SUGGESTED TALKING POINTS FOR MEETING WITH RETIRED SENIOR VOLUNTEER PROGRAM REPRESENTATIVES

-- Nancy and I are delighted to be here with you today and join in your 10th Anniversary celebration of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program. We thank you for your years of voluntary service to America, and we also thank your over 300,000 volunteers from every state in our country.

-- It is an historical tradition for Americans to give of their time and energy for the improvement of our society and to help those in need. As older citizens, you bring to our voluntary effort the special benefits of long years of experience and enormous resources of talent, knowledge and skill. By volunteering almost 60 million hours each year in our courts, schools, day-care centers, and hospitals you serve as the bedrock of community service.

-- Clearly, you understand the values and traditions that have made our nation great. One of the goals of my Administration is to expand the appreciation of these historical values. Your voluntary efforts serve as a reminder to us all that it doesn't take a massive federal government effort to resolve local problems in local neighborhoods.

-- I am particularly proud of Nancy's long-standing interest in and involvement with the Foster Grandparent Program, and especially pleased she has chosen to write about the program in her forthcoming book "To Love A Child."

-- Happy Anniversary to a very special bunch of volunteers.

TALKING POINTS: CALIFORNIA AND TEXAS DELEGATION RECEPTION
SEPTEMBER 23, 1981

- I want you to know I've been a big fan of the Statler Brothers -- even before they wrote me into their song. I don't see how anybody could come away from music like we've had tonight and not feel good.
- Thank you, gentlemen, on behalf of all of us. I think I can speak for everyone when I say that, for Easterners, you do all right.
- Nancy and I are glad all of you could come tonight. Back home, in Texas and California, barbeques are a means for people to come together: at church congregations, political rallies, country get-togethers, business parties and just gatherings of friends. Often, like tonight, guests are of different parties and points of view. And somehow, after sharing food and having fun, you understand the other fellow better. You remember the values and traditions that bind you and that the bonds are stronger than the issues that divide.
- We all need to remember, in the trying days and months that lie ahead, if men and women of good faith reason together -- if we look to our strengths and rely on our bonds -- we will rise above our problems together. We are, after all, the last best hope of man on earth. Thank you very much for coming.
