Mr Howard Baker
Chief of Staff
Office of President of USA
Capitol Bldg
Wash DC 20515

Dear Mr Baker:
Let me congratulate you on accepting the
Chief of Staff Position.

You are truly a great statesman to answer the call of our President at this time.

I know of no one more qualified or that I would rather see in that Position as the right hand man to Reagan.

May I draw your atten: to (2) outstanding men now holding responsible positions in our Gov: Mr Ken Adelman our Chief Negotiator and Richard Pearlman of State Dept

I think Mr Adelman should be considered as a strong candidate for the Director of CIA, and Richard Pearlman you might like to consider as one of your 1st assistants.

I liken your new appointment as important as when Mr Ford took over for Mr. Thompson
 It would have been my pleasure to vote for you in 88, but consider it far more important that you take over as Chief of Staff now.
 My wife & I will pray for you in your new position.

Never fear you are the very best man for the job.
 In a selfish way I as a retired Senior citizen hope you will keep "Catastrophic Health Care" as a high priority in your future deliberations.

Sincerely

Richard D Hill

Dear Senator Baker:

It gives my family and I great pleasure to congratulate you and commend the President on designating you as the new Chief of Staff for the White House.

In my opinion, the man and the hour have met, and you are just what our Country and Party need to rectify the President's problem. Your impeccable credentials and reputation for integrity will provide the remedy.

We, in Pascagoula, have warm feelings and remember well your efforts on our behalf to help us raise funds for the Republican Party here in Mississippi. Once again, we are in your debt as you undertake to dispel the problems presently besetting the Presidency. Good luck Senator! We are one hundred percent behind you.

Dear Senator,

I write to congratulate you for your willingness to undertake another difficult task for the American people. I believe all Americans will be behind you and wish you all of the best in this new endeavor.

I wrote to you when you left the Senate in reference to your plans to run for the Presidency and received a kind reply from you.

I still pray that there will be a chance for you to run for the office of President but know you will put that off in order to do your best for President Reagan and the American people.

I am most impressed also with the ability of Senator John Tower and hope that he will be used somewhere there to help in this current situation.

March 9, 1987

Dear Mr. Baker,

May I congratulate you on your appointment as Chief of Staff. We are in much need of someone with administrative and political skills sufficient to meet the challenge of cleaning house and (perhaps) making decisions that more acute Presidents would have already been making. Having watched your political career since the Watergate days, I am of two minds. I would very much have liked to have crossed the fixed gulf between our parties and voted for you in 1988.

On the other hand, no conscientious American, no matter what his party affiliation, would want the present administration to falter further. We need someone like you to put ambition aside for a time and work for the betterment of government.

As to your political aspirations, I have read columns with diverse opinions. At one extreme is the belief that you do not have "the fire in the belly" to want to do what is necessary to win election. At the other lies the suspicion that you know a Republican victory to be impossible in 1988 and that you are making a calculating move to position yourself for 1992.

Frankly, I hope that the truth is somewhere in the middle. There is nothing wrong with being reluctant to seek great office. Martin of Tours, one of the Church's greatest bishops, refused the mitre several times. He then only agreed to be consecrated if he would not be required to take on the rich life that his asceticism rebelled against. His diocesan headquarters was a cave!

On the other hand, if you are willing to accept the great burden of being the President, then do everything that is moral to obtain the position. As you know far better than I, less scrupulous men will do a great deal to obtain power. If politicians with ethical values cannot find the energy to fight for great office, the office itself will be diminished.

I think that the President made an important move with your appointment. I pray that it does not become apparent that he knowingly broke the law. If he has, then he will have to resign. But if he simply did a poor job in administration, then the corner has been turned. Even though I watch politics from my arm chair, I watch them very carefully. Your integrity and willingness to deal with Congress should mean good things for the country in the remaining months of the Reagan years.

Faithfully Yours,

Michael S. Jones, D. Min.
Rector

Dear Senator:

It was my good pleasure to meet you in January in Las Cruces, New Mexico as a guest of Senator Pete Domenici at our State University Business Forum. You may recall that we discussed the strategic location of the State of Tennessee in regard to reaching 60% of the nation's population; also how Lamar Alexander and others had been most successful in developing industry for the State.

Thank you so much for taking the Chief of Staff job for The President. You have the respect and admiration of many people; his choice in selecting you will retain confidence and integrity in the White House staff. You are in a position to exercise good, positive leadership. Our country right now has so many adversaries and critics that if ever there was a time for us to work together, this is it.

I know you have placed your presidential hopes in a secondary priority in order to be of service to all of us at this particular needy time.

Good luck and good success, our prayers are with you.

My wife and I would like to take this opportunity to sincerely congratulate you on your appointment as Chief-of-Staff, by President Reagan.

As small importers/wholesalers we are observing, first hand, the difficulties in surviving the weakness of the U.S. Dollar along with continually rising operating expenses. It was, therefore, a great pleasure to hear of the appointment of a man of your caliber, integrity, intellect and experience to this very important position in our Government.

I know of your acquaintance with my wife's parents, Dr. Donald H. Ellis and Mrs. Oacluce Ellis of Bristol, Tennessee and of their long-standing respect for and support of your political career. In closing, I would like to assure you of our moral-support in your efforts as Chief-of-Staff and our willingness to actively assist you if and when you decide to run for our country's highest office...

Dear Senator Baker:

Congratulations on your appointment as White House Chief of Staff. The news of your appointment was not only well received in Washington, it was also looked upon very positively in this area. Your many friends and many years in Washington will serve you well. In my opinion, the President could not have selected a more competent individual to manage White House policy for the next two years. Your ability to get cooperation from the Congress stood out in the past and will certainly stand out for the remainder of President Reagan's term.

I am sure that most of our fellow countrymen feel as I do, let us get the Iran-Contra affair behind us and get on with the business of running the country and place our efforts where they belong, finding reasonable solutions to our domestic problems, maintaining a good, sound foreign policy, especially in Central America, and continuing to insure a more than adequate national security.

Be assured that you have our utmost support in the difficult job ahead. Please accept my personal congratulations and very best wishes and support for your continuing success in the future.

Dear Senator:

Your recent appointment as Chief of Staff to The President has been a great boost to Republicans all over the country, but especially here in North Carolina.

With a Republican Governor, who is up for re-election in 1988, and despite the loss of Jim Broyhill in the Senate, I feel very optimistic that things will go well for Republicans in North Carolina in the future.

Congratulations and best wishes are certainly in order, and if I may be of help to you or your staff please let me know.

Honorable Howard Baker
The White House
Washington D.C.

Dear Mr. Baker:

Let me begin by congratulating you on your appointment. I would like to thank you for placing your own presidential ambitions on hold to serve President Reagan, the Republican party, and the American people.

As a 24 year old republican, I have been a strong supporter of President Reagan since 1980. I have to admit that I was disappointed with the Iran arms deal, but everyone makes mistakes. I hope that all of us can put this issue in the past and get on with the future.

If the President can raise another issue that is good for all Americans, like tax reform was, then maybe we can put this behind us. I think welfare reform could be the issue to get the presidency back on track. I hope you will urge the President to push this issue with the same vigor that he pushed tax reform, and I hope the remaining two years of the term are successful.

Again, congratulations on your appointment.

Sincerely,

Dear Sir:

I am pleased to have the privilage of writing this letter in as much as I'm pleased to see you back in the political arena again. When you resigned as a candidate for the presidency, I was much dissappointed; as I think you have good potentials as leader of this country. Such demonstration was shown me during the watergate hearings. Me and my co-wrkers have discussed your presence in the position of Chief of Staff is one in which you can handle and be a stepping stone to a future candidaency for President. Your quality in dealving into the facts will be an assett to your position.

May God bless you in your endeavour and hope to see your name on a presidential ticket in the future.
