be Alternate Heads of Delegation. The Assistant Secretary of State for International Narcotics Matters will be Ranking Delegate. Seventeen other high-level Government leaders, four Members of Congress and five representatives of the private sector also will serve as U.S. Delegates.

This high-priority United Nations Conference will be held in Vienna, Austria, June 17-26, 1987. Representatives of all UN member states and observers from UN agencies and interested nongovernmental organizations are invited. The agenda will address all aspects of the drug problem. The primary goal of the Conference is to promote concerted efforts to combat drug abuse and trafficking by governments at the national, regional and international levels, and by multilateral bodies and nongovernmental organizations.

The President and the First Lady hosted a successful luncheon for the U.S. Delegation to the last UN World Conference, the International Conference on the Status of Women, in June 1985.

BACKGROUND: In May 1985, in response to growing, worldwide concern about illicit traffic in, and abuse of, illegal drugs, United Nations Secretary-General Perez de Cuellar proposed the International Conference on Drug Abuse and Illicit Trafficking (ICDAIT) to increase international awareness of the dangers of drugs and to generate action to combat the problem. The Conference will be held in Vienna, Austria, from June 17-26. Representatives of the UN member states and observers from UN agencies and interested nongovernmental organizations are invited. The agenda will address all aspects of the drug problem, including treatment and rehabilitation, prevention, trafficking, and production. The primary goal of the Conference is to promote concerted efforts to combat drug abuse and trafficking by governments at the national, regional and international levels, and by multilateral bodies and nongovernmental organizations.

At the sendoff, the President would have an opportunity to reemphasize his commitment to the domestic anti-drug abuse agenda so important to him and to the First Lady and the international fight against the drug problem. The media could focus on the high level of the delegation as an expression of the priority the President accords to this issue.
