THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

November 7, 1985

Dear Ralph:

Thanks for the schedule of upcoming missions. As you know we have a small staff here (Zev and I) so we probably cannot put on a briefing for every one of your groups. What if we do them for the $2500 contributors and up? By my count this would total at least six.

As for the others, if I am in D.C. I will be more than happy to speak to any of them that have an interest in hearing me.

Perhaps you and Melinda and I should get together again after the General Assembly. Please do give me a ring. I am eager to cooperate.

Finally, do keep in mind that I am willing to travel and speak to Jewish "leaders". I will leave the definition of that word to a later time.

Sincerely,

Max Green

The Washington Mission Program

A Program of the United Jewish Appeal and the Council of Jewish Federations

WJA

PREPARATION AND DETAILS

Campaign 1986

There are several details which need to be expedited in your community in preparation for a successful mission to Washington. This memo includes suggestions, information about costs, and describes your responsibilities in connection with your community's visit to the Capital.

PREPARATION

Communities which do their "homework" before coming to Washington benefit most from the Washington Mission Program. We strongly urge you to prepare your participants for their trip. By the time they arrive, it is important that the delegates understand the issues currently affecting the Jewish community and Israel. We suggest that mission participants meet together at least once prior to their visit to discuss the relevant domestic and foreign policy issues of the day, that they prepare questions for each briefing in Washington (especially for their Members of Congress and Administration officials), and that a reading list and reprinted articles be distributed for review prior to arrival in Washington.

If you are not familiar with the voting records or backgrounds of your Members of Congress, contact the American Israel Public Affairs Committee (AIPAC) for this information [phone: (202) 638-2256]. AIPAC will be happy to send you a copy of Members' voting records by request. This material, as well as pertinent news articles, can be included in a folder, along with the itinerary, paper and pencil, and a name tag to be worn throughout the day.

SECURITY CLEARANCE

There are elaborate security procedures which each mission must undergo at the Embassy of Israel. Social security numbers, and the date and place of birth of required for all visitors to the Embassy. No groups will be briefed unless a list of participants and accompanying data is provided at least five working days prior to the mission.

Therefore, it is required that at least one week prior to your arrival, the list of participants must be received at the Embassy of Israel. In addition, our office must have a list of the participants for verification.

This list should include the following information:

- Name of each participant
- Address
- Social Security Number
- Date of birth and place of birth

We have attached a blank "List of Participants" to fill out in order to expedite this procedure. The list MUST BE TYPED.

The list must be sent directly to:

LUNCHEON

Among the highlights of a mission is your meeting with your Members of Congress. This session is best facilitated with a luncheon on Capitol Hill, since it affords easy access for the Members. Your luncheon will be in a private dining room in the Capitol building, or in one of the Senate Office Buildings (Russell, Dirksen, or Hart), or in one of the House Office Buildings (Cannon, Longworth, or Rayburn).

You will need to write or call only one of your Members of Congress at least six weeks prior to your visit to reserve a luncheon room for your group. In fact, it is advisable to contact your Member as soon as your Mission date is set.

The letter should include the following:

- the nature of the mission
- date and time of luncheon
- number of people expected

If we have not finalized your schedule at the time you contact your Member of Congress for a luncheon room, simply ask that a room large enough to accommodate your expected number of participants be reserved between 11:00 a.m. and 2 p.m. on the date of your mission. The Washington Mission Program office will follow up your request, but can only do so if you send us a copy of the letter to your Member of Congress.

After this initial contact, we suggest that you also invite the other Members of your Congressional delegation to the luncheon. (However, only ask one Senator or Representative to reserve the room.) Again, explain in your letter the nature of your visit and that the group would like to discuss issues of concern to American Jewry. If a room has not been reserved by this time, simply contact them later with the room location and the time of the luncheon.

EXPENSES

Aside from your transportation to Washington and hotel costs if you are staying overnight (check with a travel agent for discounted group rates), your expenses in Washington will include the following estimated costs which are subject to change:

- GROUND TRANSPORTATION:

- 47-passenger bus: $36 per hour, not including gratuity (suggested gratuity: $1.50 - $2.00 per person per day); there is a 3-hour minimum for bus use.
- 21-passenger van: $168 for a 4-hour minimum; $28 per hour beginning the fifth hour, not including gratuity (suggested gratuity: $1.50 - $2.00 per person per day).

- MEALS:

The cost of your meals in Washington vary depending on whether the meal is lunch, a dinner, or a reception, and whether or not your community requires glatt kosher catering.

Please note that your community must guarantee a final count for all meal functions at least 3 days prior to your mission. NO CHANGES WILL BE ACCEPTED AFTER THE GUARANTEE IS MADE.

Your community will be expected to pay for all guests. These include speakers and aides to Members of Congress. Your federation will be billed directly for all meals. Meals include the following estimated costs:

- BREAKFAST: Continental breakfasts range from $8.95 - $12.00 per person.
- LUNCHEON: Luncheons on Capitol Hill average $15.00 per person, including 15% gratuity for waiters and a 25% surcharge for use of the dining room.
- DINNER: Dinners range from $26.00 - $45.00 per person, and may be scheduled at a local hotel or restaurant.
- RECEPTIONS: Receptions, which usually take place at the end of the day prior to the caucus, may include wine, cheese, fruit, vegetables, and soft drinks, range from $15.00 - $35.00 per person.

[GLATT KOSHER DINNERS AND RECEPTIONS: Glatt kosher catering is available for dinners and receptions at several hotels in Washington, DC. These hotels are limited in availability, and we therefore need to know as soon as possible if your group requires kosher meals. Prices range from $26.00 - $55.00.]

● CANCELLATION POLICY:

Please note that your community will be subject to a cancellation fee imposed by hotels and bus companies in the event that you cancel your mission within 30 days of the scheduled date. Therefore, if you plan to cancel your mission, we urge you to cancel at least 30 days in advance. The bus companies charge a $100.00 cancellation fee, while hotels typically charge 50% of the contract.

● PHOTOGRAPHER:

Many groups like to have some record of their day in Washington. You may bring cameras, or we can hire a photographer for you. Rates vary with photographers, and range from $40.00 per hour to $60.00 for a two-hour minimum, not including film or the cost of developing prints; black & white film is usually preferred for PR purposes. Multiple prints are available on a sliding scale. Photographers will be scheduled according to availability.

IMPORTANT NOTES

1) Your state and federal tax exempt numbers are not applicable in the District of Columbia.

2) We must receive copies of all correspondence dealing with your mission, including letters to Members of Congress, caterers, and thank you letters. These are necessary for verification purposes.

3) It is imperative that each participant bring with them a driver's license or other official identification with a photograph.

Please call the Washington Mission Program office at [phone: (202) 547-0029] if you have any questions. We look forward to working with you!

The Washington Mission Program

UJF

A Program of the United Jewish Appeal and the Council of Jewish Federations

INFORMATION AND PLANNING GUIDE

Campaign 1986

INTRODUCTION

Decisions made in Washington in the coming months and years will have an affect on the critical issues of concern to the Jewish People, whether in the United States, in Israel, or around the world. The Washington Mission Program, a project of the United Jewish Appeal and the Council of Jewish Federations, provides Jewish leaders with an opportunity to explore and understand the reasons and ways by which these decisions are made. In addition, a mission to Washington gives participants a direct channel of communication with those who make these decisions.

The Program is premised on the belief that Jewish leaders who understand the foreign and domestic policy issues of concern to Israel and to the United States will return to their communities with new insights on their role in Jewish life, and that they will therefore play a more active and sophisticated part as leaders.

There are four basic goals to the Washington Mission Program: 1) the educational element of a mission wherein participants hear from policy makers, academics, and legislators; 2) the interaction between leaders in the Jewish community and Members of Congress and Administration officials; 3) the leadership development of participants who return home with new insights and understanding of the challenges and issues facing Israel and the Jewish community; and 4) fundraising, since the Washington Mission Program has proven itself to be second only to a mission to Israel in serving as a successful campaign tool.

MISSION PARTICIPATION

More than 80 communities take advantage of the Washington Mission Program each year, and over 600 missions have been to Washington since the Program's inception in 1977. Like missions to Israel, Washington missions have a broad appeal and can be shaped to meet specific community needs.

Successful missions have run the entire gamut of Federation divisions, including Big Gifts, Business and Professions, Physicians, Women's Divisions, and Young Leadership. The Washington Mission Program Office will design specific itineraries to meet the needs and interests of any Federation group. Statewide and regional cluster missions are also options for Federations, especially for smaller communities which would otherwise not be able to organize missions on their own.

PROGRAM FORMAT

Missions participants typically meet with a combination of representatives of the following institutions:

- the Administration, including the Department of State, the Department of Defense, the National Security Council, the Office of Special Investigations of the Department of Justice, the Office of Anti-Boycott Compliance of the Department of Commerce, the Office of the United States Trade Representative, and other federal agencies
- major national Jewish organizations, including the American Israel Public Affairs Committee (AIPAC), the American Jewish Committee, the American Jewish Congress, the Jewish Institute for National Security Affairs, and the National Conference on Soviet Jewry
- the Embassy of Israel

Speakers discussing domestic policies and foreign affairs are often incorporated into luncheons, dinners, and receptions, and may be held at a hotel, on Capitol Hill, or at a restaurant.

Sight-seeing and Theater. As one of the world's most beautiful and cosmopolitan cities, missions to Washington, especially those planned for more than a single day, may include special sight-seeing tours, performances at the John F. Kennedy Center or other theater, a visit to the world-famous museums of the Smithsonian Institution, or other similar activities.

PROGRAM DETAILS

Scheduling. Because of the heavy demand for mission dates, especially during the Fall months, it is highly recommended that contact be made as soon as possible with the Washington Mission Program Office to schedule a mission date. A lead time of six months is advisable.

Duration. Missions may be programmed for one, two, or three days. The Washington Mission Program Office will work with community leaders and professionals to plan each mission program so they reflect individualized community educational and fundraising needs.

Participants. The minimum size group for a mission is 20 people, and groups of as many as 250 have participated.

Fundraising. Missions in the months of September, October, and November are restricted to groups with a minimum giving level of $1,000. There is no minimum giving level requirement from December through April, but all participants not previously solicited must be solicited on the Washington mission. The Washington Mission Program Office will arrange for caucus speakers, if needed.

Fundraising results over the past several years have been outstanding, with average card-for-card increases of more than 20 percent. Over $12.5 million was raised through missions to Washington in Campaign 1985.

Staff. The Washington Mission Program is administered by:

- Ralph Grunewald -- UJA Washington Office Director
- Melinda Bernstein -- CJF Washington Mission Program Coordinator

PROMOTION

Community Consultation. The UJA Washington Office Director, Ralph Grunewald, is available to travel to communities to meet with lay leaders and professionals in order to plan and promote a mission. These meetings, which often include briefings on the current events in Washington related to Israel and domestic concerns, have been very effective in developing interest in a Washington mission.

Videotape. In addition, the Washington Mission Program Office has produced a 22-minute videotape, "Face to Face: The Washington Mission Program," which portrays an actual mission of the Big Gifts Division of the Jewish Federation of Omaha. The videotape follows the group on its day, and includes interviews with community lay leaders and professionals who have benefitted from previous missions to the Capital.

"Face to Face" is an excellent tool for recruitment, and may be rented by communities for a period of two weeks. The videotape is available in three cassette formats: Betamax, VHS, and U-Matic. The cost of rental, shipping, handling, and insurance is $20.00, payable to "UJA/CJF Washington Mission Program."

Printed Material. Finally, the Washington Office also has available a variety of invitations, letters, and other promotional materials successfully used by communities for previous missions, copies of which are available upon request.

SUBJECT: The enclosed award from the United Jewish Congress

Max, could you please assist me in seeing to it that Rabbi Dr. Teichman gets an appropriate thank you for the enclosed award that the United Jewish Congress has bestowed upon the President. Call me at 863-8650 if you have any questions regarding this matter. Thanks.

~~Jeff~~

~~Ze~~ - would better check out this group.
See if you can get this to on ADL or AJC - DC get a memo.

Jeff - Ze never got around to this - could you do it? Thanks

Mitt - since neither Ze nor Jeff got around to this, maybe you could.
