Dear Mr. Tully:

Thank you for your message to the Chief of Staff. He especially enjoys hearing from students across the United States who take the time to share their thoughts with him.

While Mr. Baker would like to personally answer each and every letter he receives, the heavy volume of mail prevents him from doing so. Nevertheless, he appreciates your thoughtfulness in writing and hopes you will always take an active interest in the concerns of our country. America's future rests in your hands!

Dear Mr. Reiter:

On behalf of Senator Baker, I want to thank you for your letter concerning an internship for your grandson. Your interest in writing is appreciated.

While there are no internships available in the Office of the Chief of Staff, I am bringing your letter to the attention of the Office of Presidential Personnel. Your grandson may also try contacting his Congressional representative to see what positions may be available on Capitol Hill.

Senator Baker was pleased to hear from you and sends his warm best wishes to you and your family during this holiday season.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Lilley:

Thank you for your letter to Senator Baker inviting him to participate in the American Business Conference membership meeting in March 1988.

I hope you will understand that a definite answer this far in advance is not possible. Please get back in touch with our office in late January. At that time we will be happy to give your invitation every consideration.

With Senator Baker's best wishes for a successful meeting,

Sincerely,

Dear Jim:

Thanks for inviting me to address the Small Business Week luncheon on May 11, 1988. I am truly honored by your thoughtfulness.

At this point I cannot give a definite answer, but please get back in touch with my staff in March. Your kind invitation will receive every consideration as my spring schedule evolves.

My warm best wishes,

Sincerely,

Dear Joe:

Thanks for following up on your invitation to address the annual AWCI convention in Nashville in March 1988.

As much as I would like to come home to Tennessee, I must send a disappointing response to your request. The demands of my schedule just won't permit me the pleasure of joining you. However, please accept my best wishes for a most successful meeting.

I too enjoyed our conversation. Warm regards.

Dear Mr. Farris:

Thank you for your letter on the budget reduction negotiations. As I'm sure you are aware, we have now reached an agreement and the package will be considered very soon by the Congress.

As I've told many groups here in Washington, this is not a perfect package, and it need not be the last word on deficit reduction. But it is very clear that the results will likely be severe if it doesn't pass. It's also far superior to the indiscriminate budget cuts that would occur under an automatic sequester.

A defeat of this package would send a dire signal to the international markets that our government has lost the ability to control the deficit -- a signal that could be followed by higher interest rates and a serious slowing of our economy.

This agreement is a solid step toward meaningful deficit reduction over two years, without increasing tax rates or adding new broad-based taxes or new excise taxes. Although the specific revenue sources are now being determined through the regular legislative process, the President has indicated that he will not hesitate to veto a bad tax bill.

Now the challenge is to get the package passed by the Congress. Hopefully, they will agree with its merits and act soon to pass this important step toward responsible deficit reduction.

Thank you for writing.

Sincerely,

Howard H. Baker, Jr.
Chief of Staff to the President
