Dear Mr. Whiton:

Thank you for your very interesting article. We, as you suggested, must reduce the demand for drugs. The President has said as much himself.

I have enclosed several items you may find interesting. One is the 1982 Federal Strategy for Prevention of Drug Abuse and Drug Trafficking.

Once again, thank you and thank you for your concern and support.

Sincerely,

Dear Dr. Turner:

A UPI story in today's Sarasota Herald-Tribune about your role in the government's efforts against drug abuse interested me. I believe you are right in intensifying education, because it is only by reducing demand that we will ever cut down on the traffic.

Perhaps you can find time to read the enclosed reprint of an article now almost 10 years old, from a most reputable and conservative magazine. It seems to me to embody a solid, common-sense approach to the drug problem.

In any case, I would be most happy to read your reaction.

Sincerely,

James S. Whiton

Dear Dr. Turner:

It was my pleasure yesterday to have the opportunity to hear you speak at the "Drug Awareness Day" in Palm Beach.

At the present time it is my job to chair a Junior League Committee that is in the process of developing a G.A.T.E. program for our community. It is our task to convince our membership and our community leaders that G.A.T.E. is a program of worth. A letter of endorsement from you would be of enormous value. I assure you that our program is patterned exactly after Palm Beach and Atlanta. In fact, Nancy Saylor and I received our G.A.T.E. indoctrination together in Atlanta.

Let me express my appreciation to you for giving so much time to the Junior League's efforts in educating our country's youth to decide against taking that first step towards using drugs.

Sincerely,

Dear Nancy:

I certainly enjoyed participating in the Junior League of West Palm Beach's G.A.T.E. South Project in September. The hospitality was super. You have a lot of potential for effective prevention efforts and the enthusiasm of the group is unparalleled.

We need programs like G.A.T.E. across the United States. The President summed it up in his radio address on October 2, "The mood toward drugs is changing in this country and the momentum is with us. We're making no excuses for drugs, hard, soft or otherwise. Drug are bad and we're going after them." I know we can count on you and the Junior Leagues around the nation as we battle against drug abuse. For your information, enclosed is a copy of the 1982 Federal Strategy for Prevention of Drug Abuse and Drug Trafficking.

Nancy, I look forward to working with you and please do not hesitate to contact this office if there is anything we may do to assist you.

Dear Mr. Sayler:

I am pleased to forward the 1982 Federal Strategy for Prevention of Drug Abuse and Drug Trafficking.

President Reagan has called for a Federal strategy which will "get away from the fatalistic attitude of the late '70's and assert a positive approach that involves as many elements of this society as possible -- state and local officials, volunteer groups, parents, teachers, students, independent agencies, and law enforcement officials." We each bring unique resources to this effort. Together we can have a significant impact on drug abuse problems which affect nearly every family and every community throughout the United States.

Thank you for your support. I look forward to working with you in the campaign against drug abuse.

Dear Mr. Weemhoff:

Thank you for your letter to the First Lady expressing your interest to discuss your technique and program. Your efforts are very much appreciated by the scientific community.

Our office is not directly involved with funding. I have taken the liberty of forwarding your letter to Mr. George Beschner of the Treatment Research & Assessment Branch, National Institute on Drug Abuse. In addition, I have enclosed a list of private organizations and federal agencies which are potential funding sources.

It is only with the help of concerned citizens and professionals that we will be able to lick the drug problem. Thank you for your time and efforts.

Dear Mr. Weemhoff:

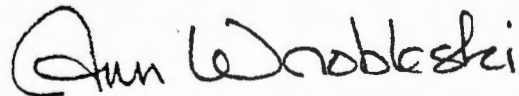

On behalf of Mrs. Reagan, thank you for your recent letter regarding youthful drug and alcohol abuse, and requesting a meeting to discuss your program. We appreciate your interest.

Unfortunately, I must decline your request for a meeting with the First Lady. As I'm sure you will understand, she is inundated with requests for meetings and as a result, is unable to accommodate as many as she would like.

I have, however, taken the liberty of forwarding your letter to Dr. Carlton Turner, the President's Drug Policy Advisor. Dr. Turner is very familiar with the technical and medical aspect of substance abuse, and I'm sure will be able to assist you. I know you will be hearing from him in the near future.

Dear Mrs. Reagan,

Young people are the key to the future in any society, yet today we have a rampant disease eating away at our most valuable resource. That disease of course is drug abuse. I was very pleased to learn that your cause as First Lady is working to prevent drug abuse. I too have an interest in the subject. As a high school teacher for the past three years I have seen it first hand.

My reason for writing to you is to ask for your assistance. Last spring I was accepted into graduate school in the field of clinical psychology. Due to the present economic situation, I was unable to locate funding and could not attend. I have developed a psychological innoculation technique, which when put into practice, may substantially reduce drug abuse and delinquency. I had planned on working on the further development and testing of my ideas as my masters and doctorate theses. It is important to point out that most drug abuse programs are directed toward rehabilitation. The program that I would like to develop is oriented toward preventing young people from becoming involved with drugs. It is based on some of the most classical psychological theories and is theoretically sound. Unfortunately it may never be developed past its present state.

You have both power and influence in our society and with your backing, my technique may blossom into some of the most important applied psychological research of the decade. Without your help it may wilt and die. All I ask is for you to sit down and listen to my proposals. If you are interested, we can discuss how to progress. You have nothing to lose, American youth has everything to gain. Please return my correspondence and I will send you more information.

Sincerely,

Kenneth R. Weemhoff

FRANKLY SPEAKING

I've been thinking since Marilyn Benveniste's workshop on time management about how I do spend my time—and don't spend it. Sometimes I feel guilty—not about what I have done, but what's left that I haven't done. I wonder if any of the others of you ever have these thoughts. We set our priorities according to what we think are important and still don't always get to the end of the list. I find that I'm still trying to be Supermom, judging my performance by what I think my family and the Junior League expects. I consulted my husband and children concerning some of my expectations and discovered that I require more of me than they do. I've been making my job as wife and mother more difficult than necessary. What a relief! When I take the pressure off me and become more flexible, I can often get to the end of that never-ending list. Perhaps others might benefit from this discovery. Find out what your family considers most important and let a few other things go occasionally. It gives you time to smell the flowers, lunch with a friend, make some cookies, and just plain think. Don't forget to plan your "down" time—that's when you get your second wind.

Here are a few thoughts that might help:

1. TODAY has one thing in which I know I am equal with others—time. All of us draw the same salary in seconds, minutes, and hours.
2. TODAY I will not waste my time, because the minutes I wasted yesterday are lost as a vanished thought.
3. TODAY I will not imagine what I would do if things were different. They are not different. I will make a success with what material I have.
4. TODAY I will stop saying "If I had the time . . .," for I never will "find time" for anything. If I want time, I must make it.
5. TODAY I will make time to be thankful for my family and community and for the freedom to serve them as I choose.

Surely our families, co-workers and community can only benefit from our evaluations. Happy timing!

NATHANIEL PRYOR REED NOVEMBER SPEAKER

Nathaniel Reed grew up in Florida and Connecticut. After graduating from Trinity College and serving in the Air Force, he returned to Florida as manager of the family business located in Hobe Sound. His concern with the environment led him to serve under three Florida governors, Farris Bryant, Claude Kirk, Jr. and Reuben Askew. He has been a member of many committees, some of which are the Florida Pollution Control Commission, Department of Air and Water Pollution Control, Florida's Constitutional Revision Commission, Reclaimed Land Committee and Coastal Zone Committee.

Mr. Reed was appointed by President Nixon as Assistant Secretary of the Department of Interior for Fish and Wildlife and Parks. Currently he serves as a trustee of Deerfield Academy, The Nature Conservancy, the National Audubon Board, and as a member of the South Florida Water Management District and the Treasure Coast Planning Council.

Nathaniel Reed is an amateur botanist, ichthyologist, biologist, and ardent fisherman and hunter. He certainly will present an informative and interesting commentary on conservation and our environment in South Florida.

“DRUG AWARENESS DAY”

Nancy Sayler with Tim Henry (L) and Joe Belluccio (R) on June 2, 1982, receiving a $1,200 donation for G.A.T.E. South brochures and seminar invitations.

Dr. Carleton E. Turner, Director of Drug Abuse Policy for the White House.

Kathy Meith, head of C.O.P.E.

Peter Bensinger, Jim Smith, Attorney General of Florida, Ann Talley, Tim Henry.

Dr. Ian MacDonald, Director of Clinical Research Straight, Inc.

"DRUG AWARENESS DAY"

ITS IMPACT

League members who were unable to attend our "Drug Awareness Day" on September 29 should know what our G.A.T.E. (Gain Awareness Through Education) South program is already doing. The five hour seminar at the Hyatt Palm Beaches had in attendance several hundred business, civic, religious, and political leaders as well as a large number of interested Junior Leaguers.

We can be extremely proud of our League's new program. The "Drug Awareness Day" seminar was well run—one would expect that with Nancy Sayler as G.A.T.E.'s Chairman and Linda Connelly and Barbara Paschal as Co-Chairmen.

With so much vital information to share, the five dynamic speakers held the audience's attention. The stature of the speakers was commensurate with their messages. They were: Dr. Carlton E. Turner, Director of the Drug Abuse Policy at the White House; Jim Smith, Attorney General of Florida; Dr. Ian MacDonald, Director of Clinical Research Straight, Inc., an adolescent drug treatment program in St. Petersburg; Kathy Meith, head of C.O.P.E. (Concerned Organization of Parents to Educate) of Melbourne, Florida; and Peter Bensinger, nationally and internationally associated with police and crime. Added to the program was printed data and information paid for by donations from the Kiwanis Club.

To emphasize the importance of the seminar, West Palm Beach Mayor Eva Mack and the City Commission declared September 29 as "Drug Awareness Day" for West Palm Beach.

Certain statistics presented by the speakers were overwhelming in their impact. Our youth drug problem is so bad that every year 60,000 adolescents under the age of eighteen require medical treatment for marijuana use. Since 1971, youth's tolerance to drugs has increased and drug potency has progressed from "Marijuana" to "Good Stuff" to "Hashish" to "Mexican". Now there are cases of hash oil being used in normal cigarettes with no odor or visible detection. The average age of users has decreased to 13 years old.

In Palm Beach County, statistics show 48% of middle and high school students use alcohol and/or one or more illicit substance (specifically, 47% alcohol, 43% cigarettes, 27% marijuana, and 5% cocaine) by the age of 14. Even more frightening is the fact that most parents have been ignorant of drugs—often not recognizing them in their own children.

Dr. Turner spoke extensively on the physiological effects of heavy marijuana use. Since there are 421 chemicals in marijuana, you may be sure there are debilitating effects on the reproductive and cardiovascular systems of users as well as on mental processes. Sleep, learning, and thought patterns are significantly altered with frequent use of marijuana.

All this information is, of course, alarming. Perhaps that is a major reason why many of us have blocked it out in the past, feeling unable to do anything about it.

The most encouraging and impressive news that came out of the day was that we now have a plan to prevent drug usage. And, we know the plan works. The same preventative programs our G.A.T.E. South program will be using locally have been proven successful elsewhere. There is every reason to believe these programs will make significant and positive differences in our community. Research shows informed, strong parents and adult groups interrelating with informed and disciplined children give those children the confidence to avoid drugs. Accurate information on drugs and effective communication between adults and children is the key. This is what G.A.T.E. South is all about.

The impact of drugs on our youth is staggering. The destruction of our children and the reality of drug related crime affects all our lives. As Nancy Sayler so inspiringly said, "the League is taking a stand. We are becoming involved in drug prevention to protect our families, communities, and businesses. Through G.A.T.E. South, we are building our facts and skills so we may increase the potential of love for our most precious resource—our children.

"CORPORATE RELEASE TIME"

BEING IN LEAGUE WITH THE LEAGUE

Something you will be hearing more and more about is the concept of "released time." This is the policy through which employees receive time off, with pay, to volunteer for community service activities. One of the goals of our League is to maintain a strong voluntary structure. An objective of this is to promote employee release time opportunities. With a greater number of League members holding full or part time jobs, obtaining released time takes on increasing importance.

Why would a business be willing to absorb the costs of wages and lost productivity of an employee doing volunteer work? The benefits are many. First of all, released time, like other company community involvement, enhances the image of the company or corporation, and improves relations with the total community. It is a visible demonstration of a company's commitment to the community and its willingness to reward employee initiative and facilitate employee involvement. Secondly, the company is able to target its resources to specific community needs and thus insure maximum utilization of employee energies. The company also benefits from having employees who are enthusiastic about their involvement as volunteers, and, as a result, are more involved on the job. One employee given released time stated that she felt it made her want to work harder for the company because it showed concern for its employees and for the community. As former President Carter once said:

"By working to improve social conditions, the corporation is working to improve its profitability. Social activities may not be immediately translatable into profits on the books. But the well-being of the community will eventually improve the well-being of the corporation. If schools in a community deteriorate, for example, the skills of those entering the local labor market will also suffer. A corporate citizen of that community can only be harmed by having a lower quality work force at its disposal."

The benefits of released time to the community are clear. Agencies gain human resources, often from skilled workers whose job talents are directly transferable to their volunteer jobs. Importantly, these resources are available during the day, when the needs are often the greatest. A spirit of community self-help is fostered and strengthened.

Several advantages accrue to the released employee. The employee develops leadership skills and is provided with community exposure not possible in many jobs. The employee meets and learns to work effectively with people of varying social, economic and cultural backgrounds. The individual is strengthened in ability to adapt to different personalities and situations. A sense of pride in helping the community is achieved.

Released time can take different forms. It can be on a regular, scheduled basis. Or, a business can allow an employee to attend special events, such as committee meetings. Recently, Florida Power and Light gave Vicki Johnston released time to attend a League-related seminar. Another League member, Lynne George, has also received released time for League activities, including attendance at Junior League Board Meetings. For a closer look at the workings of released time, see "Volunteers From the Workplace" by Kerry Kenn Allen, available from Volunteer: the National Center for Citizen Involvement.

As Palm Beach County grows and the number and size of its business concerns increase, and as the impact of federal budget cuts begin to trickle down, released time will become used more frequently. Let us begin by increasing the business community's awareness of the availability of released time as a vehicle to facilitate their community involvement through the organized efforts of our League. Released time—an idea whose time has come.

GUMBO LIMBO

What is Gumbo Limbo? Not only is it 16 acres of land, but it is also a Nature Center known today for its environmental education programs currently being held at Spanish River park in Boca Raton, Florida.

The property allocated for the Gumbo Limbo Nature Center is located within the 67.4 acre Red Reef Park in Boca Raton. The site is the only major undisturbed hardwood hammock between Boynton Beach and south Dade County. It is on a natural barrier island between the Atlantic Ocean and the Intracoastal Waterway (along Route A1A). A hammock is defined as fertile land which is higher than its surroundings. A variety of rare and endangered plant species grow on this protected land. The Center was named for the Gumbo Limbo tree which flourishes in the hammock. It is characterized by its red and peeling bark, and is often referred to as the "tourist tree". Other trees of importance in the hammock include the Pigeon Plum, the Mastic, and the Poison-wood.

This center came about as a result of many years of work by people concerned with protecting South Florida's environment. In 1970 the Royal Palm Audubon Society and two Palm Beach County science teachers, carrying the emerging conservation movement into South Florida, recognized that an outdoor, hands-on, interpretive program would be extremely beneficial to the community. The two teachers drafted the first comprehensive environmental program for the Palm Beach County schools.

Working separately, the Royal Palm Audubon Society sought an environmental education center. This need had been brought to their attention by a visiting science teacher, who had helped to develop such a facility in North Carolina. It was her recommendation that the Society approach the local Junior League, as the Junior League of North Carolina had been helpful and supportive in her work. It seemed a natural alliance, as two of the League's focus areas are the environment and public education. Initially the Society contacted the Sustainers, who later involved the active membership, establishing the current on-going relationship.

The Red Reef Park (Schine Tract) was purchased in 1974 by the city of Boca Raton under a bond issue. Annual payments are being met by the Greater Boca Raton Beach Tax District. In 1976 a precedent was set when the Greater Boca Raton Tax District entered into permanent association with the Palm Beach County School Board to begin the environmental program. That same year $6,000 was received from a Florida State mini-grant permitting a teacher to be hired for half a year. In January 1977 the city of Boca Raton agreed to permit Spanish River Park and the Fisher Building to be used for the programs. Classes began in February 1977 using a K-12 curriculum based on research from the Jensen Beach Marine Science Center. By 1978 other environmental mini-grants allowed the program to operate for a complete school year.

The demonstrated success of the program led the Palm Beach County Board of Education to permanently fund it by the end of 1978. During that year approximately 15,000 children had been able to experience nature via hands-on labs. The concept of an outdoor interpretive environmental program has been so successful that the Palm Beach County School Board now has programs at five other satellite environmental centers in different parts of the County.

Having the education program permanently funded, the focus for Gumbo Limbo moves to funding the buildings at the site in Red Reef Park. The Nature Center is designed for educational and passive recreational purposes, to both utilize and protect the hardwood hammock. The use of boardwalks will prevent the destruction of vegetation. There will be indoor and outdoor classrooms, as well as programs for all ages. The hammock, in its natural state, will demonstrate natural resource problems and management techniques. At the site, buildings for education and research will be available to the public.

The Junior League of the Palm Beaches, with this knowledge, has earmarked $14,500 for the construction of an amphitheater on the site designated as "Gumbo Limbo". It is also supporting the program with trained volunteers.

On October 4, 1982 the Greater Boca Raton Tax District approved a .97 millage tax increase which will bring $481,000 to Gumbo Limbo. Building construction will begin following a projected ground breaking ceremony in February 1983. The needs of an ongoing program continue: participation of all kinds is welcome. Gumbo Limbo shows foresight in its plans and relevance through its current education programs. It seeks to develop programs and research to aid the understanding, conservation and enjoyment of South Florida.

WOMEN'S HORIZONS

Women's Horizons is a Center dedicated to meeting the needs of women in Palm Beach County. The Center provides counseling to women concerning personal problems, decision-making, and exploring new options. In offering this multi-dimensional program, Women's Horizons uses guidance, counseling, workshops, seminars, and courses to service women's needs.

Women's Horizons was established in November, 1979, and was staffed by a Director, the Junior League Chairman, and approximately six Junior League volunteers. Peer counseling groups and a few women's courses were originally offered. Major changes began a year later. In March 1980, a full time Guidance Counselor was hired and Bobbye Duke, a Junior League Sustainer, became the Women's Horizons Director. Financial funding and emotional support has come from the Junior League. However, the Center has also received several donations from private foundations.

Pat Cole, the current Counselor, has a Master's Degree in Guidance and Counseling. Counseling is offered to all women based on a sliding fee scale. Pat is available three days a week from 9:00 to 1:00. Women requiring additional help in other counseling areas are referred to the appropriate community agency.

In 1981, 34 courses were taught to 568 women by local community specialists and members of the Palm Beach Junior College faculty. Some of the Center's most popular courses include Assertiveness Training, C.P.R., Literary Club, and Basic Car Maintenance. Quarterly, two thousand course brochures are distributed in the community. The courses offered are as varied as the wide range of women taking them. This makes Women's Horizons a lively, supportive, and popular community resource.

Working at the Center is a creative and challenging opportunity. Twenty-two Junior League volunteers presently staff Women's Horizons. Volunteers provide the first contact a woman has as she enters or calls the Center. Volunteers use supportive techniques to create a friendly and warm atmosphere.

The community needs to become more aware of the existence of Women's Horizons and its specific services and programs. To further this goal, an advertising campaign, speaking engagements, and a fundraising program have been introduced by Martha Ahr, current Junior League Chairman, Bobbye Duke, and Pat Cole.

Women's Horizons is an integral part of the human services available in Palm Beach County. "Where To Turn" is the theme of Women's Horizons for women.

ARTS AND MINDS UPDATE

Arts and Minds, the Junior League project undertaken two years ago, has made dramatic progress. Through the cooperative efforts of the League and the School Board of Palm Beach County an elementary Fine Arts Program is well underway.

The goals were set to:

1. Implement instructional programs in all of the arts for all elementary students.
2. Have a position in the Division of Regular Instruction responsible for the development and coordination of an arts program in the public schools.
3. Undertake a program to inform the citizenry of Palm Beach County of the values derived from fine arts programs, not only for the students, but for the enrichment of the quality of life for the total community.

Toward achieving these goals, the current status is as follows:

1. The position of Program Specialist in Arts Curriculum Development and Implementation was created in the fall of 1980 and filled in January 1981. The first priority has been to develop curricula materials K-6 in the visual arts, music and physical education. These materials are being printed at the present time and will be ready for distribution by the end of the month.
2. Music and physical education teachers have been hired and are currently serving all 58 elementary schools. Each student receives at least one hour of instruction per week from a certified teacher in music and physical education. Twelve art teachers currently serve twelve schools. (Additional centers will be added for the FY '83-84 school year.) All of these teachers are field testing the curricula materials.
3. Workshops have been conducted for all elementary principals and assistant principals for curriculum regarding the values of these programs to students. Monthly inservice workshops are being conducted in all three curricula areas.
4. The League purchased and is showing a slide-tape presentation to various community organizations. ART EDUCATION: A PROMISE is an informational/advocacy presentation developed by the J.F. Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. A position paper, The Arts in Florida Education, and a letter from the League has recently been mailed to approximately 150 cultural organizations in Palm Beach County. The Community Children's Cultural Calendar will continue to be printed in Cross Currents and Palm Beach County Schools' Tuesday Report. A League representative is on the Arts in Education Advisory Committee, the Education Committee of Palm Beach County Council of the Arts, and attends Board Meetings of the Palm Beach County Council of the Arts.

The Arts and Minds Committee is working diligently toward providing a complete Fine Arts Program for all children in Palm Beach County Schools.

Sustainers — LOVE-40

Another Hallo'ween has tricked and treated past us, and here we are getting geared up for all the stuff and stuffing that makes Thanksgiving so blessed American.

An action-packed, fun-filled fall frolic got underway this Indian Summer, when Nancy and Oliver Jones, Sally and Harry Massey, Ruth and Ward Wagner, Nancy and David Raymond, Jean and Jon Moyle together with the Monroe duet, all flew to Thousand Islands, in upper New York state, disembarked from the flying machine, re-embarked on a boat, and therein took up habitation in a big house. There was tennis, golf, fishing, and everything but snow . . . 'twas a little nippy for swimming. Nancy and Oliver took a side trip to Canada. It most certainly beats staying home pasting in green stamps and folding fitted sheets.

Everyone is doing something: Betsy and Bill Rogers are going to Europe. Their dog ate all of Betsy's shoes, and since they are going to tiptoe through the tulips in Holland, Betsy decided to buy only wooden ones. Punky May and Ruth Paine took their daughters to Converse. The Mays' lingered on Amelia Island for a spell on the way back home.

By the time this reaches your mailbox the Sustainer luncheon at Jonathan's Landing will be under our belts. Thanks to Phyllis Turner and Mary Frances Bateson for arranging details. Thanks also to Randi Simpson for sparking bridge for the Sustainers again. Ruth Paine is in charge of the Mother-Daughter Christmas Luncheon this year. It will take place on Wednesday, December 29th at the Hyatt Palm Beaches. Frances Stambaugh is involved with her Discovery Class, which is a Biblical learning experience. Give Frances a ring and she will make you welcome. Mary, Vicki, and Becky Johnston are on the by-ways extolling the capabilities of their favorite Senator, husband and father, Harry. All the Stephens' daughters came home to see their new niece, Katie, who flew from Denver, accompanied by her new mother, Sandee Stephens Peltier. Jim and Margaret Wadell's daughter was welcomed home for a visit from San Diego.

Betsy and Ham Anthony plan to spend six good weeks in Panama. While close by, they will fool around other Latin American countries, including fascinating Bogota (isn't it great that Betsy speaks Spanish so fluently . . . also she is a whiz with French). Good wishes to Maribel Reynolds on her return from Houston. We shall be hearing from her in another edition of Love-40.

The Annual Christmas Ball will be held December 4th at the Breakers . . . let us all get gussied up and go . . . it is always a happy time.

DIANA BELL

Diana moved to Palm Beach in September and is already actively involved in the Publications Committee. She also helped with the Area III President's Council which took place in October. "I'm eager to make new friends," says Diana.

Diana is used to working hard in the League. Coming from Cohasset, Massachusetts, she was very committed to the success of community service through the Junior League of Boston. For the past four years, she worked with the Showhouse through which 27,000 people would tour in only three weeks' time. This annual event was the Boston League's main fundraiser. Diana helped the profits soar by handling advertising for their program book and by chairing the party committee which was so necessary in making people feel good about the Showhouse. Diana had been involved in Boston's area committees, provisional courses and had even tested recipes for the cookbook in between her other commitments.

Testing recipes comes naturally for Diana as she loves to cook and is remodeling her kitchen around her 10-burner commercial stove. "I love to cook, to play tennis, and to garden," says Diana, "but not always in that order."

Diana moved to the Palm Beaches after Lowry, her husband, took early retirement as Group Vice President in Charge of Facilities for the Howard Johnson's chain. Their daughter, 16-year old Diana, is attending school in Massachusetts and their son, Christopher, 11, is attending the Palm Beach Day School. Their family had wintered in Palm Beach for a few years and loved it so much, they decided to make our beautiful community their permanent home.

TRANSFERS

PATTI CAMPBELL

Patti transferred to the Palm Beaches from the Junior League of Lehigh Valley, Allentown, Pennsylvania. She moved here in June with her two children, Jennifer-10, Daniel-5, and her husband, Donald, President of Goodman Properties. As Iowa natives, Patti and Don are enjoying their newly constructed home in Mariner Keys, North Palm Beach.

Completing her Provisional Course last year, Patti became very active in the Old Allentown Preservation Project. As a retiree from a secretarial career at I.B.M., she helped to organize the Old Allentown Project and keep it moving toward its preservation goals. She also worked with "Kaleidoscope", the traveling arts discovery center by Hallmark Cards, which allowed the Lehigh Valley school children a creative arts experience. (The Junior League of the Palm Beaches had co-sponsored "Kaleidoscope" in Palm Beach County in 1981.)

Patti is already very involved as a professional volunteer. She works in the North Palm Beach Elementary Schools tutoring through the Volunteers Upholding Education Program, and is becoming involved in St. Ignatius in Palm Beach Gardens. Her future objective for the Palm Beach League is to establish horseback riding opportunities for handicapped children. "There has to be a need for this everywhere," says Patti. "It is such a thrill for children who have never walked to have a sense of mobility." In the meantime, Patti is interested in helping out with general office work that needs to be done to keep our League running smoothly.

Special hobbies include crocheting and sewing as well as corresponding. "In my limited spare time I try to keep in touch with family and old friends," says Patti. "Plus I am a habitual beginner at tennis!" Through all her other activities, Patti loves to get in a good game of bridge.

LAURIE KANEB

She's been here only one month, but she already loves our area and is eager to become involved in our League. Meet Laurie Kaneb, a Transfer from the Boston Junior League. She was a member there for over twelve years, and had several different placements. Laurie has been Head of Provisionals, a Placement Advisor, Head of Project Finding, and one year was in charge of the League's Showhouse.

A liberal arts graduate from Garland Junior College in Boston, Laurie should be able to pursue her interest in gardening at her new home in Stuart. Antiques are another love. Laurie did fundraising and decorating for the largest antique show in the Boston area.

Laurie's husband Richard is in investments, and they have one daughter, Coco, who is six. Despite her short time here, Laurie says she and her family already feel very much at home.

Marilyn Beuttenmuller

GALE HOWDEN

We focus this month on Gale Howden, a special League member whom friends describe as being an astute businesswoman yet charming and sweet. Gale, as owner of Buttons and Bows Children's Shop, still manages her time in order to participate fully in League activities and community affairs.

Gale's League placements have included several chairmanships of various committees such as Public Affairs, Education, and Nominating. She has served as Business Manager of Cross Currents and as a representative on the Junior League's State Public Education Task Force Committee.

In her involvement with Public Affairs, (her favorite placement), Gale wrote the state monitoring system which gives Florida Junior Leagues first-hand knowledge of what is happening in the legislature. Her biggest thrill was being able to lobby for the first time for our League. Of her placement, Gale said, "It was very satisfying to watch advocacy develop in our local League and in all Florida Junior Leagues."

Gale has served her community well as P.T.A. President, and as board member for the Parent Advisory Board and Consumer Affairs Hearing Board.

Gale and her husband, Lance, have two children, ages 15 and 12. Lance is manager of Systems and Programming at the Palm Beach County School Board. Gale enjoys reading and tennis in her "spare time".

SPOTLIGHTS ARE ON—

VICKI JOHNSTON

We are also proud to spotlight Vicki Johnston, a pert and bubbly blond who is a fine League representative in the community.

Many of you probably remember seeing Vicki on WPTV Channel 5 as Producer and Anchor Woman of the morning and noon news. Previously she was a reporter with WPEC Channel 12. Presently she has a most interesting job in public relations with Florida Power and Light. As Energy Conservation Representative, Vicki develops and presents conservation speeches and programs. She travels to various clubs and schools discussing her displays on topics such as "Saving the Local Manatee", and "Saving Electricity in Your Home".

Vicki enjoys being a League member. She feels that, "through the League's advocacy efforts we can have a major community and state impact on our focus areas." She appreciates the opportunity to work through the League on these areas of concern. Currently, she is our League's representative on the State Public Affairs Committee (SPAC).

Vicki's other community activities include the YWCA Board of Directors and Women In Communications. Her hobbies are tennis, water sports, and reading. She is busy this fall campaigning for her father, Harry Johnston, to see that he is re-elected to the State Senate.

Dear Dr. Smith:

Thank you for your letter regarding the formation of a national assembly to create a statement of policy guidelines for the development of a comprehensive national strategy to deal with substance abuse in the United States.

For your information, on October 5, 1982 we released the 1982 Federal Strategy for Prevention of Drug Abuse and Drug Trafficking. This is the Strategy the President called for on June 24, 1982 in the Rose Garden. At that time, the President made me responsible for assisting him in policy formulation and in coordinating and overseeing international as well as domestic drug abuse functions by all Executive agencies.

The 1982 Federal Strategy is based on a five pronged approach: international cooperation; drug law enforcement; education and prevention; detoxification and treatment; and research. Enclosed is a copy of the Strategy and several other documents which may be of interest.

Sincerely,

Carlton F. Turner, Ph.D.

Dr. Carlton Turner
Director
Drug Abuse Policy Office
The White House
Washington, DC

President Reagan recently noted the need for federal coordination in the nation's war against substance abuse and for a national strategy focusing on international cooperation, particularly in the areas of production, control, and distribution. Using the Presidential Task Force on Florida as an example of the progress which can be made when federal resources are singularly focused, the President indicated that a new federal strategy would be forth coming.

In support of the President's leadership in this area of public policy formulation and implementation, the University of Miami and the Citizens' Crime Commission of Greater Miami, Inc., are proposing to host a national assembly of federal officials to create a publishable statement of policy guidelines for the development of a comprehensive national strategy to deal with substance abuse in the United States.

We propose to invite 75-100 top administrative officials to a two and one-half day assembly in April for this purpose.

We feel that an assembly of this nature is timely and that South Florida is the appropriate location for such a closed forum. The University and the Crime Commission, as co-conveners, would assume all logistical responsibilities, including final publication.

The enclosed assembly outline provides a more detailed indication as to the proposed content and participants. Your comments, along with your response to support and participate in this effort, would be greatly appreciated.

Very truly yours,

Marzell Smith, Ed.D.
Chairman of the Board

Substance Abuse Planning Session

MINUTES

September 22, 1982
Dean Allen's Conference Room
School of Continuing Studies
11:00 a.m. - 12:30 p.m.

PRESENT: Dean Allen, Cal Leonard, M. Smith, H. Rasmussen,
A. MacBeth, R. Bornstein, and B. Hayden.

1. It was generally agreed that the conference would be an invitation only conference, utilizing a flexible version of the American Assembly plan. This plan is highly structured with an end product (action plans).
2. The format would generally be working sessions with invited experts, with some opportunity provided for public viewing and hearing, but not interaction. A charge may be assessed for this privilege.
3. The conference would be fully funded by outside sources. Registration fees would not be the primary source for covering expenses.
4. The conference will be national in scope, with state, local, international and hemispheric implications.
5. March is probably a good month.
6. Tuesday-Wednesday and one half day Thursday is probably a good time frame.
7. Costs will be based on program requirements.
8. It is possible to have a working conference in March and a national conference after that for public consumption of the first conference.
9. It is possible to have plenary sessions with experts and an educational forum during the two and a half days.
10. Issues: drugs: demand/supply/foreign/domestic/treatment/rehabilitation/legislation/federal-state-local relations/consistent, coherent, comprehensive drug policies at all levels.

11. Entities involved in such work sessions: State Dept. representative, United Nations representatives, FBI, legislative leaders, other federal, state and local law enforcement, educators, Drug Enforcement representatives, Customs Agents, etc.
12. Outcome: a coherent, consistent, comprehensive, action plan based on significant issues regarding drugs. This action plan would have implications for all other levels (state, local, etc.).
13. Portions of the work sessions by the experts would be conducted like congressional hearings or United Nations sessions.
14. Programmatic frames will be developed by Howard, Marzell, Adrienne, and Bruce at a meeting on October 7, 1982.
15. It was suggested that Mel DeFleur from the Department of Sociology, U of M and a City of Miami representative be added to planning committee.
