THE CHAIRMAN OF THE COUNCIL OF ECONOMIC ADVISERS
WASHINGTON

BERYL W. SPRINKEL
CHAIRMAN, COUNCIL OF ECONOMIC ADVISERS

Dr. Beryl W. Sprinkel was appointed by President Reagan as Chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers on April 18, 1985. As Chairman, Dr. Sprinkel provides economic analysis and advice directly to the President, and assists him in formulating national economic policies.

Prior to this appointment, Dr. Sprinkel served as Under Secretary of the Treasury for Monetary Affairs. In that position, he was responsible for formulating and implementing U.S. international financial and credit policies; developing U.S. policy toward the international financial institutions; financing and managing the federal debt; establishing Treasury financial policies; and coordinating the economic policies of the Administration with the monetary policies of the Federal Reserve. Upon leaving the Treasury Department, he was awarded the Alexander Hamilton Award, the Department's highest honor.

Previously, Dr. Sprinkel was Executive Vice President and Economist at the Harris Trust and Savings Bank in Chicago, Illinois, where he worked for 28 years. He was director of "Harris Economics;" a member of Time's Board of Economists; chairman of the Economic Advisory Committee of the American Bankers Association; and a member of the Board of Directors of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. He also served as a consultant to various government agencies and Congressional committees.

Before joining Harris Bank, he taught economics and finance at the University of Chicago and at the University of Missouri School of Business and Public Administration. He has written numerous articles and is the author of two books, and co-author of a third, on the effects of monetary policy on financial markets and the economy.

Dr. Sprinkel received his B.S. degree in Public Administration from the University of Missouri in 1947; his M.B.A. degree from the University of Chicago in 1948; and his Ph.D. in economics and finance from the University of Chicago in 1952. He served from 1943 to 1945 in the United States Army and was a tank gunner in the 3rd Army. He was a founding member of the Shadow Open Market Committee; holds a Chartered Financial Analyst degree from the Institute of Chartered Financial Analysts; an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree from DePaul University; and an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from St. Michael's College.

He was born November 20, 1923 on a farm near Richmond, Missouri, and is married to the former Barbara Angus. They have four children.

Dear Max:

I enjoyed our time together a couple of days ago and appreciate all of the help you have been to me and to the organization during your tenure at the White House. In accordance with our discussion I want to formally bring you up-to-date as to the plans for the American Jewish Congress National Domestic Policy conference being held in Washington, March 8-10, 1987. Any and all help you can give us with respect to the planning of the Conference particularly, as it involves administration spokespersons would be greatly appreciated.

The Policy Conference is the only ongoing event sponsored by a major national Jewish community organization which examines the full range of our our domestic concerns. The Conference in 1987 will deal with the shaping of America's agenda following the Reagan era. We would very much like to arrange a special White House briefing on Monday afternoon, March 9. We are prepared to bring the delegates by bus from the Shoreham Hotel to the the Old Executive Office Building for a series of briefings that could begin at 3:30 pm and last until 5:00 pm. While we might want to consider dividing the 150-200 delegates up to ~125-150 various locations around OEOB (OMB, CEA, and other offices) I think it best that we bring them up to Room 450 and parade who ever you deem appropriate by them.

Major sessions being discussed during the conference include New Federalism, the economy, social welfare policy, religious freedom, women's rights, the elderly and health care. I think that if the delegates were to hear from the director of formation for domestic policy for the Administration, the staff director for Vice President Bush, and/or others directly involved in domestic policy planning it would prove to be a most informative and exciting briefing. We can discuss at greater length the individuals you have in mind later this fall.

By this letter I am also formally requesting your help in securing someone of the stature of Chief of Staff Donald Regan to either start off or close the briefing session.

I look forward to working with you closely on the development and coordination of this briefing.

Again, I want to extend my best wishes to you and your family for a happy, healthy and prosperous new year. L'Shanah tovah.

Most sincerely,

The Honorable George P. Bush
Vice President of the United States
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mr. Vice President:

My friend Jay Riebel suggested that I write you directly to request that you address the 1987 National Domestic Policy Conference for AJCongress Leadership, which I will be chairing.

During the Conference, we will hear from, among others, Tom Kean, William Bennett, and Jim Wright. I am confident that your address would be the highlight of the Conference.

This biennial Policy Conference is the only ongoing program sponsored by a national Jewish organization which examines the full range of our domestic concerns. The 1987 Conference's theme is "1988 and Beyond: Shaping America After Reagan," and we hope that you will be able to speak to the delegates while we are at the old Executive Office Building on Monday, March 9th. Our briefing, which is scheduled to run from 3:30 to 5:00 p.m., is being coordinated by Max Green in the Office of Public Liaison.

We anticipate that the Policy Conference will attract approximately 125 delegates. As in the past, we expect these delegates to be AJCongress' top national leaders, the most active and influential members from around the country.

If you or your staff have any questions, I can be reached through the American Jewish Congress office at 15 East 84th Street, New York, New York 10028 (212/879-4500, x262).

Respectfully,

Robert K. Lifton

WASHINGTON

March 10, 1986

I am delighted to send warm greetings to all those gathered for the annual awards dinner of the Council of Jewish Organizations of Boro Park. The Council is a vital institution for the preservation of your ancient religious heritage and for the well-being of all citizens of the area.

Let me particularly take this opportunity to congratulate your distinguished honorees. They have repeatedly worked for the good of the community through a variety of civic and charitable activities. I commend them and the Council for their devoted service to fellowman in the finest American tradition of voluntarism and neighbor helping neighbor. In their philanthropy they have also lived up to the wise proverb that "he who gives to the poor lends to the Lord."

Nancy joins me in my salute and in sending best wishes to each of you. May you be richly blessed.
