XIV. BACKGROUND INFORMATION ABOUT THE UNITED JEWISH APPEAL

The United Jewish Appeal (UJA) is the major Jewish fundraising organization in the United States. Since its inception in 1939, UJA has raised more than $4 billion for humanitarian aid to Jews in need overseas, and for the transportation and settlement of Jewish immigrants going to Israel and other free lands.

UJA funds have helped:

- * Save and rebuild the lives of more than 3,000,000 Jewish victims of war and oppression;
- * Resettle more than 1,700,000 of them in Israel and provide for their absorption into the society;
- * Enable almost half a million others to emigrate to the U.S., Canada, Australia, Brazil and other countries;
- * Restore Jewish community life in Western Europe, which had been all but destroyed by the Nazi occupation.

UJA BENEFICIARY AGENCIES

Funds raised by UJA are used to support the relief, migration, resettlement, rehabilitation and welfare programs carried out by the following agencies:

The United Israel Appeal, Inc., which allocates funds to its agent, The Jewish Agency for Israel, Inc., in Jerusalem, to carry out programs for the transportation, settlement and absorption of Jewish immigrants coming to Israel, as well as for other areas of philanthropic work, such as education, agricultural settlements and youth work;

The Joint Distribution Committee, which aids youthful, aged, chronically ill and handicapped Jews in 25 countries, including Israel; this covers nations behind the Iron Curtain as well as Moslem states;

The United HIAS Service, the worldwide Jewish migration agency, which aids Jews who wish to settle in countries other than Israel;

The New York Association for New Americans, the agency aiding Jewish immigrants settling in the Greater New York area, providing them with housing, jobs, education and retraining where necessary.

United Israel Appeal (UIA)

The United Israel Appeal is the major beneficiary of funds raised by the United Jewish Appeal. It evaluates projects and programs carried out by the Jewish Agency, its agent in Israel, and determines the appropriate use of UJA funds for the support of the agency's work with immigrants, their integration into Israel's life, their health, housing, education and job training. In addition, funds are provided for pre-school and higher education, agricultural settlements and youth services.

American Joint Distribution Committee (JDC)

Including ORT

Provides a wide range of health, welfare, rehabilitation, education and cultural services for Jews in 30 countries around the world, including Israel.

New York Association for New Americans (NYANA)

Aids Jewish immigrants settling in the Greater New York area.

Dear Marshall:

In advance of our meeting in Israel, I would like to take this opportunity to inform you of a UJA/Keren Hayesod event which will take place in Washington, D.C., October 13th through 16th, namely, the International Leadership 12th Annual Reunion.

This event takes place once a year and alternates between a Keren Hayesod country and the United States. In the past, the group has met in South Africa, Toronto, Israel, London, San Francisco, Geneva, New York and Amsterdam. A strict blackout re publicity etc., is maintained. The minimum commitment for attendance is $250,000.

I have attached a proposed program outline, and I would appreciate your reviewing same as your assistance will be invaluable. I have already met with Rudy Boschwitz to discuss his involvement as Rudy is familiar with the 'International Reunions'.

The first Committee Planning Meeting will be held Thursday, March 14th at Noon in the offices of Bob Smith, in Crystal City, to which you are cordially invited.

Since I plan to be in Washington March 13th and 14th, would it be possible for us to meet for further discussion.

Looking forward to meeting with you.

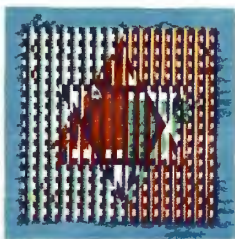

Sincerely,

Maurice M. Cerier
Coordinator

Dear Marshall:

Many thanks for the time you took yesterday to meet with Edgar Brenner and myself. We realize the difficulties in pinning down the luminaries whom we discussed. However, both Edgar and I are very confident that when the wheels start to turn, we will end up with an outstanding program.

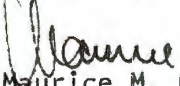

As you know, our group is comprised of the real captains of industry both here and abroad, and each is an important factor in the political, business and social circle in their home communities. In addition, their commitment to the United Jewish Appeal is in excess of $250,000 each, every year.

As per your request, the enclosed list represents the attendees for the past two years.

I am delighted, once again, to work with you on a major program.

Kindest personal regards.

Sincerely,

Maurice M. Cerier

May 24, 1985

The Honorable Linda Chavez
Deputy Assistant to the President for Public Liaison
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Ms. Chavez:

It has come to my attention that the International leadership of the United Jewish Appeal is holding the 12th Annual Reunion in Washington October 13th through the 16th. Approximately 250 Jewish leaders from Australia, Switzerland, Belgium, United Kingdom, South Africa, Israel and Central and South America, as well as our own country, will attend. It is my opinion, with great respect, that it would be very appropriate for our President to have a White House reception for this group as the people who will attend this Conference are, indeed, representative of world Jewry. Each one of those attending has made a commitment of $250,000 or, of course, more to the United Jewish Appeal and each is a highly recognized citizen of his or her own country.

I would recommend that our President have a White House reception on Tuesday, October 15th, in the late afternoon. Also, it would be most helpful if Secretary Shultz would host a luncheon at the State Department and, after looking at the Conference schedule, I would recommend October 14th as the most appropriate date.

Wherever this particular forum has met throughout the world, it has always had the pleasure of meeting with the leaders of the country in which the Conference was held. As a committed, active Republican - and American - I feel keenly that this particular Conference is of such unusual stature and significance that the recognition I've suggested is most fitting.

Most respectfully,

CC: Mrs. Betty Heitman
Co-Chairman
Republican National Committee

Dear Lyn:

Linda Chavez asked me to respond to your letter of May 24.

Rudi Boschwitz and I are working directly with the UJA people on the program for the International Leadership Reunion and we view it as a top priority event.

I trust all is well with you.

Dear Marshall:

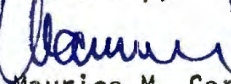

Your proposal to invite Steve Spiegel, Michael Ludeen and Jock Covey to participate in a panel which you will moderate, was well received.

As you are aware, we have not finalized the day and time.
As of this moment, it will be scheduled at the Four Seasons Hotel Monday afternoon, October 14th or Tuesday morning, October 15th.

I will keep you advised.

Many thanks in advance for your efforts.

Sincerely,

The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. President:

I have just returned from the End-of-Decade Conference on Women recently convened in Nairobi, Kenya. Having experienced the Mid-Decade Conference in Copenhagen five years ago, I was not too sanguine about positive results this time. However, because of the principled stand that you took on August 19th, 1984, when a group of Jewish women leaders (of which I was one) met with you in the White House, we had some hope that the Conference goals would not be subverted and that we might emerge with a positive document enhancing the status of women.

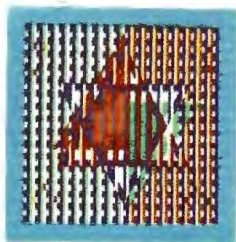

It was my privilege to work closely with the members of the U.S. Delegation in Nairobi, headed by your daughter Maureen. I greatly admire the forthright positions on Zionism, terrorism, the right of free emigration, etc, which she and Ambassador Keyes passionately espoused in Committee and in the Plenary. I was very proud of the United States and its leadership which effectively prevented the complete politicization of the agenda.

I wanted to share these thoughts with you and to express appreciation on behalf of all my colleagues in the Zionist movement for the direction you provided prior to the Conference, and for the expertise and strength the U.S. Delegation displayed during the Conference.

Sincerely,

SECRETARY OF TREASURY

FROM: LINDA CHAVEZ
DIRECTOR OF THE OFFICE OF PUBLIC LIAISON

SUBJECT: White House Briefing for the International United Jewish Appeal Leadership Conference, Tuesday,
October 15, 1985

The United Jewish Appeal of America has asked my assistance in securing your participation at a White House briefing on October 15 for one-half hour between 3:30 and 5:30pm in room 450 of the Old Executive Office Building.

The briefing is for the International United Jewish Appeal Leadership Conference which brings together Jewish leadership from over 20 democratic countries. The United Jewish Appeal is the worldwide organization that raises funds to provide social services to Jewish communities throughout the world.

This would be an excellent opportunity for you to discuss briefly the Administration's tax reform package as well as touch on international issues involving the Treasury Department.

Pending your schedule, I hope you will be able to accept this invitation. Please contact Marshall Breger of my office at 456-2164 to arrange details of the briefing.

Thank you for your consideration of this request.

The Leadership Conference of the International United Jewish Appeal will meet in Washington October 15 and will receive a White House briefing from 3:30-5:30 in room 450 OE0B on that day. The Leadership Conference brings together leaders from over 20 democratic countries. The United Jewish Appeal is the worldwide organization that raises funds to provide social services to Jewish communities throughout the world.

This would be an important opportunity for you to discuss several East-West and Mideast issues before an international gathering of key civic and financial Jewish leadership.

Pending your schedule, I hope you will be able to brief this group. Kindly call my office at ext. 2164 to respond.

Thank you for your consideration of this request.

TO: Linda Chavez

FROM: Marshall Breger (MB)

There will be an overflow crowd for the UJA Leadership briefing Wednesday, October 16 from 1:30-3:30pm with the President. Rather than have them choose people by "lot" I would suggest that we put the overflow in the Indian Treaty Room and "pipe in" audio and visuals. This can be done ( I checked with the keepers of the room ) but permission must be secured from the White House Communications Agency Operations Division. We will stand a better chance if you make the request.

Would it be possible for the President on his way back from Room 450 to drop by the Indian Treaty Room and wave? He would not have to speak or shake any hands. This would greatly help solve our "logistical" problem as the people in the Indian Treaty Room will have had the opportunity to "see" the President if only for a moment. I would be grateful if you could raise this with scheduling as well.

Due to the size of the United Jewish Appeal Leadership group, we have arranged for an audio-visual hookup between Rooms 450 and 474. In light of this logistical situation, I would like to know if it would be possible for the President on his way back from Room 450 to drop by the Indian Treaty Room and wave? PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: DROPHY BRIEFING FOR UNITED JEWISH APPEAL
WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1985

Thank you and welcome to the White House. I know you have already been briefed by top members of my staff who oversee domestic and foreign policy. It is always a pleasure to host groups, like yourselves, of concerned citizens to discuss the issues that will determine the future of our country.

I'd like to take this opportunity to thank all of you for what you are doing to ensure that this remains the good and decent land that God intended her to be. A top priority of our Administration has been to encourage our citizens to get directly involved in helping others and in community building endeavors. I hope you agree that this is better for the soul of our country than relegating benevolence and charity to the exclusive realm of Government.

There's been much talk about the new spirit of patriotism alive in our land. Part of this new patriotism can be seen in the increased personal involvement in humanitarian service. Between 1980 and 1984, total giving in our country rose by 51 percent, to a record level of $74 billion. By the way, that number is greater than the Gross National Product of more than half the nations of the world. And many who did not have money, contributed their time and talent.

This spirit of voluntarism is a cherished part of our heritage as Americans. No where has that been more evident than in the Jewish community. Words often tell much about those who use them. It is no mere coincidence that in Hebrew "mitzvah" not only means "good deed," but also "command." And the word for righteousness, "tsedhkah," is also the word for charity.

Many Christians who've been helped along by friends who just happen to be Jewish, understand how deep the spirit of compassion runs in your community. I know about a boy from the Midwest who moved to Hollywood back in the thirties. This Gentile owes a lot to some good people in the entertainment industry, who just happened to be Jews, who were ready with helping hand for a young fella still wet behind the ears.

Your values and traditions are reflected in individual such acts of kindness and also in the community-wide support given to humanitarian and charitable efforts, like the United Jewish Appeal. I know that you are here because you have contributed generously and I want each of you to know that your good citizenship is deeply appreciated.

I firmly believe that America, with our Judeo-Christian heritage, stands for something unique among the nations. We don't have a perfect record, but we can be proud that our forefathers strived for and built a Nation dedicated to individual freedom, democratic government, and those humane values about which we have been speaking today. We can also be proud that in these last four decades, we have taken it upon ourselves to rid our country of the scourge of racism that had long been a blot on our Nation -- a blot that was so inconsistent with the noble goals of our great country.

Today a new spector of hatred and anti-Semitism has reared its ugly head in America. People of good will cannot be complacent about this turn of events. Anti-Semitism and other forms of bigotry and malevolence can do great harm if not quickly exposed and isolated. The voices of hatred we hear -- voices who would turn white against black, black against Jew, or anyone against others because of their religion or the color of their skin, should be condemned without hesitation by all of us. This racist and anti-Semitic fringe must not be treated by political leaders or the news media as simply another legitimate interest group. Hate and prejudice have no place in American society and those who spread it deserve our forceful and unambiguous repudiation.

Our strength and integrity will determine what kind of country this is. And, yes, what kind of world this will be. Thomas Jefferson once said the world should know that we Americans are "...just friends and brave enemies." Those words were never more true than today. During the last decade, when our military might was permitted to erode, many began to believe that America no longer had the will to lead the free world. The refrain was heard that our best days were behind us. Our friends and allies questioned our reliability.

Well, we've turned that situation around. We have rebuilt our military forces and are standing firm in our responsibilities. We will not be deterred from our commitment to the other free peoples by economic blackmail, the heavily armed military forces of totalitarian regimes, or the cowardly acts of terrorists. Today we have erased the uncertainty of the past decade and have reestablished that we are an ally who can be counted on. Let no adversary doubt we have the courage to stand by democratic friends and that is especially true when it comes to the state of Israel.

Israel, more than any other democratic nation, has endured terrorist attacks. This is not just Israel's problem. We view a terrorist attack on anyone as a crime against civilization. These murderers are going to be made to realize, as they learned last week, that they cannot commit their dastardly acts with impunity. We will see to it that they pay a dear price whether they are attacking an American, an Israeli, or anyone else.

Americans carry a great responsibility. If we fail, freedom fails. There are people who live in desperation, enduring the scourge of tyranny, who look to us as their only hope. To these poor souls, America shines like the flame of a torch in the midst of vast darkness. We cannot ignore those who long for liberty and justice without abandoning everything which we hold dear. That is why when I travel to Geneva to meet with Soviet General Secretary Gorbachev, I will be raising the issue of the persecution of Soviet Jews, Christians, and others whose only crime is a belief in God.

Arms control is an important issue. It is not the only issue. Geneva will not be a vehicle for curing all that has been wrong between our countries. It is a starting point for better relations. We must lay a foundation of trust in order to build upon that foundation a more peaceful world. We've witnessed in recent weeks a deluge of rhetoric and an impressively run Soviet PR campaign. Smiles, style, and slogans need to be accompanied by substance.

There is a first step, which would cost the Soviets little, but would go a long way toward demonstrating a sincere desire for better relations and a more peaceful world. I first mentioned it 2 years ago to a gathering of some very special citizens, Jewish survivors of the Holocaust who after the war made America their new home. As I told the survivors, if the Soviet leadership would win our trust, let them start by giving us a full accounting of Raul Wallenberg. Wallenberg was truly a moral giant of historic proportion. I prefer to look at my upcoming talks with First Secretary Gorbachev as a meeting. If it is a summit, however, let it be the Wallenberg summit.

We can build a more secure world, a freer world, a more prosperous world. To do it, we must be brave enough to reach out to our adversaries. We must at the same time have the courage of our convictions and stand together as Americans and with other free people. I want to thank all of you for coming here today and thank you for what you are doing to help others. As it says in the Talmud, "To help a fellow man may be to tip the scales for the entire world." God bless you.

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: DROPHY BRIEFING FOR UNITED JEWISH APPEAL
WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1985

Thank you and welcome to the White House. I know you <sup>will be</sup> ~~have~~ <sup>later</sup> ~~already been~~ briefed by top members of my staff who oversee domestic and foreign policy. It is always a pleasure to host groups, like yourselves, ~~of concerned citizens~~ to discuss the issues that will determine the future of our country. <sup>and of the Free world.</sup>

I'd like to take this opportunity to thank all of you for what you are doing to ensure that this remains the good and decent land that God intended her to be. A top priority of our Administration has been to encourage our citizens to get directly involved in helping others and in community building endeavors.
I hope you agree that this is better for the soul of our country than relegating benevolence and charity to the exclusive realm of Government.

There's been much talk about the new spirit of patriotism alive in our land. Part of this new patriotism can be seen in the increased personal involvement in humanitarian service.
Between 1980 and 1984, total giving in our country rose by 51 percent, to a record level of $74 billion. By the way, that number is greater than the Gross National Product of more than half the nations of the world. And many who did not have money, contributed their time and talent.

<sup>Report USIA request to</sup>
This spirit of voluntarism is a cherished part of our heritage as Americans. ~~No where has that been more evident than~~ in the Jewish community. Words often tell much about those who use them. It is no mere coincidence that in Hebrew "mitzvah" not only means "good deed," but also "command." And the word for righteousness, "tsedhkah," is also the word for charity.

Many Christians who've been helped along by friends who just happen to be Jewish, understand how deep the spirit of compassion runs in your community. I know about a boy from the Midwest who moved to Hollywood back in the thirties. This Gentile owes a lot to some good people in the entertainment industry, who just happened to be Jews, who were ready with helping hand for a young fella still wet behind the ears.

Your values and traditions are reflected in individual such acts of kindness and also in the community-wide support given to humanitarian and charitable efforts, like the United Jewish Appeal. I know that you are here because you have contributed generously and I want each of you to know that your good citizenship is deeply appreciated.

I firmly believe that America, with our Judeo-Christian heritage, stands for something unique among the nations. We don't have a perfect record, but we can be proud that our forefathers strived for and built a Nation dedicated to individual freedom, democratic government, and those humane values about which we have been speaking today. We can also be proud that in these last four decades, we have taken it upon ourselves to rid our country of the scourge of racism that had long been a blot on our Nation -- a blot that was so inconsistent with the noble goals of our great country.

Today a new specter of hatred and anti-Semitism has reared its ugly head in America. People of good will cannot be complacent about this turn of events. Anti-Semitism and other forms of bigotry and malevolence can do great harm if not quickly exposed and isolated. The voices of hatred we hear -- voices who would turn white against black, black against Jew, or anyone against others because of their religion or the color of their skin, should be condemned without hesitation by all of us. This racist and anti-Semitic fringe must not be treated by political leaders or the news media as simply another legitimate interest group. Hate and prejudice have no place in American society and those who spread it deserve our forceful and unambiguous repudiation.

Our strength and integrity will determine what kind of country this is. And, yes, what kind of world this will be. Thomas Jefferson once said the world should know that we Americans are "...just friends and brave enemies." Those words were never more true than today.
