MEMORANDUM TO THE PRESIDENT

FROM: WILLIAM E. BROCK

SUBJECT: Request for USITC 332 Investigation on Fish

The fishing industry in the Northeastern United States has complained that it is facing a number of problems due to strong import competition from Canada as well as to competitive factors affecting their industry. Under Section 332 of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. 1332), the President may request that the U.S. International Trade Commission conduct an investigation of factors affecting competition between articles of the United States and imported articles in the principal markets of the United States. At the conclusion of its investigation, the Commission must provide you with a written report of its findings and any information at its command. By tradition, requests for Section 332 investigations are made by the United States Trade Representative at the direction of the President.

If you approve, I will request the U.S. International Trade Commission to conduct an investigation of the competitive factors which are affecting the performance of the fishing industry in the Northeastern United States. A proposed draft letter making that request is attached. This proposal has been approved by the Trade Policy Staff Committee.

Dear Mr. President:

I write to say thank you for appointing so many women to executive positions in the administration. I know your record in California on behalf of women, pre Gloria Steinem, and was privileged to hear you speak in San Diego in August on Women's Equality Day.

At the Republican Women's Leadership Conference we also heard Faith Whittlesey and I wish you could have heard her, too. She is a dynamic and convincing speaker and she defended the administration's record on women point by point. Given the media's attention to the 'gender gap', Republican women need facts and Mrs. Whittlesey certainly provided them. She is a great asset to the administration and I hope she will have the opportunity to speak on your behalf in the months ahead.

I really knew nothing about Jeane Kirkpatrick until you appointed her Ambassador to the United Nations. I have since learned that it was a stroke of genius. What a mind! I could not put down her book Dictatorships and Double Standards and expect to read it again. Ambassador Kirkpatrick is an intellectual who does her homework and understands the real world. In my view, she won a lot of new friends for you, the administration and herself with her remarks after the shooting down of the Korean civilian aircraft. Like you, she's a leader people readily understand.

You are to be especially complimented on the appointment of Faith Whittlesey and Jeane Kirkpatrick, Mr. President. I hope they will stay through 1988.

My best wishes to you and Mrs. Reagan, as always.

Warmest regards,

Diana

SUBJECT: Seasonal Adjustment and Housing Starts

You indicated in the news conference that you were not certain whether the housing starts figure was seasonally adjusted. Except for interest rates, all of the numbers that I send you are always seasonally adjusted. As you said in your answer, the unadjusted figures are hard to interpret. (No one bothers to seasonally adjust interest rates because there really is no seasonal pattern.)

Dear Officer Conway:

Thank you very much for your letter and your generous words. I'm truly grateful.

You did a masterful job of summing up a very real problem. I can't help but wonder if some of those loud complaining "leaders" of special interest groups aren't moved by purely selfish personal reasons.

If they ever acknowledge that the situations which brought their organizations into existence have now been solved, their jobs are no longer necessary. So they have to keep them stirred up and angry at someone.

Again, my heartfelt thanks.

Excerpt from PAUL HARVEY NEWS ... October 13, 1983

From the President's mailbag with a copy to Paul Harvey.

I am a white, male police officer for none of which I apologize. I was under the impression, Mr. President, that when you put the brakes on inflation, recession and high interest rates, making the dollar stronger, it was good for everyone -- not just for us white males.

I thought that your policies aimed at giving Americans pride and a desire to help themselves and one another without handouts from government were good for everyone -- not just white males.

I thought your enending struggle to build military strength so we can defend our country against tyrants was good for everyone -- not just white males.

I even believed that when you kept your promises and our country began to prosper again everyone would appreciate it. Apparently I was wrong.

I keep hearing black leaders who claim they want to be treated equal complaining because you have done nothing SPECIAL for blacks.

I hear Hispanic leaders who claim they only want to be treated equal complaining because you have not done anything SPECIAL for them.

I hear leaders of women's rights groups claiming they only want equal treatment ... saying don't vote for Reagan because he has not done anything SPECIAL for women.

So, Mr. President, it appears that because you are doing everything for all Americans and not enough for specific groups who want special treatment that you may not be re-elected. But, Sir, I want you to know I salute you and I think you are one helluva man!

Your editorial was right on. Nancy and I were in Iran (to select one example) in 1978. Whatever the Shah's shortcomings might have been, we saw land distribution, low-cost housing going up and young ladies at the University studying to be doctors and lawyers.

Today those young ladies are back in the black robes and covered faces of long ago and are denied the right to be educated. And just between us there is no question in our minds but that the government of Iran was very much involved in the brutal slaying of our Marines.

Brute, who do I make a check out to for the kitchen and is it or is it not deductible so I can inform the fellow handling my affairs?

Dear Campmates:

The Grove staff has produced a construction estimate on our kitchen renewal project. Without going into great detail, it involves razing the kitchen and rebuilding it completely, including replacement of all the substructure, enlarging the kitchen space by about 150 square feet and putting the plumbing system in new and sanitary condition. The rough estimate for the work is about $17,500, which will probably increase somewhat when the final estimate is submitted.

We have contacted Dohrman's who, in turn, will confer with Ralph, our chef, examine the plan and site, and give us their reactions. Considering all the things they might recommend that we buy, plus replacement of some of our battered cooking tools, I cannot see more than $12,500 for all kitchen equipment.

So, including a modest contingency, we are probably looking at a final figure of about $35,000. This will be useful to those of you who have been awaiting an estimate before contributing to Moose's blind kitchen renewal fund.

Hope to see you at the Club on November 10th.

All the best to everyone.

Dear Mr. President:

In the five months since you and Prime Minister Nakasone established the U.S.-Japan Advisory Commission a number of preliminary views have emerged from our initial deliberations. We consider these of sufficient importance in the light of your forthcoming visit to Japan to submit them to you at this time. They represent a statement concurred in by members of the commission from both sides, all of whom were present at the meeting at which this paper was agreed.

You will note that the Yen/Dollar exchange rate is mentioned as an extremely important factor in the competitive position of industries in Japan and the United States. Since this meeting at which this statement was prepared additional work has been done on the Yen/Dollar exchange rate issue, and extensive recommendations for corrective action have been given to members of your Cabinet by the Business Roundtable and other interested and knowledgeable organizations. This issue has been studied more extensively by our commission. I strongly believe the most important action you and the Prime Minister can take at your meeting in the trade area is to emphasize the necessity of bringing the Yen/Dollar exchange into more appropriate balance. Your joint leadership in emphasizing this issue would encourage the appropriate people in both Japan and the United States to take the action which would correct this situation. If the Yen/Dollar relationship is corrected, it will solve many of the other current trade problems.

We wish you well on your Asian trip and are delighted that you will have the opportunity to pursue your dialogue with Prime Minister Nakasone which got off to such an auspicious start in your earlier conversations this year.

With all good wishes.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. President,

It is a good thing you did in Grenada including the way you did it. This will give stability to the region for a time and a message to the rest of the world, friend and foe, that we do help our friends and resist our enemies when they overplay their hands particularly in our own backyard.

Tuesday noon I was invited to be on a CNN news show to discuss the Iran-Syrian connection. By the time the red light went on, all the questions were on Grenada. This gave me a chance, early in the game, to support your move with the other Caribbean nations and to explain why it was necessary and desirable.

The country, by and large, will be behind you on this military operation. The allies will get over shortly the alleged hurts to their pride and will secretly note that we have indeed shaken off the Vietnam syndrome. Good work, Mr. President!

I regret very much the worry & distress you were subjected to by my veto of the bill concerning your property. I had been told the principal beneficiaries of the legislation were a power co. & a railroad. When I learned of the plight of you & your neighbors I immediately started a procedure to protect you administratively. That procedure was within ⁴⁸ 24 hours of completion when the Congress resolved the problem by overriding my veto. I assure you I greeted their action with a sigh of relief.

I hope you will understand and forgive me for the trouble I caused you.

Sincerely ROR

Let Jim Baker see this before you type it up. If the signals are go - they'll provide the names.

JAB says fine,
except for the change made. I'm waiting for a call on the names.

Anne:

Can you please have this done in your office. This same letter should go to the people on the attached list. Mr. Baker said that it should go to the "new owners", not the "old owners" on the list.

Thanks. RR will personally sign.

Here are the names and addresses of the Kane County lands people, as your request from Gary Carruthers.

Interior points out that, in those cases marked "sold to" the beneficiary of the legislation could be either the original owner or the present owner, or both depending on the details of the land transaction —

So handle with care...
