2. I HAVE RECEIVED TODAY THE FOLLOWING MESSAGE FOR YOU FROM PRIME MINISTER FANFANI REGARDING THE LETTER YOU SENT HIM WITH AMBASSADOR STOESSSEL.
BEGIN TEXT. DEAR RON,
THANK YOU FOR THE MESSAGE THAT YOU SENT TO ME THROUGH AMBASSADOR STOESSSEL ON THE PROBLEM OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN THE SOVIET UNION.
I DECIDED TO RECEIVE THE AMBASSADOR PERSONALLY GIVEN THE IMPORTANCE THAT I ATTRIBUTE TO THE PROBLEM. I HEARD HIS INTERESTING EXPOSITION AND I WAS ABLE, IN TURN, TO ILLUSTRATE MY THINKING FOR HIM, BASED ON PAST EXPERIENCES.
I BELIEVE THAT IT IS ESSENTIAL AMONG WESTERN COUNTRIES TO ACHIEVE A COORDINATION OF IDEAS AND INITIATIVES TO BE PROMOTED IN THIS AREA IN WHICH -- AS YOU JUSTLY EMPHASIZE -- EVENTS ARE MULTIPLYING AND THE SITUATION IS WORSENING, NOTWITHSTANDING THE ACCORDS SIGNED AT HELSINKI. ITALY, AS YOU KNOW, HAS GIVEN A VALID CONTRIBUTION IN RECENT YEARS, EITHER DIRECTLY THROUGH MESSAGES AND DIPLOMATIC DEMARCHES IN MOSCOW, OR IN THE FRAMEWORK OF INITIATIVES TAKEN BY THE TEN MEMBERS OF THE EUROPEAN ECONOMIC COMMUNITY, OR EVEN ON THE MULTILATERAL LEVEL, PARTICIPATING ACTIVELY IN THE WORKS OF CSCE IN BELGRADE AND MADRID.
SINCE IT NOW SEEMS FEASIBLE AT MADRID TO SEE THE POSSIBILITY OF HOLDING A CONFERENCE IN SWITZERLAND ON "HUMAN CONTACTS", DESIGNED TO DEEPEN SO MANY OF THE IMPORTANT

A: The main objective was to explore thoroughly with Western European governments the present Soviet human rights situation.

Q: What did Ambassador Stoessel ask the Europeans to do?

A: It would not be appropriate for me to go into the details of these discussions.

Q: Who else was on the Stoessel delegation?

A: Elliott Abrams, Assistant Secretary for Human Rights and Humanitarian Affairs, and an officer from the Soviet Desk accompanied Ambassador Stoessel.

BRIEFING MEMORANDUM

AMBASSADOR STOESSEL'S PRESIDENTIAL MISSION TO EUROPE

Ambassador Walter Stoessel has just completed a Presidential mission to discuss Soviet human rights performance with government leaders in eight European countries: France, Italy, Austria, the Netherlands, Spain, West Germany, Britain and Belgium. He also briefed Vatican officials and Western CSCE delegations in Madrid. This was an exploratory mission stimulated by the worsening Soviet human rights performance to consult on steps Western and neutral countries might take to keep the focus on Soviet human rights performance during the period between CSCE Madrid and the next CSCE follow-up meeting in 1986. The Ambassador also met with Canadian Embassy officials in Washington before embarking for Europe.

The Ambassador presented a letter from the President to the heads of governments in which the President expressed his concern over human rights in the Soviet Union because of the importance he attaches to the Helsinki Final Act, because of the terrible costs that are being paid by individual human beings, and because our overall relationship with the Soviets is seriously affected by human rights violations. The President's message was well received and the Ambassador's interlocutors offered a variety of ideas about how to coordinate activities to obtain some improvement in Soviet behavior in this area. We will be working with the various governments and parties involved to maintain the momentum the Stoessel mission created.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

July 2, 1983

Your Holiness:

I have asked Ambassador Walter Stoessel to make a special trip to several countries in Europe to let you know of my concern about the human rights situation in the Soviet Union. The situation concerns me because of the importance I attach to the Helsinki Final Act commitments, because of the terrible costs that are being paid by individual human beings, and because our overall relationship with the Soviets is seriously affected by human rights violations. Our Western countries have been working hard to find ways of dealing with the Soviet Union that enhance the chances for peace. Arms reduction negotiations are naturally a major focus of this effort. But I am convinced that human rights must be another, and for that reason we give it a central role in our discussions with the Soviets.

In some cases our talks with the Soviets have made us hopeful that progress is possible. Yet, at the same time, Soviet performance on human rights has deteriorated badly in several specific areas; one manifestation of this is the drastic cutback in the number of Jews and other Soviet minority groups permitted to emigrate. There is also evidence that a renewed anti-Semitic campaign is underway. The current repression of human rights points to a decision to eliminate ties between the Soviet people and the outside world that are not under the complete control of the authorities. This includes jamming of Western broadcasts, cutbacks in international telephone service, harassment of Western tourists who seek contact with Soviet citizens and the continued campaign of arrest and imprisonment of Soviets who express ideas not in keeping with official policy. Andrei Sakharov's exile to Gorkiy, the elimination of his direct contact with the outside world, and the difficulties his wife has experienced in Moscow symbolize this intensified atmosphere of repression.

I have, therefore, asked Ambassador Stoessel to give you our thoughts and to hear yours on how we might most effectively deal with the Soviets on this vital issue. He has an especially distinguished record of professional involvement in Soviet affairs, and no one is better qualified as an interlocutor. Ambassador Stoessel has my full confidence, and I know he will be worthy of yours.

Sincerely,
