Dear Ms. Sampson:

I want to commend Cherry Lane Fashion Group for taking a stand against one of the most serious problems facing the youth of America today, the use of illegal drugs. Drug use threatens the health and safety of million of Americans and in one way or another victimizes all of us; therefore, it is up every person to make illegal drug use unacceptable in our society.

We are pleased that Cherry Lane Fashion Group is taking a lead in the fashion industry by introducing "Drug Free Body" T Shirts to the Youth of America. If the reaction from the public is anything like the reaction from my staff, you have a winner!

As The President and Mrs. Reagan have said "now is the time to create a societal intolerance to illegal drug use." With the commitment of every American, we will achieve our goal. We have made a good start and we look forward to cooperating with Cherry Lane Fashion Group and other concerned Americans in pursuit of a drug-free nation.

Thank you for your efforts.

Sincerely,

Dear Mrs. Reagan:

We are enclosing a letter from Mrs. Nell W. Stewart, Public Relations Manager, of the Texize Division of The Dow Chemical Company located in Greenville, South Carolina, which is self-explanatory.

This is an outstanding company, with a splendid record of public service. They have donated $704,000 to the National Center of Missing and Exploited Children and the National Crime Prevention Council and distributed 750,000 safety phone books for children in 1985/86, etc. They are truly committed to helping our children.

We would appreciate your giving their request your kind consideration.

Thank you, and with kindest regards and best wishes,

Sincerely,

Dear Mrs. Reagan:

Drug abuse is a problem that affects all of us and one which we would like to assist in solving. For some time we have been a part of the President's Public/Private Sector Partnership in the area of child safety. Our accomplishments prove our commitment and our abilities. (We will be happy to give you some details on these projects if you would like them.)

We are considering a project in the area of drug abuse and would appreciate an opportunity to discuss this with you and your advisers. With your input, we can make this nationwide project more effective.

Would you be willing to meet with us? We can come to Washington at a time convenient to you. Since our project will be extensive and since we plan to implement it in 1987, we need to make decisions as quickly as possible. Therefore, we look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

MEMORANDUM FOR DONALD T. REGAN

FROM: CARLTON E. TURNER

SUBJECT: Visit of President Barco of Colombia

Colombia is an aggressive force against narco-traffickers throughout South America. The Colombians have not only established and maintained an aggressive program of their own, often despite significant costs, but have helped us immeasurably in other major producing countries and in Brazil which will be the next stronghold for coca production.

In 1984, the Colombian government initiated a precedent-setting herbicidal eradication campaign against cannabis production and began an all-out offensive against the drug traffic, including the extradition of Colombian traffickers to the United States and the eradication of coca bush. The traffickers fought back, murdered many of the local officials, assassinated the Minister of Justice, took over the Palace of Justice, and have recently assassinated a Supreme Court Justice and a leading news commentator. Nevertheless, the Government of Colombia has continued their fight.

The eradication program in Colombia was the capstone of efforts in several other Latin American and Caribbean countries, such as Panama and Belize. The Colombian National Police have provided helicopter transport for the Peruvian and Ecuadorian police to attack trafficking centers. They have also assisted the Venezuelan National Guard in their efforts to eliminate cannabis.

We desperately need Colombia to continue their aggressive programs against the drug traffickers. President Barco has been in office for seven weeks and has not yet offered clear directions regarding narcotics, although he has stated that he will continue President Betancur's efforts. Now is the time to reinvigorate the Colombian offensive.

It is my opinion that if Barco comes to Washington and is not permitted to pay a courtesy call on President Reagan:

1. We will suffer immeasurable consequences throughout South America;
2. It will send a message to the traffickers that we are no longer standing behind the Colombians; and
3. We can expect severe criticism in the political arena that the President's efforts are not substantial.

SUBJECT: Status of Drug Abuse Policy

This memorandum contains status information about the President's drug abuse policy.

Cabinet Involvement - As you know, on Thursday, September 11, the President met with the Cabinet to discuss drug abuse policy. The President approved our proposed legislation, with clarifications on the Mansfield amendment on working with other countries, and, on the Gekas amendment on the death penalty. He also approved an Executive Order, with clarifications on testing applicants for Federal jobs and, definitions of sensitive positions, and other initiatives recommended in the Report of the Domestic Policy Council Working Group on Drug Abuse Policy.

President's and First Lady's Address - The President and the First Lady jointly addressed the nation on the Administration's new goals on Sunday, September 14.

Legislation - On Monday, September 15, our legislative proposals were delivered to the Senate. They will vote on the bill today or tomorrow. The House passed a more expensive bill last week. The current outlook is that the President will receive a bill for his consideration this week. Details to follow.

Executive Order - On Monday, September 15, the President signed E.O. 12564, Drug-Free Federal Workplace, directing department and agency heads to develop a plan for their drug abuse programs. As expected, drug testing program received the most publicity, with a few court challenges threatened or initiated.

Other Initiatives - The other initiatives approved by the President are being carried out. A memorandum from the President to department and agency heads has been prepared, prescribing steps they should take to make their organizations drug-free. A memorandum from the President to all Federal employees will accompany the memorandum to department and agency heads, asking employees to set an example by helping to eliminate illegal drug use in the workplace, in their homes and in their communities.

Private Sector Initiatives - We are developing a private sector initiative with ACTION. A letter to Fortune 500 companies is being drafted for the President's signature.

Labor Groups - The Department of Labor has been in touch with labor officials, and is preparing a letter to union leaders. Labor is also preparing a "what works" book on Workplaces Without Drugs, and is assembling a team of experts to assist management and unions that request help in setting up drug abuse programs.

Government Contractors - The Working Group is developing guidance for government departments and agencies to use in interacting with contractors to ensure that drug-free policies are extended to companies doing work for the government.

States and Local Governments - Department and agency heads are to communicate with their counterparts in states and local governments, to encourage them to have drug-free workplaces.

Schools - On Monday, September 15, Secretary Bennett released his "what works" booklet on Schools Without Drugs. A follow-up ceremony with the First Lady was held on September 23. The booklet has been sent to schools throughout the country.

Drug Testing and Treatment - HHS is diverting funds from lower priorities to increase research on drug testing, treatment, and rehabilitation.

International Cooperation - The State Department has called a meeting of selected ambassadors for October 6-7 in Washington.

Law Enforcement - The Southwest Border Initiative has begun, and plans for the Southeast Border Initiative are moving ahead.

Public Housing - Secretary Pierce is working with Public Housing Authorities and various Federal agencies, including Justice, on ways to achieve drug-free public housing.

These and other initiatives will be periodically discussed with the President through the Domestic Policy Council.

Dear Vice-President Bush:

Per our brief conversation in Peoria, Illinois this past week, I wanted to follow-up with a note reiterating my strong personal interest in obtaining an appointment to a national substance abuse panel.

I appreciated your kind remarks complimenting my long-standing efforts to promote substance abuse prevention. As you know, I've been a strong advocate for the States to become more active in prevention activities so that we can supplement the law enforcement and interdiction efforts you've been coordinating for the federal government. Thanks to your activities and the strong and consistent efforts of the President and First Lady, we are finally beginning to gain the necessary public support.

I have primarily focused my activities towards promoting prevention in the schools ----- and I believe we have developed an excellent program here in Illinois. As we discussed, I am most interested in an appointment to some appropriate national panel so that I can gain visibility (and credibility) for our efforts here. Such an appointment in the next four to six weeks would certainly be very timely and very helpful.

I will appreciate whatever assistance you could lend.
