

Ronald Reagan Presidential Library
Digital Library Collections

---

This is a PDF of a folder from our textual collections.

---

Collection: Speechwriting, White House Office of: Speech Drafts
Folder Title: Nancy Reagan: Newsweek
Article (Replies to) [undated]
Box: 435

---

To see more digitized collections visit:

<https://reaganlibrary.gov/archives/digital-library>

To see all Ronald Reagan Presidential Library inventories visit:

<https://reaganlibrary.gov/document-collection>

Contact a reference archivist at: reagan.library@nara.gov

Citation Guidelines: <https://reaganlibrary.gov/citing>

National Archives Catalogue: <https://catalog.archives.gov/>

WITHDRAWAL SHEET

Ronald Reagan Library

Collection: SPEECHWRITING, WH OFFICE: Speech Drafts

OA/Box: OA 4690

File Folder: Newsweek Article (Replies to)(Mrs. Reagan)

Archivist: srj/srj

FOIA ID: F1784, Knight

Date: 07/13/2004

| DOCUMENT NO. & TYPE | SUBJECT/TITLE                                 | DATE     | RESTRICTION |
|---------------------|-----------------------------------------------|----------|-------------|
| 1. memo             | Landon Parvin to Joe Canzeri re: Mrs. Reagan. | 12/15/81 | B6          |

RESTRICTIONS

B-1 National security classified information [(b)(1) of the FOIA].

B-2 Release could disclose internal personnel rules and practices of an agency [(b)(2) of the FOIA].

B-3 Release would violate a Federal statute [(b)(3) of the FOIA].

B-4 Release would disclose trade secrets or confidential commercial or financial information [(b)(4) of the FOIA].

B-6 Release would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy [(b)(6) of the FOIA].

B-7 Release would disclose information compiled for law enforcement purposes [(b)(7) of the FOIA].

B-7a Release could reasonably be expected to interfere with enforcement proceedings [(b)(7)(A) of the FOIA].

B-7b Release would deprive an individual of the right to a fair trial or impartial adjudication [(b)(7)(B) of the FOIA]

B-7c Release could reasonably be expected to cause unwarranted invasion or privacy [(b)(7)(C) of the FOIA].

B-7d Release could reasonably be expected to disclose the identity of a confidential source [(b)(7)(D) of the FOIA].

B-7e Release would disclose techniques or procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions or would disclose guidelines which could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law [(b)(7)(E) of the FOIA].

B-7f Release could reasonably be expected to endanger the life or physical safety of any individual [(b)(7)(F) of the FOIA].

B-8 Release would disclose information concerning the regulation of financial institutions [(b)(8) of the FOIA].

B-9 Release would disclose geological or geophysical information concerning wells [(b)(9) of the FOIA].

C. Closed in accordance with restrictions contained in donor's deed of gift.

RONALD W. REAGAN LIBRARY

THIS FORM MARKS THE FILE LOCATION OF ITEM NUMBER      /      LISTED ON THE WITHDRAWAL SHEET AT THE FRONT OF THIS FOLDER.

(Parvin/AB)
December 15, 1981

REPLIES TO NEWSWEEK ARTICLE

I am a traditional wife. I grew up believing I was to look after my husband, raise my children and provide a comfortable home for my family. Now, like millions of other housewives, I feel that somehow the rules have changed and nobody told us. All of a sudden something else is expected of us. I have the highest regard for the responsibilities of a housewife.

Yes, many of my friends are wealthy. But should I give up friends of 20 or 30 years, friends whose children I've watched grow up, friends who have gone through heartaches and happiness just like everyone else? What kind of person would I be if I gave up old friends because it was politically expedient?

I've always thought the measure of a friend is not how much money he has, but how true he is.

I'll admit that sometimes the stories hurt. Can you imagine picking up a major magazine and there in print it says that you believe two of your children are screw-ups? How would any mother react to that? I think under those circumstances anyone would become protective and private.

Often the criticisms are really so minor. I mean, I wonder what they would say if I got drunk and fell in the Tidal Basin.

Living in the White House you become cautious. I've learned a few lessons from my son Ron's ballet. When I do things now, I do them on tip toe.

I was really happy I made the cover of Newsweek -- if only I hadn't made the contents.

(Parvin/AB)
December 15, 1981

REPLIES TO NEWSWEEK ARTICLE

I am a traditional wife. I grew up believing I was to look after my husband, raise my children and provide a comfortable home for my family. Now, like millions of other housewives, I feel that somehow the rules have changed and nobody told us. All of a sudden something else is expected of us. I have the highest regard for the responsibilities of a housewife.

Yes, many of my friends are wealthy. But should I give up friends of 20 or 30 years, friends whose children I've watched grow up, friends who have gone through heartaches and happiness just like everyone else? What kind of person would I be if I gave up old friends because it was politically expedient?

I've always thought the measure of a friend is not how much money he has, but how true he is.

I'll admit that sometimes the stories hurt. Can you imagine picking up a major magazine and there in print it says that you believe two of your children are screw-ups? How would any mother react to that? I think under those circumstances anyone would become protective and private.

Often the criticisms are really so minor. I mean, I wonder what they would say if I got drunk and fell in the Tidal Basin.

Living in the White House you become cautious. I've learned a few lessons from my son Ron's ballet. When I do things now, I do them on tip toe.

I was really happy I made the cover of Newsweek -- if only I hadn't made the contents.

Replies to Newsweek Article

(Parvin ~~AB~~)
December 15, 1981

I am a traditional wife. I grew up believing I was to look after my husband, raise my children and provide a comfortable home for my family. Now, like millions of other housewives, I feel that somehow the rules have changed and nobody told us. All of a sudden something else is expected of us. I have the highest regard for the ~~work~~ <sup>responsibilities</sup> of a housewife.

Yes, many of my friends are wealthy. But should I give up friends of 20 or 30 years, friends whose children I've watched grow up, friends who have gone through heartaches and happiness just like everyone else? What kind of person would I be if I gave up old friends because it was politically expedient?

I've always thought the measure of a friend is not how much money he has, but how true he is.

I'll admit that sometimes the stories hurt. Can you imagine picking up a major magazine and there in print it says that you believe two of your children are screw-ups? How would any mother react to that? I think under those circumstances anyone would become protective and private.

Often the criticisms are really so minor. I mean, I wonder what they would say if I got drunk and fell in the Tidal Basin.

Page 2

Living in the White House you become cautious. I've learned a few lessons from my son Ron's ballet. When I do things now, I do them on tip toe.

I was really happy I made the cover of Newsweek -- if only I hadn't made the contents.

I was really happy I made the cover of Newsweek -- if only
I hadn't made the contents. (Parvin)

I am a traditional wife. I grew up believing I was to look after my husband, raise my children and provide a comfortable home for my family. Now, like millions of other housewives, I feel that somehow the rules have changed and nobody told us. All of a sudden something else is expected of us.

Yes, many of my friends are wealthy. But should I give up friends I've known for 20 or 30 years, friends whose children I've watched grow up, friends who have gone through heartaches and happiness just like everyone else? What kind of person would I be if I gave up old friends because it was politically expedient?

I've always thought the measure of a friend <sup>is</sup> ~~was~~ not how much money he has, but how true <sup>he is</sup> ~~he was~~.

I'll admit that sometimes the stories hurt. Can you imagine picking up a major magazine and there in print it says that you believe two of your children are screw-ups? <sup>How would any mother react to that?</sup> I think under those circumstances anyone would become protective and private. ~~that~~

Often the criticisms are really so minor. <sup>I mean,</sup> ~~times~~ I wonder ~~would~~ <sup>would</sup> they say if I got drunk and fell in the Tidal Basin.

Living in the White House you become cautious. I've learned a few lessons from my son Ron's ballet. When I do things now I do them on tip toe.