MEMORANDUM FOR: THE PRESIDENT
FROM: FREDERICK J. RYAN, JR.
SUBJECT: UPDATE ON HUE KAO

You recently telephoned Hue Kao, the Hawaii state winner of the Christa McAuliffe National Student Essay contest. Hue had won prizes of an all expenses paid trip for her and her parents to New York for Liberty Weekend and a 1987 Nissan Sentra-car (valued at $7000.) However, because Hue's family was on welfare, they were unable to keep the car.

Working with the Aloha Liberty Foundation, which co-sponsored the contest, and the Republican State Chairman from Hawaii, we arranged for the car to be auctioned off and the amount raised, $9500, to be put into an educational trust in Hue's name. In addition, a private citizen who wishes to remain anonymous gave the family a used car with a value of $1499, acceptable under welfare regulations.

An attempt was made to secure employment for Hue's mother, but she is severely disabled and is unable to accept any type of employment at this time.

All 50 state winners of the essay contest will participate with Mrs. Reagan in ceremonies reopening the Statue of Liberty on July 5th.

Dear Mr. President:

This is simply a note to thank you very much indeed for your patience and cooperation in our television interview last week.

The project is coming along very nicely, and should be on the Public Broadcasting System sometime this fall or winter. In addition, the ninety-minute documentary will be produced in three thirty-minute cassettes for use in schools. This will be the first chronological and broadly sympathetic account of the rise of the American conservative movement in the last thirty-five years, and it should go far toward fixing the national perception of this important development.

As I believe I said in my original letter to you on this subject, producing it without you would have been a spectacular case of putting on "Hamlet" without Hamlet! So, thank you again.

Faithfully,

William A. Rusher

Dear Randy:

Thank you very much for your letter and for those two beautiful buttons. They are especially meaningful to us because you made them yourself. We are greatly impressed by your very fine handiwork.

Nancy sends her thanks, and please give our regards to your grandmother. We think very often, and with pleasure, of our meeting with you and your grandmother.

Again, thanks and best regards.

Dear Mr. President:

It was a great honor to receive your visit at the hospital. My grandmother and I are very grateful for your thoughtfulness and I am especially thankful for your help in granting her a visa from the Philippines.

I am enclosing two buttons that I have made myself specially for you and I hope you will enjoy having them. This is not much compared to what you have done for me, but it is a gift that comes from my heart.

Thank you again and God bless you.

A real quickie, to enclose a MARVELOUS film of the 30th Anniversary Dinner, at which you made those humble, modest references to our favorite magazine. It really is a winner, and I do BEG you not to forget to see it with Nancy. The shots of her are terrific. In fact, I think we should nominate every one involved for an Oscar. Let me know what you think. More quickly, but I must be in Khabul tonight, so I'll need to put off my regular report. Pat joins in affectionate greetings to you both,

It was good to hear from you and thanks for the enclosure. I take it as a warning. What if someone decides that I like raisins as much as jelly beans and ties that to S.D.I.? Well, fortunately, I know where I can find a good lawyer.

Now I hear that particular lawyer is having a little run of bad health. Both Nancy and I want him to know he is very much in our thoughts and prayers. We want him to take care of himself.

Best regards.

As you can see, support for SDI comes from many different sources. The enclosed is from a lengthy article in the L.A. Times re: the California raisin industry. The gentleman in this story believes SDI is the one way to save the raisin grower!

Can't tell you how much we continually hear of strong support out here for you and your policies. Looking forward to having you back out for a visit.

PRESENTATION OF DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL
FOR CAPTAIN JOSEPH J. ROCHEFORT

IT IS ESPECIALLY FITTING THAT WE HONOR
THIS MAN SO CLOSE TO MEMORIAL DAY.

JOSEPH J. (ROACH-FERT'S) CONTRIBUTION

IN THE EARLY MONTHS OF WORLD WAR II,

CRUCIAL PROBLEM OF HOW TO PENETRATE THE SECRET COMMUNICATIONS OF THE ENEMY.

EARLY IN 1942, THERE WERE UNMISTAKABLE SIGNS THAT JAPAN'S POWERFUL COMBINED FLEET WAS READYING A MAJOR OFFENSIVE. WHILE OTHERS SPECULATED THAT IT MIGHT BE AIMED AT ALASKA OR THE PANAMA CANAL, JOE ROCHEFORT'S NOW FAMOUS STATION "HYPO" WAS ABLE TO PROVE THAT THE TARGET WAS MIDWAY ISLAND.

ROCHEFORT WAS FURTHER ABLE TO PINPOINT THE TIMING OF THE ATTACK AND THE LAUNCH POINT OF THE ENEMY CARRIER PLANES WITH INCREDIBLE ACCURACY.

ADMIRAL NIMITZ THUS DEPLOYED HIS LIMITED NAVAL FORCES TO ENGAGE THE VASTLY SUPERIOR ENEMY STRIKING FORCE, THWART ITS INVASION PLANS AND SINK FOUR AIRCRAFT CARRIERS. THE AMERICAN VICTORY MADE MIDWAY THE CRUCIAL BATTLE OF WORLD WAR II IN THE PACIFIC.

AND IF EVER THERE WERE A BATTLE INVOLVING TENS OF THOUSANDS OF MEN IN WHICH AN INCREDIBLE VICTORY WAS ATTRIBUTABLE TO ONE MAN, THIS ONE WAS ATTRIBUTABLE TO JOSEPH J.
ROCHEFORT.

IN PAYING HOMAGE TO HIM TODAY WE

Dear Mr. Post:

Your letter of April 17 has finally reached me. It sometimes takes a while for mail to get to my desk and this was particularly true in light of my recent trip to Asia.

I appreciate your sending me the article on our expenditures in behalf of foreign countries. In the past, long before I ever thought I'd be doing what I'm doing now, I did a lot of public speaking. Frequently my subject was the waste and extravagance connected with foreign aid. I'm pleased to tell you we've taken steps in these last five years to eliminate waste and fraud with some success.

But I've studied very carefully the article you sent me and let me point out something having to do with the time period, 1946-1971. Back in 1946, you may recall, we created the Marshall Plan to help rebuild the war ravaged nations, both friend and enemy. Just picking out the nations listed in the article helped by this plan accounts for more than half the total spending.

I don't think we can or should ignore the great benefit provided by that plan. Today three of our staunchest allies, West Germany, Italy and Japan were our enemies in World War II, and we've known 40 years of peace.

We continue to have a foreign aid program today. Its purpose is to help developing countries build an economic structure so as to reduce poverty and misery and resist the overtures of the Soviet Union which is bent on an expansionist policy in an effort to make the whole world into a single Communist state. Also much of that aid is to help those countries have a defense capability of their own which is less costly than if we had to provide that defense with our own forces.

But please be assured we continue to search for ways to eliminate unnecessary spending both at home and abroad.

Thanks again for your letter.

RONALD REAGAN

Honorable Ronald Reagan, President,
United States of America,
Washington, D.C.

April 17, 1986.

Dear Mr. President:

Probably you will never get to see this letter, but I am going to write it anyway.

You have our sincere sympathy for all the far reaching decisions you are forced to make in these troubled times.
We hope and pray that you make the best ones for our country.

It is sad that we have so few friends throughout the world.

Almost fifteen years ago I read an editorial in one of our local newspapers entitled "U.S. FOREIGN AID: HISTORY'S MOST AWESOME GIVEAWAY". I was so impressed with the information that I cut it out of the paper and have referred to it many times during the years. It proves that we cannot buy friends. It is interesting to note that most of the communist countries are on the list for substantial amounts, including the USSR. (I also note that France is on the list for the amount of $7,050,700,000.)

I am sending to you, enclosed, the original copy of the editorial which I cut from the New Haven Register dated October 31, 1971. I would like to suggest that you have someone on your staff bring it up-to-date and have it published extensively throughout the United States and the world. I think it is time some of the present generation should know <sup>now</sup> how hard we have tried to help other countries with American taxpayer's money. I was surprised and deeply impressed by the information, and I believe there are many average people, like me, in the world who would also be surprised.

I consider myself an average American citizen. I am an old man, 87 years old, a retired minor executive who worked for the U. S. Steel Corporation for 44 years, and a Sustaining Member (No. 1706988) of the Republican National Committee.

Best wishes for you and Mrs. Reagan for continued good health and a successful administration.

Sincerely yours,

Edwin E. Post

U.S. Foreign Aid: History's Most Awesome Giveaway

President Nixon's concern about the sudden Senate demise of the foreign aid bill is understandable. The action was unexpected and precipitous. But, while he may hope for some adjustments in the total and immediate cut-off of foreign aid, the time has unquestionably come for abandonment of the idea that vast, across-the-board transfusions of American cash do us or the people of other countries any real or lasting good.

There is historic coincidence — and historic irony. — in the fact that another United States foreign aid appropriations debate is starting almost simultaneously with the United Nations vote admitting Peking and stomping on the American plan for a two-China approach.

They are not related issues. But the United Nations action, and particularly the member attitudes it exposed, also reveals the United States foreign aid programs in all their delusory excess.

The vast waste of American resources that has gone into 25 years of unending, and regularly expanded, foreign aid programs is partially revealed in the listing that accompanies this editorial. Look at it carefully. The few nations underlined are the few nations that stood by us through the final U.N. vote last week.

Obviously the millions and the billions of dollars allocated to the 138 separate governments and agencies in the tables have occasionally helped perform some needed service abroad. But taken in total this vast expenditure—more than 212 Billion dollars since 1946 — constitutes a hoax upon the American people who have contributed so much money for so long a time in the hope that our national generosity, without strings and without coercion, would at least attract courteous attention and fair consideration for American objectives in international affairs.

The diplomatic cannibalism exhibited on the floor of the General Assembly — in what is sometimes loftily called "the parliament of man" — was a fairly stark reminder of the primitive spirit which lurks behind the sophistries of the United Nations and of the bankruptcy behind the notion that "have-nots" anywhere gain strength, or insight, or social maturity if only they can drain enough subsidy from the "haves."

The United States position in the world today is one which demands most careful analysis and most realistic review.

We are in the process of a military pullback which is painful because of the divisions and internal suspicions provoked by Vietnam, but which will probably be productive for the nation over the long haul. Reduced military involvements necessarily imply reduced international involvements in the economic sphere.

Our dollar is beleaguered all over the world because commonsense analysts in every country have lost confidence in our ability to manage financial affairs with stability and fruitfulness. Our internal prosperity is endangered because an inflationary wage-price spiral combines with declining productivity among American workers to deny us a competitive place in world markets.

Our oldest allies and our closest neighbors feel themselves squeezed by our efforts to shape new military and economic priorities for ourselves. And all around the world it is clear that the largesse of the past 25 years, the free-handed giving and spending, in every direction and for all kinds of purpose, has created a situation in which generosity goes unheeded — and even unrecognized — and in which American interest is considered selfish and illiberal.

It is time to look realistically at the ridiculously-broad range of our foreign aid programs and at the measurably small range of their present accomplishment.

With the malicious jubilations on the floor of the General Assembly still fresh in mind, Americans and their representatives in Congress would be fools if they did not decide to reduce all foreign aid sharply — not in retaliation but in reasonable admission that billions of dollars badly-needed for our own people and for long-delayed domestic programs are being poured down the drain for obsolete foreign giveaways which do us no good at all in today's world.

RONALD REAGAN

Slade Horton - while P.M. Amsterdam

"I wonder if anybody has ever thought what the situation of the comparatively small nations would be if there were not in existence the United States - if there were not this giant country prepared to make so many sacrifices."

Pope ~~Pius~~ Pious XII after W.W. II

"The American people have a great genius for splendid & unselfish acts. Into the hands of America God has placed the destinies of an afflicted mankind."

THROUGH: PAT BUCHANAN PB
FROM: TOM GIBSON 16
SUBJECT: Cartoonist Luncheon Thank You Note

OK Attached is a thank you note from cartoonist Jim Borgman for the luncheon you hosted last Wednesday. This number may be a fitting addition to your collection. Jim, like the others, was elated with the visit.

For the time being at least, you may have even declawed some of the liberals in the bunch.

We should do a brief note telling him how much I enjoyed it & thanking him for the cartoon.

RR

MR. PRESIDENT — THANKS FOR A TERRIFIC TIME
AT THE WHITE HOUSE!
