Dear Mr. Baker:

Congratulations on your appointment as Chief of Staff to the President of the United States.

The integrity by which you have lived, and which you displayed so well at the Watergate hearings, and as Republican Senate majority leader, gives a great many of us a comfortable feeling knowing that the position of Chief of Staff is in such capable hands.

I wish you much success.

Sincerely yours,

Josephine Hyde Durham

Dear Mr. Baker:

When I heard on the radio that you had been appointed to be Chief of Staff, a feeling of relief came over me for I have been extremely anxious about my country a long time. I do hope and pray that with your ability, honesty, and integrity, as well as knowledge of government you will be successful in getting the Administration back on course.

I shall pray for you daily.

Dear Senator Baker,

As a former resident of Livingston, Overton County; and your supporter on the Panama Canal decision; your try for the Presidential nomination; and your overall efforts in behalf of the public welfare — I wish you a huge success in a most trying position.

Please take care of our President for the next of two years and keep this Nation on an even keel.

We'll always need someone like you in public service + I hope you'll stay out of retirement this time.

Sincerely

Dear Senator Baker,

I want to wish you success and good luck in your new work as Chief of Staff. I've followed your career since your election to the Senate in 1966. My Dad is from Knoxville and he was happy beyond belief to see a Republican represent Tennessee in the Senate.

While I was in college I watched much of the Watergate hearings and saw our nation served by two patriots, you and Senator Ervin. I think your decision to serve as Chief of Staff for President Reagan is a selfless, admirable act. Beyond partisan or sectional feelings, thankyou, I know you'll do great work.

Godspeed,

Stuart Hayes

Dear Senator Baker,

HHB-1

You are undoubtedly the most generous man in America. I'm glad to see you in the White House, but I had hoped it would be with your own name above the front doorbell, and I was looking forward to working toward that end in New Hampshire in the coming year.

Your proven abilities at leadership and problem solving will surely be put to the test in the days ahead, but if anyone can do the job, you can.

For a man of only 61, the 88 presidential campaign will surely not be the last, and I hope to yet see your name on our ballots. Meanwhile, I'm going to take the letter you sent after the 80 campaign and put it on the wall to say with pride that I know somebody who puts the interests of his country above his own. People like that are becoming unfortunately few.

If the next year brings you anywhere near our frozen stumps, there will be a quiet place on a mountain side to hide out for a while, with a strong cup of coffee or a drop of Tennessee whiskey, and a chair by the fireplace.

Good luck, sir.

Dear Mr. Baker,

I am so glad you have been chosen as White House Chief of staff.

I tried in my small way to get you nominated for President.

During Watergate hearings, you impressed me most when you asked each one you interrogated, "With your position, education and advantages, how did you allow yourself to be led into this situation?"

I watched every day and wrote that you was the best choice for President of our country.

Thank God you are now in position to help our country.

Dear Mr. Baker,

Thank you for taking on this job.

I had no idea that Friday's announcement could come, and could bring such a feeling of hope for our nation, and for the Presidency which seemed to be sure to be destroyed by this latest attack from press, and reporters which in effect is what is happening — a threat to the future office of the President.

It took me a moment to realize which Baker they were speaking of, and then the flood of hope — such as chance, and such courage it must have taken to accept.

Certainly this service to our nation will give you a place in history as a saving service to our United States, and the White House and President in the future. And, certainly the Presidency of Ronald Reagan did not deserve to go down in the infamy some were trying to bury it.

Thank you for your courage, and resolve in taking on the task.

I like the way you have taken hold, and what you have said so far.

God luck to you & yours.

Sincerely,

Lorene Perkins

Although I have supported the Republican Party I have never asked for anything in Return. I am not a rich person or famous but I do care very deeply about my Country & my President. I wrote the NSC & asked them if I could serve them in any way & never received an answer. The National Security Council needs some good Men. I hope some day to serve my country again as I did for 20 years in the Military. Again Senator Baker good luck in your New Job. I will always call you my Senator, because you were the best. Forever humble in your service & the service of my Country.

Dear Mr. Baker.

I am glad to hear about your new job, but sad to see you are not running for President. I had geared myself up! & my wife to help work for you in Tennessee I am very sadened to see you not running for President. I allready had my sign made up to put in my yard. It read.

I wish you all the luck in your new job because I know you stepped into a mess. I am a retired army person & it hurts to see the Military do the President like they did. I was really looking forward to working this election. I helped the President & was ready to help you. I have saved enough I mean to try & cover about 15 cities in Tennessee for the canidate you chose to support. I supported you in every campaign you ran in & I know you did a good job & I was proud of what you done for Tennessee. If I can be of service to you in
