Dear Mr. President,

I would like to say I hope you get a "bang" or a "charge" out of this little plant, but I'm afraid your FBI men would think I want to blow you up, so I will just say I hope you think it's cute.

My Sunday School class made about 40 of them to take to the shut-ins from our church for Easter. When I made one and took it to church to see if the class would want to make them, one of the fellows saw the jelly beans and said I should send one to the President. I thought it was a good idea.

Best wishes to you and your First Lady for a Happy Easter. And I pray your term or terms in office may be the greatest yet.

Should you find time to have someone snap your picture behind your desk with your "tulip plant", I'd very much enjoy receiving a copy. (Just to know a President really receives gifts sent to him by an average citizen)

Most sincerely,

PS

I had the above written several weeks ago so that I'd use it. Now I would just like to add I thank God he answered by prayers for you and the others to get well. I pray this terrible thing my never happen again to you or any other President, and we won't be ashamed to say we live in America. Please get well soon. And I hope some day I will be at the right place at the right time and have the honor of meeting you.
