Biography

Biography

Landon Parvin (1948- ) is an Illinois native whose education and initial background were in labor relations. From 1972 to 1974, he was an industrial relations specialist with the Department of Labor. In the late 1970s, Parvin turned to writing for businesses, public relations groups, and comedy writing. He worked mostly on a free-lance basis. He served as a volunteer with the 1980 Reagan Presidential campaign, drafting commercials and other advertisements. Parvin joined the White House staff in July 1981. He left in November 1983 and worked in London, first for the United States Information Agency, then for the US Ambassador to Great Britain. In January 1985, Parvin returned to the US and became a free-lance speechwriter who occasionally drafted speeches for President Reagan and other administration figures. Today he remains a free-lance speechwriter, based in Fredericksburg, Virginia, whose recent clients have included California Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger.

Scope and Content Note

Scope and Content Note

Material in this collection includes speech drafts (many with handwritten edits), final versions of speeches, and a relatively small amount of monthly memos and correspondence.

Most of this collection consists of file series that contain material from both Parvin and fellow speechwriter Dana Rohrabacher. Rohrabacher was a White House speechwriter from January 1981 until March 1988, when he resigned to run for Congress. The Reagan Library does not currently have a separate Rohrabacher staff file collection. The material in this collection reflects the White House physical arrangements. Parvin, Rohrabacher, other speechwriters and their support staff occupied the same office area in the Old Executive Office Building during the first several years of the Reagan administration. Researchers may determine if the speech material is Rohrabacher or Parvin by looking at the inventory listing for the Speech Drafts collection. Speechwriters are given for each speech in this inventory. If the Library is able to locate any further separate Rohrabacher folders, we will separate this material. For the time being, the Reagan Library is maintaining them all in Parvin's collection.

While some files predate Parvin's arrival in the White House, the collection does not have any material pertaining to Parvin's work after he officially left the White House staff in 1983. Also, this collection does not have any material pertaining to Parvin's work on Nancy Reagan speeches and statements, even though Parvin was one of her main speechwriters while he was part of the Reagan administration.

Series List

Subseries A: Speech and Correspondence File: 1981-August 1982

This series consists of Parvin and Rohrabacher material pertaining to correspondence and Presidential speeches. The files are generally arranged by month. Within each month, the material is arranged alphabetically by subject of the speech.

Subseries B: Non-Presidential Speeches 1981-1982

These files pertain to speeches and remarks drafted for other government officials besides the President – mostly, people on the White House staff. They are arranged chronologically by month, then alphabetically by the person giving the speech.

SERIES II: PARVIN SPEECH FILE: July 1982-February 1983

This series consists of chronologically arranged material pertaining to speeches and statements Parvin drafted for President Reagan. The files usually include the final press release versions of speeches, while containing fewer draft versions than the previous Series.
