COUNCIL OF ECONOMIC ADVISERS: Staff Economists: Files, 1981-1989

The three member Council of Economic Advisers (CEA) was established by the Employment Act of 1946. The CEA's Sole function is to "advise and assist the President." The CEA is also charged with preparing the annual Economic Report of the President. Over time, the CEA has become the chief economic forecasting unit for the Administration.

The Council maintains a professional staff of economists to assist in fulfilling these functions for the President and the Administration. At the start of the Reagan Administration the staff consisted of ten senior economists, 2 mid-level economists and 5 junior economists.

These Economists are usually academic economists hired on leaves of absence from universities or other institutions for one-year terms. Because they are academics, their year generally runs from summer to summer. The mid-level and junior economists generally do not have their Ph.D. completed. Each one is assigned a specific area of expertise.

The Library has arranged this collection into 103 series. Each series consists of the material for each identified staff economist. The series are in alphabetical order by the last name of the staff economist. Some series have subseries which will usually include a chronological and subject file. The series are as follows:
