

Ronald Reagan Presidential Library
Digital Library Collections

This is a PDF of a folder from our textual collections.

Collection: Press Secretary, White House Office
of: Press Releases and Press Briefings
Folder Title: Press Releases: 9357 11/20/1985
Box: 118

To see more digitized collections visit:

<https://reaganlibrary.gov/archives/digital-library>

To see all Ronald Reagan Presidential Library inventories visit:

<https://reaganlibrary.gov/document-collection>

Contact a reference archivist at: reagan.library@nara.gov

Citation Guidelines: <https://reaganlibrary.gov/citing>

National Archives Catalogue: <https://catalog.archives.gov/>

THE WHITE HOUSE
Office of the Press Secretary
(Geneva, Switzerland)

For Immediate Release

November 20, 1985

LARRY SPEAKES
IN Q&A WITH REPORTERS
OUTSIDE THE SOVIET MISSION

Geneva, Switzerland

3:45 P.M. (L) (Approximate)

MR. SPEAKES: Yes, the two sides have agreed to recess momentarily while their -- and the United State delegation has returned to the U.S. Mission to receive a briefing from those who have been working on possible agreements, possible ideas about how we report on the meeting.

The Soviet delegation and the U.S. delegation have been meeting at the U.S. Mission. They will return -- the Soviets will return to this Mission and report to their ministers and the U.S. delegation went there to receive the information.

Q The Soviets went to their -- the Soviets stayed here for their briefing with their people? Is that what you are saying?

MR. SPEAKES: Here's the scenario. The U.S. and the Soviets were meeting at their -- at the U.S. Embassy -- a group outside of this meeting. They have agreed -- the two leaders have agreed to -- the two leaders agreed in the meeting that they would confer with those who had been holding a separate meeting. So the Soviets are returning to their Mission to confer with their delegation and the U.S. group is going to the U.S. Mission to confer with its delegation.

Meanwhile the President and the General Secretary remain here in a private conference. It's in a stand-up fashion in the large hall of the Mission here.

Q When did it break up and how long did it go on?

MR. SPEAKES: If I can give you the times here.

Q Can you get this back to our office, because we don't have a phone.

MR. SPEAKES: We need to work out a way for you to phone it some way.

What we've got is a -- We arrived here at 2:25 p.m. The General Secretary suggested that the two go into a private session, which they began at 2:29 p.m. It lasted for fourteen minutes. At 2:43 p.m. they began the session with the large group and at 3:30 p.m. they recessed.

Q How long did it last? Only fourteen minutes.

MR. SPEAKES: Fourteen minutes for the private session and the other one lasted from 2:43 p.m. until 3:30 p.m., so roughly fifty minutes there give or take a few.

Q How long to you expect this recess to be?

MORE

MR. SPEAKES: The recess is scheduled to last about 30 or 40 minutes. I think our group will be back here at 4:15 p.m.

Q All right. And then, what's the situation as far as the time tomorrow? Has that been worked out? Do you know what time this thing's going to take place and where?

MR. SPEAKES: Well, what is under discussion now is to -- whether and how we will report the occurrences at the summit. There have been discussions that have been ongoing, both in the meetings with the principals, and outside of the meetings with the principals. And the point is, we've reached a point where they would like to confer with their subordinates, and they have gone out to do so.

Now, at the moment, no decisions have been made regarding how the two leaders will report.

Q Do you know who has been heading the U.S. effort in this regard outside of these meetings?

MR. SPEAKES: It's been a number of people from Defense, State and NSC.

Q But they've all been meeting at the U.S. Mission. Now, each side is going to their own mission --

MR. SPEAKES: To their respective --

Q -- to confer with each -- to confer with themselves.

MR. SPEAKES: That's right.

Q Then, they come back and report to the leaders.

MR. SPEAKES: Yes.

Q Do you think we could get to a White House phone?

MR. SPEAKES: We'll try to do that. I'll try to arrange it.

Q Larry, how big were these --

Q What did you say Reagan and Gorbachev are doing now?

MR. SPEAKES: They are engaged in a private conversation in the -- a large hall of the Soviet Mission here.

Q -- a standing conversation? They're going to stand up for a half-hour and talk?

MR. SPEAKES: They may; and they might sit down.

Q So really, this might -- this is the end, and when they come back, then they make some kind of decision?

MR. SPEAKES: Well, not necessarily. They -- there would be opportunities for further discussion at the leadership level. There is a dinner tonight that certainly provides a forum for further discussion on numerous topics.

Q Is this an indication that the blackout is lifted?

MR. SPEAKES: No, the Soviets and the Soviet spokesman, Mr. Zamyatin, and I agreed inside just a few minutes ago that I would come out and make the report and we would like to have this filed so that all can get it.

Q Larry, how big were the delegations that were meeting apart from the principals?

MR. SPEAKES: I don't know the numbers. I don't.

Q How long have they been meeting?

MR. SPEAKES: They've been meeting off and on over the two-day period.

Q At the U.S. Mission always?

MR. SPEAKES: I'm not sure where the meetings were held, whether they -- they could have been at both Missions.

Q But who would they include -- people like?

MR. SPEAKES: They would include experts in the various areas.

Q Like what?

MR. SPEAKES: Experts in bilateral relations, experts in regional problems, experts in arms control.

Q Now they would be talking back and forth with their counterparts in the Soviet Union and I assume also getting communications back from the principles?

MR. SPEAKES: Sure. They would report, as the group has to our delegation. They would report to their principles.

Q Okay. I have a question. They are getting together to decide how they will report or what they will report?

MR. SPEAKES: I think all of those questions are topics for discussion. There have been the ongoing talks between the Secretary General and the President and then these talks at a second level. It's time now to bring both talks together and to discuss all aspects of the summit.

Q Now, this -- if there are any agreements, this is the point at which they would come back from the officials who've been working on the details and would be presented to the leaders for their approval?

MR. SPEAKES: Well, I can't predict. This is for a moment -- an opportunity for both sides to confer with their respective delegations.

Q Did we come in with a plan at all?

MR. SPEAKES: I just don't really want to go beyond that. I think this is about all we've agreed to do.

Q Is this to indicate that there were no deals being cut in here by the leaders and they were all outside this conference?

MR. SPEAKES: No. The entire -- both delegations at all levels have been in contact with each other and everyone from top to bottom has been aware of the discussions that are taking place.

Q Larry, were these --

Q Did everyone in the U.S. delegation go back to the U.S. Mission or did part of them stay here?

MR. SPEAKES: I believe most of them went back with the exception of the President.

Q Did these two -- were these meetings with -- at the expert level? Did those begin because the two leaders were meeting in private and therefore the delegation's discussions were curtailed.

MR. SPEAKES: No. No, they began because there's detail that needs to be discussed at the -- at other levels.

Q Was there anyone that was involved in the -- capital discussions earlier before the summit began that came here and was also involved --

MR. SPEAKES: I don't know the --

Q It sounds like the two sides meeting at the U.S. Mission got together on a general preliminary plan and have now gone to each of their own delegations to see whether it will fly.

MR. SPEAKES: I think that oversimplifies it a bit.

Q Is it --

MR. SPEAKES: I think what you've done is you've had discussions going on a two levels. This is an opportunity now to get back to the delegations that have been meeting outside of the summit room and have an opportunity to confer with them and report back to their leaders.

Q Who left here? Regan just walked out the front here.

MR. SPEAKES: Yes.

Q Who left in the car earlier?

MR. SPEAKES: Shultz and Bud and others.

Q Okay, so the main players in here are all gone now?

MR. SPEAKES: With the exception of the two main players.

Q Right. But I say -- I mean, within the principles?

MORE

MR. SPEAKES: Yes, that's right.

Q So but -- while we're talking about the expert level, they essentially picked up the ball from the negotiations that have been going on between the two capitals?

MR. SPEAKES: Yes, that is right.

Q And continue to work on the details while the other -- the principles dealt at a higher level but on the same issues?

MR. SPEAKES: That is correct, yes.

I think what would be a good idea. Schuster or Jim, I think what would be a good idea is for me to get a car over here --it's two minutes away -- and take you back and maybe the radio tape back if you want to play it through the mult.

Q Okay.

Q But what if I don't have anyone in the press room? I mean, can I -- I'd like to go back, too, if I could.

Q Yes, or just maybe two of us run over and come back, or --

MR. SPEAKES: However you all want to do it. Let me just get a car over here that would help you get back.

Q Yes, because we need to file.

MR. SPEAKES: Whoever needs to get back. You need to be covered here because --

THE PRESS: Thank you.

END

3:55 P.M. (L) (Approximate)

THE WHITE HOUSE

Office of the Press Secretary
(Geneva, Switzerland)

For Immediate Release

November 20, 1985

LARRY SPEAKES
IN Q&A WITH REPORTERS
OUTSIDE THE SOVIET MISSION

Geneva, Switzerland

3:45 P.M. (L) (Approximate)

MR. SPEAKES: Yes, the two sides have agreed to recess momentarily while their -- and the United State delegation has returned to the U.S. Mission to receive a briefing from those who have been working on possible agreements, possible ideas about how we report on the meeting.

The Soviet delegation and the U.S. delegation have been meeting at the U.S. Mission. They will return -- the Soviets will return to this Mission and report to their ministers and the U.S. delegation went there to receive the information.

Q The Soviets went to their -- the Soviets stayed here for their briefing with their people? Is that what you are saying?

MR. SPEAKES: Here's the scenario. The U.S. and the Soviets were meeting at their -- at the U.S. Embassy -- a group outside of this meeting. They have agreed -- the two leaders have agreed to -- the two leaders agreed in the meeting that they would confer with those who had been holding a separate meeting. So the Soviets are returning to their Mission to confer with their delegation and the U.S. group is going to the U.S. Mission to confer with its delegation.

Meanwhile the President and the General Secretary remain here in a private conference. It's in a stand-up fashion in the large hall of the Mission here.

Q When did it break up and how long did it go on?

MR. SPEAKES: If I can give you the times here.

Q Can you get this back to our office, because we don't have a phone.

MR. SPEAKES: We need to work out a way for you to phone it some way.

What we've got is a -- We arrived here at 2:25 p.m. The General Secretary suggested that the two go into a private session, which they began at 2:29 p.m. It lasted for fourteen minutes. At 2:43 p.m. they began the session with the large group and at 3:30 p.m. they recessed.

Q How long did it last? Only fourteen minutes.

MR. SPEAKES: Fourteen minutes for the private session and the other one lasted from 2:43 p.m. until 3:30 p.m., so roughly fifty minutes there give or take a few.

Q How long to you expect this recess to be?

MORE

MR. SPEAKES: The recess is scheduled to last about 30 or 40 minutes. I think our group will be back here at 4:15 p.m.

Q All right. And then, what's the situation as far as the time tomorrow? Has that been worked out? Do you know what time this thing's going to take place and where?

MR. SPEAKES: Well, what is under discussion now is to -- whether and how we will report the occurrences at the summit. There have been discussions that have been ongoing, both in the meetings with the principals, and outside of the meetings with the principals. And the point is, we've reached a point where they would like to confer with their subordinates, and they have gone out to do so.

Now, at the moment, no decisions have been made regarding how the two leaders will report.

Q Do you know who has been heading the U.S. effort in this regard outside of these meetings?

MR. SPEAKES: It's been a number of people from Defense, State and NSC.

Q But they've all been meeting at the U.S. Mission. Now, each side is going to their own mission --

MR. SPEAKES: To their respective --

Q -- to confer with each -- to confer with themselves.

MR. SPEAKES: That's right.

Q Then, they come back and report to the leaders.

MR. SPEAKES: Yes.

Q Do you think we could get to a White House phone?

MR. SPEAKES: We'll try to do that. I'll try to arrange it.

Q Larry, how big were these --

Q What did you say Reagan and Gorbachev are doing now?

MR. SPEAKES: They are engaged in a private conversation in the -- a large hall of the Soviet Mission here.

Q -- a standing conversation? They're going to stand up for a half-hour and talk?

MR. SPEAKES: They may; and they might sit down.

Q So really, this might -- this is the end, and when they come back, then they make some kind of decision?

MR. SPEAKES: Well, not necessarily. They -- there would be opportunities for further discussion at the leadership level. There is a dinner tonight that certainly provides a forum for further discussion on numerous topics.

Q Is this an indication that the blackout is lifted?

MR. SPEAKES: No, the Soviets and the Soviet spokesman, Mr. Zamyatin, and I agreed inside just a few minutes ago that I would come out and make the report and we would like to have this filed so that all can get it.

Q Larry, how big were the delegations that were meeting apart from the principals?

MR. SPEAKES: I don't know the numbers. I don't.

Q How long have they been meeting?

MR. SPEAKES: They've been meeting off and on over the two-day period.

Q At the U.S. Mission always?

MR. SPEAKES: I'm not sure where the meetings were held, whether they -- they could have been at both Missions.

Q But who would they include -- people like?

MR. SPEAKES: They would include experts in the various areas.

Q Like what?

MR. SPEAKES: Experts in bilateral relations, experts in regional problems, experts in arms control.

Q Now they would be talking back and forth with their counterparts in the Soviet Union and I assume also getting communications back from the principles?

MR. SPEAKES: Sure. They would report, as the group has to our delegation. They would report to their principles.

Q Okay. I have a question. They are getting together to decide how they will report or what they will report?

MR. SPEAKES: I think all of those questions are topics for discussion. There have been the ongoing talks between the Secretary General and the President and then these talks at a second level. It's time now to bring both talks together and to discuss all aspects of the summit.

Q Now, this -- if there are any agreements, this is the point at which they would come back from the officials who've been working on the details and would be presented to the leaders for their approval?

MR. SPEAKES: Well, I can't predict. This is for a moment -- an opportunity for both sides to confer with their respective delegations.

Q Did we come in with a plan at all?

MR. SPEAKES: I just don't really want to go beyond that. I think this is about all we've agreed to do.

Q Is this to indicate that there were no deals being cut in here by the leaders and they were all outside this conference?

MR. SPEAKES: No. The entire -- both delegations at all levels have been in contact with each other and everyone from top to bottom has been aware of the discussions that are taking place.

Q Larry, were these --

Q Did everyone in the U.S. delegation go back to the U.S. Mission or did part of them stay here?

MR. SPEAKES: I believe most of them went back with the exception of the President.

Q Did these two -- were these meetings with -- at the expert level? Did those begin because the two leaders were meeting in private and therefore the delegation's discussions were curtailed.

MR. SPEAKES: No. No, they began because there's detail that needs to be discussed at the -- at other levels.

Q Was there anyone that was involved in the -- capital discussions earlier before the summit began that came here and was also involved --

MR. SPEAKES: I don't know the --

Q It sounds like the two sides meeting at the U.S. Mission got together on a general preliminary plan and have now gone to each of their own delegations to see whether it will fly.

MR. SPEAKES: I think that oversimplifies it a bit.

Q Is it --

MR. SPEAKES: I think what you've done is you've had discussions going on a two levels. This is an opportunity now to get back to the delegations that have been meeting outside of the summit room and have an opportunity to confer with them and report back to their leaders.

Q Who left here? Regan just walked out the front here.

MR. SPEAKES: Yes.

Q Who left in the car earlier?

MR. SPEAKES: Shultz and Bud and others.

Q Okay, so the main players in here are all gone now?

MR. SPEAKES: With the exception of the two main players.

Q Right. But I say -- I mean, within the principles?

MORE

MR. SPEAKES: Yes, that's right.

Q So but -- while we're talking about the expert level, they essentially picked up the ball from the negotiations that have been going on between the two capitals?

MR. SPEAKES: Yes, that is right.

Q And continue to work on the details while the other -- the principles dealt at a higher level but on the same issues?

MR. SPEAKES: That is correct, yes.

I think what would be a good idea. Schuster or Jim, I think what would be a good idea is for me to get a car over here --it's two minutes away -- and take you back and maybe the radio tape back if you want to play it through the mult.

Q Okay.

Q But what if I don't have anyone in the press room? I mean, can I -- I'd like to go back, too, if I could.

Q Yes, or just maybe two of us run over and come back, or --

MR. SPEAKES: However you all want to do it. Let me just get a car over here that would help you get back.

Q Yes, because we need to file.

MR. SPEAKES: Whoever needs to get back. You need to be covered here because --

THE PRESS: Thank you.

END

3:55 P.M. (L) (Approximate)

THE WHITE HOUSE

Office of the Press Secretary
(Geneva, Switzerland)

For Immediate Release

November 20, 1985

LARRY SPEAKES
IN Q&A WITH REPORTERS
OUTSIDE THE SOVIET MISSION

Geneva, Switzerland

3:45 P.M. (L) (Approximate)

MR. SPEAKES: Yes, the two sides have agreed to recess momentarily while their -- and the United State delegation has returned to the U.S. Mission to receive a briefing from those who have been working on possible agreements, possible ideas about how we report on the meeting.

The Soviet delegation and the U.S. delegation have been meeting at the U.S. Mission. They will return -- the Soviets will return to this Mission and report to their ministers and the U.S. delegation went there to receive the information.

Q The Soviets went to their -- the Soviets stayed here for their briefing with their people? Is that what you are saying?

MR. SPEAKES: Here's the scenario. The U.S. and the Soviets were meeting at their -- at the U.S. Embassy -- a group outside of this meeting. They have agreed -- the two leaders have agreed to -- the two leaders agreed in the meeting that they would confer with those who had been holding a separate meeting. So the Soviets are returning to their Mission to confer with their delegation and the U.S. group is going to the U.S. Mission to confer with its delegation.

Meanwhile the President and the General Secretary remain here in a private conference. It's in a stand-up fashion in the large hall of the Mission here.

Q When did it break up and how long did it go on?

MR. SPEAKES: If I can give you the times here.

Q Can you get this back to our office, because we don't have a phone.

MR. SPEAKES: We need to work out a way for you to phone it some way.

What we've got is a -- We arrived here at 2:25 p.m. The General Secretary suggested that the two go into a private session, which they began at 2:29 p.m. It lasted for fourteen minutes. At 2:43 p.m. they began the session with the large group and at 3:30 p.m. they recessed.

Q How long did it last? Only fourteen minutes.

MR. SPEAKES: Fourteen minutes for the private session and the other one lasted from 2:43 p.m. until 3:30 p.m., so roughly fifty minutes there give or take a few.

Q How long to you expect this recess to be?

MORE

MR. SPEAKES: The recess is scheduled to last about 30 or 40 minutes. I think our group will be back here at 4:15 p.m.

Q All right. And then, what's the situation as far as the time tomorrow? Has that been worked out? Do you know what time this thing's going to take place and where?

MR. SPEAKES: Well, what is under discussion now is to -- whether and how we will report the occurrences at the summit. There have been discussions that have been ongoing, both in the meetings with the principals, and outside of the meetings with the principals. And the point is, we've reached a point where they would like to confer with their subordinates, and they have gone out to do so.

Now, at the moment, no decisions have been made regarding how the two leaders will report.

Q Do you know who has been heading the U.S. effort in this regard outside of these meetings?

MR. SPEAKES: It's been a number of people from Defense, State and NSC.

Q But they've all been meeting at the U.S. Mission. Now, each side is going to their own mission --

MR. SPEAKES: To their respective --

Q -- to confer with each -- to confer with themselves.

MR. SPEAKES: That's right.

Q Then, they come back and report to the leaders.

MR. SPEAKES: Yes.

Q Do you think we could get to a White House phone?

MR. SPEAKES: We'll try to do that. I'll try to arrange it.

Q Larry, how big were these --

Q What did you say Reagan and Gorbachev are doing now?

MR. SPEAKES: They are engaged in a private conversation in the -- a large hall of the Soviet Mission here.

Q -- a standing conversation? They're going to stand up for a half-hour and talk?

MR. SPEAKES: They may; and they might sit down.

Q So really, this might -- this is the end, and when they come back, then they make some kind of decision?

MR. SPEAKES: Well, not necessarily. They -- there would be opportunities for further discussion at the leadership level. There is a dinner tonight that certainly provides a forum for further discussion on numerous topics.

Q Is this an indication that the blackout is lifted?

MR. SPEAKES: No, the Soviets and the Soviet spokesman, Mr. Zamyatin, and I agreed inside just a few minutes ago that I would come out and make the report and we would like to have this filed so that all can get it.

Q Larry, how big were the delegations that were meeting apart from the principals?

MR. SPEAKES: I don't know the numbers. I don't.

Q How long have they been meeting?

MR. SPEAKES: They've been meeting off and on over the two-day period.

Q At the U.S. Mission always?

MR. SPEAKES: I'm not sure where the meetings were held, whether they -- they could have been at both Missions.

Q But who would they include -- people like?

MR. SPEAKES: They would include experts in the various areas.

Q Like what?

MR. SPEAKES: Experts in bilateral relations, experts in regional problems, experts in arms control.

Q Now they would be talking back and forth with their counterparts in the Soviet Union and I assume also getting communications back from the principles?

MR. SPEAKES: Sure. They would report, as the group has to our delegation. They would report to their principles.

Q Okay. I have a question. They are getting together to decide how they will report or what they will report?

MR. SPEAKES: I think all of those questions are topics for discussion. There have been the ongoing talks between the Secretary General and the President and then these talks at a second level. It's time now to bring both talks together and to discuss all aspects of the summit.

Q Now, this -- if there are any agreements, this is the point at which they would come back from the officials who've been working on the details and would be presented to the leaders for their approval?

MR. SPEAKES: Well, I can't predict. This is for a moment -- an opportunity for both sides to confer with their respective delegations.

Q Did we come in with a plan at all?

MR. SPEAKES: I just don't really want to go beyond that. I think this is about all we've agreed to do.

Q Is this to indicate that there were no deals being cut in here by the leaders and they were all outside this conference?

MR. SPEAKES: No. The entire -- both delegations at all levels have been in contact with each other and everyone from top to bottom has been aware of the discussions that are taking place.

Q Larry, were these --

Q Did everyone in the U.S. delegation go back to the U.S. Mission or did part of them stay here?

MR. SPEAKES: I believe most of them went back with the exception of the President.

Q Did these two -- were these meetings with -- at the expert level? Did those begin because the two leaders were meeting in private and therefore the delegation's discussions were curtailed.

MR. SPEAKES: No. No, they began because there's detail that needs to be discussed at the -- at other levels.

Q Was there anyone that was involved in the -- capital discussions earlier before the summit began that came here and was also involved --

MR. SPEAKES: I don't know the --

Q It sounds like the two sides meeting at the U.S. Mission got together on a general preliminary plan and have now gone to each of their own delegations to see whether it will fly.

MR. SPEAKES: I think that oversimplifies it a bit.

Q Is it --

MR. SPEAKES: I think what you've done is you've had discussions going on a two levels. This is an opportunity now to get back to the delegations that have been meeting outside of the summit room and have an opportunity to confer with them and report back to their leaders.

Q Who left here? Regan just walked out the front here.

MR. SPEAKES: Yes.

Q Who left in the car earlier?

MR. SPEAKES: Shultz and Bud and others.

Q Okay, so the main players in here are all gone now?

MR. SPEAKES: With the exception of the two main players.

Q Right. But I say -- I mean, within the principles?

MORE

MR. SPEAKES: Yes, that's right.

Q So but -- while we're talking about the expert level, they essentially picked up the ball from the negotiations that have been going on between the two capitals?

MR. SPEAKES: Yes, that is right.

Q And continue to work on the details while the other -- the principles dealt at a higher level but on the same issues?

MR. SPEAKES: That is correct, yes.

I think what would be a good idea. Schuster or Jim, I think what would be a good idea is for me to get a car over here --it's two minutes away -- and take you back and maybe the radio tape back if you want to play it through the mult.

Q Okay.

Q But what if I don't have anyone in the press room? I mean, can I -- I'd like to go back, too, if I could.

Q Yes, or just maybe two of us run over and come back, or --

MR. SPEAKES: However you all want to do it. Let me just get a car over here that would help you get back.

Q Yes, because we need to file.

MR. SPEAKES: Whoever needs to get back. You need to be covered here because --

THE PRESS: Thank you.

END

3:55 P.M. (L) (Approximate)