OFFICE OF THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

October 21, 1982

Honorable Morton Blackwell
Special Assistant to the President
The White House, Room 191
Washington, D. C. 20500

Dear Morton:

We all missed you and were sorry you were unable to join us during the meeting of the Board of Governors last week in Colorado Springs.

Everyone felt it was a very productive and successful meeting.

Of course, Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick's address was the highlight of the meeting, but there were many other important and interesting presentations as well.

I thought you might want to have a copy of the program of the meeting for your files. Please be sure to look over the list of new members -- we added a truly outstanding new group.

They include Frank Shakespeare, president of RKO General, Inc.; Dr. Cory SerVaas, publisher of the Saturday Evening Post; Rich deVos, president of Amway Corporation and co-chairman of Mutual Broadcasting; John McGoff, publisher of the Sacramento Union, and many others.

I will be sending an updated mailing list in a few days.

With appreciation and kindest regards, I remain

Sincerely,

Louis (Woody) Jenkins
Executive Director

Re: Delegation to South Africa

Dear Colleagues:

The Council for National Policy is planning to send a delegation to South Africa in late February 1983 or early March 1983. The group will be gone 14 to 17 days.

It will meet with the highest ranking officials of the South African government, leaders of the opposition, and tribal leaders and see large portions of this important, diverse and quite beautiful country.

Financial assistance may be available to a few of our members.

The South African government wants to keep the group relatively small. Also, because the delegation will meet with the government's leaders, they reserve the right to screen participants.

If you are interested in participating in this delegation, please write to me immediately. For the benefit of the South Africans, please include a current resume. Also, please tell me whether you would be able to go only with some financial assistance.

As soon as the details have been firmed up and the members of the delegation have been selected, I will advise you.

I need to hear from you by December 1, 1982.

With appreciation and kindest personal regards, I remain

Sincerely,

Woody

Dear Morton:

Plans are well underway for the January 23-24, 1983, meeting of the Board of Governors of the Council for National Policy at The Anatole in Dallas, Texas.

This meeting will undoubtedly be one of the best yet, and I know you will enjoy it.

As in the past, all reservations should be made directly through this office and not through the hotel.

Please return the enclosed reservation form no later than December 8, 1982, so that all appropriate preparations can be made for sleeping rooms, meeting rooms and meal functions.

The Council has to guarantee your room charges and your attendance at meal functions. So please conform your schedule to the reservations you give us, or notify us immediately of any changes in your schedule.

By the way, The Anatole is instituting a simplified check-in procedure for Council members. This will allow you to by-pass the hotel registration desk and make a brief stop at a special registration table where you will be pre-registered.

Looking forward to seeing you in January, I remain

Sincerely,

Louis (Woody) Jenkins

Re: 1983 Journalism Awards Competition

Dear Morton:

As you know, the Board of Governors of the Council for National Policy has been highly concerned about the lack of objectivity on the part of the major news media in our country.

In order to help counter this situation in one small way, the Executive Committee has approved the initiation of the 1983 Journalism Awards Competition. It will honor outstanding newspaper editors and editorial page editors for material published during 1982.

We feel this program will accomplish two goals:

- 1) It will encourage key newspapermen to be objective in their news coverage and to give fair treatment to the principles of free enterprise, limited government and a strong national defense on their editorial pages.
- 2) It will allow the Council to survey a large number of newspapers and identify the key editors, publishers, reporters and writers who share the goals of this organization. Once they have been identified, we can consider inviting some of them to join the Board of Governors.

A panel of judges will be appointed from among our own members to judge the entries. At the appropriate time, you will be informed of the names of the contestants, so that you can provide any information on them which you may desire.

This is intended to be a pilot program. If it is successful this year, we will consider expanding it to other areas, such as radio, television, and wire services.

The enclosed ad will run in the December 25, 1982, edition of Editor & Publisher, the trade magazine of the newspaper industry, in their Annual Journalism Awards Issue. Hopefully, it will attract scores of entries.

With appreciation and kindest regards, I remain

Sincerely,

Louis (Woody) Jenkins
Executive Director

What Sort of Newspaper Would These Men Read?

It would be clever and controversial.

It would uplift the individual human being.

It would expose the failings of politicians and bureaucrats.

It would fiercely advocate the free enterprise system,
limited government and a strong national defense.

It would be a newspaper that some would fear but all would respect.

We are looking for newspapers like that.

The Council for National Policy announces its 1983 JOURNALISM AWARDS COMPETITION

Award for General Excellence

Presented to the editor whose daily or weekly newspaper has made an outstanding contribution to the enlightenment of its community during 1982. Consideration given to objectivity, quality of writing, initiative, layout and use of photographs.

First Prize$2,500
Second Prize 1,500
Third Prize 1,000

Award for Editorial Page Excellence

Presented to the editorial page editor whose daily or weekly editorial page has made an outstanding contribution to public understanding of the principles of individual liberty, private property, free enterprise, limited government and national defense.

First Prize$2,500
Second Prize 1,500
Third Prize 1,000

Material published during 1982 will be considered. The entry deadline is February 15, 1982.

For entry blanks and rules, please write Louis (Woody) Jenkins,

Honorable Morton Blackwell
Special Assistant to the President
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Morton:

Rev. Melvin Hodges, pastor of First Baptist Church of Glen Oaks here in Baton Rouge, has invited President Reagan to speak at his church's annual God and Country Rally next November 1983.

In view of the large number of requests the President receives, this may seem like one that has little merit. However, I believe just the opposite is true.

First Baptist Church operates First Christian Academy -- the largest black Christian school in America with 500+ pupils K-6th grade. It receives no government funds (nor does it seek any) and operates solely from tuition and a few small donations.

This is no small feat, in view of the fact that First Christian Academy is located in a poverty-ridden area of Baton Rouge, and its students are all inner-city youngsters.

At this school, the children are well-mannered, disciplined and know how to read and write. They are far ahead of other youngsters in their neighborhood who go to public school.

In short, First Christian Academy represents the spirit of volunteerism and individual initiative that President Reagan has made a hallmark of his administration. Moreover, Rev. Hodges has started the Foundation for Black Christian Education, in an effort to duplicate the experience here in other communities.

A visit by President Reagan to this church would bring public attention to this worthwhile undertaking and associate him with this positive achievement in the black community.

I think you would enjoy visiting this facility, and I would like to invite you to tour it with me on your next trip to Baton Rouge.

Perhaps you would then be in a good position to make a recommendation to the President on this matter.

One final point: I believe the extension of private and Christian education to inner-city black youngsters should be one of top goals of those concerned about the future of our nation. These young people are invariably assigned to poor quality public schools and have no private school alternative in their community.

But the extension of a self-sufficient Christian school, supported by the parents themselves, can change all this.

I believe all the idea needs to catch on is public attention. This is what President Reagan can provide. Government funds are not the answer and are not desired.

By the way, Rev. Hodges is a strong supporter of President Reagan and a solid conservative. He would never do anything to undermine the President's efforts or embarrass him.

With appreciation and kindest regards, I remain

Sincerely,

Dear Morton:

Just a note to express my deep appreciation for your participation in the meeting of the Board of Governors of the Council for National Policy earlier this week in Dallas. Everyone enjoyed your remarks a great deal, and they added immeasurably to the success of the meeting.

Morton, my only regret is that you and I did not have more time to spend together.

MAY 22-23, 1983, MEETING IN PALM BEACH, FLORIDA. Please make a note that the Executive Committee has voted to change the date and location of the next meeting of the Board of Governors from April 10-11, 1983, at The Mayflower in Washington to May 22-23, 1983, at The Breakers in Palm Beach, Florida.

Naturally, you will be invited to attend.

This change was made in response to the requests of many members. Hopefully, it will result in a more pleasant and a more private meeting.

With appreciation and kindest personal regards, I remain

Sincerely,

Louis (Woody) Jenkins
Executive Director

P. S. Please call me immediately if there was anything in your remarks which you would not want included in the taped highlights of the meeting. I will be sending this tape out to all members within the next two weeks.

Re: Negotiated Settlement in El Salvador

Dear Colleagues:

A highly reliable source in a key government position has advised me that a major push is being made within the State Department to convince President Reagan to agree to a negotiated settlement with the Communist guerrillas in El Salvador.

Of course, the result of such negotiations would almost certainly be a Communist government more brutal than the Sandinistas in Nicaragua. The future of Guatemala and Honduras would be very grim, and we could expect a flood of refugees into the United States.

A decision on whether the President will agree to a negotiated settlement could come within a few weeks. My source believes that, because of the deteriorating military situation in El Salvador, the President could be faced with two alternatives by the end of February — either send in the Marines or negotiate a settlement.

The military situation is being caused almost exclusively by the failure of the Salvadoran military to use modern techniques of unconventional warfare to combat the guerrillas.

My source believes 1) the attention of the public should be called to the behind-the-scenes effort for a negotiated settlement and 2) direct contacts should be made with Secretary of State George Schulz, National Security Advisor Bill Clark, and President Reagan to urge them against such action. The proper course seems to be for the Administration to strongly encourage the Salvadoran military to fight the guerrillas using modern unconventional tactics.

The Administration's decision on this question could have the most far-reaching effects on our national security, and you may want to take appropriate action.

With kindest regards, I remain

Sincerely,

Louis (Woody) Jenkins

Dear Mr. Jenkins:

The President has asked me to thank you for your kind invitation to meet with several key conservative leaders.

Regrettably, he was unable to accept your original dinner invitation for last fall. Since that time, the President's schedule has been extremely demanding, and it has proven difficult to set a date for a future meeting.

As you know, the President shares many of the concerns expressed by the organizations your Council represents. He sincerely regrets that, at this time, we are unable to arrange a meeting. Perhaps the opportunity will present itself at a later date.

With best regards from the President,

Sincerely,

Re: Members-Elect at Annual Meeting May 22-23, 1983

Dear Colleagues:

A number of outstanding business, political and religious leaders will be attending the Annual Meeting May 22-23 in Palm Beach, Florida, as members-elect of the Board of Governors.

I am enclosing a list for your review.

You may be particularly interested in the following new members of the Board:

— Rev. Nathaniel Urshan, general superintendent of the United Pentecostal Church and leader of 1 million Pentecostals worldwide. Politically, Rev. Urshan is a conservative Republican.

— Governor John Sununu, new Republican governor of New Hampshire. Governor Sununu is expected to play a key role in the 1984 New Hampshire presidential primary.

— Ed Gaylord, publisher of the daily newspapers in Oklahoma City, The Daily Oklahoman, Oklahoma City Times, and The Sunday Oklahoman.

With appreciation and kindest personal regards, I remain

Sincerely,

May 6, 1983

Honorable Morton Blackwell
Special Assistant to the President
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Morton:

I would greatly appreciate your getting the President to send greetings to the 3rd Annual Meeting of the Board of Governors of the Council for National Policy May 22-23, 1983, at The Breakers in Palm Beach, Florida.

As you know, the Council is a non-profit, educational foundation composed of 230 of our nation's leaders from the fields of government, business, religion, and the profession. A copy of the program from our last meeting is enclosed. It contains a list of our members. These include some of the President's close friends.

A sample message is enclosed. If it is possible to send such a message, please send it by mailgram or letter to my office at 732 North Boulevard, Baton Rouge, La. 70802 for receipt some time before Friday, May 20.

With appreciation and kindest regards, I remain

Sincerely,

Louis (Woody) Jenkins
Executive Director

To the Board of Governors of the Council for National Policy

Dear Friends:

Congratulations on the Third Annual Meeting of the Council for National Policy.

In just over two years, you have brought together in one organization most of our nation's key leaders who share the philosophy of freedom. Through the strong personal bonds which you are building among one another, you are creating a network of activists and opinion leaders almost unparalleled in our nation's history.

Few groups contain so many of my close personal friends and loyal supporters.

Special thanks go to your president, Tom Ellis; your vice president, Bunker Hunt; your secretary-treasurer, Bob Perry; and your executive director, Woody Jenkins, for the job they are doing.

My only regret is that I am not there with you to enjoy Palm Beach and the wonderful fellowship of your meeting.

With personal regards, I remain

Yours truly,

Ronald Reagan
The White House

I am delighted to send my warm greetings to members and guests of the Council for National Policy as you gather for your Third Annual Meeting.

In just over two years, you have brought together in one organization many key people who share the philosophy of freedom. Through the strong personal bonds which you are building among one another, you are creating a network of activists and opinion leaders almost unparalleled in our nation's history.

My special thanks go to the Council's leadership and to the many members who work so hard to strengthen America in the ideals and beliefs we share.

You have my best wishes for a most successful and productive conference and for the very important work you do.

Sincerely,

Volume 1 Number 1

U.S. Senator Jeremiah Denton to Keynote Annual Meeting in Palm Beach, May 22-23

PALM BEACH, Florida—Senator Jeremiah A. Denton (R-Alabama) will give the keynote address during the Annual Meeting of the Council for National Policy May 22-23, 1983, in Palm Beach, Florida.

Senator Denton will speak to more than 200 members of the Board of Governors and their spouses on Sunday, May 22. He will be honored at a reception beginning at 6 p.m. and a dinner at 7 p.m.

The freshman senator was one of the highest-ranking prisoners of war captured by the North Vietnamese during the Vietnam War. He was subjected to severe torture throughout his seven years in Communist prisons. Breaking him was considered a major goal of the North Vietnamese. However, he was known both among his captors and his fellow Americans as perhaps the most courageous and principled American in captivity.

Senator Denton's unwillingness to abandon U.S. military discipline despite unbelievable torture and six years of solitary confinement served as a constant source of encouragement and hope for the other POW's.

Senator Jeremiah A. Denton

The CIA saw his message, and it provided American intelligence with the first hard evidence that American POW's were being physically abused.

He retired from the Navy with the rank of Admiral. When he ran for the United States Senate, he was the first Republican elected to the Senate from the State of Alabama since Reconstruction.

Senator Denton's wife Jane is expected to accompany him to the Council meeting.

Officers Complete Year of Service

Mr. Thomas F. Ellis will be honored for his service as president of the Council for National Policy during the reception and banquet Monday evening, May 23 at the Council's Annual Meeting at The Breakers in Palm Beach, Florida.

Mr. Ellis, a Raleigh, North Carolina attorney, also serves as chairman of The Congressional Club, the nation's second largest political action committee.

He is the Council's second president, having succeeded the organization's founder and first president, Dr. Tim LaHaye.

At the Annual Meeting, Mr. Nelson

Bunker Hunt will complete his first one-year term as vice president of the Council, and Mr. Bob J. Perry will complete his second one-year term as secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Hunt is a widely-known Dallas oilman and chairman of Hunt Energy Corporation. Mr. Perry is a home builder in Houston and president of Perry-Houston, Inc. He serves as a member of the Texas Banking Commission.

All three have served as members of the Executive Committee since the Council was founded in March 1981.

Board of Governors Will Elect Members Of Executive Committee

The Board of Governors will be asked to elect members of its Executive Committee under a new plan which calls for the 12-member committee to be elected to three-year terms, with one-third of the members elected each year.

In the past, the committee has been elected to staggered, two-year terms, with one-half of the members elected each year.

The election will be held at 2 p.m. on Monday, May 23 during the Annual Meeting of the Board of Governors. In accordance with the Bylaws of the Council for National Policy, the Executive Committee will present a list of nominees, and others may be nominated from the floor.

All current members of the Executive Committee are expected to stand for reelection under the committee's reorganized system for three-year, staggered terms. The members of the Executive Committee are as follows:

Mr. Joseph Coors, President, Adolph Coors Company, Golden, Colorado. Term expires in May 1984.

Mr. Rich DeVos, President, Amway Corporation, Ada, Michigan. Term Expires in May 1983.

Mr. Thomas F. Ellis, Attorney at Law, Raleigh, North Carolina. Term expires in May 1984.

Mr. Nelson Bunker Hunt, Chairman, Hunt Energy Corporation, Dallas, Texas. Term expires in May 1983.

Mr. James F. Justiss, President, Justiss Oil Company, Jena, Louisiana. Term expires in May 1983.

Dr. Tim LaHaye, President, Family Life Seminars, El Cajon, California. Term expires in May 1984.

Mr. Sam Moore, President, Thomas Nelson Publishers, Nashville, Tennessee.

Well-Known Speakers Headline Meeting

A host of nationally-known speakers will address the Annual Meeting of the Board of Governors of the Council for National Policy May 22-23 in Palm Beach, Florida.

Dr. Jerry Falwell will be the main speaker at the luncheon at 12 noon on Monday, May 23. Dr. Falwell, a founding member of the Council for National Policy, is president of Liberty Baptist College, president of The Moral Majority, and president of the Old Time Gospel Hour.

Senator Jesse Helms (R-North Carolina) will serve as master of ceremonies for the Monday luncheon and will introduce Dr. Falwell. Senator Helms is chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee and Senate Steering Committee.

Governor John Sununu of New Hampshire will be attending his first meeting as a member of the Board of Governors and will address the Council Monday afternoon, May 23. Governor Sununu can be expected to play an important role in the 1984 Presidential election.

Mr. Lewis Lehrman is the former chairman of the Rite-Aid Corporation, a chain of more than 1,000 drugstores in the United States and Great Britain. He was the Republican nominee for governor of New York State in 1982.

Mr. Lehrman is a hard-money advocate and was an influential member of the United States Gold Commission. He will address the Board of Governors Monday morning, May 23.

Date, Location Changed For September Meeting

The Fall 1983 meeting of the Board of Governors of the Council for National Policy has been changed from Sunday, September 18 and Monday, September 19, 1983, at the Inn on the Park in Houston, Texas, to Friday, September 9 and Saturday, September 10, 1983, at The Homestead in Hot Springs, Virginia.

The change was made because of requests by numerous members of the Board of Governors.

The September 9-10 meeting will mark the first time that the Council has met on a Friday-Saturday. The meeting will begin at 1:30 p.m. on Friday and adjourn at 10 p.m. on Saturday, September 10, allowing members all day Sunday to return home.

The Council has made arrangements for Colgan Airways to add additional flights from Washington National Airport (and possibly Dulles) to Hot Springs, Va., on Thursday, September 8 and Friday, September 9 and again from Hot Springs, Va., to Washington National on Sunday, September 11. This will facilitate travel by Council members living in or making connections through Washington, D.C.

Other members may find it advantageous to fly into the Roanoke, Va., or Lewisburg, W. Va., airports and travel by limousine service to The Homestead. These are said to be beautiful drives, especially in September.

Full details on air transportation will be issued by the Council office by late June.

Parliament, Capetown, South Africa

Complexity of South Africa Impresses Council Delegation

A six-member delegation from the Council for National Policy found South Africa a friendly, prosperous nation whose security is vital to the United States. But it also found a nation facing enormous political problems which seem to have no easy solution.

The delegation left New York for Johannesburg on March 13 and returned on March 26. Council president Thomas F. Ellis served as chairman of the delegation.

The delegation visited Johannesburg, Pretoria, Port Elizabeth, Capetown, and Sabi Sabi game reserve. It met with cabinet members, members of Parliament from all four major parties, black leaders of various persuasions, business leaders, trade union leaders, coloured leaders, and average citizens.

Members of the delegation included Miss Kathy Teague, executive director of the American Legislative Exchange Council; Mr. C. Victor Thornton, president of Thornton Industries and former world leader of the Shriners; Mr. Clif Overcash, senior partner in Overcash-Goodman Enterprises and former mayor of Fort Worth, Texas; Mr. Dick Shoff, director of Lincoln Log Homes, and Mr. Louis (Woody) Jenkins, executive director of the Council for National Policy.

The focus of most discussion throughout the trip was the South African government's proposal for a new constitution, which calls for whites to share political power with coloureds and Asians but not blacks.

Under the plan, South Africa's all-white Parliament would be replaced by a Parliament composed of three chambers—one for whites, one for coloureds, and one for Asians. Each chamber would have sole authority to legislate on matters affecting only its own racial group but all three chambers would have to approve bills of common concern.

The President of the country would be elected by an Electoral College composed of representatives of the leading party in each of the three chambers of Parliament. In practice, this would mean the leading party in the white chamber would elect the President, since it would have a clear majority of seats in the Electoral College.

The President, in turn, would appoint the President's Council, a kind of super Parliament, which would decide all matters on which the three chambers could not reach agreement. He would also appoint the Cabinet, which would include representatives of all three races. The Cabinet would run the government on a day-to-day basis.

During the trip, the delegation was confronted with a wide range of opinion on the justice and the workability of this plan. Some South Africans passionately criticized it for leaving out the blacks; others opposed it just as fervently as a step which would lead ultimately to "one-man, one-vote, one-time". Some, primarily those in the government, said it was the best hope for reconciliation among whites, coloureds and Asians.

A full written report on the trip will be issued by the Council for National Policy.

Journalism Awards Contest Attracts Outstanding Entries

A dozen outstanding American newspapers have submitted entries in the 1983 Council for National Policy Journalism Awards competition, according to Mr. Louis (Woody) Jenkins, executive director of the Council.

Newspapers are competing in two categories—General Excellence and Editorial Page Excellence. A total of $10,000 in prizes will be given to editors or editorial page editors. The first place winner in each category will be awarded $2,500. The second place winner will receive $1,500, and the third place winner will receive $1,000.

Mr. Jenkins said he is pleased with both the quantity and quality of entries. "Our goal is really two-fold: first, to identify some of the outstanding newspaper editors and editorial page editors in the country, and second, to recognize them for the job they are doing," he said.

"All of our entries are, to one degree or another, doing an excellent job of reporting the news of the day fairly and impartially and of educating the general public on the advantages of the free enterprise system and a strong national defense," he said. "It is certainly refreshing to know that there are still newspapers like that in America."

Mr. Jenkins said the entries include the St. Louis (Mo.) Globe-Democrat (Mr. Martin L. Duggan), Richmond (Va.) News Leader (Mr. Ross MacKenzie), Indianapolis (Ind.) News (Mr. Harvey C. Jacobs), Washington Report published by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce (Ms. Sharon Nelton and Mr. Al Holzner), Washington Times (Mr. Smith Hempstone and Ms. Anne Crutcher), Chattanooga (Tenn.) Free Press (Mr. Lee Anderson), Panama City (Fla.) News-Herald (Mr. Bill Salter), Delta (Greenville, Miss.) Democrat-Times (Mrs. Eric Grunder), The Forerunner (Gainesville, Fla.) (Mr. Lee Grady), Enterprise News Service, Washington, D.C. (Mr. M. Stanton Evans), The Mount Airy (N.C.) News (Ms. Barbara Case Summerlin), and The Athens (Ohio) News (Ms. Melody Sands).

Mr. Jenkins said the Council is considering expanding the 1984 competition to new categories of print and broadcast journalism and said he welcomes suggestions for additional categories from members of the Board of Governors.

The winners in the 1983 competition will be announced by June 1, 1983.

Mr. Thomas F. Ellis and Mr. Dirk Mudge

Council Dinner Honors Leader Of South West Africa/Namibia

DALLAS, Texas—Tribute was paid to Mr. Dirk Mudge, former chairman of the Council of Ministers of South West Africa/Namibia, at a black-tie dinner in his honor sponsored by the Council for National Policy at The Mansion on Turtle Creek in Dallas March 30.

Among those present to honor Mr. Mudge were Governor and Mrs. William Clements of Texas, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hank Harkins.

In his address, Mr. Mudge explained many of the complexities of the political situation in South West Africa/Namibia. The chief characteristics of his nation are its vast undeveloped natural resources, its ethnic diversity, and the desire of its nine major ethnic groups to live in freedom, Mr. Mudge said.

The United Nations has called for elections in South West Africa/Namibia, he said. Yet, it has already recognized the Communist-backed South West African People's Organization (SWAPO), a terrorist guerrilla organization, as the only legitimate government in the country. Thus, he said, although the people desire both independence and free elections, they are unwilling to submit to United Nations supervision of any such election.

Mr. Mudge recently resigned as the leader of his government in a dispute with South Africa. However, he continues to serve as chairman of the Democratic Turnhalle Alliance, the nation's largest political party and one which is both multi-racial and dedicated to the free enterprise system.

Mr. Mudge pointed out that SWAPO is receiving financial support from the Soviet Union and a host of Communist governments. He urged Americans to consider giving financial support to his political party, the Democratic Turnhalle Alliance, in order to give it the resources to battle for the hearts and minds of the tribal groups in South West Africa/Namibia.

Mr. Mudge was introduced and presented a plaque by Mr. Howard Phillips, president of the Conservative Caucus Research, Analysis and Education Foundation. Mr. Phillips recently returned from a trip to South West Africa/Namibia where Mr. Mudge was his host.

Mr. Louis (Woody) Jenkins, executive director of the Council for National Policy, served as master of ceremonies.

Diane Jenkins Joins Staff As Full-Time Volunteer

BATON ROUGE, La.—Mrs. Diane A. Jenkins, wife of Council executive director Louis (Woody) Jenkins, has joined the staff of the Council for National Policy as a full-time unpaid volunteer.

She will have responsibility for conference management and financial matters.

Mrs. Jenkins is a graduate of the LSU Law School, where she was winner of the annual Moot Court competition and editor of the law school newspaper. While in law school, she edited a two-volume treatise on the Constitution of the Republic of Vietnam (South Vietnam).

Mrs. Jenkins has been a practicing attorney for the past 12 years and served for nine of those years as Assistant District Attorney for East Baton Rouge Parish, the parish (county) where the state capitol is located. She was the first woman to present a capital case to the grand jury in East Baton Rouge Parish.

While Assistant District Attorney, she tried several thousand criminal cases, including murders, armed robberies and aggravated rapes, with a won-lost ratio of over 95 per cent. She also served for four years as chief of the Family Law Section of the District Attorney's office, supervising a staff of 24 attorneys, investigators and legal secretaries.

Mrs. Jenkins served for two years as an Assistant Attorney General for the State of Louisiana and, during this period, was the youngest female Assistant Attorney General in Louisiana history. She was a member of the Crimes Against Organized Government Section and prosecuted public officials accused of criminal wrongdoing.

Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins have three children.

Mr. Louis (Woody) Jenkins, Mrs. Diane Jenkins, and Ambassador William Middendorf

Ambassador Middendorf Honored At Council Black-Tie Dinner

WASHINGTON—Ambassador William J. Middendorf was honored by the Council for National Policy for his service as United States ambassador to the Organization of American States at a black-tie dinner at The Four Seasons in Washington, March 29.

During the Falklands invasion, Ambassador Middendorf's position as ambassador to the OAS placed him in one of the most sensitive and difficult diplomatic roles in recent history. He formerly served as U.S. ambassador to Argentina and U.S. ambassador to the Netherlands.

In an off-the-record address, Ambassador Middendorf gave a candid analysis of the military and political situation in Central America, the extent of Soviet and Cuban ambitions in the Hemisphere, and the alternatives facing the United States.

Lt. Gen. Daniel Graham, U.S. Army (Ret.), introduced Ambassador Middendorf and presented him a plaque on behalf of the Council for National Policy.

Mr. Dirk Mudge, former chairman of the Council of Ministers of South West Africa/Namibia and now chairman of the Democratic Turnhalle Alliance, was a special guest of the Council and was asked to speak briefly on conditions in his country.

In addition to members of the Board of Governors, the audience included former Ambassador Marion Smoak; Mr. Ed Noble, chairman of the U.S. Synfuels Corporation; Mr. Tom Pauken, director of ACTION; four of President Reagan's speechwriters; Mr. Morton Blackwell, special assistant to the President; Mr. John Schrote, deputy director of Presidential Personnel at the White House; Mr. Bob Carleson of the Office of Policy Development in the White House; Mr. Mike Horowitz of the Office of Management and Budget; columnist Mr. Patrick Buchanan and columnist Mr. John McLaughlin.

The Council's president, Mr. Tom Ellis, served as master of ceremonies for the event.

Monday evening, May 23 will be Dr. George C. Roche III, president of Hillsdale College. Hillsdale has gained national attention for its standards of excellence and also for its refusal to accept either federal funds or federal regulation.

Dr. Roche is well-known nationally for his support of the principles of liberty and has gained additional recognition as president of the Shavano Institute.

Ambassador Lewis Tambs

Mr. Sam Moore

Mr. Rich DeVos

DeVos, Moore Named To Executive Committee

Two nationally-known business leaders, Mr. Rich DeVos and Mr. Sam Moore, have been elected to the Executive Committee of the Council for National Policy.

Mr. DeVos is president of the Amway Corporation, a $1.2 billion-a-year multinational corporation, which he and partner Mr. Jay Van Andel founded on a shoe-string in the late 1950's. Mr. DeVos is also co-chairman of the Mutual Broadcasting System, the world's largest radio network with more than 550 affiliated stations.

Mr. Moore is president of Thomas Nelson Publishers, one of the nation's leading commercial publishers and the largest publisher of Bibles in the world. Born in Lebanon, Mr. Moore arrived in the United States in 1950 with $600 in his pockets to attend college. He decided to stay in this country and in 1957 started a small book-selling company. He began his own publishing house in 1961 and eight years later acquired the American division of the 170-year-old British publishing firm, Thomas Nelson & Sons.

Under Mr. Moore's leadership, Thomas Nelson was transformed from a stagnant enterprise selling under $2 million in books a year to one of the nation's leading publishers.

Both Mr. DeVos and Mr. Moore were elected by the Executive Committee to serve only until the Annual Meeting May 22-23, at which time they will be eligible for election to full terms by the Board of Governors.

Ambassador Lewis Tambs Assumes Duties in Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia—Ambassador Lewis Tambs and his wife Phyllis have arrived in Bogota, Colombia, where Dr. Tambs has officially assumed his duties as the new United States ambassador to Colombia.

Ambassador Tambs is a member of the Board of Governors of the Council for National Policy and was formerly professor of Latin American history at Arizona State University. He was nominated to be ambassador to Colombia by President Reagan and confirmed by the Senate, despite opposition from liberal Democrats.

An expert on Latin America and fluent in Spanish, Ambassador Tambs is expected to be a strong voice for administration policy in South America.

Mrs. Tambs is the former Phyllis Greer of Baton Rouge, La. She was executive secretary to Louis (Woody) Jenkins, executive director of the Council for National Policy.
