Dear Mr. Brown:

This is in response to your inquiry to President Ronald Reagan regarding exemption from income taxes.

Organizations under Internal Revenue Code Section 501, generally non-profit groups organized for charitable or mutual benefit purposes, may gain exemption from income taxation. However, there are no provisions to make any individual exempt from paying Federal income taxes.

We hope this information is helpful. We apologize for our delay in responding.

Sincerely,

(Signed) Paul Williams

Dear President Reagan:

There has never been a President that I believed in more than you. A man that has it all together.

Mr. Bradley

I have a problem continuously each time I get my head above the water. It seems that when I get going with a Republican President the Democrats IRS seems to over tax me. I am asking you, since you are going out to acknowledge James Brown as a World Ambassador for good will, extend me, Sir, at least a seven to ten million dollar exempt base or allow me to file one hundred percent exempt from all taxes, since my whole life is a good will Ambassador. Every nickel I spend is in the interest of good will and humanitarian deeds, in the interest of our Country and all humanity. You are an honorable man, one that I pattern my business concepts after. Will you please acknowledge my request. Thank you very much.

God bless you,

James Brown
