Biography

Richard Darman had no formal association with Ronald Reagan prior to the 1980 Presidential campaign, and was viewed with suspicion by many political conservatives. However, he became a highly influential member of the White House staff during President Reagan's first term.

Darman, the son of a New England textile magnate, was born in Charlotte, North Carolina on May 10, 1943. He grew up primarily in Wellesley Hills, Massachusetts. Darman graduated from Harvard University in 1964, and earned an M.B.A. degree from Harvard Business School in 1967. In 1970, he took a position in the Nixon administration's Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW). He became part of the inner circle of HEW Secretary Elliot Richardson, a noted moderate Republican. Richardson went on to serve as Secretary of Defense (1973), Attorney General (1973), Secretary of Commerce (1975-77), and Ambassador-at-Large (1977), with Darman as his assistant in all these positions. When Richardson resigned as Attorney General rather than carry out President Nixon's order to fire Watergate special prosecutor Archibald Cox, Darman also resigned. While serving with Richardson in the Commerce Department, Darman met James Baker, who was then Under Secretary of Commerce. Baker became a senior adviser to Reagan during the 1980 Presidential campaign, and appointed Darman to help Ronald Reagan prepare for his Presidential debates. After Reagan won election as President, Darman became Executive Director of the 1980-1981 Reagan transition.

Darman's primary responsibility in the Reagan White House was management of the Presidential paper, coordinating the flow of staff work intended for the President or issued on his behalf. He served as the de facto "Executive Secretary/Secretariat" for the first administration, although this title/position was never actually used during the first Reagan administration.

Darman took on many tasks beyond his Secretariat role. He was responsible for managing the different components of the White House Office. He advised Baker on many policy issues, especially domestic policy, and worked with the Executive Branch and Congress on budget, tax, and Social Security legislation. He coordinated the work of the Budget Review Board, a panel consisting of Baker, Stockman, and Counsellor to the President Edwin Meese. This Board approved all ongoing Executive Branch requests for increases in spending. Darman was also coordinator for the Legislative Strategy Group, an informal White House committee headed by Baker coordinating the development of Administration legislative strategy. He attended most meetings of the Cabinet and National Security Council, and accompanied the President on most official trips.

In September 1981, Darman was promoted from Deputy Assistant to full Assistant to the President, with increased responsibility for the coordination and integration of White House staff activities. In January 1984 Darman was assigned overall supervision of the Speechwriting Office, as part of the reorganization of the White House staff undertaken for the 1984 campaign season. His role in the Reagan re-election effort included coordinating Administration input on the 1984 Republican Party platform, and preparing the President for his televised debates with Democratic Presidential candidate Walter Mondale.

In 1985, Baker left the White House to become Secretary of the Treasury, and Darman went with him to become Deputy Secretary of the Treasury. Darman left the Treasury Department in April 1987.

Baker became George H.W. Bush's 1988 Presidential campaign manager and Darman continued in his role of assisting Baker. Darman played an active role in the 1988 Presidential campaign, portraying Democratic nominee Michael Dukakis in practice debates with Bush. Darman served as Director of OMB for the entire George Bush Presidency (1989-1993) – though his advocacy of tax increases and budget cuts to reduce the ongoing budget deficit left him unpopular with both liberals and conservatives.

After Bush left office, Darman became a partner of The Carlyle Group, a private equity firm. He became Chairman of the Board of AES Corporation, a Washington, DC-area power company in 2003. He was also a professor at the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University. In 1996 Darman published a book, Who's in Control: Polar Politics and the Sensible Center, which dealt with much of his long public service to two presidents – Ronald Reagan and George Bush. Darman died from a form of leukemia on January 25, 2008.

Scope and Content Note

Darman's files are arranged in five series.

Series List

SERIES I: SUBJECT FILE, 1981-1984

Material consists of alphabetically arranged files on a wide range of domestic issues, and select foreign policy topics. There are materials on the federal budget, tax policy, Social Security, conservative organizations, foreign Presidential trips, G-7 Economic Summits, and selected Cabinet and Cabinet Council meetings (see Series IV for a fuller set of Cabinet and Cabinet Council meeting materials). Additional topics include White House administrative procedures, White House-Congressional relations, Presidential decisions on various matters, long-range policy planning, selected Reagan speeches from 1983-1984, and unsolicited resumes and position recommendations.

SERIES II: 1984 CAMPAIGN FILE, 1983-1984

This series contains material pertaining to President Reagan's 1984 re-election campaign. It includes: material routed to White House and Administration staff for comment on draft versions of the 1984 Republican platform; schedules and staff lists pertaining to the 1984 Republican National Convention; the final 1984 Democratic Party platform; publically discussed draft versions of the 1984 Democratic Party platform; analyses of Democratic proposals on the budget, US-Soviet relations, and other issues; scripts for campaign commercials and documentary films; lists of people involved in the Reagan re-election campaign; reports and memos pertaining to the upcoming Presidential candidate debates; a Lee Atwater report on the history of the South in presidential elections; and guidance and regulations pertaining to the White House role in the campaign, how to divide travel expenses between the White House and the campaign, and the holding of Presidential debates.

SERIES III: PRESIDENTIAL BRIEFING PAPERS [COPY SET], 1981-1984

This series consists largely of photocopies of material from the collection Office of the President: Presidential Briefing Papers. The materials in the Briefing Papers were drafted by the various White House offices in advance of each day's scheduled events. During President Reagan's first term, Darman was responsible for compiling these materials for presentation to the President.

For a given day contents may include: a one or two-page "Daily Schedule of President Ronald Reagan," listing event times and locations; memos, agendas and background papers describing the persons and issues involved in the day's meetings; talking points for the President's possible use during his appointments and telephone calls; schedules, movement diagrams, and background materials for trips away from the White House; political briefings on states to be visited; advance texts of speeches and taped statements; and notes and memos on last-minute changes to the President's schedule. In a few instances where President Reagan was away from the White House overnight, the original Daily Schedules were retained in this series, and copies were transmitted to the President. The last set of documents includes a Presidential schedule that extends to January 2, 1985.

Since this series pertains to scheduled appointments and events, it has little information on President Reagan's activities at Camp David or his California ranch (Rancho del Cielo). Some documents in the Presidential Briefing Papers collection, such as certain security classified reports, are not included in this series.

Subseries A: Cabinet Meeting File

This subseries consists of selected documents pertaining to Cabinet meetings, including agendas, background papers, and lists of meeting attendees. Some material pertains to meetings that were postponed or canceled. Most documents are also in the WHORM Subject File subcategory FG010-01 (Cabinet Meetings). The material is arranged chronologically by meeting date (or proposed meeting date).

Subseries B: Cabinet Council File

This subseries consists of selected material pertaining to six of the seven Cabinet Councils of the first Administration, which discussed and made recommendations on virtually all domestic policy matters. There is no material within this subseries regarding the last Cabinet Council formed in October 1982, the Cabinet Council on Management and Administration. Topics include tax and economic policy, the state of the US economy, the status of the thrift industry, business policy, trade policy toward various countries, environmental issues, agricultural policy, food exports, immigration, food safety, the proposed dismantlement of the Departments of Education and Energy, and oil drilling and leasing.

This subseries is largely organized into case files which carry six-digit numbers assigned by the White House Office of Records Management (WHORM). Materials are in case file number order (roughly chronological). Most documents are also in the WHORM Subject File subcategory FG010-02 (Cabinet Councils), though they may be filed there under other case file numbers. Additional material on some meetings may be found in the material with national security markings contained in Subseries C: Classified Cabinet and Cabinet Council File.

Subseries C: Classified Cabinet and Cabinet Council File

This material consists of records pertaining to meetings of the Cabinet, Cabinet Councils, and related bodies, which were maintained separately in a binder because they included sensitive national security information. Topics include Poland, US-Soviet relations, international economic and trade policy, maritime policy, and satellite commercialization. Copies of most documents are in the White House Office of Records Management (WHORM) Subject File subcategories FG010-01 (Cabinet Meetings) or FG010-02 (Cabinet Councils). The non-classified material related to these meetings may be found in Subseries A & B. This material is arranged by the WHORM case file number (roughly chronological).

SERIES V: REPORTS, 1981, 1983.

Originally, this series consisted of reports that were commissioned for the President's Private Sector Survey on Cost Control (known popularly as the "Grace Commission"). The Reagan Library staff transferred all of these bound reports to the Library's Book Collection, leaving transfer sheets in their place. In 2011, the Reagan Library discovered additional reports in its holdings which had been sent to Mr. Darman during his time on the White House staff.

SERIES IV: CABINET AND CABINET COUNCIL MEETING FILES

This series consists of three subseries pertaining to meetings of the Cabinet and Cabinet Councils. More complete files on these bodies may be found in other Reagan Library collections, particularly the White House Office of Records Management (WHORM) Subject File category FG010 (Cabinet) or the staff and office files from the Office of Cabinet Affairs. However, many documents in this series contain unique handwritten notes which may not be found elsewhere.

Subseries A: Cabinet Meeting File

This subseries consists of selected documents pertaining to Cabinet meetings, including agendas, background papers, and lists of meeting attendees. Some material pertains to meetings that were postponed or canceled. Most documents are also in the WHORM Subject File subcategory FG010-01 (Cabinet Meetings). The material is arranged chronologically by meeting date (or proposed meeting date).

Subseries B: Cabinet Council File

This subseries consists of selected material pertaining to six of the seven Cabinet Councils of the first Administration, which discussed and made recommendations on virtually all domestic policy matters. There is no material within this subseries regarding the last Cabinet Council formed in October 1982, the Cabinet Council on Management and Administration. Topics include tax and economic policy, the state of the US economy, the status of the thrift industry, business policy, trade policy toward various countries, environmental issues, agricultural policy, food exports, immigration, food safety, the proposed dismantlement of the Departments of Education and Energy, and oil drilling and leasing.

This subseries is largely organized into case files which carry six-digit numbers assigned by the White House Office of Records Management (WHORM). Materials are in case file number order (roughly chronological). Most documents are also in the WHORM Subject File subcategory FG010-02 (Cabinet Councils), though they may be filed there under other case file numbers. Additional material on some meetings may be found in the material with national security markings contained in Subseries C: Classified Cabinet and Cabinet Council File.

Subseries C: Classified Cabinet and Cabinet Council File

This material consists of records pertaining to meetings of the Cabinet, Cabinet Councils, and related bodies, which were maintained separately in a binder because they included sensitive national security information. Topics include Poland, US-Soviet relations, international economic and trade policy, maritime policy, and satellite commercialization. Copies of most documents are in the White House Office of Records Management (WHORM) Subject File subcategories FG010-01 (Cabinet Meetings) or FG010-02 (Cabinet Councils). The non-classified material related to these meetings may be found in Subseries A & B. This material is arranged by the WHORM case file number (roughly chronological).

SERIES V: REPORTS, 1981, 1983.

Originally, this series consisted of reports that were commissioned for the President's Private Sector Survey on Cost Control (known popularly as the "Grace Commission"). The Reagan Library staff transferred all of these bound reports to the Library's Book Collection, leaving transfer sheets in their place. In 2011, the Reagan Library discovered additional reports in its holdings which had been sent to Mr. Darman during his time on the White House staff.
