JENKINS, JAMES E.: Files, 1981-1984

Office of the Counsellor to the President: Deputy Counsellor to the President, 1981-1984

James Jenkins (born 1923) joined the Reagan White House staff, as the chief assistant to Counsellor Edwin Meese III, in October 1981. He succeeded Robert Garrick in position. Jenkins had been part of Ronald Reagan's gubernatorial administration in California, serving as Reagan's Assistant for Public Affairs (1969-1971) and Secretary of Health and Welfare (1974-1975). He left the White House staff effective May 15, 1984.

During the Independent Counsel investigation of Franklyn (Lyn) Nofziger in 1987-1988, the White House Counsel's office attached self-stick notes ("Post-it Notes") to documents that were deemed relevant to the Independent Counsel's requests for records. Photocopies of these documents were supplied to the Independent Counsel.

Some of Jenkins' files include material created by Robert Garrick, his predecessor as Deputy Counsellor.
