MEETING WITH SENATOR ROGER JEPSEN (R-IOWA)

DATE: Tuesday, July 27, 1982
LOCATION: Oval Office
TIME: 9:45 a.m. 10 minutes

FROM: Kenneth M. Duberstein KMD

I. PURPOSE

To accommodate Senator Jepsen's request to talk to you about the long term grain agreement with the Soviet Union, your trip to Iowa next month and an Iowa political matter involving Governor Ray.

II. BACKGROUND

As a Senator from one of the most important grain states in the union, Senator Jepsen is a strong supporter of a new long term grain agreement with the Soviet Union. He would like to discuss this matter with you.

He also would like to discuss three matters involving your trip to Iowa this coming August 2nd. He feels that certain events surrounding that last trip put him in a difficult position politically in the State and he would like to make sure that this trip is positive for you and for him. For instance, he is concerned that you may talk to the National Corn Growers and not meet with members of the National Farm Bureau, a group that has been a strong supporter of the Administration and which has 130,000 members in Iowa.

He would also like to discuss a possible Administration appointment for Governor Ray who is leaving the Governor's office in January.

You should know that Senator Jepsen did, very reluctantly, vote for the tax bill that passed the Senate last week. He was reportedly very unhappy with the bill but supported it nonetheless.

You might also be interested that Jepsen, when he leaves this meeting, will be chairing the first hearing on the Hill on the Flat Tax Rate proposal.

SUGGESTED TALKING POINTS FOR MEETING WITH BI-PARTISAN GROUP OF SENATORS

- The Senate began debate on S.J.Res. 58, the balanced budget amendment on July 12. The measure is still pending before the Senate, and Majority Leader Baker anticipates a vote on final passage by Friday of this week. You should mention that you have been following Senate action on the balanced budget amendment and that you have called this group together to encourage their active participation in the debate and their support of final passage.

- Point out that you have been playing a very active role in this issue yourself. On July 12, you hosted a luncheon for the bi-partisan leadership on this issue and you spoke on July 19 at a rally on Capitol Hill.

- Although this group should be familiar with the specifics of S.J.Res. 58 by now, there is a fact sheet on the balanced budget amendment attached from which you might make some general comments on the substance of the legislation itself.

- Invite comments from the group and a general discussion of S.J.Res. 58.

- Stress the fact that there is a good deal of strong bi-partisan support for this amendment and that although the battle is far from over, we have made a good start. Express your hope that the Senate will complete action on this legislation by the end of the week, and assure these members that you will continue to take an active, personal role in this issue until Congress completes final action.

- Thank the members for coming.

FACT SHEET - BALANCED BUDGET AMENDMENT LUNCHEON

-- The resolutions must have an affirmative vote by 2/3 of those members present in both bodies to pass.

-- After passage, 3/4 of the states (38) must ratify the amendment.
-- FY 86 would most probably be the earliest it could go into effect.
-- The balanced budget amendment would require the Congress to adopt each year a balanced budget statement with planned outlays not exceeding planned receipts.

-- The amendment stipulates that actual outlays may not exceed planned outlays.

-- Federal receipts would be constrained from growing faster than National income.

-- The amendment restricts the Congress from balancing the budget on the backs of taxpayers.

-- Automatic increases in federal taxes due to "bracket creep" will be eliminated, i.e., taxes cannot be raised at a faster rate than the growth in National income, without an explicit vote by the Congress and approval by the President.

-- The federal budget has been balanced only once since 1969, twice since 1960, five times since 1950.

-- Federal spending went from about $90 billion in 1960 to over $700 billion in 1982 -- a seven-fold increase in one generation.
-- Future generations will have to pay the bills for continued over-spending unless we can get and keep the federal budget in balance and begin to reduce the $1 trillion plus national debt.

There is widespread support for the balanced budget amendment:

-- Presently, 79% of all voters favor a Constitutional amendment requiring Congress to plan a balanced budget.

-- 31 state legislatures have petitioned Congress calling for a Constitutional Convention on this issue.

-- 40 states have Constitutional restraints against spending more than they take in.

-- Balanced federal budgets used to be an unwritten rule of government. Too many years of tax and spending have made deficit financing a habit that will be hard to break unless a balanced budget amendment is written into the Constitution. The subsequent budget process will be more responsive to genuine popular sentiment and less the captive of special interest lobbies.

July 23, 1982

MEETING WITH BI-PARTISAN GROUP OF SENATORS TO DISCUSS THE BALANCED BUDGET CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

DATE: Tuesday, July 27, 1982

LOCATION: The Cabinet Room

TIME: 10:00 a.m. (25 minutes)

FROM: Kenneth M. Duberstein K. D.

I. PURPOSE

To encourage Senate support for passage of a constitutional amendment to balance the budget.

II. BACKGROUND

The Senate is currently debating S.J.Res. 58, a constitutional amendment to balance the budget. Senate Majority Leader Baker has indicated his intention to try to finish this legislation by Friday of this week. Debate began on Monday, July 12, and there are still a number of controversial amendments which are expected to be offered. There are currently 63 co-sponsors of this measure in the Senate, but a two-thirds vote is required for final passage. Senators Hatch (R-Utah), Thurmond (R-South Carolina), and DeConcini (D-Arizona) are the chief proponents of S.J.Res. 58.

On July 12, you hosted a bi-partisan Congressional luncheon at the White House to underscore your personal interest in the balanced budget amendment and to encourage expeditious approval by Congress. Senator DeConcini, who attended that luncheon, subsequently suggested that you meet with several of his other colleagues who had indicated interest in the balanced budget amendment. Most of the Senators who are attending this meeting are co-sponsors of the amendment, although some of these have not been particularly active in their support, and there are a few who are truly undecided. The purpose of this meeting is for you to demonstrate your strong personal support for the balanced budget amendment and urge this bi-partisan group of Senators to take an active role in supporting its passage.

-- After passage, 3/4 of the states (38) must ratify the amendment.

-- FY 86 would most probably be the earliest it could go into effect.

-- The balanced budget amendment would require the Congress to adopt each year a balanced budget statement with planned outlays not exceeding planned receipts.

-- The amendment stipulates that actual outlays may not exceed planned outlays.

-- Federal receipts would be constrained from growing faster than National income.

-- The amendment restricts the Congress from balancing the budget on the backs of taxpayers.

-- Automatic increases in federal taxes due to "bracket creep" will be eliminated, i.e., taxes cannot be raised at a faster rate than the growth in National income, without an explicit vote by the Congress and approval by the President.

-- The federal budget has been balanced only once since 1969, twice since 1960, five times since 1950.

-- Federal spending went from about $90 billion in 1960 to over $700 billion in 1982 -- a seven-fold increase in one generation.

-- Future generations will have to pay the bills for continued over-spending unless we can get and keep the federal budget in balance and begin to reduce the $1 trillion plus national debt.

There is widespread support for the balanced budget amendment:

-- Presently, 79% of all voters favor a Constitutional amendment requiring Congress to plan a balanced budget.

-- 31 state legislatures have petitioned Congress calling for a Constitutional Convention on this issue.

-- 40 states have Constitutional restraints against spending more than they take in.

-- Balanced federal budgets used to be an unwritten rule of government. Too many years of tax and spending have made deficit financing a habit that will be hard to break unless a balanced budget amendment is written into the Constitution. The subsequent budget process will be more responsive to genuine popular sentiment and less the captive of special interest lobbies.

MEETING WITH THE FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

DATE: July 27, 1982
LOCATION: Rose Garden
TIME: 11:45-11:55 a.m.
FROM: ELIZABETH H. DOLE

I. PURPOSE

To greet representatives of the Future Farmers of America during their 14th annual State President's Washington Conference.

II. BACKGROUND

The Future Farmers of America (FFA) is a national vocational student organization which represents 500,000 young people from 8,000 high schools who are preparing for careers in the field of agriculture. A major emphasis of this organization is the development of leadership skills and abilities in young people. The participants are in Washington, D.C. for their 14th annual State President's Washington Conference which is sponsored by the General Motors Corporation. Secretary Block, a former FFA state president, Secretary Bell and Elizabeth Dole will also be addressing the group.

III. PARTICIPANTS

200 local, state and national student FFA officers; 200 state and adult leaders representing FFA; and 100 special guests representing the agriculture industry.

IV. PRESS PLAN

White House press pool.

V. SEQUENCE OF EVENTS

11:45 a.m. You greet your guests already assembled in the Rose Garden and make brief remarks.

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: GREETING TO FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA
JULY 27, 1982

Thank you and welcome. Perhaps the best way to make you feel at home is to tell a story about the farmer who went to a modern art exhibit. He walked up to one abstract painting and studied it carefully from all angles. Finally, he told his wife he wanted to buy it. When she asked why, he said, "It's the best darned picture of the farm situation I ever saw. No matter which way you look at it, it doesn't make sense."

Well, I want you to know those of us here in the Administration are trying our hardest to bring more common sense to the farm situation. In fact, one of your own members, John Block, is my Secretary of Agriculture. John became a greenhand in the Knoxville, Illinois, Chapter of FFA back in 1949. And my bet is that he can still get into his blue jacket. I think John really misses farming. Earlier this spring he wanted to plow up the Rose Garden and put in soybeans.

But the FFA is known for developing leaders like Jack Block. And your "Building Our American Communities" program, which recognizes thousands of youth who take the lead in improving their communities, is just such an example. The FFA embodies the best of the volunteer spirit. And there are so many instances I could cite here.

In Flagler County, Florida, an FFA chapter set out to reduce beach erosion in a dune area by planting vegetation. The result was an estimated 95-percent reduction in erosion. In Glen Gardner, New Jersey, the chapter landscaped a newly-renovated library. In Howells, Nebraska, the FFA constructed a basketball court and scoreboard and repaired picnic tables and benches in a local park. In Elma, Washington, the FFA chapter built nearly eight miles of fire trails and planted over 219,000 seedlings. I have to tell you I love these kinds of stories and could go on and on just citing FFA examples. But on behalf of all Americans, I want to thank you, the members of FFA, for what you're doing for our country.

America needs your kind of leadership. And she also needs your contributions to farming and agribusiness. Through the vocational agriculture program -- and I know Secretary Bell is interested in this -- the FFA has prepared millions of young people for their careers.

I like something Cicero said about the occupation you will someday pursue. He said, "Of all occupations from which gain is secured, there is none better than agriculture, nothing more productive, nothing sweeter, nothing more worthy of a free man." You of the FFA fulfill that ideal. And as you go along on your careers, I want you to know that you carry not only my genuine respect but my heartfelt best wishes.
