Series List

SERIES I: Hannaford / California Headquarters

The public relations firm of Hannaford & Deaver, owned and run by principals Peter Hannaford and Michael Deaver, handled Ronald Reagan's public relations needs during the period after he left the Governor's office, and before he took office as President. This material appears to have been collected and/or created by and maintained by Hannaford & Deaver at their firm in Los Angeles. The material was transferred to Ronald Reagan's 1980 campaign headquarters for use there by Hannaford and Deaver. All of the material covers the public lives of Ronald and Nancy Reagan as he ran for President in 1976 and then began a long, low-key campaign for the 1980 nomination. In some rare cases, material was created in the California Governor's office. These original California documents were provided to the Campaign by the Hoover Institute which was the current repository for the Governor's papers. This collection is now at the Reagan Library.

This series is divided into six subseries.
