PRIVACY ACT STATEMENT

The Privacy Government Act of 1976, Public Law 95-521, requires the collection of this information which will be used primarily for public disclosure and to determine compliance with the Act. The information may be disclosed to any requesting person pursuant to Section 205 of the Act or as otherwise authorized by law. Knowing or willful failure to file or report information required to be reported by Section 202 of the Act may subject you to a civil penalty of not more than $5,000 and disciplinary action by your employing agency or other appropriate authority. Knowing and willful falsification of information required to be filed by Section 202 of the Act may also subject you to criminal prosecution under 18 U.S.C. 1001, leading to a fine of not more than $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than two years or both.

Instructions: Read the information sheet first, then complete this financial disclosure statement. Attach additional sheets if needed, identify each sheet by showing your name, position, and the section being continued.

Reporting Period: The information required to be reported in Section I is for the preceding calendar year and the period up to the date of filing. The information required to be reported in Sections II and III is as of the date specified by you in block E. This may not be more than thirty-one days prior to the date of filing.

Spouse and Dependent Children: Report information on income, gifts and reimbursements of a spouse or dependent child as indicated below. Report information on interests (Section II) and liabilities (Section III) of a spouse or dependent child except for items which are the sole interest or responsibility of your spouse or dependent child about which you have no knowledge and which were not derived through you and from which you derive no benefit. (See Section VII A.) Except for earned income, you need not identify items relating to a spouse or dependent child, but you may do so by designating such items with an (S) or (D).

Trusts: Report information on the holdings and the income from the separate holdings of a trust in which you, your spouse or dependent child have a beneficial interest or derive income under the appropriate sections below. You need not report the holdings or income from separate holdings of an excepted trust. However, you must report the category of the amount of total income received from an excepted trust under Section 1 (A). An excepted trust is (1) a qualified blind trust or (2) a trust which was not established directly by, and the sources of income and holdings of which are unknown to you, your spouse, or dependent children.
