Dear Larry:

Thank you for your kind invitation. I am honored that you would think of asking me to address the Harvard Law School alumni on October 20.

Regrettably, the heavy demands of my schedule have forced me to decline. Please know, however, that you have my best wishes for a successful Washington seminar.

Warm regards.

Sincerely,

Howard H. Baker, Jr.

Dear Dr. Reisig:

Thank you for your message expressing support for the President's nomination of Judge Robert H. Bork to the position of Associate Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court.

President Reagan believes Judge Bork to be a man of the highest integrity and qualification as well as an eloquent and powerful advocate of judicial restraint, a philosophy whose guiding principle is that it is the legislature's role to enact laws and the court's role to interpret them.

In making the nomination, the President stated:

Judge Bork is recognized as a premier Constitutional authority. His outstanding intellect and unrivaled scholarly credentials are reflected in his thoughtful examination of the broad, fundamental, legal issues of our times. . . . We're fortunate to be able to draw upon such an impressive legal mind; an experienced judge and a man who already has devoted so much of his life to public service. He'll bring credit to the Court and his colleagues, as well as to his country and the Constitution.

The American Bar Association gave Judge Bork its highest rating -- "exceptionally well qualified" -- when he was confirmed by the Senate as an Appellate Judge in 1982. President Reagan is confident that the current Senate confirmation process will be equally successful and he looks forward to Judge Bork beginning a long and distinguished career as a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Again, thank you for writing. Please accept my best wishes.

Sincerely,

Howard H. Baker, Jr.

Dear Mr. Courtermarsh:

Thank you for your recent correspondence regarding the Iran-Contra matter. I think you will agree with the President as he said in his statement to the nation on August 12, " . . . just look at the damage that's been done and the time that's been lost. But I've always found that the best therapy for outrage and anger is action."

The President has taken steps to change the system and personnel. New and tighter procedures on consulting with and notifying the Congress on future covert actions have been adopted.

The most important course of action is to develop trust between the Executive and Legislative branches of government. We believe that there is now a growing concern that more can be accomplished through improved cooperation.

I thank you for your letter regarding this important issue.

Sincerely,

Howard H. Baker, Jr.

Thank you for your message to Senator Baker regarding the Iran-Contra matter.

In his address to the nation on August 12, President Reagan outlined his Administration's response to the investigations that have been held, both by the Congress and the Executive, into the sale of arms to Iran and the diversion of funds to the democratic resistance in Nicaragua. He set forth the lessons that can be derived from this process, and he took this opportunity to stress his support for close cooperation between the branches on foreign policy matters, including the conduct of necessary covert operations. The President also underscored the key goals he intends to pursue in the coming months in both the domestic and foreign arenas.
