MEETING WITH THE CABINET COUNCIL
ON LEGAL POLICY

DATE: APRIL 2, 1982
TIME: 11:00 A.M. (60 MINUTES)
LOCATION: CABINET ROOM
FROM: CRAIG L. FULLER CF

I. PURPOSE

This meeting of you Cabinet Council on Legal Policy has been scheduled to discuss busing and school prayer.

II. BACKGROUND

Discussion papers have been provided by Justice. They are attached if you wish to skim them, but you need not read them as the points raised will be discussed at the meeting and no decisions will be required. Briefly, the points made in each are as follows:

School Prayer

1. There are three basic ways in which the law on school prayer could be changed. The purpose of the discussion is to review the options available. The options presented are:
 - a. Rely on the courts to modify or refine school prayer decisions.
 - b. Seek a change in the current law through a statute that would deprive the Supreme Court and lower federal courts of jurisdiction over prayer in schools and other public places.
 - c. Seek a constitutional amendment that would overturn the school prayer decisions in order to allow voluntary prayer in schools.

Busing

2. The Congress is currently considering some seventeen different bills concerning busing. While there is great dissatisfaction concerning the use of busing as a remedy in school desegregation cases, there is not yet agreement on the best vehicle for the administration to use to make its position clear. The Attorney General will provide an update on the current thinking of the Justice Department on this matter.

III. PARTICIPANTS

A final list will be attached to the agenda.

IV. PRESS PLAN

White House photographer only.

V. SEQUENCE

Once the meeting is called to order, the Attorney General will lead the discussion. You may wish to indicate during the discussion that Ed Harper has done a good deal of work on the busing issue in particular. He will be prepared to outline the options facing the administration.

SIGNING CEREMONY FOR OLDER AMERICANS MONTH PROCLAMATION

DATE: April 2, 1982
LOCATION: Rose Garden
TIME: 12:00 - 12:10 p.m.

FROM: ELIZABETH H. DOLE

- I. PURPOSE: To announce your support of legislation which prohibits mandatory retirement based solely on age and to sign the Proclamation designating May as Older Americans Month.
- II. BACKGROUND: At the 1981 White House Conference on Aging, you restated your conviction that America's older population is an underutilized national resource, and that older people should be encouraged to work for as long as they desire and are able. A 1981 Harris poll found that 73% of retirees wished they had never quit working. Of all U.S. adults, 90% opposed a mandatory retirement age. The law now protects individuals between the ages of 40 and 70 from discrimination on the basis of age. You are announcing your support of legislation which would remove the age limit of protection altogether.
- III. PARTICIPANTS: See attached list.
- IV. PRESS PLAN: White House Press Pool.
- V. SEQUENCE OF EVENTS:
 - 12:00 p.m. You enter the Rose Garden where your guests and the press are assembled. You proceed to the table and read your statement.
 - 12:05 p.m. Upon conclusion of your statement, you sign the Proclamation with two pens which you will give to Connie Armitage and Ellen Winston.
 - 12:10 p.m. You shake hands and greet your guests individually as you depart.

2 April, 1:45 p.m.

The U.S.-Canadian International Joint Commission, established in 1909, oversees management of border water resources, pollution problems and Great Lakes Water Quality. The photo opportunity will underscore the importance we attach to the Commission's work, and recognize personally the Commission members.

There will be thirty-two members of the commission present including the five commissioners (three U.S., two Canadian). When you enter the Roosevelt Room, they will be assembled with the commissioners in front. After shaking hands with the commissioners, you will deliver short remarks (points at Tab A). TAPING: WORLD HEALTH DAY
APRIL 2, 1982

It is our good fortune in America that almost all of us can look forward to becoming senior members of society. This fact makes the 1982 World Health Day theme, "Add Life to Years," meaningful to each of us.

As we grow older, the quality of our lives depends greatly on our health and on the younger generations' commitment to the full participation of older people in society.

With the understanding, experience and perspective that only years of life can bring, the "senior citizen" truly has a unique contribution to make to society. As individuals, communities and nations, we should foster the contributions older citizens can make.

The United States, of course, is not alone in witnessing a dramatic increase in the over-60 population. By the year 2000, more than half a billion people around the world will be in that age group, representing the highest percentage ever, nearly 10 percent of the total population. This summer, the World Assembly on Aging will focus its attention on the impact of these demographic changes. That occasion will be the impetus for many nations to launch policies and programs recognizing the older generation as an essential national resource and promoting opportunities for the use of this resource.

On this World Health Day, the United States is happy to join with other members of the World Health Organization in recognizing that the world needs the contributions of its senior citizens and in committing our best efforts to bring good health to all our people.

TAPED REMARKS: GREETING TO THE AMERICAN APPAREL MANUFACTURERS
ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING
APRIL 2, 1982

Good morning. I am delighted to have this opportunity to speak with you as you open your association's annual meeting. I am very much aware of your industry's importance to the Nation -- I'm told that the apparel industry alone employs more than a million of our citizens, 81 percent of whom are women and 18 percent minorities. I have always felt that the best possible social program is a job, and I want to continue working with you to create the kind of economy that will enable your industry to grow even more, providing more jobs for more of our people.

I would also like to thank you, your members and your industry for the support and guidance you have provided in the last year. With your help we have been able to make historic gains against what had been runaway inflation, spending and taxing.

Already the rate of inflation is down to less than half of what it was when I took office. Interest rates are down from their once-dizzying heights, but we will continue to bring them down even more. We have cut the rate of growth in Federal regulations by more than a third and the growth in Government by nearly half -- but we will do even better.

I know your industry is hurt by the recession. All Americans are suffering. But the problems we face today did not surface overnight. They are the result of decades of economic abuse in Washington. The only way to ensure recovery is to hold firm to our program to cut the people's taxes, cut the growth in Federal spending, reduce regulations and maintain a slow but steady growth in our money supply.

We must have both the courage and the patience to allow our programs to work. I am grateful for all you have done so far, but I ask you for even more. I am counting on you in the days ahead. Together we can and will turn this economy around, ensuring a successful and productive future for all Americans.

Thank you very much.

TAPING: EDISON ELECTRIC INSTITUTE
APRIL 2, 1982

Although it is impossible for me to join you at this landmark 50th annual convention of the Edison Electric Institute, I understand, you're gathered in my own backyard and in the territory of my good friend Bill Gould. I am delighted that the miracle of modern communication, possible only through electricity, enables me to extend to you my felicitations on this occasion.

Few services are more essential in these United States than the one you perform in providing electric power to the American people. Your convention theme, "Energy For Living -- Electricity," aptly sums up the vital significance of reliable and adequate electric power supply to more job opportunities, brighter economic prospects and better living for all Americans. One of Thomas Edison's better known quotes is that genius is one percent inspiration and 99 percent perspiration. Well, electricity provides the energy that makes work more productive than in the days before Edison. America owes much to entrepreneurs and inventors like Thomas Edison who were able to see how electricity would be used to meet future needs.

Similarly, you must look into the future in the fulfillment of your responsibilities. At times, you may face disheartening public disinterest and sometimes aggravating public misunderstanding. But I am confident you will persevere, because you and I know that America depends on you and your many associates. Adequate energy is absolutely essential for maintaining the American way of life, and electricity plays a vital part in filling that need. You have my sincerest best wishes for success, not only for this convention, but in the months and years ahead as you continue your efforts to build American strength and advance American progress through the power of electricity.
