MEMORANDUM FOR MICHAEL K. DEAVER

FROM: ROBERT C. McFARLANE

SUBJECT: Mrs. Thatcher's Visit

Our views on Ambassador Wright's proposal to invite the President and Mrs. Reagan to a dinner marking the bicentennial of the establishment of the US-UK diplomatic relations remain essentially the same as conveyed in our earlier memo. To reiterate, in view of the President's close personal relationship with Mrs. Thatcher this sounds like the sort of event that the President and Mrs. Reagan would like to attend. Their attendance would also send a highly positive signal about U.S.-British relations.

Like you, we are concerned about the precedential implications of an acceptance. However, in light of the President's relationship with Mrs. Thatcher and the special character of the dinner, we recommend that the President and Mrs. Reagan accept Ambassador Wright's invitation. We can use the special character of the bicentennial event to fend off other requests to make exceptions to our standard policy on dinner and breakfast. If the President and Mrs. Reagan accept the invitation, I strongly recommend that we not let it become known publicly until after King Fahd's visit. This may pose a slight problem for Wright since he hopes to include the President's attendance in his invitation. I am confident that he will agree to cooperate. Please let me know if I can help in any way.

MEMORANDUM FOR ROBERT C. McFARLANE

FROM: PETER R. SOMMER

SIGNED

SUBJECT: Mrs. Thatcher's Visit

Mrs. Thatcher's schedule for her February 20 visit to Washington is nearly in place. She will be addressing a Joint Session of Congress; therefore, her meeting with the President will not start until 12 noon, and we will reverse the normal order and have lunch first followed by the meeting, or seminar. There will also be a brief tete-a-tete in the Oval Office just prior to lunch.

From the British perspective the major outstanding question is whether the President and Mrs. Reagan will attend the Ambassador's dinner commemorating the 200th anniversary of US-UK diplomatic relations. The Reagans and Thatchers would be the guests of honor. Wright wrote you about this and other aspects of the visit in early January; in our reply (which went out under Bob's signature because you were in Europe), we promised to help sort out the schedule. We also told Wright to feel free to contact Mike Deaver directly, especially about the dinner.

Wright discussed the dinner with Deaver and he has now written making a formal proposal (Tab A). Bob has been in close touch with Deaver's office all along; and they have asked for our views on the invitation.

In a memo that John signed in your absence we informed Deaver that this sounded like the sort of event the President would like to attend (Tab II).

For your information, Mrs. Thatcher is now staying a second day in Washington and she has asked for a roundtable discussion of economic issues with Cabinet members. State is sorting out who would chair: Shultz or Regan/Baker.

RECOMMENDATION

That you sign the Tab I memo to Deaver reiterating the above view, while also underlining the precedential nature of the President's acceptance.

FROM: ROBERT C. McFARLANE

SUBJECT: Mrs. Thatcher's February Visit

We need to sort out the details of Mrs. Thatcher's February 20 visit to Washington.

She wants to address a joint session of Congress before coming to the White House to meet with the President. Steps are underway to arrange for her to address Congress. Speaker O'Neill's office has indicated that Congress will likely agree and that Mrs. Thatcher could probably address Congress at 11:00 a.m. on February 20.

This will require some modifications in our normal meeting times. Furthermore, Mrs. Thatcher always asks for at least a brief private meeting with the President (see Wright's letter). George Shultz had previously spoken to Mrs. Thatcher about a "seminar" type discussion. This is more or less what we did at Camp David.

Against this background, we propose the following White House schedule for February 20:

11:30 a.m.	- 12 noon	Prebrief
12 noon	- 12:15 p.m.	Private meeting in Oval Office
12:15 p.m.	- 1:15 p.m.	Working luncheon
1:15 p.m.	- 2:30 p.m.	Seminar in Cabinet Room
2:30 p.m.	- 2:40 p.m.	Departure statements

1985 marks the 200th anniversary of the establishment of US-UK diplomatic relations. We plan to include a reference to this in the President's departure remarks. Ambassador Wright also wishes to host a dinner in the President's and Mrs. Thatcher's honor marking the bicentennial anniversary. In view of the President's close personal relationship with Mrs. Thatcher, this sounds like the sort of event that the President would like to attend.

Please let me know your reaction to our schedule suggestion including the possibility of the President attending Ambassador Wright's dinner.

FROM THE AMBASSADOR

25 January 1985

The Honorable
Michael K Deaver
Deputy Chief of Staff
The White House
WASHINGTON DC

Dear Mike,

I was very sorry to read that you had had to go into hospital. Rotten luck! It goes to show what a dangerous business the Opera Follies is! I do hope you are recovering well, and that you will have a chance to take life a little easier in the weeks ahead, now that all your Inauguration efforts have paid off so well.

I have one bit of business which I venture to raise with you despite your illness, because it concerns my Prime Minister. You will remember that, during the fun and games at the Follies, we discussed the possibility that the President and Mrs Reagan might feel able to attend the dinner which I shall be giving on 20 February during Mrs Thatcher's visit. I explained that the evening would have a rather special character, since it would celebrate not only the present close ties between our two countries but also the 200th anniversary of John Adams' mission to the Court of George III, which not only marked reconciliation after the traumas of the Independence War but also constituted the establishment of diplomatic relations between the independent United States and the old country.

You told me that the possibility of the President and Mrs Reagan attending this rather special occasion was not to be excluded. Bud McFarlane, and the State Department, are already aware of my plan; and my people will now be pursuing it with yours. Meanwhile I should be immensely grateful if you could get me an answer fairly soon. The point is that, if the President and First Lady were to grace the dinner with their presence, they would, of course, be guests of honour with the Prime Minister; and, subject, of course, to any considerations of security, I should wish to state that fact on the invitations.

MEMORANDUM FOR NICHOLAS PLATT
Executive Secretary
Department of State

SUBJECT: Press Announcement of November visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales

This memo confirms Peter Sommer's conversation with the UK desk.

We agree to making the subject announcement on March 21 vice March 20. We have no objection to an announcement in London at 4:00 p.m. The White House announcement will be the same as that suggested by the British, except we will not include the last sentence addressing the total length of the Prince and Princess of Wales' stay in Washington. We, of course, do not object to the British including this in their announcement.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. ROBERT C. MCFARLANE
THE WHITE HOUSE

Subject: Announcement of November Visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales

The British Embassy has informed us that HMG would prefer some minor amendments to our suggested press announcements of the November visit to Washington of the Prince and Princess of Wales. The proposed British wording is as follows:

HMG Announcement in London:

> Their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales have accepted an invitation from President and Mrs. Reagan to attend a dinner at the White House on Saturday, 9 November. Their Royal Highnesses will be visiting "The Treasure Houses of Britain" exhibition of which they are patrons, at the National Gallery on 10 November. The Prince and Princess of Wales will be in Washington from 8-12 November.

USG Announcement in Washington:

> The President and Mrs. Reagan have invited the Prince and Princess of Wales to attend a dinner at the White House on Saturday, November 9. The Prince and Princess have accepted the invitation. Their Royal Highnesses will be visiting "The Treasure Houses of Britain" exhibition, of which they are patrons, at the National Gallery on November 10. The Prince and Princess of Wales will be in Washington from November 8-12.

The British Embassy also has informed us that HMG would like to release these statements on March 20. The British intend to release their announcement at their regular press briefing at 4:00 p.m. in London and ask that we make our announcement at 11:00 a.m. so that release will be simultaneous in both capitals. This would preclude our making the announcement at the regular noon press briefing. In the past, we have overcome this problem by agreeing to an announcement in London at 4:00 p.m. with a one hour embargo; we suggest that this solution be used again in this instance.

Please advise as to the acceptability of the above.

Dear Mr. Oglesby:

Enclosed is a copy of a letter I received from Ambassador Oliver Wright relative to the December 22 meeting between President Reagan and Prime Minister Thatcher of Great Britain.

As you recall, I authored a letter co-signed by 59 House and Senate Members to the President urging that Northern Ireland be included on the agenda. According to the British Ambassador's letter it was, but I would have preferred to have first learned of this from the White House. Therefore, I would appreciate a further response to both confirm the Ambassador's letter as well as provide any additional details.

With warm regards, I am

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Biaggi,

I have been asked to reply to your letter of 22 December to the Prime Minister.

The last Summit meeting between the Prime Minister and the Taoiseach was rightly described by Dr FitzGerald as 'a very worthwhile exercise from the point of view of both sides'. Progress was made on a number of important issues. They agreed to continue their dialogue and there will be another Summit meeting in the coming months. Meanwhile the British Government are encouraging the political parties in Northern Ireland themselves to consider possible ways forward.

During their discussion on Northern Ireland at Camp David on 22 December, the Prime Minister briefed President Reagan on her talks with Dr FitzGerald.

Yours sincerely

Oliver Wright
