Talking Paper on Budget Working Group

1. We made good progress this week on initial elements on our comprehensive economic plan. But we still have dozens of tax, budget and regulatory options to review - and only about 25 days left to reach our mid-February target.
2. Since the spending control and budget items are the most numerous and difficult, I am creating a Budget Working Group to review options prior to their presentation to me and the full Cabinet.
3. The Budget Working Group will be chaired by Dave Stockman and include all members of the Cabinet in sessions relevant to their agency or department. The Budget Group will have an advance agenda for each day during the next two weeks, and options papers will be delivered to each Cabinet Department 48 hours or more in advance of each session.
4. In addition to relevant Cabinet members, Ed Meese, Jim Baker, Marty Anderson, Don Regan, Murray Weidenbaum and Bill Brock will serve as regular participants in the working group.

5. Your aim should be to achieve consensus on spending control measures wherever possible within the group. Any items that cannot be resolved, of course, would be brought before me and a full Cabinet session for final resolution.

6. Dave Stockman has requested that we proceed on this modified basis so that affected departments will have the maximum possible time to review proposed spending control options - consistent with the tight time frame in which we are forced to operate.

MEMORANDUM

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

TO: David Fischer
FROM: Jim Kuhn
DATE: January 24, 1981
RE: Briefing on Alibi Club Luncheon

President Reagan and Vice President Bush will depart the White House together (in same limo) at 12:30 p.m. en route the Alibi Club for lunch. President Reagan will attend as a guest of Vice President Bush, who is a member. Upon arrival at the Alibi Club, President Reagan and Vice President Bush will be met by Admiral Jerald Wright, Club Proctor.

The Alibi Club, established in 1884 and which has had no more than 50 members since 1890, is a stag luncheon club which meets once a week. Originally, a poker club, the Alibi Club is made up of diplomats, politicians, and professionals from the Washington area.

Today's buffet luncheon will be informal in that attendees will not sit at tables, but rather will stand and eat or find an occasional chair. President Reagan and Vice President Bush will make no remarks. There will be 64 people in attendance (27 members and 37 guests).

Dress for the Alibi Club will be a business suit or sport jacket.

This event will be closed to all press. President Reagan and Vice President Bush will spend one hour at the Alibi Club and will depart in separate motorcades. President Reagan will depart first and will arrive at the White House at 1:45 p.m.

MEMORANDUM

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

TO: David Fischer
FROM: Jim Kuhn
DATE: January 24, 1981
RE: Briefing on Alfalfa Club Dinner

President Reagan will depart the White House this evening at 7:10 p.m. en route the Capital Hilton for the Alfalfa Club Dinner. President Reagan is a member of the club. Upon arrival at the Capital Hilton, President Reagan will be met by:

- 1) Sen. John Glenn - 1980 Alfalfa Club President;
- 2) Dr. Henry Kissinger - 1981 Alfalfa Club President;
- 3) William Bell - Alfalfa Club Dinner Chairman;
- 4) Tom McKnew - Dinner Official; and,
- 5) Fred Kleisner - Hilton General Manager.

The Alfalfa Club, established in 1913, which now has 225 members from around the country, is a stag social club which has an annual dinner. This will be the 68th annual Alfalfa Club Dinner. Originally a luncheon club, the Alfalfa Club is made up of prominent people from all types of backgrounds. The Alfalfa Club Dinner is always a very social and humorous evening.

Vice President Bush will be on the head table this evening. President Reagan will make brief remarks at approximately 9:20 p.m., following Dr. Henry Kissinger's acceptance speech (1981 Alfalfa Club President), and will then depart en route the White House. Arrival time at the White House will be approximately 9:40 p.m.

Dress for the Alfalfa Club Dinner will be black tie.

This event will be closed to all press. There will be 650 people in attendance this evening.
