Nancy and I are sorry we cannot be with all of you today, but we want you to know you are in our thoughts. All of us mourn Rock's passing. He was a man of great talent and dedication, who worked hard at his craft. He earned a reputation for excellence which was known the world over. Rock's courage and candor in the final months of his life impressed us all. We will miss him and wish him eternal peace.

Dear John:

It was good to hear from you and to read your essays. As usual we're tracking together, particularly on Soviet-U.S. matters. Nancy and I were both pleased to hear about Lucile's health. Please give her our best.

Incidentally, if this catches up with you before November 17, give Her Majesty our regards. I'll be looking for the "Peace Proposal" from Mr. Harris.

Thanks again, and be careful in the Mid-East. Remember the story of the scorpion and the frog.

Dear Ron:

I want to convey President Chiang Chung-kuo special regards to you in our last contact.

Regarding your letter in Iran, I plan to see Her Majesty Shah Razi Pahlavi in Nov. 17 upon my return from the Middle East and Africa. Glad to report that Lucile's health has improved and she is joining me. I will report to you in my visit with the Shah and my current news trip.

While speaking to our Kiefer & Fink Club in Lubbock, Texas, last Tuesday, I had a nice visit with Jay Starnes, Editor of the "Lubbock Avalanche-Journal". He is one of the most traveled, knowledgeable editors I know and also speaks our language on policy.

He has written "A Peace Proposal" which he is sending to you at my suggestion.

It's the most challenging I have seen. It's in line with your thoughts and Mike
Nixon's "Plan For Peace" which he sent me.

I found it most challenging and hope you will, too.

Lucille joins me in wishing you and Nancy continued good health; and success when you meet Gorbachev.

(Enclosing my current column on him).

Dear Mr. President:

This is just a brief note to express my appreciation for your fine leadership in directing the successful intercept of the Egyptian plane. It only goes to prove what I have long said and felt, that your judgement is better than the collective advice you receive from all of your advisors!

In any event, I greatly appreciated your listening to the various points I made, which I thought were important for you to have before you. As usual your judgement and decision were right. I am particularly pleased that we were ready and able to carry out your directions and to complete the mission.

With best wishes,

Very respectfully,

Sap.

Since the enclosed editorial is in the form of a letter to you, I thought the least I could do is to send it on. I only add my voice to millions of Americans who commend you for a job well done.

The game isn't over yet, but we have a good team and now have one home run on the scoreboard. Keep up the good work.

An Editorial

Letter to the President

Dear Mr. President:

You are to be congratulated for courageous action in the war against terrorism.

Once again, Americans can stand proud and firm in their conviction that this nation can, and will, defend itself and its citizens. We can stand tall in the eyes of the world as a country that will stand by its principles of individual rights.

At last, the evil forces of terrorism must reckon with our willingness to react to crimes against American citizens. Terrorism has increased for one simple reason — the terrorists have gotten away with it.

The capture of the murdering high seas pirates has sent a strong signal, one that cannot be ignored.

Congratulations also go to all those who played a part in this capture. Our intelligence forces abroad, our military personnel, and our administration officials acted not only with courage but with discretion as well. They must continue to have our full support.

The American people are grateful. We hope we can once more feel secure in the knowledge that we are ready to protect our own and bring to justice those who threaten us.

Sincerely,

Nackeyhaeb.
